LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "A HEAD TO THE WORLD."

The year following, when the pressure of business had in some measure abated, Sir Raye resolved to take his protege for a Continental tour. Nothing, he was of opinion, would educate him one half so quickly. He would let him see the greatest bridges of the world, bridges that had been built in spite of almost insurmountable difficulties—let him see the triumphs of science, and how men could bring the very elements under control.—The greater part of a year was spent in traveling about, and they saw nearly every engineering work of magnitude.

When Vane returned with his patron to Lulworth, he was only nineteen years of age, but he was a man. A fair moustache shaded the sensitive mouth, the cluster of fair hair had grown deeper in color, the tall slender figure had in it the grace and strength of manhood, and his manners were perfect. He was grave, kindly, and courteous, deferential to all women, pleasant to all men. Although only nineteen, the world had begun to talk about him. He had taken a warm interest in connecting England and France by means of a tunnel under the sea; he had pondered it, studied it, and lavished all his genius on it; and one morning the scientific world was taken by surprise, for a pamphlet appeared called "The Best and Safest Way to France Under the Sea." That little brochure made him famous. Every one had asked who had written it, and the answer was, "Young Vibart." Not one mentioned that he was only an adopted son of Sir Raye's, and the world in general, careless enough, never stopped to inquire; so that the general impression was that the rising genius of the day, "young Vibart," was the son of the famous Sir Raye. Of the thousands who read his book, not more than twenty knew that he was not the real son of the master of Lulworth.

"Your way in life lies straight before you, Vane," said his patron; "it will be one quick march on to victory. You could do without me now, but I could never again [illegible] without you; without my boy, my adopted son—my heir."

When all the honors and honors were lavished upon Vane, Sir Raye gave him one more piece of advice.

"The world is ready enough to flatter you, and to welcome you with open arms. Fight say of it for a time; keep to study and work. You will have invitations here and there, first to one great house, and then to another; refuse them one and all. The proper time in which a man should work is youth; rest and age should come together."

During all this time Vane had been home twice—once before he went abroad, and once after his return. Everything was unchanged! It seemed almost incredible that the homely farmer, with his rugged face, brown hands and working clothes, should be the father of the handsome distinguished-looking man whose face was stamped with genius. It seemed incongruous, and father and son both felt it to be so; and thus there was a strange awkwardness and coldness between them.

The mother's heart broke down all barriers. Let her son be twenty times a gentleman, still he was her son, and she should love him just as she did when he was a child. There was no awkwardness, no restraint with her; she admired him, and told him so. She thought him the most handsome, the most distinguished, the greatest genius in the whole world. To her wondering eyes there was no one like him. She had nothing but the warmest love and the most profound admiration for him.

Vane found his sister growing into one of the most beautiful girls imaginable.—Desford was as usual.

The young man had not gone home empty-handed. He had spent much money in presents. Not one member of the family was forgotten; and his gifts were not only numerous, but costly, and they made quite a gay place of the old farmhouse. His mother never tired of showing these treasures to her friends and acquaintances, and praising the good heart of her wonderful son.

So his visit came and passed with the swiftness of a meteor, leaving nothing but bright and pleasant memories behind. The second visit was paid when he returned from the Continent; and then the distance between father and son had grown so great that nothing could bridge it over. The old farmer seemed to stand somewhat in awe of his handsome talented son, whose hands were white and smooth, whose voice had musical inflections, unlike any other he had ever heard, and whose fine face had a light he could not comprehend. The mother was, as usual, all admiration and love. The sister, rapidly growing into a beauty, looked forward to great help from her brother. But that visit made the distance between Vane and his relatives greater than ever, and, as time rolled on, a cloud hid his old home from his view, until nothing but the memory of it remained.

There was one duty he never forgot—to help his people in all their needs. No quarter passed without his sending such a check as gladdened their anxious hearts, and that check increased in proportion as his studies and labors progressed.

CHAPTER V.

Ten years had passed since Sir Raye Vibart had adopted the boy whose genius had seemed to him too great to waste in solitude; and he often said to himself that Heaven had rewarded him for what he intended to be a good deed. All over Europe the name of Vane Vibart was well known. There was no country in which some of his gigantic enterprises had not succeeded. Of late years all the work had fallen into his hands. Sir Raye was failing in health, and was paying the penalty of too much brain-work. By degrees he put everything into the hands of his his young protege.

They were together one morning in the pretty breakfast-room at Lulworth Hall, when the post-bag was brought in.

"Read the letters, Vane," said Sir Raye.

He knew that in none of them would there be any secrets. The love of woman or child would never be and had never been for him.

"Read them, Vane," he repeated.

Vane obeyed him. He waded through a mass of correspondence—letters in German, French, and Spanish. He had spent his leisure hours in the study of the modern languages, and had succeeded so well that he could write and converse in most of them.

"A letter with a coronet," he said—"Whom can this be from?"

He opened it, and read it, all unconscious that he held his fate in his own hands.

"Lord Audley of Ulverscroft," he said. "Why, Ulverscroft is in Surrey, Sir Raye, is it not?"

"Yes. What does he want?" asked Sir Raye.

"The river Ulver runs through one part of his estate. It was not always a deep or a broad stream; but of late it has deepened and widened considerably. He says that the people used stepping-stones and at times a small ferry-boat for crossing it; but for these methods the most available [illegible] thinks I could add much to the value of his property if a handsome, pretty, ornamental bridge were thrown across the river. He writes also that, owing to the shifting sand in the bed of the river, he thinks it will be by no means easy of execution. He wishes you to go to Ulverscroft Hall and spend a week with him.—Then you can see for yourself what to do."

"I am not well enough to go, Vane. My strength is failing. You must go for me. Write to Lord Audley, and tell him how deeply I regret that I cannot accept his kind invitation, but that I send a substitute in you."

"Will he like it?" asked Vane half doubtfully. "He seems to wish for you."

"He must like it. I could not go. I have a certain presentiment that my working days are ended," said Sir Raye mournfully. "Vane, Lord Audley will be delighted to have you in my place. Write to him at once. You will enjoy a week at Ulverscroft. It is one of the prettiest places in England. I always said that at some time or other there must be a bridge over the Ulver. It is a beautiful river, and the bridge must be a light one."

Vane sat down, pencil in hand, to sketch a light, beautiful structure that should yet have solidity enough to bear a whole regiment. It was interesting to watch the rapidity of his white fingers, the glow on his face, and the light in his eyes as his beautiful conception grew. He took the sketch to his master when it was completed, and almost wondered at the emotion in his face.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county. We pay [illegible] secure from us. When [illegible] our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every [illegible] it is not to be necessary to make [illegible] ORDER AT ONCE" to secure such [illegible] at once, but we have concluded to make it to [illegible] not only on account of the merits of [illegible] vention, but it is saleability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it easy for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guarantee; and that two sales a day would give a profit of over $100 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and those we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

The Harmony Club.

The Harmony Club serenaded Chief Cooper and several residents of the west end last night. About midnight the delightful strains of "In the Gloaming" awakened the Head of the Police Force from his slumbers. He says the music, not allowing for the time and place, was the finest he ever heard. It so pleased him that he arose, changed his white robe for his blue black official uniform, and, in a short and sweet speech, thanked the serenaders.

Our First Town Council.

The death of Mr. Chamberlen, a member of the first Council of the town of Peterborough, suggests reminiscences. The first Council, elected in 1850, consisted of Messrs. John Hall, Charles Hudson, James Hall, Thomas Harper, Edmund Chamberlen, William Eastland, P. Ryan, W. S. Conger, Duncan McDonald, Thomas Benson, James Harvey and Robert Ridley. Of these, only one is living, Mr. Duncan McDonald, who resides on Benson street at the north end of the town. Thomas Benson was elected by the Council the first Mayor, or as he was was then called, Town Reeve. Mr. W. H. D Vimard was the first town clerk, at a salary of £10 per year. William Cumming was the first Chief Constable. The Council Chamber was in a house situated on the site of the present market square. The house was purchased for £40 from the father of Mr. W. B. Ferguson. To show that the star chamber methods of civic committees of these days are legitimately come by, it may be added that, on the occasion of Mr. Hall moving, seconded by Mr. Eastland, the first resolution in the new Council, the unwashed public were requested to retire from the august presence of our inaugural local legislature.

The Sixty-seventh Anniversary.

The sixty-seventh anniversary of the introduction of Oddfellowship on this Continent, falling Monday, the 26th instant. The local lodges will commemorate the event by divine worship in St. Paul's Church, on Sunday evening, 25th inst, on which occasion Rev. Mr. Torrance will deliver a special sermon. Brethren will meet in Otonabee Lodge rooms, on Sunday evening at 6 o'clock and after forming in procession will march in a body to the Church. There are about 300 members of the Order of Oddfellows in town, 200 of whom are members of the local lodges and one hundred members of other lodges who reside in town. The total membership of Ontario is nearly 15,000 in good standing. The society has expended in Ontario alone over 45,000 for 1885, being an average of $123.42 per day. The total funds of lodges amount to nearly $500,000.

The Anti-Sawdust Association.

A well-attended meeting of the Anti-Sawdust Association was held in the Mechanics' Institute rooms yesterday evening. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That the Anti-Sawdust Association hereby accepts the arrangement embodied in the memorandum of the 14th April, 1886, adopted by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, that all mill refuse shall be kept out of the Otonabee River, and also all sawdust, except that which may unavoidably fall into the pitman hole where the saw or sawyers working, and that the department shall send an officer from time to time as may be deemed necessary, to see that the proposed arrangement is faithfully carried out, and that the association and its members hereby agree to abstain from any attempt to enforce the requirements of the Fisheries or other acts bearing upon this question, so long as the arrangement referred to is carried out by the mill-owners in good faith."

The striking tailors of Boston, Mass., have returned to work, having gained their demand for an increase of wages.

The boot-crotchers of Worcester, Mass., have submitted to the manufacturers a price-list demanding an average increase of 10 per cent in wages.

The co-operative tobacco factory at Durham, N. C., gives employment to 250 men, every one of whom is a stockholder and a Knight of Labour.

The Arlington Cotton Mills, of Wilmington, Del., under threat of a strike of 400 employees, have ordered an increase ranging from 20 to 30 per cent.

There are in round numbers some two thousand coke ovens in active operation in the Connellsville region in Pennsylvania, and the output in 930 carloads daily.

The West Shore Railway Company, of Newburgh, N. Y., has voluntarily increased the pay of its labourers from $1 to $1.20 per day, which will be increased to $1.25 on May 1st.

The majority of the employing book and job printers of Toronto, recently completed their organization, brought about in the first instance through the efforts of the Typographical Union.

The co-operative grocery store of the Knights of Labor at Chetopa, Kan., is paying a dividend on capital stock of 10 per cent per annum, and 15 per cent. per quarter rebate on all goods bought.

In the first part of March, and prior to the order from the executive board to cease organizing for a period of forty days, no less than 417 new assemblies were organized. Of this number twelve were organized in Canada.

Mr. T. V. Powderley, T.M.G. of the K. of L., is regaining his health, and with a little care will be able to attend to the more pressing duties of his office in a short time. His condition for some time back was most critical.

At a recent meeting in New York over 500 tailors attended to hear Mr. N. Mulvey, of the Central Labor Union. He gave them some advice, and impressed upon them that strikes were to be avoided and never used only as a last resort.

The Norway Plains Co. of Rochester, N.H., which recently raised the wages of its employees 10 per cent., have further conceded one hour at noon, instead of half an hour, and will shut down at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoons all the year round.

Some time ago Ironmoulders' Union No. 28, of Toronto, requested of the employers an increase in wages of 12½ per cent., or 25 cents per day. This the employers conceded, and the new scale went into effect on the 19th inst. The employers also formed an association of their own, and increased the price of castings in a corresponding ratio.

The Master Builders' Association of Washington, D. C., lately held a meeting to consider what action they will take in regard to the eight hour rule which the labour unions propose to inaugurate on May 1st. They considered that this eight hour rule would be disastrous in the building interests and ought not to be encouraged. It is estimated that the movement will increase the cost of labour at least 20 per cent.

Twenty-eight out of the thirty firms employing clothing cutters in Chicago have conceded their employees eight hours as a day's work. Over 1,000 men who are employed in the breweries have had their hours reduced from 16 to 10, and without any reduction in wages; so also have over 600 employees in tobacco factories had 8 hours as a day's work conceded them, and without reduction of wages.

Mr. Jas. Spicer, head of the firm of James Spicer & Sons, London, England, has set aside the sum of $35,000 for the purpose of providing annuities for those of his clerk and work people who from advanced years or other causes, are incapacitated for work. In addition to this personal gift of Mr. Spicer, the firm have signified their intention of continuing to contribute to the fund, and also to pay interests at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum on the $25,000 already given.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon buying the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

High Court of Justice.

Spring Sittings of the Chancery Division —Summary of Cases.

The following cases were heard before the Chancellor of Ontario, Hon. John Alexander Boyd, at the Chancery spring sittings of the County of Peterborough, this week.

Sprague vs. Platt.—An action to decide the validity of a deed alleged to have been fraudulently made, and to have sold dead to be delivered up to be cancelled. Evidence taken and arguments adjourned to Toronto. Clark, Burnside, and Stone for plaintiff, Mills, Q.C., and Squires, Brighton, for defendant.

Dobbin vs. Dobbin.—An action brought by the widow of the late W. F. Dobbin, of North Monaghan, against John Dobbin, father of deceased. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant had worked in partnership with deceased, 100 acres in North Monaghan belonging to deceased, which had been deeded to the husband of plaintiff in 1878. The crops from the farm of deceased had all been mingled with the crops from farms belonging to John Dobbin, and the defendant, as alleged, had received no benefit from them. But on no argument could be proven, the court held that there was no partnership, and that the defendant was not required to account for what he had got from the farm of the husband of the plaintiff. Action dismissed with costs. Ponsette, Q.C., for plaintiff, Dumble for defendant.

Dobbin vs. Dobbin.—An action for dower brought by widow of the late Wm. F. Dobbin against John Dobbin. The plaintiff was married to deceased 19th March, 1884, the husband dying in the following August. On March 4th, 1884, deceased had made a mortgage for $1,600 on the land in question. W. F. Dobbin died intestate and the defendant, his father, was, therefore, heir-at-law. The widow claimed dower out of land free from any claim in respect of the mortgage, contending that the heir-at-law is bound to pay off the mortgage. After hearing arguments His Lordship reserved his decision. Ponsette, Q. C., for plaintiff; Dumble for defendant.

Hilliard vs. Irwin.—An action brought for the recovery of logs claimed by the plaintiff which had become mixed with those of the defendant in a common drive. Judgment for the plaintiff, he to pay $60 for the expense of culling. Dumble for plaintiff and Gordon for defendant.

Rowe vs. Sheridan.—Action brought by Robert Rowe to test the validity of a certain chattel mortgage held by plaintiff against the goods and chattels of Dr. Pigeon, seized under execution arising out of the suit of Sheridan vs. Pigeon, in which plaintiff was successful. His Lordship held the chattel mortgage valid. Edwards for plaintiff, Stone for defendant, Hall for sheriff.

Dunlop vs. Dunlop.—Action brought to recover amount of an annuity underdeed. The parties reside in North Monaghan. Edwards for plaintiff, Moore for defendant. Judgment reserved.

Closing Ceremonies

Of the First Term of Peterborough Business College—Presentation of Prizes—A Highly Successful Affair.

On Thursday evening the closing exercises of the first term of the Peterborough Business College, were held in the lecture room of the Institution. Since its opening in October last, this excellent business institution, has had, under energetic and intelligent management, unexampled success both in the matter of patronage and practical results. It has enlisted the interest and confidence of the public. Its progress, so far has more than justified the normal expectations of success. It has taken a prominent and doubtless permanent place among the foremost of our educational business institutions.

Mr. Bannel Sawyer principal, occupied the chair and expressed regret that Mr. Cox was not present, as had been expected to take that position. In a few remarks Mr. Sawyer adverted to the aims and objects of the College and claimed that, to a certain extent, it took the place of the public school and completed the work for which that paved the way, and a large portion of success achieved by the College was due to the excellent preparatory training of the public schools. At the Peterborough Business College facilities of the most approved and practical nature were provided to enable the pupil to learn business by actual practice. The knowledge gained, while not literally filling the place of actual business experience, vastly shortened the probation of the young man in business, and hastened the mastery of his business education. The course pursued fitted the student for successfully passing the searching examinations prescribed in the subjects of mental and commercial arithmetic, commercial law, book-keeping, penmanship, etc. In mental arithmetic there was a list of students who averaged 80 per cent. in examination, and of these, three averaged 100 per cent. The full average in commercial and mental arithmetic was 80 per cent. Dr. Potter, of Ottawa, had offered prizes in arithmetic and penmanship, and he, (the principal) with a lengthened experience, never saw keener competition. The principal controverted the contention that it was in "business life alone that business was learned," pointing out the thorough system of miniature business departments, in which the student was required to transact the various kinds of business with the fullness of detail and method that obtains in real business. Individual instances were given of phenomenal success of students, two of the first term students of the Peterborough Business College having been offered positions as teachers in other business colleges. Mr. Sawyer pointed out that this College possessed, in an extensive degree, all the business appliances in use in the business world, showing how the details of practical business were practically carried out. Excellent as were the facilities, arrangements were in progress to make still further provisions in this respect.

Miss C. L. Smith, a graduating student, next read an admirable paper on "Panics," which was received with much favor.

AWARDING CERTIFICATES.

In awarding the certificates of qualification to successful students, the Principal explained that they were divided into four classes, ranging from 90 per cent. to 75 per cent. of perfection in examination. Certificates were then awarded to the following persons: Messrs. Albert H. Stratton, Harry G. Webber, M. H. McWilliams, Thos. Walsh, Geo. R. Powell, Thomas Elmhirst, John G. Clark, Miss C. L. Smith, W. J. Wubbs, R. Hicks, Patrick J. O'Shea, Robert A. Smith, Miss Mamie Stapleton (telegraphy, 35 words per minute), Albinus Clark (shorthand, 61 words per minute).

After the awarding of certificates, Rev. F. H. Wallace, B.A., delivered a capital address on the subject of "The Elements of Manhood," specifying these as ability to do something to make the world better. The man who cannot do anything has defrauded society of his share of work. Another important element of manhood was decision of character—learning to say no at the proper moment. To be true was the highest point. Wealth in the shape of [illegible] life was of great importance. To cherish as an ideal the knowledge of how to do prepared one to fill a place when an opening was presented. The speaker closed an eloquent and thoughtful address by advising the students to have, above all, faith in God. Business success could follow.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

Then followed the presentation of handsomely bound volumes, as prizes for excellence in the subjects indicated below:—
A. H. Stratton, "Business Text-Book;" Harry G. Webber, "[illegible]," Geography;" M. H. McWilliams, "Mathematics;" Harry G. Webber, "Advertising;" M. H. McWilliams, "Commercial Law," presented by Mr. D. W. Dumble, Barrister-at-Law; Thos. Walsh, "Book-keeping;" Miss C. L. Smith, "Commercial Law," presented by Mr. D. W. Dumble, Barrister-at-Law; W. J. Wubbs, "Book-keeping;" R. Hicks, "Commercial Law;" Patrick J. O'Shea, "Arithmetic;" J. Wubbs, "General Proficiency."

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Lecturer on Commercial Law, then delivered a brief address, congratulating Mr. Principal and students on the success of the college, which, he was sure, was a benefit to the whole community, doing what it was not the province of the other schools to do. He concluded by giving the graduating class a large amount of sensible and practical advice as to the use they should make of the valuable knowledge they had acquired. They had received as good training; if they faithfully carried out what they had been taught, success was certain.

Mr. James Strutten, Inspector of Public schools, thought the college just what was wanted—a step beyond the Public and High schools. The reality of life to the children was only beginning. They had got a good start, but they should not be satisfied with that—every day should bring its improvement. He approved of ladies learning business. If more women were thus qualified, there would be more happy homes.

Dr. Fife added a few congratulatory and encouraging remarks.

The principal explained that the highest honor was assigning the reading of the valedictory, and the next the appointment to read a thesis on some commercial subject.

Mr. Whibbs, general proficiency prizeman, then read a well composed and feeling valedictory address, after which the interesting exercises were concluded by the singing of the "National Anthem."

First Open Air Concert.

There was a large attendance of holiday makers in Court House Park yesterday to listen to the first open air concert of the Fire Brigade Band. The band gave, in very superior style, a large number of new selections, though the high wind prevailing sadly interfered with the reading of their scores. The boys are improving every day, and, judging from their high standing in the past, will not be long before they reach perfection, as human perfection goes.

Died From the Effects of a Fall.

A report having been circulated yesterday morning that during the night an old man had died in the Ashburnham lock-up, Coroner Fife, in company with High Constable Cooper, called on Constable Craig to enquire into the truth of the rumor. It was found to be incorrect. It appeared, however, that Mr. James Crowley, of Otonabee, had fallen from the sidewalk on Mark street, Ashburnham, injuring himself internally. He was removed to his home near Downer's Corners, where he died during the night. An inquest was not considered necessary. The funeral of the deceased, who is an old and respected resident of the township, will take place on Sunday, to the R. C. cemetery.

PARLIAMENTARY TOPICS.

(Correspondence of the Hamilton Times.)

OTTAWA, April 21.—The Ministerialists are depressed over the result of the debate and division on Mr. Laurier's motion condemning the Government for their treatment of the Northwest half-breeds, and their general neglect and mismanagement. Mr. Thomas White's unpopularity with his party was demonstrated by the large number of Conservatives who voted with the Opposition, after hearing Mr. White's defence of the Government. Mr. White had prepared an elaborate speech, dealing with the whole land policy of the Government in anticipation of a non-confidence resolution on the subject, but it so happened that his speech was not a reply to Mr. Laurier's charges at all. The member for Quebec East confined his resolution and his speech to the one question of the Government's refusal to recognize the right of the halfbreeds to share in the extinguishment of the Indian title. Mr. Laurier and Mr. Davies proved beyond question that the Government never had any intention of extinguishing the claims of the halfbreeds until rebellion broke out. Eleven Conservatives voted with the Opposition, and two others who were absent would undoubtedly have done so.

There was an amusing meeting of the Railway Committee this morning. A large crowd had assembled expecting that the Beaty-Woodworth discussion would be resumed. Sir Hector Langevin took the chair, but did not seem inclined to proceed with any business. The Beaty Bill was first on the order paper. After waiting for a quarter of an hour the committee and audience became impatient and began to stamp and cry out for Beaty and Woodworth. Shouts of "Run up the curtain!" were also heard, and when Sir Adolphe Caron entered he was greeted with cries of "Supe, supe." At last Sir Hector Langevin rose and read a telegram from the Speaker of the Manitoba Legislature stating that a resolution had been adopted by that Assembly declaring that the Northwest Central Railway should be built, and that no further speculation with the charter and subsidies granted for construction of that road should be permitted. He asked Mr. Beaty if he had anything to say.

Mr. Beaty said he had made arrangements with a strong company of New York capitalists to build the railway. He had not the agreements with him, but asked for a further delay to enable him to satisfy the Government of the financial strength of the parties with whom he had made the contract.

Sir Hector suggested that the matter should stand over until the next meeting of the committee after the Easter recess, when the Bill would have to be finally disposed of.

Mr. Blake said that before the Bill was dealt with, the committee should have full information as to the arrangements between the parties who were promoting this railway.

Mr. Mitchell agreed that the discussion at the next meeting should not be confined to the question of the financial ability of Mr. Beaty's company to build the road, but there were matters of public interest affecting the honor of members of Parliament which ought to be fully ventilated.

Mr. Woodworth here rose and read a letter from a broker in New York, who said that Beaty had offered to make a contract with parties in New York to build the railway, but one of the conditions was that the contractors must give $670,000 for the "boys"—Mr. Beaty explaining that by the "boys" he meant himself and his associates.

The reading of this letter created great amusement.

Mr. Beaty denied the statements in the letter, but said that no doubt he had been endeavoring to arrange matters so that the members of the company would get something out of the building of the railway. This discussion was then adjourned until Friday week.

Kingston British Whig.

THE EDITOR "BRITISH WHIG."

SIR,—Through your columns I would like to say a word to the people of Kingston and vicinity regarding Dr. J. D. Kergan and his medical council, as I see their consulting surgeons are about to visit Kingston, I think it was on the 20th of Sept. 1885, one of Dr. Kergan's surgeons visited Bracebridge and I called to see him. After talking with him a while I felt thoroughly convinced he understood my case, and then and there I received to order a month's treatment, as a trial as soon as my means would permit. This I did on the 15th day of October, 1885. After using the month's medicine I felt so encouraged and improved that I immediately ordered the second supply, which to my great joy has completed my cure. It seemed to me as though my complaint was a combination of all the ills peculiar to woman, and I can never express in words my gratefulness to Dr. Kergan and his council for delivering me from such misery.—Respectfully yours.

MRS. EDWARD BAILEY.

P. S. Dr. Kergan has my permission to publish a letter I send him this day.

MRS. BAILEY'S LAST LETTER.

Bracebridge' Ont, Feb. 9th, 1886.
Dr. J. D. Kergan, Detroit, Mich.

Dear Doctor,—I am glad to be able to inform you that I am so much better. I feel that I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me. I have delayed writing to see if I would remain well but I seem to be improving. Everything appeared to be against me when I commenced treatment with you. My husband was afraid to risk the money and my friends were all against it, but I felt that if you could not cure me there was no use of any other doctor trying. A year ago when you came to Bracebridge I started for the hotel to see you. My mother laughed at me for going to see the quacks, and I gave it up, but I repented of it every day and longed for you to come again. I made a firm resolve that I would see you if possible even if the whole world laughed at me, and I did see you the latter part of September, 1885. I can now tell them that you are not quacks, but understand your business. My husband is also satisfied that you are not quacks but know your business and says he was prejudiced because you advertised, and because the town doctor said you were no good. But thank God I am now well able to do all my own work except washing and if I continue to grow in strength I will soon be able to do that also. And now promising to do all in my power for you and hoping that letter may be the means of bringing to you many women who like myself listened to prejudiced doctors and their friends, —I am yours very respectfully.

MRS. EDWARD BAILEY.

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 30 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 30th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN.—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spring trusses from New York. Being over one year ago, I remember, I saw your Truss, bought it, wore it, threw away your trusses over four months since, and for, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. I am now publishing it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, Clifton P. O. Canada.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken two years to make, 10 patents; is guaranteed, by the use of which many cases that are considered incurable can be cured in from 20 to 30 days. It is worn night and day, and is self-adjusting; it can be worn in bed or out of bed, and is equally adapted for male or female; it is cheap, durable, and will last for years; it is simple in construction, and can be sent by mail; it costs less than one-quarter the price of other trusses, and is guaranteed to retain the rupture perfectly under the most severe exercise or hardest work, and will cure in from 20 to 30 days. Send for circular containing testimonials from those who have been cured, and prices for same to obtain.

LAUGHTER OF THE BIBLE

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON IN THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.

The Learned Laughter of Skepticism, and the Laughter of Spiritual Exultation—Only a Christian Entitled to Feel Untrammeled Glee.

BROOKLYN, April 18.—So great is the popularity of the preacher at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, that it is under advisement to build for him a church twice as large, and thereby to make something like adequate accommodation for the people who crowd to hear him. The Rev. DeWitt Talmage's sermon this morning was on the subject: "Laughter of the Bible."

Two texts were chosen by the preacher: Psalm cxxvi, 2: "Then was our mouth filled with laughter;" and Psalm ii, 4: "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh." Dr. Talmage said:

Thirty-eight times does the Bible make reference to this configuration of the features and quick expulsions of breath which we call laughter. Sometimes it is born of the sunshine and sometimes of the midnight. Sometimes it stirs the sympathies of angels and sometimes the exhilaration of devils. All healthy people laugh. Whether it pleases the Lord or displeases Him that depends upon when we laugh and at what we laugh. My theme this morning is the laughter of the Bible, namely: Sarah's laugh, or that of skepticism; David's laugh, or that of spiritual exultation; the fool's laugh or that of sinful merriment; God's laugh, or that of infinite condemnation; Heaven's laugh, or that of eternal triumph.

Scene: An oriental tent; the occupants, old Abraham and Sarah, perhaps wrinkled and decrepit. Their three guests are three angels—the Lord Almighty one of them. In return for the hospitality shown by the old people the promise Sarah that she shall become the mother of the Lord Jesus Christ. Sarah laughs in the face of God; she does not believe it. She is affrighted at what she has done. She denies it. She says: "I didn't laugh." Then God retorted with an emphasis that silenced all disputation: "But thou didst laugh. My friends, the laugh of skepticism in all ages is only the echo of Sarah's laughter. God says He will accomplish a thing, and man says it cannot be done. A great multitude laugh at the miracles. They say they are contrary to the laws of nature. What is a law of nature? It is God's way of doing a thing. You ordinarily cross the river by the bridge. To-morrow you change for one day, and passage across Wall street ferry. You made a mistake. Have you not the right to change it? I ordinarily come in at that door (pointing to a side entrance of the church). Suppose next Sabbath I should come in at the other door? It is a habit I have. Have I not a right to change my habit? A law of nature is God's habit—His way of doing things. If He makes the law, has He not a right to change it at any time he wants to change it? Alas for the folly of those who laugh at God when he says: "I will do a thing," they responding, "You can't do it."

God says that the Bible is true—it is all true. Bishop Colenso laughs; Herbert Spencer laughs; John Stuart Mill laughs; great German universities laugh; Harvard laughs—softly! a great many of the learned institutions of this country, with long rows of professors seated on the fence between Christianity and infidelity, laugh softly. They say: "We didn't laugh." That was Sarah's trick. God thunders from the heavens: "But thou didst laugh."

The garden of Eden was only a fable. There never was any ark built—it was too small to have two of every kind. The pillar of fire by night was only the northern lights. The ten plagues of Egypt only a brilliant specimen of jugglery. The sea parted because the wind blew violently a great while from one direction. The sun and moon did not push themselves out of the way for Joshua. Jacob's ladder was only horizontal and pictureque clouds. The destroying angel smiting the first born in Egypt was only cholera infantum become epidemic. The gullet of the whale by positive measurement too small to swallow a prophet. The lame, the dumb, the blind, the halt, cured by mere human surgery. The resurrection of Christ's friend only a beautiful tableau, Christ and Lazarus and Mary and Martha acting their parts well. My friends, their is not a doctrine or statement of God's Holy Word that has not been derided by the skepticism of the day.

I take up this book of King James' translation. I consider it a perfect Bible, but here are skeptics who want it torn to pieces. And now, with this Bible in my hand, let me tear out all those portions which the skepticism of the day demands shall be torn out. What shall go first? "Well," says some in the audience, "take out all that about the creation and about the first settlement of the world." Away goes Genesis. "Now," says some one, "take out all that about the miraculous guidance of the children of Israel in the wilderness." Away goes Exodus. "Now," says some one in the audience, "there are things in Deuteronomy and Kings that are not fit to be read." Away goes Deuteronomy and the Kings. "Now," says some one, "the book of Job is a fable that ought to come out." Away goes the book of Job. "Now," says some one, "those passages in the New Testament which imply the divinity of Jesus Christ ought to come out." Away go the Evangelists. "Now," says some one, "the book of Revelation—preposterous! It represents a man with the moon under his feet and a sharp sword in his hand." Away goes the book of Revelation. Now there are a few pieces left. What shall we do with them? "Oh," says some man in the audience, "I don't believe a word in the Bible from one end to the other." Well, it is all gone. Now you have put out the last light for the nations. Now it is the pitch darkness of eternal midnight. How do you like it? But I think, my friends, we had better keep the Bible a little longer intact. It has done pretty well for a good many years. Then there are old people who find it a comfort to have it on their laps, and children like the stories in it. Let us keep it for a curiosity, anyhow. If the Bible is to be thrown out of the school and out of the court room, so that men no more are sworn by it, and it is to be put in a museum of the city library, the Koran on the one side and the writings of Confucius on the other, then let us each one keep a copy for himself, for we might have trouble, and we would want to be under the delusion of its consolations; and we might die and we would want the delusion of the exalted residence at God's right hand which it mentions.

Oh, what an awful thing it is to laugh in God's face and hurl His revelation back at Him! After awhile the day will come when they will say they did not laugh. Then all the hypercriticisms, all the caricatures and all the learned sneers in the quarterly reviews will be brought to judgment; and amid the rocking of everything beneath and amid the flaming of everything above, God will thunder: "Ye thou didst laugh." I think the most fascinating laughter of Christianity I ever remember was Theodore Parker's. He made the Word of God seem ridiculous, and he laughed on at our holy religion, he came to the end then he said: "Thank God I have a conscience." Immoral! Immorality. I have no children; a failure socially, nor I am worried to the church now a month; a single grandchild, thanks! I know that one Sabbath this has stopped my mouth." For a quarter of a century he laughed at Christianity, and ever since Christianity has been laughing at him. Now, it is a mean thing to go into a man's house and steal his goods; but I tell you the most exquisite burglary ever invented is the propposition to steal from treasures of our holy religion. The meanest laughter ever uttered is the laughter of the skeptic.

The next laughter mentioned in the Bible is David's laughter, or the laughter of spiritual exultation: "Then was our mouth filled with laughter." He got very much down sometimes, but there are other chapters where, for four or five times, he calls upon the people to praise and exult. It was not a mere twitch of the lips, it was a demonstration that took hold of his whole physical nature. "Then was our mouth filled with laughter." My friends, this world will never be converted to God until Christians cry less and laugh and sing more. The horrors are a poor bait. If people are to be persuaded to adopt our holy religion, it will be because they have made up their minds it is a happy religion. They don't like a morbid Christianity. I know there are morbid people who enjoy a funeral. They come early to see the friends take leave of the corpse, and they steal a ride to the cemetery; but all healthy people enjoy a wedding better than they do a burial. Now, you make the religion of Christ sepulchral and hearse-like, and you make it repulsive.

I say plant the rose of Sharon along the church walks, and commission it to clamber over the church wall; and have a smile on the lip and have the mouth filled with holy laughter. There is no man in the world except the Christian that has a right to feel an unbounded glee. He is promised everything is to be for the best here, and he is on the way to a delight which will take all the processions with palm branches and all the orchestras, harped and cymbaled and trumpeted, to express. "O," you say, "I have so much trouble!" Have you more trouble than Paul had? What does he say? "Sorrowful, yet always rejoicing. Poor, yet making many rich. Having nothing, yet possessing all things." The merriest laugh I think I ever heard has been in the sick room of God's dear children. When Thekoahne was put upon the rack he suffered very great torture at the first. Somebody asked him how he endured all that pain on the rack. He replied: "When I was first put upon the rack I suffered a great deal; but very soon a young man in white stood by my side and with a soft and comfortable handkerchief he wiped the sweat from my brow and my pains were relieved; it was a punishment for me to get from the rack, because when the pain was all gone the angel was gone." Oh, rejoice evermore! You know how it is in the army—an army in encampment. If to-day news comes that our side has had a defeat, it demoralizes all the host. But if the news comes of victory today and victory to-morrow, the whole army is impassioned for the contest. Now, in the kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ report fewer defeats; tell us the victories—victory over sin and death and hell. Rejoice evermore, and again, I say, rejoice! I believe there is more religion in a laugh than in a groan. Anybody can groan, but to laugh in the midst of banishment and persecution and indescribable trial, that requires a David, a Daniel, a Paul, a modern heroine.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents add the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have conducted to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in the salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through subagents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the largest named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.

Important Meeting.

A meeting of the Young Men's Reform Club will be held in their rooms on Tuesday evening, April 27th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members and supporters of the Liberal party is requested. Among the business to be transacted will be the election of a secretary for the club, Mr. R. E. Wood having resigned, owing to his being appointed to the position of County Crown Attorney and Clerk of the Peace.

Gough's Great Seed-Time.

Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, the Ready-made Clothing King, the Low Price Prince, will begin the season's farming operations, by sowing, from the roof of the Opera House, upon the Market Square, 500 linen dusters for public appropriation,—as soon as the weather is warm enough for the duster to thrive. The sowing will be done broadcast; Gough cuts expenses so low that he won't go to the extra cost of getting a seed drill. That is the reason why he is able to give his ready-made clothing, hat and caps, gents' furnishings, and children's clothing at such fabulously low prices. His stock of gents' furnishings and hats and children's clothing is worthy of especial attention. Gough's goods are of the best and his prices are positively low, comparatively lower, and superlatively lowest of any store in the Dominion. Call and see goods and prices—at Gough's Wonderful Cheap Clothing Store, Arcade, Market Block, Peterborough.

Sunday Services.

The Sacrament of the Lord's supper was dispensed in St. Paul's church on Sunday morning at the conclusion of the usual services. About a hundred new members were added to the church.

At the conclusion of the morning services in the George street church on Sunday, the Sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered.

The Easter services in St. John's were one usually well attended yesterday. At the early morning service there were present 101 communicants. At the morning services at 11 o'clock, the church was well filled. The music was characterized by the spirit of rejoicing appropriate to the occasion. During ing the offertory Mr. A. P. Pennette sang with correctness and expression, Gounod's solo, "The King of Love My Shepherd is." In the evening the church was crowded. The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were rendered according to Tours in F. In the anthem, "Blessed be the God and Father, etc.," solos were taken by Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Miss Rash—soprano and contralto—and during the offertory, Miss A. Errett rendered Handel's "But Thou Did'st Not Leave, etc." The concluding voluntary was the Hallelujah chorus from Bethoven's "Mount of Olives." The collections, which were in aid of the building fund of the church, were liberal.

Pontifical high mass was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday morning at 10.30 by His Lordship Bishop Jamot, assisted by Rev. Father Conway and Mr. Ruddkins. His Lordship also gave the papal benediction at the close of the services. Appropriate music was rendered during the services, the choir being assisted by Prof. Doucet on the violin. In the evening musical vespers was held. Mother St. Aubert and Prof. Doucet gave the instrumental selections, organ and violin, which were exceptionally grand and solemn. The altar was appropriately illuminated on both occasions.

There were four services in St. Luke's yesterday. Early communion service and morning service with holy communion at eleven o'clock. At the two celebrations 175 persons communicated. A service for children was held at three o'clock, and evening service at 7 o'clock. The church was beautifully and appropriately decorated.

"Let There be an Inquiry."

To the Editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—I write to ask the public in general and the citizens of Ashburnham in particular if they are not of opinion, that the council of the village could employ an evening very profitably and to their credit in investigating the circumstances attending the death of Thos. Crowley, referred to in your issue of Saturday last.

The conduct of the village constable, if correctly reported by the Review, is at least open, to severe censure, and "man's inhumanity to man" could scarcely be better exemplified. A poor unfortunate creature, known to have had a severe fall, is found in an almost insensible condition, is bundled into a wheelbarrow and trundled a quarter of a mile to police station or lock-up, is left all night without the obtaining of any medical assistance, or even an examination, that would have disclosed the sufferer had received a bad cut in the head and had had three or four ribs broken. Neither, apparently, was there an effort made to inform the relatives and friends of the injured man's accident. Alone he lay the whole night, in the morning is found "stiff" and bleeding and beyond the doctor's help and soon beyond his need.

For unfeeling neglect and want of human sympathy or concern for a fellow creature, it would be difficult, in this age of compassion, I conceive, to find a parallel to the above.

Let there be an inquiry, and let the constable either be relieved from the charge against him, or discharged from the position he holds, as the evidence may show fit to conduce in the affair to deserve.

Yours,
CITIZEN.

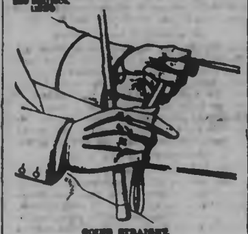
Some Horse Talk.

A British Lesson for Englishmen in Driving.

An Englishman, Mr. G. Sidney, has written a new book about the horse. Of course, he looks at the matter entirely from the English point of view, but horses are horses the world over. The American horse book has yet to be written. You will be surprised to know there is scarcely one in this country that is worth a rap, and such as there are are chiefly relatives of English thoroughbreds on the sly.



GOING STRAIGHT.

One interesting chapter of Mr. Sidney's book is devoted to driving. There is much to be learned from it by Americans.

In driving you must hold your hands as in the picture, whether you have one horse or four. You must appear to manage your steed without any effort.

For a carriage that a man is to drive himself he should be measured for the seat. The position approaching the upright one is to be altogether avoided. "Nothing looks worse than to see a driver obliged to throw his head back if he pulls up suddenly," says Mr. Sidney. For the reason care must be taken not to have the seat too high. The hands should be about on a level in holding the reins. Hold the elbows easily so that they will just clear the hips.

TURNING TO THE RIGHT.

The illustration needs no explanation. The left holding the reins, with the right you bear lightly on the right hand one in the manner shown.

Hold your whip in the right hand, always, nearly upright. But it is hardly ever to be used. Remember that. A spirited horse needs no urging beyond a touch, which is an indication of his master's will. The whip is only to be used freely when the animal refuses to obey. And then even the harness is to be carefully examined, to make sure nothing is wrong with it, making that the cause for the horse's fractiousness. Whip always in front of the pad, upon the forelog or shoulder. A pair of horses coupled too close to the pole will throw out their hind quarters when stopped suddenly. Both should be harnessed so that when the reins are crossed they will draw evenly.

Mind your eyes all the time, and never let the reins lie loose. Hold them firm enough to keep them from slipping at all times, yet lightly, so as not to pull too much. Treat your horses under all circumstances to walk till you tell them to go, before starting. Labor with them until you have made them understand this.

SHOPPING.

When you wish to stop your team, do it in the manner indicated in the picture, not pulling your hands up to your eyes in the disgraceful fashion of some drivers. Simply shorten up the reins with a turn of the wrist.

No more are you to poke your nose out towards the horse's ears and lean forward when you drive. You are to sit upright, in an easy, commanding position, and manage your horses from the shoulder and wrist. This advice from Mr. Sidney is admirable:

"The rudiments of driving may be compared to steering a boat. There must be no pulling and hauling first one side and then the other. The slightest movement will be felt on a well-broken, well-bitted horse, and anticipated—just as much pressure as is needful to keep the head straight; this pressure on either rein will be felt on the very spot."

Our author by no means go in very strongly for holding the reins in one hand. It may look very fine, but it leaves the driver at the mercy of any sudden movement the horse may make. "Practically it is the beginning of a journey a good driver always takes the reins in both hands, and holds them thus do long as there is any possibility of a horse turning to the right or left. And even if he does for a little while hold them in the left hand he always keeps his right hand where he can grasp them instantly in case of need. It is to be feared that Mr. Sidney never had the misfortune of "sparking" over American country roads.

Josh Billings' Dog.

It is told of Josh Billings that once tramping with a yellow dog as his companion he fell among some Yale boys in a Connecticut village hotel. They took him for a farmer from way-back, and set out to have some fun with him. On their inquiring with affected interest after the health of his wife and children, Josh, with counterfeit simplicity, gave them a graphic account of his family and farm. "Of course you belong to the church?" asked one of the boys. "Yes, the Lord be praised, and my father and grandfather before me." "Now, I suppose you would not tell a lie," said one of the students. "Not for the world." "What will you take for that dog?" pointing to Josh's cur, which was crouching beneath his chair. "I won't take $20 for that dog." "Twenty dollars! Why, he ain't worth 20 cents." "I assure you I would not take $20 for him." "Come, my friend," said the student, who, with his companions, was bent on having some fun with the old man. "Now you say you won't tell a lie for the world. Let me see if you will not do it for $20. I'll give you $20 for your dog." "I'll not take it." "You will not? Here! let me see if this will not tempt you to tell a lie," added the student, producing a small bag of half-dollars, which he built up in small piles on the table. Josh was sitting by the table, with his hat in his hand, apparently unconcerned. "There," added the student, "there are $20, all in silver; I will give you that for the animal." Josh quietly raised his hat to the edge of the table, and as quick as thought scraped all the money into it except one half-dollar, and then exclaimed: "I won't take your $20! Nineteen and a half is as much as that dog is worth; he is your property!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is every indication that the general elections for the Dominion are to be brought on this fall.

Ven. Archdeacon Boddy, Rev. Provost Body, Rev. Jno. Barton, B.D., Rev. Dr. Docherty Rev. Dr. Laing, Rev. H. D. Powis, and Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the committee who revised and approved the Book of Scripture Readings prepared by the Department of Education, are described by the Lindsay Warder as "a lot of Protestant ministers, whose vanity or political zeal carry them away." This is almost equal, the Globe thinks, to the Mail's famous attempt to measure Archbishop Lynch's intellect with that of a poodle dog.

A forecast of the Redistribution Bill about to be introduced by the Manitoba Government intimates that the number of constituencies will be increased from 30 to 40. The additional representation will be given chiefly to the western portion of the Province. The French representation will be allowed to remain very much as at present. Some of these constituencies, however, have not more than 100 resident voters, while it is said the Bill will profess to allot one member to every 2,000 of population in rural municipalities. In Winnipeg, to a population of 40,000, two members will be given.

On Saturday next, May 1st, the Scott Act will go into effect in Brant, Lords and Grenville, Kent, Lanark, Lennox and Addington, Elgin, Lambton, St. Thomas, Wellington, Frontenac, Lincoln, Middlesex, Victoria, Ontario, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham; Brome and Chicoutimi, Quebec; and Guysborough, N.S. The Act is now in force in twenty-seven places in the Maritime Provinces, twelve in Ontario, three in Quebec, and two in Manitoba. After the first of May, therefore, the Act will be in operation in 63 of the counties and cities of the Dominion.

In view of a general election, the faithful in Napanee are raising the question of a new post-office for that town, and the battle of the sites, something like that which took place in Peterborough, is to be fought over again on a new field. The business men composing the Board of Trade have selected a central site, but the Tory wirepullers are working for ends of their own. Would it not be a refreshing rarity to see the Dominion Government do something once in the public interests, without mixing themselves up with the intrigues of the party wirepullers.

Brotherhood.

A Special Sermon to the Oddfellows by Rev. E. F. Torrance.

The Otonabee and Peterborough Lodges of Oddfellows and visiting brethren celebrated the 67th anniversary of the establishment of Oddfellowship on the continent of America by attending divine service in St. Paul's church on Sunday evening. The brethren met at their lodge rooms, and, after forming in procession, marched in a body to the church. The Rev. E. F. Torrance preached a special sermon of force and eloquence to the brethren assembled.

The reverend gentleman took as his text the 2nd verse of the 6th chapter of Galatians: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." In commencing, the speaker said there was some burden or other pressing upon the heart of almost every member of the human race. Though the faces of persons were bright and cheerful, their hearts could tell a tale of hidden grief, while those whose faces were gloomy had secret sorrows that were sapping their very lives away. When Jesus said, "Come unto me all ye that are weak and heavy laden and I will give you rest," He had reference to burdens of the heart. These burdens were of two kinds: Those which you can bear yourself, and those which you can share with others. The Apostle referred to the former when he said: "For every man shall bear his own burden," and to the latter when he said: "Bear ye one another's burdens." While there were burdens which men could bear, there were burdens which it was the duty of others, especially the strong, to assist in bearing. The prevalence of was shown throughout the whole universe. Astronomy shows that the planets are kept in place by working mutually. The clouds are formed by evaporations from the sea and return to it after refreshing the land and strolling the streams. The stars borrow their light from the sun and in turn light the earth. The trees drew their nourishment from the earth and in turn furnished a pleasant shade, and in season re-nourishes the earth with fallen leaves; whilst all went to show the prevalence of mutual burden-bearing. In the lower animals numerous illustrations of mutual burden-bearing were shown. In Scripture the ass was with epithet of an knowing his master and the ox his master's corn crib. Ants afforded a good illustration of mutual burden-bearing. A number of ants in a colony formed a large production of and supported all the young, others nourished and supplied, while others again defended the colony. Throughout the whole earth among men the prevalence of mutual burden-bearing was very great.

PATRIOTISM

was brotherhood and one of the highest types of universal burden-bearing, although different nationalities forgot their universal brotherhood and looked with contempt upon their brothers, as the Jews did the Gentiles, and the Greeks and Romans did the Barbarians. There was no inconsistency in the love which a man shown for his country. Jonah, David and Paul were patriots. Jesus wept over Jerusalem because his Jewish brethren would not give up their wickedness. David and Jonathan were fast and patriotic friends as were also Tennyson and Arthur Hallam.

The brethren of benevolent societies, the society which he especially addressed were bound together with a tie of fellowship, the ennobling influences of which were a source of great benefit, and which they had all felt.

THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERHOOD

was the highest brotherhood of them all. The tie which bound brothers in Christ held them closer than to lineal friends or societies. They were as inseparable as the branch and the vine. They were all members of the one body, of which Christ is the head. Christ was the greatest burden-bearer. He bore the burdens and sorrows of the world. Mutual brotherhood was the law of Christ.

THE OBJECTS OF THE SOCIETY.

The speaker said that he found in the preface of the constitution and by-laws of the society before him, that the objects of the society were:—To visit the sick, to relieve the distressed, to bury the dead, to educate the orphans, and to aid the widows.

VISITATION OF THE SICK

was a practice particularly endorsed by Scripture. The members of churches might learn a lesson from the order in this respect. They think the duty devolves upon the minister alone. The sick were cheered by a kindly visit and sympathetic words. These words spoken to the sick, as well as being sympathetic, should also point the sufferer to the Saviour. Holy Scripture also lays particular stress upon

THE RELIEF OF THE DISTRESSED.

The members of churches could also take a lesson from the benevolent societies in this respect. The speaker was pleased to know that many persons in town had been relieved by the Oddfellows' societies.

THE BURIAL OF THE DEAD.

Is was the wish of almost every person to be buried by their friends. Burial was the last rite of respect. It was only right that the dead should be buried in a becoming manner, and the society did this.

THE EDUCATION OF ORPHANS.

This object was a deserving one. The Scripture says "Ye shall not afflict the fatherless." The education of orphans especially pleased the Lord. These orphans received an education that fitted them for being respectable citizens, while it was also probable that some of them would rise to be leaders of men.

THE AIDING OF WIDOWS.

There are many passages in Scripture which point out that Christians should aid the widows. There were many widows who would not be able to maintain a living if it were not for the generosity of these benevolent societies, who assisted them liberally, and in so doing were doing the will of God.

In consolusion, the speaker said he must say something for his Lord and Master, and pointed out to his hearers that Jesus had said that he who gave, even the least of his disciples, a cup of cold water would have his reward. These societies then would certainly be rewarded for their benevolence.

He trusted his hearers all belonged to the Christian brotherhood and asked God's blessing upon them.

At the conclusion of the services the brethren again formed in procession and marched to Otonabee Lodge room, where after the unanimous passing of a vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Torrance for his able, eloquent, appropriate and highly appreciated sermon, brief addresses by several officers, and the singing of the closing doxology, they dispersed.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two of the best trusses made in York State, costing me $16. Nothing would retain my Hernia. LAUGHTER OF THE BIBLE

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON IN THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.

The Learned Laughter of Skepticism, and the Laughter of Spiritual Exultation—Only a Christian Shielded in Full Unrummaged Glee.

The next laughter mentioned in the Bible that I shall speak of, is the fool's laughter or the expression of sinful merriment. Solomon was very quick at simile; what is he making a comparison we all catch it. What is the laughter of a fool like? He says: "It is the crackling of thorns under a pot." The bottle is swung, a bunch of brambles is put under it, and the torch is applied to it, and there is a crackling and a big blaze and spatter and a short enjoyment; then it is darker than it was before. Fool's laughter. The most miserable thing on earth is a bad man's fun. There they are—ten men in a barroom; they have at home wives, mothers, daughters. The lampjest starts at one corner of the barroom and crackle, crackle, crackle, it goes all over. In one hundred small traffics in sin, in the history of humanity they all [illegible] they have had experience [illegible] do with men or women who tell immoral stories. I have no confidence either in their intelligence or their morality.

So all merriment that springs out of the defects of others—a limp in the foot or a curved spine or a blind eye or a deaf ear—will be met with the judgments of God either upon you or your children. Twenty years ago, in this city, I knew a man [illegible] particularly skillful in imitating the manner of his neighbor. Nothing afforded him so much delightful mimic humor as the imitation of every defect possible to human nature that unbalanced years before. I do not say it was a judgment of God; I leave you to make your own inference. So all merriment born of dissipation, that which starts at the counters of the drinking restaurant, or from the wine glass in the home circle, the mandolin singer, the meaningless joke, the minstrel's [illegible], the paroxysm of mirth about nothing, that you sometimes see in the fashionable club room or in the exquisite parlor at 12 o'clock at night, are the crackling of thorns under a pot. Such laughter and such sin end in death. When I was a lad a book came into my hand called "Don Jour's Patent Sermons." It had a great title, a very wide large, full page to the copper, that book did. It was a caricature of the Christian ministry and of the word of God and of the day of judgment. Oh, we had a great laugh! The commentary on the whole thing is that most long ago the author of that book died in poverty, shame, debauchery, kicked out of society and cursed of almighty God. The laughter of such men is the echo of their own damnation.

The next laughter that I shall mention as being in the Bible is the laugh of God's condemnation: "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh." Again, "The Lord shall laugh at him." Again, "I will laugh at his calamity." With such demonstration will God greet every kind of great sin and wickedness. But men build up villainies higher and higher. Good men almost pity God because He is so schemed against by men. Suddenly a pin drops out of the machinery of wickedness, or a secret is revealed, and the foundation begins to rock, and finally the whole thing is demolished. What is the matter? I will tell you what the matter is. The crash of ruin is only the reverberation of God's laughter.

On Wall street there are a great many good men and a great many fraudulent men. [illegible] there says: "I mean to have my million." He goes to work reckless of honesty and he gets his first $100,000. He gets after awhile his $200,000. After awhile he gets his $500,000. "Now," he says, "I have enough; there is no more to make and I will stop at a million." He gathers [illegible] resources; he makes [illegible] a great move, he fails and loses all and he has not enough money left to pay the cost of the car to his [illegible] understand this spasmodic revulsion. Some said it was a sudden turn in Erie or Lake Shore or in Western Union or in Illinois Central; some said it was Jay Gould; some said it was one speculator, some said it was another. They all guessed wrong. I will tell you what it was: "He that sitteth in the heavens" laughed.

A man in New York said he would be the richest man in the city. He left his honest work of chairmaking and got into the city somehow, and in ten years stole [illegible],000 from the city government. Millions dollars. He had the legislature of the state of New York in the grip of his right hand. Suspicions were aroused. The grand jury presented indictments. The whole land stood aghast. The man who expected to put half the city in his vest pocket goes to Blackwell's Island, goes to Ludlow street jail, breaks prison and goes across the sea, is rearrested and brought back and again remanded to jail and died there. Why? "He that sitteth in the heavens" laughed.

Rome was a great empire; she had Horace and Virgil among her poets. She had Augustus and Constantine among her emperors. But what mean the defaced Pantheon and the Forum turned into a cattle market, and the broken walled Coliseum and the architectural skeleton of her grand aqueducts? What was that thunder? "O," you say, "that was the rear of the battering rams against her walls." No. What was that quiver? "O," you say, "that was the tramp of hostile legions." No. The quiver and the roar were the outburst of Omnipotent laughter from the defied and insulted heavens. Rome defied God, and He laughed her down. Thebes defied God, and He laughed her down. Babylon defied God, and He laughed her down.

There is a great difference between God's laugh and His smile. His smile is eternal beatitude. Its sunlight when Dagrid sang, and Miriam clapped the cymbals, and Hannah made garments for her son, and Paul preached and John kindled with Apocalyptic vision, and when any man has anything to do and does it well. His smile! Why, it is the 16th of May, the apple orchards in full bloom; it is heaven at high noon, all the bells pealing the marriage peal. But His laughter—may it never fall on us! It is a condemnation for our sin; it is a wasting away. We may let the satirist laugh at us and all our companions may laugh at us, and we may be the target for the merriment of earth and hell; but God forbid that we should ever come to the fulfillment of the prophecy against the rejectors of the truth: "I will laugh at your calamity." But, my friends, all of us who reject Christ and the pardon of the gospel must come under that tremendous [illegible]. God wants us all to repent. He commands, He coaxes, He importunes and He dies for us. He comes down out of heaven. He puts all the world's sorrow on the cities of Judea; and [illegible] with that Alp on one side and that Himalaya on the other, He starts up the hill back of Jerusalem to achieve our salvation. He puts the palm of His right foot on one [illegible], and the pain of [illegible] of His left foot on another long spike, and then with hands spread with His own blood He gesticulates [illegible] "Ho! Ho! Ho! Live! With the utmost [illegible] of my omnipotence I will cover [illegible] your sins; with my dying groans I will [illegible] your groans. Look, live!" [illegible] this morning turn your [illegible] this voice of invitation [illegible] divinely commence that echo like a simoom through the first chapter of Proverbs: "Because I have called, and ye refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded; but ye have set at nought all my counsel, and would none of my reproof, I also will laugh at your calamity." Oh, what a laugh that is! a deep laugh; a long reverberating laugh; an overwhelming laugh. God grant we may never [illegible] of merciful visitation yield your heart to Christ that you may spend all your life on earth under his smile, and [illegible] forever like Shadow of the Rock of God's Indignation.

The other laughter mentioned in the Bible, the only one I shall speak of, is heaven's laughter, or the explosion of eternal triumph. Christ said to His disciples: "Blessed are ye that weep now, for ye shall laugh." That applies the most positively that we have ever heard of my congregation. I also will laugh at your calamity." Oh, what a laugh that is! a deep laugh; a long reverberating laugh; an overwhelming laugh. God grant we may never [illegible] of merciful visitation yield your heart to Christ that you may spend all your life on earth under his smile, and [illegible] forever like Shadow of the Rock of God's Indignation.

The other laughter mentioned in the Bible, the only one I shall speak of, is heaven's laughter, or the explosion of eternal triumph. Christ said to His disciples: "Blessed are ye that weep now, for ye shall laugh." That applies the most positively that we have ever heard of my congregation. [illegible] those who have come up out of great financial embarrassments in this world because they have become millionaires in heaven.

To shall [illegible] It shall be a laugh of reassociation. It is just as natural for us to laugh when we meet a friend we have not seen for ten years, if anything is possible to be natural. When we meet our friends from whom we have been parted ten, twenty or thirty years, will it not be with infinite congratulations? Our perception quickened, our knowledge improved, we will know each other at a flash. We will have to talk over all those happy years that we have been separated. The one [illegible] ten years in heaven telling us of the [illegible] happened in the ten years of his heavenly residence, and we telling him in return all that has happened during the ten years of his absence from earth.

Yes, it will be a laugh of triumph. O, what a pleasant thing it will be to stand on the wall of heaven and look down at Satan and Hurl at him defiance, and see him caged and chained and we forever free from his clutches! Aha! Yes, it will be a laugh of royal greeting. You know how the Frenchmen cheered when Napoleon came back from Elba; you know how the English [illegible] when Wellington came back from Waterloo; you know how Americans cheered when Kossuth arrived from Hungary; you remember how Rome cheered, when Pompey came back victor over 400 cities. Every cheer was a laugh. But, oh, the mightier greeting, the gladder greeting, when the snow white cavalry troop of heaven shall go through the streets and, according to the book of Revelations, Christ in the red coat, in the crimson coat, on a white horse, and all the armies of heaven following, on white horses! Oh, when we see and hear that cavalcade we shall cheer, we shall laugh.

Does not your heart beat quickly this morning at the thought of the great jubilee [illegible] which we are soon to enter? I pray God that when we get through with this world and are going out of it [illegible] may have such vision as the dying Christian had when he saw written all over the heavens the letter "W," and they asked the angel standing by his side what the meaning of the letter "W" meant, "Welcome," he said, "that stands for welcome." And so may it be when we quit this world. "W" on the gate, "W" on the door of the mansion, "W" on the throne. Welcome! Welcome! Welcome!

Important Meeting.

A meeting of the Young Men's Reform Club will be held in their rooms on Tuesday evening, April 27th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members and supporters of the Liberal party is requested. Among the business to be transacted will be the election of a secretary for the club, Mr. R. E. Men and Horses for British Columbia.

During the past few weeks Mr. T. Cavanagh has been hiring men and buying horses for Messrs. Ross & McDermott, of British Columbia. This morning he sent a party of 60 able men and two cars of fine heavy horses by C. P. R. to Summit, on the Columbia River, at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. The men will be employed in chopping timber for the erection of snow sheds along the C. P. R. through the mountains.

The Butchers' Display.

The display of Easter meat made by Messrs. Winch, Howden, Wainwright, Mervin, O'Brien and others, at their several stalls on Saturday, equalled anything of the kind ever before attempted by them. The tempting meats, adorned with artificial flowers, which were placed in the most conspicuous position, sold like hot cakes, and the butchers have every reason to be gratified at the result of their enterprise, which has been recognized in such a substantial way.

Barnardo Boys in Demand.

All the 192 boys sent out from England by Dr. Barnardo, about a fortnight ago, have already been placed and adopted. Superintendent Duff, of the Hazel Brae Home, received over 500 applications for these boys, which substantial sympathy is an evidence that Dr. Barnardo's efforts are appreciated. The boys of the last party sent out, spent, on the average, 16 months and a half in the English homes, during which time they received a careful and liberal training. Mr. A. B. Owens, travelling agent for the homes, leaves for England about the first of May, to bring out another party.

Cheesemakers' Meeting.

A well represented meeting of the Cheesemakers' Association of Peterborough and Victoria Counties was held in the old music hall on Saturday afternoon. Mr. W. Crebbin, President, occupied the chair. The drafting of a set of rules and regulations for the government of the Association was discussed and was left over until fall. The best method of dealing with patrons who water their milk was also discussed. Returning the watered article and the imposing of a fine upon the parties who endeavored to impose upon the manufacturers were suggested, but no definite mode of treatment was adopted. Mr. J. W. Moore, proprietor of the Deore factory, drew attention to the fact that in the two cases which he had placed in court as test cases, suing patrons, who, after signing an agreement for five years, neglected to sell any milk to the factory, Judge Weller had given judgment in hi favor in both cases, giving him $45 and $25 besides costs. Other matters, only of interest to the Association, were discussed. The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the President.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other trash which may yield a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by cheque in each case per annum, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $400 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement, with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

THE NEW ST. ANDREW'S.

Completion of a Completely Church-Like Church.

The New Kirk Rises on the Ruins of the "Old Kirk"—Description of the Beautiful Edifice—Perfect in its Appointments—A Credit to the Congregation and the Town—Programme of Next Sunday's Dedicatory Services—Sermons by Eminent Ministers—Special Musical Services.

At the head of Brock street in the town of Peterborough in the year of grace 1835 rose, what would be called in these days an unpretending edifice called in the records St. Andrews, but known in latter times, popular parlance the "Old Kirk." To-day on the same site, there stands ready for the worship of the Most High one of the most solidly constructed, elegantly finished and conveniently arranged and appointed church structures in Canada.

THE NEW ST. ANDREWS.

In the beginning of April 1885, work began on the demolition of the old structure, but, owing to a severe visitation of snow and frost the work was only completed and excavation began for its successor about the middle of May. In June the masonry was put under construction. The original contract was made with Messrs. Douglass & Robson, but, during the course of the summer Mr. Robson sickened and died, and Mr. Andrew Douglas carried on the contract, and has at length successfully completed it to the

of the church.

On the 28th of June, work was so far advanced that the corner stone was laid with imposing ceremonies, a full description of which appeared in the EXAMINER of June 29th. From this time work went on rapidly and steadily, and but for the advent of severe frost in the early winter, the building would have been completed by the time stipulated in the contract, February 1st. As it was the building committee gave an extension of time, evidently preferring to the letter of the contract, carrying out the spirit of it, which is embodied in the beautiful edifice now ready for the solemn ceremonies and occasion of dedication.

THE COMPLETED STRUCTURE

presents a fine appearance, being of the Gothic style and built of white brick with cut stone dressing. The dimensions are as follows: Length, over all, 104 feet, breadth of nave, 60 feet. The transept, which projects 6 ft. 8 in. beyond the wall line of the nave, is 73 x 31 feet. From the length over all in the rear is cut off 17 feet in width to form the organ loft, 28 x 17, leaving the roomy vestry on the south side, that of the almost adjoining manse, and in the north a lobby and passage, the latter connected by a door with the aisle of the northern transept, and conducting through a porch to the school room on the north. From the front of the nave is taken out—on the north—an entrance porch, 8 x 12, with two doors leading to the auditorium. The tower vestibule on the south side is 23 x 23, feet over all, 8 x 13 feet of which is borrowed from the nave.

THE MATERIAL

is, in the foundation, rock-face ashlar limestone, which rises three feet from the ground level. The brick work starts flush with the stone work, with a base five bricks deep bevelled at the top. The walls are strengthened by buttresses, which rise from the ground to a height of 25 feet. Fourteen feet from the bottom a cut stone (Credit Valley freestone) cap covers the jut of the buttress, which is finished by a similar cap. The latter buttresses, however, rise 38 feet. At the height of the buttresses but stone string courses extend horizontally, following at these points, however, the lines of the heads of the window arches. The gables of the porches are also provided with cut stone courses and finials in ornate carving. The arch stringers terminate in ornamental corbels. All the gables terminate in cut stone finials.

At the upper termination of the tower buttresses the first string course surrounding the tower is placed. Above this three small windows pierce each face of the tower which succeeds another cut stone string course. At this point a space is cut off from each angle of the tower, converting it into an octagon. From the four corners thirty-one feet in height, five and a half feet above the battlemented top of the tower, with the tops finished in corresponding style. Louvre board windows, with tracery tops in quatrefoil, to the belfry, [illegible] sides of the upper part of the tower. The walls terminate at the top [illegible] the lines in ornamental brickwork details.

The roof, which has a perpendicular rise of 31 feet, is covered with slate laid on felting, and the ridges are surmounted with iron [illegible] ultramarine, the points tipped with gilding.

There are four chimneys to the church which rise 63 feet from the ground level and [illegible] the [illegible] main tower.

THE WINDOW SPACES

in the front of the church consist of two gothic windows, with tracery heads in quatrefoil, centrally situated. Above these is a Catharine wheel window, and above this, in the gable and also in the transept gables, is a small louvre board window. The transept windows are three in number on each side, the central one five feet wide and 23 feet in height, flanked by two narrower windows 15 feet high, which correspond in size to the three windows on each side of the nave. All the windows are provided with stained glass in lead, from the Dominion Stained Glass Works, Toronto, except the south transept, which is filled with the erected by the widow of the late Robert Nicholls, by McCausland, of Toronto. This fine window, in richness of ornate detail, can no more be described than a sunset scene. The memorial design is very simple, consisting only of a circle in the head of the central window containing, in ecclesiastical letter, the monogram of the initial letters, "R. N.," and at the base of the window, in old English text, the words "Nicholls Memorial."

Harmonious in design, massive in style of structure and handsome, both in entirety and in detail as the outside of the building is, is strikingly beautiful. The groined ceilings are its distinctive feature. The design of the groining involves the division of the roof space of the nave into three portions, the middle one of which, corresponding in width with the transept and with the organ loft, with which latter it is continuous, is 23 feet in width; the lateral portions are 13 feet in width; Thirteen feet from the side walls of the nave and parallel with them rise two rows of lofty iron columns, each in the nave, at least, 13 feet from the other. These columns are, on an average, a height of 20 feet, the capitals being on a level, the disparity in length arises from the "dish" of the floor (to be alluded to later on.) Along the wall of the nave at the height of the columns extends a rich cornice conforming to the lines of the heads of the Gothic windows at these points, from this and from the heads of the columns, spring the convenging arches that form the groin with its ornate bosses and enriched ribs. The middle nave space forms an arch which joins with the arches of the transepts and organ loft to form the central groin of the transept over the communion platform. The ceiling with its opulent ornamentation of boss, and richly moulded rib must be seen to be appreciated—it cannot be described. The effect is simply grand, the highest point from the floor to the ceiling being 40 feet. While the whole design is harmoniously beautiful, every detail of ornamentation and effect will bear the closest scrutiny. The iron pillars supporting the ceiling are painted a subdued buff, with about four feet of the base a rich rosewood brown, with two gold bands above. The capitals are richly carved and are painted an olive drab, picked out with gold.

The

is "dished," converging to the communion platform as a focal point. The seating is circular in form. The seats themselves are made of oiled ash, with black birch rails. The ends are also of black birch, the top rising slightly higher than the rail at the back of the seat, being trefoil in shape and, in the lower portion, is placed a trefoil recessed panel of black walnut. Black walnut arms two inches wide appear at each end of the seat. Each seat is divided in the middle with an ornamental iron division, capped with walnut. The seats are cushioned in crimson rep. Each seat is provided with a commodious and neatly made book-rack of birch with trefoil open ornaments. The chairs for the pulpit platform are of polished cherry, upholstered in crimson, and are the gift of Mrs. Nicholls. A handsome communion table in polished cherry stands on the communion platform, and two chairs similar to those on the pulpit platform. The but this can be increased to 800 by the use of camp stools in the four aisles, which have been provided and can be used in case of need.

The organ loft is elevated about six feet above the main floor. Its front is in ogee shape from side to side, and is provided with an iron railing of ogee shape from top to bottom in open work of Gothic design, painted white, the pattern outlines in gildings. This is surmounted by a heavy moulded balustrade in stained cherry, capped with birch. In front of this is the semicircular communion platform, the height of two steps forming its semi-periphery. At the rear of this and also elevated the height of three additional steps (at its sides) is the pulpit platform, of stained cherry with its front of sunken panels of scroll work in oiled pine. The sacred desk is composed of simply but elegantly finished birch with two central panels framed with walnut and backed with crimson cloth, flanked by two smaller panels similarly treated. Three handsome chairs upholstered in crimson rep are provided for the pulpit and communion platform.

THE DOORS.

The inner doors are covered with crimson cloth, with walnut mouldings to form panels. The outer doors to the main entrances are of heavy frames, fitted with V-jointed panels of transversely placed pieces. On the same frame as the outer doors, making practically double doors, are hung half-sash doors with the upper portion filled with a single pane of plate glass, with sand blast ornamentation of special design.

THE HEATING

is effectively done by means of a Gee furnace in the basement, made by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company. The hot air is controlled by 12 registers placed at proper points in the floor. The ventilation, a most important point, has been well attended to. There are placed in the floor 18 registers which carry off the cold and vitiated air through ducts beneath the floor communicating with flues passing up the chimneys alongside the smoke flues, which, by the way, are formed of Scotch glazed tile. A draft is created in the ventilating flues in summer by a gas jet kept burning in them while the building is occupied.

THE ARTIFICIAL LIGHTING

is done by two electric lamps, though the building is piped throughout for gas for use in case a change is decided on. Gas jets will also be placed in the entrance vestibules, vestry, lobbies, etc., as may be required.

THE CARPETING

consists of crimson wool ingrain carpet, and covers the aisles, communion and pulpit platforms. It required 225 yards for the platforms, supplied and laid by Mr. J. H. Patterson, and furnished by "The Golden Lion"—Mr. R. Fair.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOUR.

As before stated, Mr. Andrew Douglass was the contractor for the whole, and the manner in which he has done his work throughout, under trying circumstances, and at times, [illegible] meeting of Messrs. Dr. Bell, J. H. Patterson, Secretary, Herbert Mortimer, H. Green, John McClelland, J.J. Lundy, T. Fitzgerald, George Edmison, John Carnegie, and Robert Tully, have every reason to be justified in the feeling of satisfaction they experience at the workmanlike manner in which the contract has been carried out. Not only are the visible portions of the structure examples of thoroughness in material and workmanship, but from the careful and conscientious manner in which every part, though out of sight has been constructed, confidence can be felt in the stability and substantial nature of the structure throughout. The contractors are also deserving of every credit.

Mr. James Rogers managed the masonry. Mr. Joseph Phillips had charge of the brickwork. Mr. Douglass, himself, looked after the carpentry. The slate roofing was done by Mr. J. H. Temperton. The plastering came from the hands of Mr. Thos. Beevor, Toronto. Mr. J. D. Baptie had the contract for the seating, in which he was assisted by Mr. A. Clegg. Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald upholstered the seats. The plumbing and gas fitting was done by Messrs. Andrew and Noble. Mr. Adam Hall had the contract of supplying all the galvanized iron work required. Mr. George Fry did the painting. The Dominion Stained Glass Works supplied the stained glass windows. With the exception of a few trifling details this splendid edifice is ready for which will take place on Sunday next, May 2nd, as follows: Rev. Wm. Cochrane, D. D. LL.D., of Brantford, will conduct the services at the usual hours morning and evening. In the afternoon at three o'clock, a service will be held conducted by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, M.A., B.D., Toronto, former pastor of St. Andrew's. The musical portion of the services will be directed by Mr. D. D. Galletly. The choir of St. Andrew's will be strengthened by members from the other churches. In the special dedicatory anthems and collection anthems, solos will be taken by Miss Logan, soprano, in the morning, who will be joined in the succeeding duet by Miss Galletly, contralto. In the afternoon, Miss Johnston will render a soprano solo, and in the evening Miss Huston will also give a soprano solo, and be joined by Miss Mills, contralto, in the duet following it.

NOTES.

Messrs. Gordon and Helliwell, Toronto, are the architects. Mr. Gordon personally superintended the progress of the work.

In the central portion of the front of the tower a large slab of Credit Valley freestone contains, deeply graved, the following:—

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH
1836 REBUILT 1885.

The handsome new organ, ordered and provided by the Ladies' Aid Society for the church, is not yet completed. It will not be ready for placing in the organ loft before some time in June.

The grounds have been greatly improved in front of the church; wide open walks extend from the street walk to the circular flight of steps leading up to the main entrance doors. The front portion of the grounds are sodded and the remainder put down to grass.

The unsightly sheds on the north part of the ground, which, in their time, sheltered many a stand rural church-going team, have been demolished.

So far as can be judged, without a congregation, the acoustics of the new St. Andrew's are perfect.

With the completion of St. Andrew's, all the churches in town are new, within about ten years. All but one have been rebuilt within three years.

Persons who have seen both structures cannot but be struck with the wonderful architectural contrast between the new and the old Kirk. It is proposed to reproduce alongside a photograph of the new church an existing photograph of the old church for the sake of auld lang syne and comparison.

Death of a Famous Holstein Heifer.

A Philadelphia despatch says: Constance S., the famous Holstein heifer of the "Record Farm" herd, died on April 21st of rupture of the stomach. She was valued at $5,000. Her record of 83 pounds of milk in one day has never been equalled by any 2-year-old.

Burying a Man Alive.

MADRID, April 24.—Several men have been arrested at Barbastro, in Aragon, for burying a man alive near that town. The victim was rescued from the grave in a very critical condition. The motive was revenge.

Suicides in Russia.

During the last ten years there has been an increase of 200 per cent. in suicides in Russia. Intemperance, higher price of food, and pessimism are given as the chief causes.

Exports and Imports.

The value of the exports from the Dominion for March was $3,429,761, a decrease of $454,295 as compared with the corresponding month last year. The imports were valued at $10,579,990, the increase under this head being $2,602,995. For duty, $2,622,631 were collected, an increase of $1,297,854 over March, 1885. This fact is not a correct index of an improvement in trade, as during the month there was a rush to the customs house to get out liquors, sugars, tobacco and other articles likely to be affected by an increase in the tariff. For example, the imports of spirits of all kinds increased 174,[illegible] gallons; of wines, other than sparkling, [illegible] 416 gallons; and of sparkling wines, [illegible] dozens. The imports of sugar show the following increases: Sugars below No. 9 Dutch standard, 25,679,886 pounds; sugars equal to No. 9 Dutch standard, and not above No. 14 Dutch standard, [illegible] pounds. The customs collections of the next three months will, says the Hamilton Times, certainly be a much better gauge to the state of commerce in the Dominion than the yearly month of March.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Outrageous licentiousness is practiced by Dominion Government officials towards Indian women in the Northwest. Instead of acting in the capacity of agents for the spread of civilization, these officials are, according to undoubted authority, doing their best to debauch the women of the Northwest Indian tribes, and still the Government winks at their wickedness. It seems to be hopeless to expect the Dominion Government to sympathize with the sentiment that "righteousness exalteth a nation" since they criminally condone the "sin that is a reproach to any people." Christian men affect to be over anxious for the spread of religious truth and the promotion of holy living by the people, yet they vote straight every time for a government that tolerates the wickedness which in olden time called down showers of fire upon morally rotten Sodom and Gomorrah.

The Lindsay Warder man brandishes a vigorous quill. What it denounces is denounced and doomed. It is equal to anything, from a homily on hog culture to a theological disquisition. The Warder denounces the collection of "Scripture Readings" prepared for the use of public schools by the most eminent Protestant clergymen of Canada, because it is tantamount to excluding the Bible from the schools. On the same grounds the Warder can denounce the Church of England prayer book, which does not contain some portion of the canonical books which the Warder asserts are very proper reading and can only be objected to by "hypocritical sentimentalists." It is impossible for disgusting cant to go further to score a political point.

RIFLE MATCH.

The Lakefield Rifle Club held a match on Good Friday. The day was fine, but a stiff wind blowing in gusts across the range, prevented extra good shooting. Mr. Thomas Gordon won the cup with a score of 17 out of a possible 24; range, one and two hundred yards; 3 shots at each range, 3 in bulls-eye, 18 in target.

THE RIVER.

The water has now commenced to fall in the lake and river, and, unless we should have heavy rains, will soon be down to the usual level. The Fairy ran up to Young's Point on Friday, and the Cruiser is waiting the fall of the water so she can get through the locks with a scow load of oak timber for the Burleigh works.

SUMMER RESORT.

A meeting of those interested was held on Saturday to push the project of a summer resort in Lakefield. Mr. A. J. Wright was appointed secretary-treasurer and to solicit subscriptions, and E. B. Edwards, Esq., Peterborough, was appointed solicitor for the Company.

SALVATION ARMY.

The trial of the members of the Salvation Army on the information laid by Constable Cochrane has, we believe, been set for Monday, the 26th inst., before John Hall, Esq., and a full bench of J. P's.

ACCIDENT AT BURLEIGH.

On Saturday afternoon two Finlanders, names unknown to your correspondent, who were working on the Trent Valley at Love Sick, procured a small punt and started to Burleigh for some things they required. As they were afraid of the rapids below "Scow Rock,' they landed on the Smith side and walked to Burleigh, and on their return took the same route to where they had left the punt. They got in, but had only gone a few feet from shore, when they upset, but both managed to get ashore. They noticed the punt was drifting out, when one of them ran out on a fallen tree and tried to catch the punt as it drifted past, when he over-balanced and went in, and, as his companion states, did not come up again. His body was found close to the tree in about four feet of water, so that unless cramped or owing to some other cause, he could have caught the tree or waded ashore. The remains were interred on Sunday, near Burleigh.

WILD GEESE.

On Sunday afternoon a flock of eleven wild geese were noticed circling over the village very low down, having evidently lost their bearings. They remained for some time and then directed their course to Buckley's Lake, where they settled down.

In the Oregon's Cabin.

One Hundred and Twenty Feet Below the Ocean's Surface.

wrecking company that has charge of the sunken Oregon, was seen at his dock, at Stapleton, Staten Island, where is kept the powerful machinery and peculiarly-built vessels requisite for this hazardous business. Mr. Merritt was not in the very best of humor in speaking of the Oregon. He wished he had never undertaken the job. In their business the risks are tremendous and the profits uncertain. It is based on the no cure, no pay principle. "Here we have had a force of some thirty odd men, besides a steamer and schooner, hovering over the wreck for a month," continued Mr. Merritt, "and we have accomplished very little. A New York newspaper, becoming impatient at our delay, engaged a single tug and a couple of divers to visit the wreck and make an immediate investigation. The reporters in charge of the expedition got so deathly sea-sick that they insisted on returning home. The tug itself was nearly swamped in the sea, and the expedition, which ended in a day, cost the paper over $300. That newspaper has spoken less harshly of our work since.

A DIVER DESCENDING TO THE WRECK.

The reason we cannot work while the sea is rough is this: Even when there is but an ocean swell the boats rise and fall as much as ten feet with every wave. Now, the diver's life depends on the signal or "life" line being kept taut, as it is by jerks on this line that he communicates his wishes to those in the boat above; so you can understand how impossible it would be to work with this boat bobbing up and down on the surface of the ocean at the rate of ten feet in ten seconds. Oh, yes, our men have been all over the decks of the Oregon. Their first business was to anchor buoys and set guide lines, so that the diver need not waste time in groping his way about the ship. You see, there is no north, south, east or west to guide him on the ocean's bottom. He drops down on the vessel's desk precisely as a spider drops from the ceiling. He fastens his line there, and, like a spider, continues to lay lines that will guide him on his return. The greatest obstacle in the way of the diver's work is the tremendous air pressure required, which is over sixty pounds to the square inch. The air pumps are driven by steam power, which is something exceptional in diving work." Mr. Merritt being called away, left us with one of the divers who has been down among the Oregon's treasures. He was a short, broad-shouldered man with a deep chest, bronzed face, keen, deeply-set eyes and square jaws. He was inclined to be reticent, but willingly donned the great copper helmet and diving armor with its leaden-soled shoes to enable the artist to make the sketches presented herewith. After considerable questioning he described his visit to Mrs. Morgan's stateroom, in which he expected to find a sachel of diamonds but was disappointed.

IN MRS. MORGAN'S CABIN.

He said that in groping for loose packages of any kind they searched the ceiling and not the floors of the cabins, as the great majority of articles were lighter than the water at that depth. He believed that a great many valuable packages would be found pressed against the ceiling of the saloon, but it being so high he had not yet been able to devise a way of reaching them. "I'm rigged to go down and not float up 'gin the ceiling of a cabin," he said. Later Mr. Merritt said: "Yes, there is reported to be $1,000,000 worth of property inside the Oregon, one-half of which is in the shape of personal baggage. One man claims to have $300,000 in securities in one of the mail bags. The cargo is after all the safest object for us to work for. On its recovery our pay is based on salvage; with personal baggage and mail we trust to the generosity of the owner, which seldom pans out richly. We receive no pay from the steamship company. The orders to our divers though are to first examine the hole in the Oregon's side to see if her plates are bent inward or out."

S. H. Horgan.

How Congressmen Vote.

There are some men in congress whose distinction apparently depends upon the manner in which they record their votes. Senator Pugh's "No" sounds like the "Naw" of an infuriated Bowery champion who has been disturbed in his slumbers. Representative Strait, of Minnesota, utters his "No" as if it were a volley of hot shot intended for the enemy, and as for Judge Symes, of Colorado, he won't answer at all if the clerk who calls the roll commits the blunder of saying "Sims." The most graceful "Aye" is uttered by Timothy Campbell, but then he pronounces it "Oi." As for old "Joe" Brown, he never votes without washing his hands with invisible soap in imperceptible water, as if to disclaim any responsibility in the matter. Senator Edmunds' vote sounds like a silent protest against the wickedness of this world and grateful acknowledgment of the fact that he is not like other men. Senator Teller, who has much in his manner of speaking to remind one of the Methodist exhorter, utters his "No" as if he were proclaiming the doom of the Scarlet Lady of Babylon.—New York Tribune.

TO DEPOSITORS—Deposits are received by this Company both on current account and for periods of one year or longer. The rate of interest paid on amounts deposited on current account and which may be withdrawn by check in such sums as the depositor may from time to time require, is FOUR per cent., either paid or compounded half-yearly, and the rate on yearly deposits is FIVE per cent.

TO INVESTORS—The five and ten year FIVE PER CENT DEBENTURES of this Company which are issued in denominations of $100, $200, $300 and $1000 each, transferable by endorsement with half-yearly interest Coupons attached, payable at the Head Office of the Company in Peterborough, or at any Branch of the Bank of Toronto in Canada, afford a safe and convenient mode of investment.

The funds of the Company being invested in first mortgages on Real Estate, no better security can be offered to depositors or debenture holders, they having a first claim or mortgage on the whole Assets of the Company, the shareholders having the second. The annual statement shows that the amount so invested was over $400,000, and on the security of real estate at least double that value.

By the laws of Ontario, Trustees, Executors and Administrators may deposit Trust Funds of the estates which they control in this Company, and are free from all further liability, a privilege of which many have largely availed themselves.

TO BORROWERS—Money is obtainable from this Company on approved Real Estate security at the Lowest Current Rates of Interest.

The Mortgage may be repaid by yearly instalments, or otherwise as may be agreed upon, the interest ceasing at once on all amounts paid on account of the sum borrowed.

Applications may be made either to the Head Office, or to any of the Agents.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DEAR THORPE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

"You remind me of Quentin Matsys," said Sir Raye with a smile.

But his pupil shrank from his words.—He liked nothing that reminded him of his origin. He had mixed in the highest society and had been treated as an equal by the noblest in the land. He could not endure to remember what his home and its surroundings were like. He shrank with sensitive horror from having his secret known. To compare him to "Quentin Matsys" was to remind him that his origin was humble and obscure. Yet, like the true artist he was, he rejoiced in his master's praise of the beautiful conception that had grown under his hands.

"Lord Audley will be delighted with your idea. He is a man of great taste," said Sir Raye; and, without flattery, Vane, I have seen nothing so beautiful as this bridge."

So the letter was written and duly received by Lord Audley, and by him placed like everything else, in the hands of his daughter, the Lady Lilias."

"Read this, Lilias," he said. "I am not quite pleased. You see that Sir Raye Vibart cannot come himself, he is ill and ailing, but he sends his adopted son and partner, Vane Vibart, who he assures me will give me greater satisfaction than he himself could do."

"This is the young Vibart who wrote about the Channel tunnel. Everyone was talking about him last year."

"I remember," said the Earl. Ah, well, I shall be pleased indeed to see him! He proposes coming next Tuesday, I suppose, Lilias, we can receive him then?"

"Colonel Gordon and Lady Frances will be here; but that will not matter," replied Lady Lilias. "Mr. Vibart will be your guest, papa, not mine."

"Certainly, my dear, certainly!" said the Earl hastily. He stood greatly in awe of his daughter, who was considered one of the proudest girls in England. "You see Mr. Vibart really is a gentleman. He must, while he is in the house with us, associate with us. He would be received anywhere."

"It is a levelling age, papa; but certainly make Mr. Vibart welcome and comfortable."

"Now Lilias," said the Earl pleadingly, "do not, pray do not——"

"What papa!" she interrupted.

"Do not my dear, speak in that tone. I know just what it means. You will receive that unfortunate young man in your most kindly freezing fashion, and at the end of an hour he will wish himself a thousand miles away. I know your manner so well with people of that kind."

"I am unfortunate if my manner does not please you, papa," said Lady Lilias proudly.

"It does, my dear!" cried the Earl hastily. "It does very much indeed; but I feel sorry at times for those who—do not quite—understand it—as I do; do you see, my love? You will do your best for Mr. Vibart, I am sure. It has been one of the desires of my heart to see a bridge over the Ulver. I was in some measure compelled to ask Sir Raye to pay me a visit; I wanted him to study the site well, so that the bridge should be an ornament. I must extend to Sir Raye's representative the same kindness and hospitality I would have shown to himself."

The proud face softened, the graceful figure bent over him, and a white arm stole round his neck.

"My dearest papa, surely you may ask whom you will," she replied. "I am not so proud as you think me;" and the rosy lips smiled in a fashion that would have melted a harder heart than the Earl's.

"Lilias," said the Earl gently, "you are one of the sweetest of women; at the same time I honestly believe you to be the proudest girl in England. Now do not be offended!"

"I am not sure but that I am flattered," she answered; and Lord Audley, knowing well he could never quite manage his beautiful young daughter, went away.

"The proudest girl in England." Men and women both gave that title to the heiress of Ulverscroft. Yet, strange to say, her pride made her no enemies; it seemed natural to her, and was the becoming shield to her rare loveliness.—When her violet eyes looked calmly over or at any persons whom she did not intend to recognise, the impression left upon them was less of pride than of their own unworthiness.

She was just nineteen, and for two years she had been the queen of the great world of fashion, a queen such as had seldom reigned before—so young so marvellously fair, so proud, so pure, so utterly unspoiled by the homage that was enough to make other women vain. Princes bowed before her and sought her smiles; she gave them no favor. Peers sought her society; but not one could boast that the exquisite face had ever brightened or softened for him. All homage, flattery, and compliment seemed to fall from her and leave her untouched. She was faultlessly beautiful, with a fair patrician loveliness; she was a wealthy heiress, and the daughter of one of England's most honored peers. She was the worshiped queen of the great world, holding proud sovereignty. Weekly journals did not hold out her portrait as an inducement to purchasers. Her photographs were not to be seen in every shop window in London. Her reign was of a higher order. Noble and learned men went where they could meet her, for the charm of her lovely face and her fresh earnest words. She was something higher than a ball-room belle; people caught through her beautiful eyes a glimpse of her pure soul. She had been wooed, but never won. Some of the oldest titles in England had been laid at her feet, some of the noblest men had wooed her; but her heart had never been stirred; she had loved no one. Calmly and proudly she had declined all offers of marriage, until people began to wonder. Only once had Lord Audley ventured on a remonstrance, and that was when she had refused the young Duke of Cortland.

"Why have you said 'No' to him, Lilias?" asked the Earl.

"Because I could do as I would with him, papa. I could wind his will round my little finger just—see—as I wind this silk. When I marry, my husband must be my master."

"That is, if he can, my dear," returned the Earl doubtfully.

"He must, papa," said the beauty imperiously. I shall never marry until I find my master."

"Then I fear, Lilias, you will never marry at all," was the answer gravely given.

She laughed at such a prophecy.

"Rely upon it, papa, I shall have a master soon. To quote the words of an old song—

"'He may come to-day, or he may come to-morrow;
But come soon he's waiting, and waiting for me.'"

The Earl kissed her bright face fondly.

"He will be a clever man who bends this proud head, Lilias," he said.

"He will begin at the heart, papa; and

(THE REST WILL BE ONLY.)

CHAPTER VI.

Ulverscroft Hall had once been Ulverscroft Priory, a grand old monastery, and the site had been selected as the monks of old always took care to select with an eye to every natural advantage. King Hal had given it to one of his favorites; and gradually the monastic part fell into ruins. The Priory itself was one of the loveliest ruins in England. Over the pointed arches, the ivy-covered cloisters, and the marvellous carvings there still hung an air of sacred grandeur and venerable worth.

The new mansion which seemed to spring from the old, comprised many of the ancient rooms—the red room, where Mary of Scotland had reposed; the long magnificent library, where learned men had sought to explore the great secrets of life; the bower-room, where the stately Elizabeth had coquetted with the men she first inspired with love; and vaulted chambers, once occupied by knights and squires, but now given over to servants.—Perhaps the most beautiful part of ancient Ulverscroft was the grounds. There were deep secluded hollows, where the water lay in silent pools and herons built their nests, forest-lands, where the deer rested in their coverts and the trees were centuries old.

The modern mansion faced the west—the ruins lay to the south; and Ulverscroft Hall as it stood now was one of the most luxurious homes in England. The western sunlight fell upon it, lighting up the gray ruins as with gold; it lingered on the grand oriel windows framed with roses and passion-flowers, on the broad terraces, and on the well-kept gardens.—And standing where he could see both the Hall and the ruins, his heart and soul in a glow of rapturous delight, was Vane Vibart. The carriage had been sent to the station for him; but he had preferred walking through the park. Now he stood entranced, lost in the superb picture before him.

"So," he said to himself, "this is one of the 'ancestral homes of England.' Now I know what 'ancestral' means. A man could love, fight for, die for such a home. A noble name must go with it, and noble deeds should enrich it."

There came to him as he stood a memory of his own youthful abode; the old-fashioned homestead, the clover-fields, the pools where the cattle drank, and the mill-stream. And, noble though he was in many things, a pang of regret shot through his heart that such a fair inheritance as Ulverscroft was not his. How he would have gloried in it! How he would have loved it! It seemed to him that above all other men he should have appreciated a noble name. He half smiled, half sighed, as he thought how proud he would have been once upon a time to enter such stately portals as these.

The massive doors were opened, and he entered a place before which the glories of Lulworth faded completely. He was shown into the library, where Lord Audley awaited him. He received a welcome so warm and so gracious that he could not help feeling quite at his ease and even happy. They spoke a few minutes of Sir Raye and his failing health.

"I believe," said Lord Audley, "that you are his adopted son?"

"Yes," replied Vane.

The impression left on Lord Audley's mind was that some kind of relationship existed between Vane and Sir Raye.—Then Lord Audley spoke of the bridge.

"To-morrow," he said, "we will drive slowly along the banks of the river, and you shall judge for yourself as to the best site for it. My daughter, Lady Lilias Audley, will go with us. And now the dressing-bell has rung, you will go to your rooms. We dine at eight. You are not too tired to join us, I hope?"

C. P. R. Produce Car.

Mr Edward A. Bailey, editor and proprietor of the Northwest Vindicator, published at Brandon, and Canadian Pacific Emigration Commissioner for Manitoba, gave us a call to-day. Mr. Bailey is no small figure in Manitoba. He is prominent in the Northwest Farmers' Union and was elected by them last year to visit Ottawa, to present to the Government the great grievances of the settlers. If our memory serves us, he demanded free railroads that the lands of the province be used for the people of the province, a reduction of the tariff in the interests of the settlers of the province, and free markets. Mr. Baily was a journalist in Ontario for 15 years previous to his removing to the Northwest, five years ago. He passed through the rebellion as a volunteer and receives prominent mention in Major Boulton's "History of the Rebellion." He is at present in charge of the C.P.R. produce car and has been through the Maritime Provinces and Quebec, and is now finishing up Ontario. He says the exhibit is greatly admired and that he has received word from the Brandon Sun that a number of emigrants have gone west on the information received from him, together with what they saw. The object of the C. P. R's produce car is to direct the emigration from the States to the Northwest. The town Council and Ashburnham village Council will visit the car, which is situated at the Grand Trunk Railway station, at 4 p.m., and Mr. B. will be glad to have all who can conveniently do so, be present at the same hour.

Missing Link Land Slide.

A large gang of men worked at the land slide on the Missing Link yesterday and had the road open by 4 o'clock. The action of the frost had loosened hundreds of tons of earth from the embankment at the large cut between the two bridges, a large quantity of which rolled onto the track. The evening trains were on time.

Hotel Men's Meeting.

A meeting of the hotel men of the town was held in the Grand Central yesterday evening to consider what action should be taken with regard to the Scott Act. The attendance was not large, several men not having received notice of the meeting, and an adjournment was made till Thursday evening, at the same place.

Those Men for British Columbia.

A party of about twenty men from the neighborhood of Kirkfield, Victoria County, arrived in town Wednesday afternoon en route to the Rocky Mountains, where they have been engaged to work for the C. P. R. in getting out timber for constructing snow sheds for the mountain passes. Owing to the land slide on the missing link of the G. T. R. yesterday, they had to go around by Millbrook and failed to connect with the C. P. R. Winnipeg express. The party left town to-day by C. P. R. at 12.30 for Kicking Horse Pass where they will commence work.

New Flour and Feed Depot.

Mr. Geo. F. Ward, well known around town, has opened a new flour, feed and grain store in the premises immediately north of the post-office block, on George street. He will keep in stock the best brands of flour and feed from the local mills, also oats and provender, and seed grain of the best quality. Pressed hay will be a specialty. All orders will be promptly executed. Mr. Ward hopes by strict attention to business and by selling the best goods at proper prices, to receive a share of public patronage. The shop is very convenient to the north part of the town, and no doubt Mr. Ward will realize his most sanguine expectations.

W. C. T. U.

A regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in the Y. M.C.A. rooms yesterday afternoon, the president, Miss Sanderson, in the chair. There was a good attendance. After the usual devotional exercises, a communication was received from Dr. Tassie, respecting the prize essays to be written on a temperance subject by pupils of the Institute or public schools. It was decided that the essays were to be handed to the chairman of the examination committee, Dr. Tassie, on or before the first of June next. Circulars were read on subjects kindred to the objects of the Union. One was relating to a Flower Mission for supplying flowers to the hospital, or to sick persons not likely to be supplied with flowers from any other source. No other business being presented, the Union adjourned, to meet in a fortnight.

St. Luke's Concert.

The concert at St. Luke's school room, Ashburnham, yesterday evening was only fairly attended, although the musical entertainment provided was fully up to the high standard of this series of concerts. Rev. W. C. Bradshaw presided. The opening number of the programme, an instrumental solo, was given by Miss Best and Prof. Parker in a most acceptable manner. Mr. Tivey followed, giving a capital recitation. Mrs. W. A. Sanderson sang, in her sweetest voice, "The Pilgrim." The vocal duet, "The Minute Gun at Sea," by Messrs. Chambers and Baguley was given in fine style and voice. Mr. Slight's rendition of "Loved and Saved" was very good. Miss Haultain sang, nicely, "Only Youth is Happy." Miss Brundrette and Miss Tivey contributed the charming duet, "Beautiful Moonlight." Miss Strickland delighted the audience by singing "To the Woods" and "Tit for Tat." Mr. Carter appropriately sang "The Midship Mite." Miss Stevens sang, beautifully, "Far Away," and, in concluding the programme, "Tired."

Police Court.

Robert Caldwell and Miss Armstrong were charged before Police Magistrate Hamilton this morning, charged by Rev. Henry Softly with wilfully disturbing, disrupting, and disquieting an assembly of persons met for public worship, by rude and indecent behaviour in the Town Hall, Allandale, where services were then being held. The prisoners pleaded not guilty.

Rev. Mr. Softly, English Church clergyman in charge of the St. Mark's and Allandale parish, testified that on Sunday evening 11th inst., he held divine service in the Allandale Town Hall. The prisoners were present. He heard a noise at the back of the hall and on looking in that direction saw Armstrong making faces apparently at him. The noise made sounded like the moving of seats, and disturbed the services.

Several witnesses were called and testified confirming the evidence of Rev. Mr. Softly and proving the guilt of the prisoners.

The Magistrate after summing up the evidence imposed a fine of $10 on each.

An Immigrant Model Farm.

Dr. Barnardo' Proposes to Teach Immigrant Boys the Art of Farming at a Model Farm to be Established in Northwest.

The London (Eng.) Times of March 26th, in an item with regard to the departure of the last party of boys sent out by Dr. Barnardo to Canada, says:

"A meeting was held in one of the waiting rooms of Euston Station, at which Mr. C. C. M. Baker presided, and Dr. Barnardo gave an account of the organization by which the boys were sent, and added some words for the encouragement of the boys. He stated that the boys would go to Peterborough, in Ontario, whence they would be drafted off into families anxious to receive these young workers, as they had received 1,734 boys and girls from the same sources. The preceeding emigrants had all, with the exception of five, turned out well. The fact was, the speaker said, there were not the temptations in Canada that beset youth in our large towns, and hence there was not the same dangers. Moreover, each boy and girl sent had been taught to use hands and head, and by means of industry to look forward to achieving a life of independence. He added that means were intended to be taken to carry out personal farming under the organization, and the grant of 160 acres to each adult from the colony would be the groundwork of the means to be taken to establish the emigrants in the new world."

The Salisbury and Winchester Journal, in speaking on the same subject, says:—

"Dr. Barnardo referred to the colony of his lads which he proposed personally to establish in the Northwest, and said that he hoped to draft many of those present in the future to that colony, where they would have their own farms."

It appears that satisfactory arrangements have been made with the Dominion Government by Dr. Barnardo for a large tract of land in the Northwest, and it is intended during the coming summer to commence operations on the model farm which he hopes to establish there in time. He intended to send out a large number of the bigger lads from the "Home" at Stepney and place them on this farm where they will be in the charge, and under the instruction, of a thoroughly practical farmer, who will teach them the art of agriculture. It is hoped that after a time these boys may be able to take up land of their own in the Northwest, and that a prosperous little colony will be formed there by them.

As the labor market in Canada is now overstocked it would be almost impossible to find employment for the large number of boys Dr. Barnardo intends sending to Canada. His scheme of teaching them practical farming is a capital one, as it will qualify these boys in time to become useful citizens by taking up land for themselves, when they may be able to give, in turn, employment to others who may then wish to settle in Canada.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Cure for Baldness.

To get a good head of hair and keep it, use Dr. Dorenwend's Great German "Hair Magic." This remarkable preparation will, without fail, (if the roots are not all gone) promote a luxuriant growth of hair on bald spots. It will restore the natural color to gray and faded hair, prevent falling, and remove every trace of dandruff from the head. For sale everywhere. Ask your druggist for it and take no other. A. Dorenwend, sole manufacturer, Toronto, Canada. J. D. Tully, agent for Peterborough.

C. P. R. Exhibition Car.

The Sample Car Thronged all Day—Councillors Fishing for Facts on Farming.

The C. P. R. car, laden with samples of the products of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, was the chief attraction in town yesterday. The car was thrown open at 9 a. m. and from then till 9 p. m. hundreds of citizens and visitors from the surrounding country inspected its wonderful contents. The exterior of the car is advertisement calling attention to the inducements offered to settlers in the Canadian Northwest. Mr. E. R. Bailey, Canadian Pacific Emigration Commissioner for Manitoba; Mr. S. A. Bedford, of Saskatoon, a practical Manitoba farmer of ten years experience, now C. P. R. Emigration Agent and Northwest Commissioner, and Mr. Geo. A. Duncan, of the C. P. R. Colonization Department, French interpreter, comprise the staff, and are extremely courteous to visitors, taking great pains in showing their samples. The interior of the car presented the appearance of a miniature fall fall show, and exhibits to advantage the wonderful products of the great Northwest. Fifty-three samples of prairie grass are shown, measuring in height from 10 inches to 10 feet; also several kinds of barley and oats; thirty varieties of red and white Fyfe wheat (ranging from 62 to 67 lbs. to the bushel), both in the head and threshed. The magnificent samples of Northwest bulless barley, black barley, brown peas, flax, wild hops, roots and vegetables, game wild fowl, oil cake, etc., were much admired. Flax is shown in the seed, in grass, in linseed oil, and in oil cake, the latter comparatively being now an important industry in Winnipeg. The potatoes are colossal, and many were the applicants for one. The collection of wild fruits was very attractive, including red and black currants, huckleberries, raspberries, grapes, Saskatoon berries, gooseberries, etc. The samples of coal, copper, silver and iron ore, Calgary free stone, tobacco grown in the Red River Valley, were well inspected. Among the game shown were the heads and antlers of black-tailed deer, red deer, Rocky Mountain sheep, antelope, goats, buffalo horns, besides duck and other feathered game. In conspicuous places were posted photographic views of the country from Port Arthur to the Rocky Mountains.

At four o'clock the Council headed by Mayor Stevenson, visited the car, and inspected its contents, expressing their opinion on things in general. Messrs. Bailey and Bedford presented all the Councillors, —who waited long enough,—with a monster murphy, and His Worship the Mayor with twins and a lump of coal from the Galt mines, 500 miles west of Winnipeg. The car left town at 7 o'clock this morning for Belleville.

Booming Baseball.

The Peterborough Club Re-organized—Preparing for the Season.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the local baseball players was held in W. T. Spencer's City Cigar Store yesterday evening. After talking matters over, the Peterborough club was re-organized for the season, and the following officers were elected:

HON. PRESIDENT—Mr. R. A. Morrow.
PRESIDENT—Mr. H. Calcutt.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. W. H. Dayman.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Mr. A. P. Choate.
SECRETARY-TREASURER—Mr. W. T. Spencer.

The secretary was instructed to correspond with the different clubs in the Midland district proposing the forming of an amateur league. The membership book will be left at the City Cigar Store, Hunter street, where those who wish to join the club are requested to call and register. As the Riverside Park is strictly Scott Act yet, the members will not be able to practice there for some time. A meeting will be held at the City Cigar Store on Monday, when the field officers will be elected, and other matters attended to.

Don't Be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

The Easter Vestries.

(Unavoidably held over from yesterday.)

The churchwardens' reports were read and laid over for discussion till the adjourned meeting in two weeks, when the auditors' report of Building Committee accounts will be presented.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The annual vestry of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was held in the Infant class room Monday evening. The Rector presided and opened the proceedings with prayer.

The churchwardens submitted their annual report and statement of accounts which were referred to the auditors, Messrs. E. Meade and R. B. Rogers, and certified correct. The building fund accounts showed about $900 received on account of new school room. The total ordinary receipts for the year amounted to over $1,900, about $440 of which was for synod purposes, missionary and other objects. The accounts showed a small balance due the churchwardens which would be greatly lessened by the payment of arrears of envelopes.

The Rector gave a summary of his year's work, as follows:—He had paid 300 visits, held 429 services, celebrated Holy Communion 71 times, baptized 25 persons, officiated at 14 marriages, buried 18 persons, delivered 207 sermons and lectures, held 48 week-day Bible classes, and presided at 46 meetings, at most of which he delivered addresses. The number of communicants on Easter Day was 175, the largest in the history of the parish, and the total communions made from Easter, 1885, was 1,406.

Mr. E. A. Peck submitted the Sunday School report, which stated that the average attendance for the year of pupils only, had been 110. In January last it was 117, in February 124, in March 127, and this month it reached 130. The collections showed a corresponding increase. The cash balance amounted to $34.93. The receipts amounted to $121.-95, in addition to which the Sunday School children had contributed $40 for mission purposes by means of collecting boxes. The following were elected office bearers for 1886 and 1887:—

RECTOR'S CHURCHWARDEN—John Burnham, Esq., M.P.

PEOPLE'S CHURCHWARDEN—H. T. Strickland, Esq.

ASSISTANT CHURCHWARDENS—Messrs. H. C. Rogers and R. Meade.

SIDESMEN—Messrs. R. B. Rogers, J. Friend, A. Ingram, George F. Orde, and W. Wallbrook.

AUDITORS—Messrs. R. Meade and R. B. Rogers.

DELEGATES TO SYNOD—Messrs. H. T. Strickland, R. Meade and H. C. Rogers.

FINANCE COMMITTEE—Mr. R. Meade, Chairman, Messrs. H. Nesbitt, F. Adams, A. Ingram, W. Wallbrook, E. A. Peck, Mrs. Orde, Mrs. Jackson, Miss Calcutt, Miss S. R. Burnett, and Miss Bella Mills. This committee is requested to meet in the Infant class room on Friday evening next, after Bible class. It is important that all should attend. The meeting subsequently adjourned.

Broom Brigade Entertainment.

Successful Broom Drill by an Amazonian Army of Sweet Sixteen, in Appropriate Uniforms.

The Broom Brigade, composed of young ladies of St. John's Church, held broom drill in the Opera House yesterday evening, in addition giving an excellent musical entertainment. The audience was large and everybody was delighted with the bill of fare provided. At the ring of the bell the band (orchestra) began to play, and up rolled the curtain, gradually revealing the brigade stationed at the rear of the stage in military array, ready for action, their brooms bound with red, white and blue bands flashing in the gaslight. The company were: Miss Errett in command; Miss White and Miss Florence Tivey, ensigns; and the Misses Ward, the Misses Tivey, the Misses Beak, Miss Goodfellow, Miss Halliday, Miss Melville, Miss Campbell, Miss Hall, Miss Armstrong, Miss C. Errett, Miss Babidge, Miss Barlee and Miss Hay. The uniform of the brigade was decidedly military in appearance and consisted of a plain, cream-colored skirt, with a wide, red band near the bottom, scarlet shell jackets with white braid facings, a jaunty little red skull cap with white braid trimmings, etc., etc., to match. The captain wore a white waist with red braid facings as a mark of distinction. At the word of command the captivating company, with military step and spirit, advanced to the foot-lights, and after singing the "Military Review Chorus," went through the squad drill with considerable dash and with the precision of regulars, Capt. Errett very glibly issuing the commands. Their graceful bearing, sprightly step keeping time to the music,—and the accuracy with which they went through the most difficult movements elicited an enthusiastic applause. While the brigade stood at ease, Messrs. H. A. and J. E. Hammond representing members of the awkard squad, gave in good style the vocal duet, "Gens D'Armes." Mr. Slight sang "White Wings" in his best voice, when the brigade went on parade, with fife and drum chorus, retiring after a brisk march. During this march a bequet bomb was thrown among the ranks, when the brave Captain placed out of harms way. After a short intermission Mr. Craven sang "The Arab's Farewell to His Steed" with his usual vigor, and was encored, to which he responded repeating the last verse. The broom brigade took the field and after a fatiguing march retired to the rear of the stage, in which position the amazonian army guarded Mr. Carter, while he sang "Where's My Girl" in a manner that brought down the house, his falsetto finale being particularly appreciated. An encore was insisted on and Mr. Carter responded by repeating the song. The mulligan guards chorus to appropriate evolutions by the brigade, was followed by musical exercises, in which the latter distinguished themselves, handling their weapons with agility. At the command, "Prepare for Cavalry" the foremost line dropped on one knee, presenting broom bayonets, while the rear line remained standing, supporting their comrades. After the National Anthem, Mr. J. E. Hammond stepped before the curtain, and, after thanking the audience for their appreciative attendance, announced that the entertainment would be repeated on Friday evening.

Great credit is due the ladies for the manner in which the drill was conducted, the commandant, Miss Errett, and her staff supported. Mr. J. Snyder, who instructed the brigade in their movements, also comes in for a share of the glory. The orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. C. C. Hampshire, contributed materially towards the excellence of the entertainment.

THE "TWIN" SITES.

The Globe appropriately calls the two lots purchased in Peterborough for the erection of the Peterborough postoffice, the "twin sites." There has been a good deal of speculation respecting the action taken by the Government in the matter, but rumor has been resolved into certainty by the official declaration of the Minister of Public Works. The other day in the House, Mr. Landerkin, M.P., of Grey, inquired why the Government had purchased two sites for the Peterborough postoffice, one on the corner of Hunter and Water streets, and one on the corner of George and Charlotte streets. Sir Hector Langevin replied as reported in Hansard:

"The Government have purchased the Sawer (sic) lot, in order to build thereon the post-office, which will thus be used by the town of Peterborough and the people of Ashburnham village, the two places being united by a bridge, to which the street on which the Sawyer lot is, leads. The Phelan lot has been also purchased, so that the Custom house and Inland Revenue office may be erected thereon, that lot being better situated for this purpose. The post-office building will be a smaller building than it would have been if the Custom House and Inland Revenue offices had been under the same roof. The two buildings will be equal to the one, had it contained all the offices.

Now Mr. Phelan distinctly contradicts the knightly minister and asserts that his lot was purchased for the postoffice and that alone. Here is a decided contradiction. Not being bound, by Parliamentary rules, to accept, as truth, the simple spec dixit of an hon. member, even though he be a minister and a brevet knight to boot, we take the liberty of disbelieving Sir Hector and believing Mr. Phelan. Especially when Mr. Phelan's statement—which, on general subjects, has in Peterborough always passed at par, is buttressed with proof. Mr. John Garvey, who is certainly as veracious as the hero of the $32,000, bears testimony to the fact that Sir Hector virtually purchased Mr. Phelan's lot for a postoffice site, and certain receipts passing between the governmental departments and Mr. Phelan asserted that Mr. Phelan's lot was the site for the postoffice, and finally the solicitor for the Government, at the instance of the Minister, was instructed to insert a clause in the deed conveying the Phelan lot to the Government, stipulating that the lot was bought for a postoffice. If all the shuffling double dealing and trickery that have been connected with the post office matter, have been done with a political purpose, why, at the last moment has a faithful supporter been lied to tricked and deceived and the preference given to the opposing faction! Why, after the Syndicate party had been reconciled to the passing over of their site (for the sake of buying the Phelan lot,) by the distribution of emoluments in the shape of government offices, Mounted Police commissions, etc., —why after all this "divvy of swag" to make the government "solid" with the Syndicate, is Mr. Phelan and the portion of the citizens he represents, thrown over-board after the lot had been bought and paid for by the government, for a site for the post office? The friends of the government claim that the Hunter street site is the best adapted for the purpose. Then why was it not bought in the first place? Why was the Phelan lot bought if the Sawers site was the best one? Political trickery, not the public interests, have influenced the action of the Government, as it colours their whole policy. After playing fast and loose with both parties, the Government has come to the conclusion that it can best afford to trick, dupe and deceive Mr. Phelan and his friends. The people are tired of the whole squabble, and are ready to cry. "a plague, o both your houses." Give us the post-office on some site—one site or the other—and don't let the public money be spent, the public interests trifled with, to win political strength. Let the post-office and customs buildings be put on one site or other this summer, and both on one site and under one roof, too. The Government never contemplated that two separate buildings should be erected for the two services. Of the some thirty buildings promised by way of bribe before the elections of 1882, and for which money was voted in the session of 1883, in not one instance was it proposed to have two separate buildings—"a public building" (singular number)" to accommodate the postal, customs and other offices" in the official language of the blue book. There was no thought of two separate buildings till a political contingency arose, and then the Government had no hesitation in squandering the public money to buy two sites to placate political partizans.

U. S. Major-Generals.

Those that Are and Those that are Likely to Be.

(Special Correspondence.)

CHICAGO, April 27, 1886.—The attention of newspaper reader has been called anew to the generals of our army, since the death of Gen. Hancock. There is a common impression that Phil Sheridan was promoted to the place from which Gen. Sherman retired in 1883, by reason of having reached the age of 64. This is the age at which commissioned officers are to be greatly relegated by law to private life.

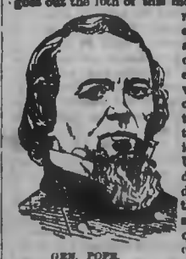
But Sheridan did not take Sherman's place. He is the last, so to speak, of our little army, but his title is that of lieutenant general, and his pay is $11,000 a year. Sherman was the general of the army, with a pay of $13,500 a year. This title and place were created after the last war. It was really done to provide for Gen. Grant. Gen. Grant's country was always providing for him. He at least could not say that republics were ungrateful. Grant was general of the army till his inauguration as president in 1869. Then the office and title devolved on his friend "Cump." Sherman, who some how never had the knack of getting on with the newspapers.

The general's title has lapsed for the present. If anybody gets it anyways soon, it will of course be little Phil, whose manly round white head appears herewith.

GEN. SHERIDAN.

The military question is now who is going to be major general in Hancock's place. The law limits the major generals to three. Their salary is $7,500. Gen. Hancock was so hospitable that he could not live on this pay, and died poor. Since his death there remain of the major generals two, John M. Schofield and John Pope.

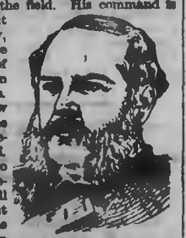
Gen. Pope has reached the age of 62, and goes out the 16th of this month, to live on his retired major general's pay of $5,625 a year. Thus two of the major generals' places are vacant. These officers are each at the head of one of the military divisions into which the United States is divided. Military division No. 1 is that of the Missouri, with headquarters at Chicago. It is commanded by Schofield. No. 2 is the military division of the Atlantic, headquarters New York. This is now without a head. No. 3 is the military division of the Pacific, commanded by Gen. Pope, headquarters San Francisco. Each division includes a number of departments. These are commanded by brigadier generals, of which the law allows six, no more. A brigadier general gets a salary of $5,500.



GEN. POPE.

Gen. John Pope graduated at West Point, in 1842. The brainiest men of the West Point students are promoted to the engineer corps. Pope was one of the fortunate. He began his military career as second lieutenant of topographical engineers. He was in the Mexican war, and has seen much solid fighting. Some of his countrymen have a fancy that he is a better engineer than general, but that is neither here nor there.

Practically, therefore, Schofield is the only major-general in the field. His command is the most important in the country, comprising a slice down the middle of it, which takes in about two-thirds. He can go to New York city if he likes, being the senior major general. But he would go from a large department to a small and less important one, simply for the sake of being in New York. John McAllister Schofield was born in New York state, in 1831. He was born the same year Sheridan was, and graduated in the same class at West Point. He was for a while a schoolmaster, though he does not look it. He was professor of physics at West Point, and afterward at Washington university, St. Louis. He got his boom toward distinction at the battle of Franklin, Tenn., in the late war. H was president, or whatever the proper military title corresponding to it is, at West Point for a time.



GEN. SCHOFIELD.

There will be two brigadier generals to step into the empty major general's shoes this month. They will be Gens. Terry and Howard. Gen. Terry is a brother of Rose Terry, the writer. He is now 58 years old, and will only have four years to enjoy his major general's triple stars. Gen. Terry was educated at the Yale Law school, and is the only one of the subjects of this sketch who is not a West Pointer. He is the man who captured Fort Fisher, in 1865. He is in Dakota.

GEN. TERRY.

Brig. Gen. Oliver Otis Howard is at present out in the department of the Platte. He was born in 1830, and graduated at West Point in 1854. He was afterward assistant professor of mathematics there. You would know he was a mathematician by his head. He lost an arm at Fair Oaks in the late war, and commanded the Second corps at Gettysburg. After the war he was detailed to serve as commissioner of the Freedmen's bureau, at Washington. In this connection his name has been mentioned in an unpleasant way, on account of the collapse of the Freedmen's bank, and a rank injustice thereby was done him.

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 20th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two spiralean trusses made in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain my Hernia. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. S. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest strain. It will cure every child sent; and 90 out of every 100 of adults. Be warned—don't waste your money on useless appliances, but send stamp for our treatise; it contains full information, your neighbors' testimony, price list and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper. Address,

EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS CO., 23 Adelaide St. East, Toronto, Ont.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "PAUL FERROLL," "A ROSE IN SUMMER," ETC.

It was ten portmanteaux standing unpacked and his clothes being arranged by a quick-handed valet. Vane stood at the window, strangely haunted by dreams of his old home. He could hear the home voices, and he could see the house by the mill-stream.

"Why should this come over me now?" he thought.

Then he remembered an old superstition which said that when a man was haunted by a dream of youth, it was a sign that some great event was about to take place in his life.

"What can be going to happen to me?" he wondered; and then he laughed at his folly. "Nothing more than this—that I am to erect a bridge which will be the prettiest in England."

The first dinner-bell rang, and he hastened to the drawing-room. The magnificent room was empty.

He never forgot the impression it made upon him. Through the long windows he had a glimpse of fountains, flowers, and trees, with the gleam of the river in the distance. In the room itself were tall statues, beautiful forms, and exceedingly exquisite pictures, priceless works of art. He wondered what it could be like to live always in such an atmosphere of luxury and wealth. Then he found himself wondering what his mother and bright-eyed Kate would say to such an apartment as this.

The next moment he had left such thoughts far behind. Re-crossing around him all sank into utter insignificance. Life had completely changed for him. One moment had changed the whole bent of his existence.

There was a sound at the farther end of the room, and, looking, he saw a picture that so dazzled his eyes he could see nothing else. Curtains of rich crimson velvet, with golden fringe, separated that part of the drawing-room from a large and magnificent conservatory. At first he saw only a white hand and arm, so arm so round, so white, so beautiful, that it was like the work of a sculptor. A diamond bracelet clasped it. The hand slightly parted the curtains. Then the whole figure appeared—that of a tall slender girl draped in shining silk and priceless lace, perfect in every movement, perfect in grace and symmetry.

With one keen rapid glance he seemed to take in every detail of the loveliness that had no peer. The girl's face was radiantly fresh and bright and her luxuriant yellow hair looked like dead gold crowned with diamonds. There was a rose-leaf flush on the delicate cheeks; the eyes were the color of wood-violets; the lovely mouth was perfect in shape, and proud as it was sweet; the firm white throat clasped by a diamond necklace, and a diamond cross lay on her white breast. Lovely, dainty, proud, and refined, her patrician birth stamped on every feature, she looked indeed the daughter of an Earl. So she stood for a moment, framed by a crimson velvet—the fairest picture that ever met a man's eye.

Vane was dazed and bewildered. He had never dreamed that woman could be so fair. Then she slowly allowed the curtains to fall, and advanced towards him.—The western sunbeams shone upon the sparkling diamonds, and upon the hair of dead gold. He trembled as she drew near him, as he had never trembled before any human being yet.

She bowed to him with proud dainty grace. He had wondered if she would offer him one of her white jewelled hands, and he found himself wondering also if he should die of joy when he touched it. But the wonder was all vain. She glanced calmly at him, and she smiled slowly. He wondered what she would say or do—if she were cognizant of the mad passion that was slowly creeping over him.

"You are Mr. Vibart," she said, and the music of her voice struck his dazed senses with fresh wonder. "Have you seen Lord Audley?"

He never remembered how he answered her. To him it was as though he had passed through a furnace. His brain seemed to burn, his heart beat fast, and he could have driven mad from the vehemence of his emotions.

She saw and understood. She was too much accustomed to the effect of her beauty. Men succumbed at one glance from her eyes or at one smile from her lovely lips. That this pitiful "professional" man—who was not of her world at all—should yield at once, was less than nothing to her.

It was a relief, yet pain, to him when Lord Audley entered the room with several ladies and gentlemen. Vane was introduced to each, and each one had something kind and pleasant to say to him.—Colonel Gordon was delighted with him, and kept him in earnest conversation until the dinner-bell rang. Vane turned aside his head when the Lady Lilias passed by him; for he said to himself that another look at her would blind him. If he wished to collect his senses and converse with any show of reason, he must not look again upon that most beautiful face. He never remembered afterwards how the dinner passed. He heard at times the sound of low silvery laughter and the murmur of a sweet voice, but dared not raise his eyes to the Earl's daughter. Her beauty dazzled him as did the light of the sun. Once or twice he caught a glimpse of the dead-gold hair and the sparkling gems.—Then he did his best to keep his attention fixed on what the Colonel was saying to him.

Afterwards, when he had gone with the Colonel on to the terrace to enjoy a cigar, Vane said suddenly to him—

"I did not know that Lord Audley had a daughter."

"Did you not?" laughed the Colonel.—Then you are about the only young man of position in England who does not know it. Lady Lilias Audley is the queen of the fashionable world."

"She is very beautiful," said Vane, in a dreamy musing tone.

"Very beautiful, very accomplished, very wealthy, and perfect in grace and manners; and she is the proudest girl in England."

"The proudest girl in England," repeated Vane slowly.

"Yes—I should say the very proudest. She has a most serene and graceful fashion of looking over the heads of people as it were, and of never seeing anything or any one whom she does not care to see. She has refused more offers, I should say, than any other girl in England. I admire her proud haughty manner myself."

"It must be very unpleasant for those whom she deigns to see," replied Vane. And he wondered whether she would "see" him in the sense in which Colonel Gordon used the word.

CHAPTER VII.

"The proudest girl in England." Vane Vibart found himself repeating that phrase over and over again. He could well fancy that it was true. So passionately lovely, so dainty, "so fair and free" in her delicate grace, an Earl's daughter, and a great Queen, she would naturally be proud. Ah, well, there must be all kinds of rank and proud every one could not be noble born!

He found himself wondering what she had thought of him when her calm proud eyes had rested on him. His face flushed as he tried to imagine what her ideas had been like. Had she "seen" him, or had she calmly looked over him as one not of her world? Had she thought him passable? Had she given even the faintest thought to him? He was bending over the balustrade in the moonlight, admiring the wealth of climbing plants, and he started on finding his eyes blinded with a hot mist of tears.

"What has come to me?" he cried. "I have been here only five hours, and the whole world is changed for me. I have looked for one moment upon a woman's face, and I have nearly lost all self-control. I am dazed and blinded. What has happened to me?"

In the after-days he could never remember how that night passed. He did not sleep; it was to him a long waking dream; and the only thought quite clear to him was that he was under the same roof with her.

He was reminded in the morning that she was to accompany Lord Audley and himself to choose a site for the bridge. He could hardly realize, hardly understand it. What should he say to her? Would she deign to notice him?

Vane saw her at the breakfast-table, fair and radiant as the morning itself, her dead-gold hair gathered in a simple knot at the back of her queenly head, and wearing a morning dress of white muslin, with a red rose at her white throat. She gave him a kindly smile and graceful bow. Which he saw how the head of her lover to colonel Gordon, he looked at his gallant officer's place. [illegible] at last, adding [illegible] to the [illegible] which [illegible] the [illegible] hated himself because he flushed and trembled when he answered her.

Presently the carriage came to the door. It was a bright warm day in June, the sky was cloudless, the air redolent of perfume and full of summer sounds, and the lovely green earth lay smiling in the sun. Lord Audley said to Vane—

"Now, Mr. Vibart, we are ready. The morning is so beautiful that we shall have three or four very pleasant hours."

Vane caught a glimpse of a pretty morning costume and of an exquisite face under a Gainsborough hat.

"Will you help Lady Lilias, Mr. Vibart?" said the Earl.

Her hand touched his so lightly that he hardly felt its weight, and the next moment he was in the carriage, sitting by the Earl's desire, facing her. The golden sunlight gave him courage, and he ventured to look at her. How could he help it when everything around him was so beautiful? He was not the first man who had looked into that lovely face and so lost himself for ever. He was not the first who, looking into the depths of those proud sweet eyes, lost himself in them.—He was charmed and fascinated. The gentle breeze brought a most delicate and beautiful color to the fair face. Lady Lilias carried an exquisite parasol, with a handle of superbly-carved ivory, and with it she at times almost hid her face from view. Then it was to him as though the sun had set. He never forgot the first moment in which she turned to him and spoke with a smile. He had quoted some lines that were new to her, and she turned her beautiful face and looked at him with a bright smile.

Increasing Business.

The provision statistics for the past winter show that pork packing operations in Canada have decreased 18 per cent., and also show that Mr. George Matthews' Peterborough Packing House has increased its operations by almost 50 per cent., this winter's cure of stock being 3,500 hogs to about 2,000 last year. The meats turned out by the Peterborough Packing House are among the best on the market, and for which there is always a lively demand.

A False Alarm.

A report was current in town this morning that Mr. F. Schiveras, the evangelist, had fainted from exhaustion at his evening meeting in Port Hope yesterday, and that his health had completely broken down, necessitating his retirement from public work for a time. A telephone message this afternoon says the report is false and that the evangelist is as vigorous as ever. Mr. G. B. Sproule, Canadian agent for the evangelist, left town this morning for Port Hope on business in connection with the evangelist's work.

Exhibition Baking.

The baking boom still continues. Mr. Surrey, agent for the Wheat Baking Powder, daring yesterday and to-day held school at the store of Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co., giving free demonstration lessons in the art of baking with this celebrated brand of powder. Bread, buns and all kinds of cakes of the most delicious description were built with dispatch. The school will keep open till 8 o'clock this evening. Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co. will be the agents for this brand of powder in town and will always keep a fresh stock on hand.

Matrimony.

This afternoon at three o'clock, Chambers street was the scene of an interesting event, the marriage of Mr. A. Fletcher, of Winnipeg, to Miss Maggie Coe, daughter of Mr. Thomas Coe, of town, at which Rev. I. Tovell officiated. Mr. John Kidd supported the groom, while Miss Beatrice Coe, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The bride has for the past few years been engaged in the millinery establishment of Hall, Innis & Co., and is an amiable young lady and a general favorite with her large circle of friends, of which the numerous and costly presents is an evidence. An elegant silver water pitcher, from the boarders of the house, was among the most conspicuous. The groom was formerly a Peterborough typo, and is now on the staff of the Winnipeg Manitoban. The happy couple will leave town this evening on an extended trip westward.

A Glowing Report.

Mr J. W. Fitzgerald, P. L. S., arrived home on Monday evening, after spending the winter in surveying in the Northwest. Mr. Fitzgerald is in exuberant health and overflowing spirits, due to the invigorating qualities of the salubrious climate of our great Northwest of which he speaks in glowing terms. He reports the farming prospects as grand. Seeding began in some parts as early as March 23rd, and now the greater part, if not all, of the wheat seeding is over The growth of the new crop is marvellous. The fields are all green and in some, the new growth of spring wheat is four inches high. The country is filling up encouragingly, fully 25 per cent. more land being broken up than last year. The tide of immigration is steadily flowing in and Mr. Fitzgerald predicts a magnificent future for our Northwest. He returns in a few days.

Don't be Deceived.

The Daily Examiner.
THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1886.

Police Court.

John O'Donnell was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with having committed an assault upon Willie Guerin, a small boy about 10 or 12 years of age. The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

The plaintiff stated to the magistrate that yesterday afternoon O'Donnell had entered the west ward school grounds, and, after boxing his ears, had knocked him down and kicked him.

Two other little boys testified that the complainant, Willie Guerin, threw a stone at O'Donnell, whom they thought was intoxicated. After young Guerin had thrown the stone O'Donnell came into the school grounds and boxed the plaintiff's ears, and also knocked him down and kicked him.

The magistrate dismissed the charge against O'Donnell, remarking that boys who threw stones at any person deserved to have their ears well boxed, and had no right to complain to the court.

Confirmation Services.

His Lordship, the Bishop of Toronto, administered the rite of confirmation to 43 candidates—30 females and 13 males—in St. John's church, yesterday evening. The Rector and Rev. V. Clementi assisted in the services incidental to the ceremony. The congregation filled the church.

The Napanee Delegation.

The Napanee delegation, who came to town to inspect our Water Works system and to procure information on the subject, went home last evening. They were highly pleased with their visit, whose success, both in the matter of personal enjoyment and business result, was most satisfactory. They expressed the most cordial feeling of gratitude to the mayor and civic officials, and to the officials of the Water Works Company for courtesies extended and information given. The recent fire in Napanee, which destroyed $110,000 worth of property, has aroused the citizens to the necessity of securing thoroughly adequate fire protection. The delegation, as stated in yesterday's issue, are unanimous in their decision to report in favor of the Peterborough system of pumping. Napanee has excellent water power, which is, however, low at times in summer. It is controllable, however, and Sir Richard Cartwright, in case of low water, gives the town the precedence. Napanee town council acted wisely in sending three of its most experienced, shrewdest and most reliable members on so important a mission. All three, while being typical, live and successful business men, are personally as jolly, jovial and agreeable gentlemen as one would ask to meet.

Home Rule and Hartington.

His Desertion of Gladstone Denounced.

LONDON, April 28.—The meagre approval awarded to Lord Hartington's speech at Rosendale is very disappointing to those who are relying upon that gentleman to concentrate and make a formidable opposition to Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy. There is treeable in the tone, even of those who speak favorably of the substance of the speech, a tendency to refrain from eulogizing the noble lord's attitude. The fact is, the inherent British admiration for constancy, whether in friendship or opposition, is repelled by the spectacle of Lord Hartington turning against the Chief who has magnanimously treated him through many years. This feeling is more marked on account of the fact that Lord Hartington is acting simply as an obstructionist, without proposing any alternative measures for the ones he opposes. Such a course is political suicide at this time, when all parties recognize that Irish remedial Legislation of some kind is unavoidable. Lord Salisbury is now credited by many with having used Lord Hartington as a catspaw in the parleyings that not long ago took place between the Conservative and the dissatisfied Liberal leaders. It is remarked as significant that Lord Salisbury has not as yet said much as to what measures he would himself favor if called upon to formulate substitutes for the bills brought in by Mr. Gladstone. The idea is losing prevalence that he would consent to act under the leadership of Lord Hartington though the Pall Mall Gazette still speaks of such an outcome as probable from the existing situation. It is the more general belief now that Lord Salisbury will not commit himself to any proposals unless he is called upon to do so in his capacity as the natural leader of the Conservative party in the event of the defeat of the Gladstone Ministry. Such a course will meet with general approbation as in accord with the traditional principles of British party statesmanship.

The Rev. John Jasper.

The Preacher who Vows that the Sun Do Move.

A newspaper wag, writing to his journal a letter from the capital of Virginia about this colored divine, has the impudence to head his letter: "Richmond's Most Celebrated Preacher." The worst of it is that this is fact, too.

Rev. Jasper has a substantial church, all his own. It is in the heart of "Africa," as the northern part of Richmond is called. It is attractive looking, built of brick, is large enough to hold 800 persons, and is always filled. That is more than hundreds of white doctors of divinity, who preside over the richest of city congregations, can say of theirs.

Rev. Jasper's sheep are well dressed, too. They come of the cream of the Richmond colored society, which prides itself on its blood, the best blood of Old Virginny, sah! It is more than half right, too; at least it is just about half right; for the negroes of Richmond are half white, a very large number of them; and not a few are counted by not many removes to cabinets, judges, congressmen, generals and even presidents that have been.

To people like these handsome, lazy quadroons, mulattoes and octoroons, Jasper preaches. His collections are liberal, and there cannot be seen a ragged or muddy negro in the congregation. Their clothes, the women's, outvie the peacock for splendor of color and silkiness. The men strut in broadcloths and white vests, and white neck ties. There is really no reason why they should not be well dressed. These Richmond negroes go out to service at watering places and seashore resorts during the season. They get high wages, and they are besides the most inveterate baggers in America. The half worn or even new, handsome garment, which they cannot beg away from the luckless watering place sojourner, the dollar or half dollar which they can't coax out of him, isn't worth having. They ought to be well dressed, bother them.

REV. JOHN JASPER.

Jasper, himself, appears resplendent in fine black broadcloth, with gold shirt studs and a white necktie, and a watch chain. He is three-quarters black, and nearly 70 years old now. He is tolerably well informed in books, but uses the negro dialect persistently in his talk. This is a peculiarity of most negroes in the south. Many of them can read and write well—excellent English, in fact. But they associate only with their own race away from school. Hearing only the negro dialect in ordinary conversation, it is difficult to see how they can ever learn correct English under such conditions.

Jasper still adheres to his doctrine that the sun do move. He plants the statement on the Bible and stakes his last hope of salvation upon it. White persons, strangers in Richmond, frequently go to his church. It is one of the lions of the city. Among these stranger visitors some time since were Mr. and Mrs. Moncure D. Conway. "M. D. C." gives an amusing account of the sermon. The preacher was evidently flattered by the presence of his distinguished auditors, and yet was struggling not to appear so. He went out of his way to administer sounding whacks to learned people who do not believe the word of God.

He never fails to do this, for among his own congregation are some black sheep, at least yellow sheep, who refuse to admit that "the sun do move." They say they only go to church "for style," like white folk. Says Jasper:

"There is some folks heah that is not heah for the love of God, but jes' to catch up somethin' to carry away and laff at."

The Secretary of the Pan Electric Telephone Company.

The Pan Electric Telephone company investigation threatens to become as celebrated a case as the Credit Mobilier scandal. Our readers may not have followed the investigation as it drags through the hands of a congressional committee. The facts, as far as outsiders can get at them, are these: There is a powerful organization called the Bell Telephone company. It has the telephone business of the United States largely in its control. Opposed to it is the Pan Electric company, ostensibly at the head of which are Dr. J. Rogers and his son. Members of congress and even of the cabinet have stock in the Pan Electric company, and are accused of using the influence of their official position to forward the interests of the company. It is war to the knife between the Bell and the Pan Electric concerns, and they have lawsuits pending in the United States courts to determine the patent rights of each.

CASEY YOUNG.

Casey Young, of Memphis, Tenn., is the secretary of the Pan Electric company. He declared before the congressional committee that the Bell Telephone company controls the newspaper press of the nation and all congress, too. That, he says, is the reason why so many papers are hounding certain high officials so persistently and demanding their resignation. He says these journals are well paid for their services.

Casey Young is a shrewd, determined man. He is a lawyer and a Democrat and has been a member of four congresses. He is not in at present, however.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27th.

In the House of Commons to-night Mr. White (Cardwell) introduced a Bill allowing land to be granted to the railway companies in the Northwest in alternate townships or blocks instead of alternate sections. The House then went into Committee of Supply, and passed several items.

The Labor Crisis.

COUNCIL MEETING.

An adjourned regular meeting of the village council was held in the Council chamber on Monday evening, the 26th ult.

Present, the Reeve in the chair, Messrs. McWilliams, Moore, and Cox.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Cox, that the date for the return of the assessment roll by the assessor to the village clerk be, and is hereby extended to the 12th May inst.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Cox, that the council take no action against the Salvation Army at present, until they know more about the matter.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Cox, that this council grant the amount of $60, now in the hands of the village treasurer, (being the proceeds of the sale of the late band's instruments) to the band now being organized, when they furnish a bond to the satisfaction of this council.—Carried.

A by-law to prohibit the piling of wood, lumber and other obstructions on the public streets, without permission of the council, received its several readings, was passed, sealed and signed.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Cox, that this Council do now adjourn, to meet at the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

SALVATION MATTERS IN THE COUNCIL.

As will be observed by the proceedings of the Council, the matter of the Salvation Army beating the drum on Sunday came up and provoked a long discussion by those present which ended by the motion given, being passed. Constable Cockrane then stated that as such a large number of the ratepayers had complained to him, he had considered it his duty to lay an information against the parties offending, but as the Council did not see proper to support him in the execution of his duties, he would tender his resignation at the next regular meeting of the Council.

ACCIDENT.

On Friday evening, while the Salvation Army were out for their usual parade, a little boy, a son of Mr. John Noyes, who was following them, was run over by a passing rig, with a large party from town. The little fellow must have been knocked aside by the front wheel, for had it passed over him with the heavy load, he must have been crushed; as it was, he escaped with a couple of broken ribs and some severe bruises.

A NEW WARD.

Owing to the number of voters in the village increasing beyond the statutory number required for a single ward, the village has been divided into two wards, with the following limits:—

Ward No. 1 to embrace that portion of the village situated in the township of Douro, north and east of Otonabee river.

Ward No. 2 to embrace that portion of the village situated in the township of Smith, south and west of the Otonabee river.

BALL.

A grand ball was held in the Lakeview House on Monday night. A number were present from Lakefield and Burleigh. Excellent music was furnished by Prof. Bites, and dancing was kept up till a late hour in the morning. A splendid supper was provided and all through the management reflected great credit on Mr. and Mrs. Kearney.

NAVIGATION.

The steamer Fairy made her first trip on Friday, coming from Lakefield, where she was wintered, to this place. She looks as bright and new as ever and is under the command of Mr. C. Courtemanche with Mr. Wm. Scollard, engineer. On Saturday she went up to the mouth of Eels' Creek and on Monday brought up the scow from Lakefield which shows she has towing power. The owners of the different boats expect a large season's work in carrying freight, towing and passenger traffic, but it is likely that the boats will be troubled this year with logs the same as other years, as no booms have been put on to divide the river between here and Lakefield.

YOUNG'S POINTERS.

The water is receding, but a considerable portion of our front street is yet covered.

Mr. Thos. Wynn has finished putting the tops on the piers above the dam. He has also made the end of the dam proof against the water cutting round it.

People were afraid that Saturday's change would bring frost. Luckily it did not.

The villagers should petition the township council to have Water street raised.

When the upper gates were opened on Saturday to lock the Fairy through, the water overflowed the locks and started on both sides for the river at a lively rate. The water worked a hole under Mr. J. Godfrey's house and the cellar was filled.

Mr. P. Young and men returned on Saturday from Eel's Creek, having brought their drive as far as the mouth, from where it will be towed down. Deer Bay is now the scene of their operations.

PURCHASEABLE PARLIAMENTARIANS.

Of the existence of the evil of members of Parliament, on the Conservative side of the House, selling their influence for gain, there can be no doubt, especially since the recent revelations in the sample case of Messrs. Beaty and Woodworth have come to light. These gentlemen, Mr. James Beaty, jr., M.P., West Toronto, and D. B. Woodworth, M. P., Kings, N. S., concerned in the matter of pushing, ostensibly, the interests of the Northwest Central Railway, quarrelled over the division of the spoil they were to receive for corruptly bartering their influence as representatives of the people, and supporters of the Government, and the facts came out in consequence—before the Railway Committee. Mr. Beaty valued his influence at the modest sum of $675,000—his great influence with the Government. These revelations are doubtless an infinitesimal part of the truth. If the whole truth were known it could, it is safe to say, be shown, that a considerable majority of the supporters of the government are "tarred with the same brush." All this is not surprising. It is the direct result of the policy adopted by Sir John to secure the allegiance of supporters, by appeals to their cupidity. In large part his supporters were elected by the help of bribes, more or less direct and the same system has been pursued to retain their allegiance. The presence of a purchased and purchaseable majority in parliament can alone account for the possibility of the enactment of the iniquitous legislation, that has characterised the present and past parliaments of Canada. The Toronto World is an Independent journal of such strongly Conservative leanings that it takes a pretty stiff sample of Tory wickedness to restore it to a sufficiently independent perpendicular to criticise, which it always does fairly, and condemn as it can do trenchantly, what is wrong and injurious to the people's interests when perpetrated by that party. Speaking in reference to the Beaty-Woodworth scandal the World says:—

"The more the Beaty-Woodworth scandal is stirred the greater is the stench; and the worst of it is that the line taken in defence implies that a generally low standard prevails among members of parliament on these subjects. This we greatly fear is the fact, and the matter calls urgently for the attention of the country. * * * Expulsion from Parliament and exclusion from it for the future ought always to be a part of the penalty. A strict and inflexible law should prevent members of Parliament from meddling with anything which is before the House and in which they have a pecuniary interest. The glimpses which on such occasions as the present we get into the condition of public life warn us that the need of safeguards has become pressing. Our politics are in danger of being saturated with corruption, while the ideas of our people will be debauched at the same time. Mr. Blake has character above suspicion, and if he will take up the question bravely he may render an estimable service to the country."

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

"Where did you read that?" she inquired.

He told her. One quotation led to another, and she was soon listening with delight to the quaint store of rhymes with which he had enriched his mind; and yet, though her beautiful eyes were bent upon him, he felt that the Colonel's words were quite true—he a certain fashion she "looked over" him. There was invisible something in her manner—he could not tell what it was, but it showed plainly that she did not consider him one of her own world. He watched the play of her features, the curve of her lips, the lines that were at once so haughty and so sweet; and he said to himself it was true that she was "the proudest girl in England." Well, what did it matter to him? He was to remain there for a week; at the end of that time he would go away and perhaps never see her again. He would feel like one who had lifted a lily-pad of heaven and then fallen to the earth. He had read of one who had fallen in love with the moon and died of the love. He was just as foolish. The first stirrings of an all-absorbing passion were thrilling him, beating in his pulses and trembling in his veins. Where had he read something of the moth worshipping the star? Where was a moth more foolish than he, or a star more brilliant than she?

Presently Lord Audley began to talk to him. When once the spell was broken that drew his eyes to her face, he was himself again. He talked with a vigor that astonished himself. The Earl was interested in hearing about the Channel Tunnel.

"Men can travel under the water and in the air," he said; "where will their powers end?"

"There is no limit to human enterprise," answered Vane, his face kindling; for this was his favorite theme "So far from believing this world has grown old and almost run its course, I believe it to be in its infancy."

Then he saw Lady Lilias's face turned to him, with wonder and interest in the beautiful eyes.

"If this be its infancy, what will its mature age be like?" she asked.

"No man can tell," he answered. "When the telephone is completed, and men at the distance of miles can speak to each other, and when the wonders of electricity are worked out, this will be a different world. I believe that science is still in its infancy. I should like to live to see the full development of recent discoveries."

"So should I," she said earnestly.

"Take the sense of hearing alone," he continued, "and see what a revolution has been effected. When we heard three years back that a man was deaf, no one thought any real remedy possible; and now one can hear a fly walk. Could anything be more wonderful? The world around us is full of mysteries and hidden wonders; and one by one they are made clear or revealed to us."

She grew interested while listening to him.

"Do you think," she asked, "that the ancient inhabitants of the earth knew anything of what we believe to be modern discoveries?"

"No," he answered thoughtfully, "I do not, for this reason—that, if ever they had known them, they would have progressed instead of degenerating."

Lord Audley here saw what appeared to him the finest site for a bridge, and he drew Vane's attention to it; but there were reasons why it would not do, and Vane explained them. Lady Lilias listened attentively.

"You seem to know the mystery of the elements, Mr. Vibart," she said; "you speak of water and land as though you could move them at will; you talk of hills and mountains as though you could carry them; you speak of huge masses of granite and iron as though you could throw them like balls."

"Men are the masters of the earth," he rejoined, with a flush of pride on his face, and all the material on it or in it is for them to work with."

"Work!" she repeated coldly. "You seem to think much of the dignity of work."

Again his sensitive face flushed at her words.

"I do think all work dignified," he replied; and she smiled.

"For some kinds of work I have great respect," she said—"not for all. Manual labor does not interest me—brain-work does."

"My dear Lilias, I must differ from you," interposed the Earl. "I do not believe work of any kind interests you much."

"I do not like indolence," replied his beautiful daughter quickly.

"My dear, you are patrician in every respect!" laughed the Earl. "You have lived exclusively among your own class, and you have concentrated all your interests in them."

"What would she say if she knew that I was the son of a poor farmer who knows nothing of the world, and who often eats with his knife when he should use his fork?" said Vane to himself.

CHAPTER VIII.

Lord Audley and his daughter and Vane were approaching one of the most beautiful and picturesque spots about Ulverscroft, where the river widened, and the land rose in gentle elevations on either side of the water. Lady Lilias looked up brightly.

"There," she cried—"this is my favorite spot. A bridge, light and elegant, thrown over the water here, would be magnificent. I can see it already in the air, papa. Mr. Vibart, let it be here."

"It is certainly the most appropriate spot," replied Vane; "but the cost, if it is built here, will be nearly double."

"Never mind that," laughed the girl; "that will not matter. Let it stand here, papa, and call it 'Lady Lilias's Folly;' that would be an excellent name for it."

Lord Audley smiled.

"We will see," he said. "We will walk round here, Mr. Vibart; if you will, and see what the land is like. I am inclined to think it is the prettiest spot after all.—Lilias, you have a quick eye."

They left the carriage and walked along the green bank of the beautiful river.—Vane found himself by Lady Lilias's side, and, what was more, he found that she was talking to him in an earnest graceful fashion all her own, her pride never for one moment relaxing, yet with a nameless charm about her which left him helpless against her fascinations. Once, as the bank was rather steep, he involuntarily held out his hand to assist her, and to his surprise she accepted it and thanked him.

"She would not have done that had she felt that I was her equal," he said to himself; and the very kindness she had shown him made him feel farther from her than before. Yet she was so sweet and gracious. Looking at her, he said to himself, "The proudest girl in England. Can it be true?"

one was deeply interested in what he was telling her of divers, and how men worked under the waves as easily as on dry land. Her beautiful eyes were fixed upon his face, and she listened eagerly to his words.

"And they are never frightened, you say. When a man finds himself alone in the cold, silent great depths of the sea, with strange hideous monsters with large eyes swimming past him, do you mean that he knows no fear?"

"No; fear would unfit him for his work."

She looked at him thoughtfully.

"What an immense quantity of hard work there is in the world!" I never remember to have thought of it before I knew you."

"You have not met with many people who would even mention work in your presence," he replied. "Although I am so Radical, I look upon the workers of the world as the noblest part of it."

"It may be that you are right; but remember you speak as a man well-born."

"Well-born?" he repeated; and then it occurred to him that she looked upon him as a relative of the Hope Vibarts. What would she say if she knew that he was the son of a poor farmer?

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable," or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Dr. Kincaid has added to the beauty of his residence by removing the fence from around the premises on George and Murray streets. The grounds will be added out to the sidewalk on both streets. This custom, which is general in some American cities, is fast becoming popular.

The Telgmann Septette Club.

The Telgmann Septette Club gave one of their delightful entertainments in Bradburn's Opera House last night. Although one of the best musical organizations travelling, it only drew a small, though very appreciative, audience. The productions of this musical family were charming in the extreme, while the violin solos of Miss Dorcita Telgmann and Mr. Oscar Telgmann were gems. Mr. Chas. Kelly, basso profundo and a host in himself, sang, with vigor and expression, half a dozen well-chosen songs, filling the hall with grand music. He also delighted his hearers with several guitar solos. The applause was continuous during the entertainment and it is only a pity that there was not a larger audience to enjoy the exceptionally good music produced.

The Two Rebellions.

A copy of Major Boulton's new book, "Reminiscences of the North-West Rebellions," has been placed before us by the agent for the town, Mr. R. S. Cook, one of the heroes of Batoche, who was wounded in that engagement. The book is written by Major Boulton, of Boulton's Scouts, who is well qualified for the work, having been an actor in the two rebellions, in which misgovernment has plunged the North-West. The history includes the narrative of events from the acquisition of the North-West Territory to the closing scenes of the second rebellion. It is full of stirring incident and graphically related detail, and has, as far as military facts go, the merit of being written by one who was an eye-witness and participant in many of the scenes so well described. It is full of interest to every true Canadian from title page to "finis." It is handsomely gotten up and printed in the Grip Publishing Company's best style. It is also plentifully illustrated with maps, diagrams, etc. It is replete with interest and must command a ready sale. A copy should be in every home where a recollection of the pluck, endurance, energy and valor of our citizen soldiery finds a place. The price of the volume—531 pages—is only $2.00.

Ashburnham Council.

A meeting of the Ashburnham Council was held on Tuesday evening to enquire into the correctness of a communication which appeared in Monday's issue of the EXAMINER and which had evidently been written upon reading the Review's account of the arrest and death of the late Thomas Crowley. It appeared from the evidence taken by the Reeve, Mr. Burnham, that the arrest was made in the usual way, and that when arrested there was no outward indication that the deceased had been injured by a fall, which it appears he had had some hours previous. The council unanimously passed the following resolution, which we are pleased to publish to remove the false impression created by the publication of the communication, which now appears to have been uncalled for,—That having heard the statement of Mr. Constable Craig and of Messrs. Tobin and Campbell relative to the arrest of Thos. Crowley, who has since died, this council declare that Mr. Craig simply did his duty, and the statements published in the newspapers reflecting upon him are utterly unwarranted.

are offering the choicest lines of wines and liquors at greatly reduced rates from now till 1st of May. Their entire stock of liquors must be run off at that date. Their stock of family groceries is large and choice and at the lowest prices. Give them a call.

The Boating Club.

The Boating Club have decided not to use their floating boat house this year, as to put it in proper repair would cost more than the place is worth. The sudden fall in the river and subsequent fall of ice did considerable damage both to the floating house and the boats in it at the time. The Club has also decided to partition off the land house using one apartment for canoes and the other for row boats.

Triple "A" Topics.

At a meeting of the directors of the P. A. A. A., held in the secretary's office, yesterday evening, Mr. Sam. Ray, lately of Whitby, and one of the best cricketers in Canada, was appointed overseer of the grounds.

The cricket season will be rolled in a few days, after which the ball will be set a-rolling.

Saturday closes the subscription season to the P. A. A. A. The secretary may be found at his office, on Brock street, from 11 to 12 o'clock.

A Pocketed Pipe Smotheas.

An absent-minded old gentleman, who is always in a hurry, placed his lighted pipe in his pocket this morning and walked down George street at a great rate. Inn minute or two the fire in the pipe ignited the pocket, which, fanned by the breeze caused by the rapid motion, smoked like a furnace. Several small boys noticing the phenomenon, ran after the victim, calling fire as loud as their lungs would let them; but it was not till he had walked a considerable distance that the smoker was prevailed on to put out the fire and fire away the pipe. The pocket and some of the lining of his coat were consumed.

Selling a Wife.

The Norwood Register tells a startling story, for the truth of which it vouches. During a drinking bout, held in the woods near Norwood, one of the party conceived a sudden desire for a wife. A father and son were the party and it was first proposed to sell the "old woman" to the lonesome bachelor, but she was rejected as being too old and lacking in "style and speed." The son's wife, to whom he had been married less than a year, was next offered and she filling the bill, the bargain was struck and the price was fixed—"$3 cash, or $5 on time" The money was paid over, the woman was brought to the wood and the delivery of "goods" was made. A rope was fastened about the ankle of the woman and the husband placed the rope in the hands of the purchaser with a formula, duly witnessed, renouncing all right, title and claim to the wife in favor of the purchaser. The woman was then led away by her new possessor, who seemed proud of his bargain. The story is an improbable one, but the Register is sure of its truth. If it is true the conclusion must be come to that civilization is only skin deep and very thin-skinned is that.

A Double Dealer.

For several weeks past a number of local musicos have been preparing to organize a new band, to be called "Smart's Band." It appears that one of the members of the proposed organization, who a conversation a month ago with Mr. John Bate, at that time leader of the Lindsay band, who intimated that he would like to live in Peterborough. Mr. B., on hearing this statement, informed Bate that if he would come to town he would get him a situation as leader of a band. Bate consented, and on the strength of this Mr. R. Smart purchased a new set of brass instruments. Bate sent word that he would be down this week to take charge of the band. On Tuesday he arrived in town, and that evening had a practice. In company with several of the band members, he made engagements for last night, the roller rink, and as late as May 24th. On Tuesday, it is seen, Bandmaster Bate took the C. P. R. express for Winnipeg, also taking a friend's fancy hatband as a gentle reminder. It appears that Bate was married to a young lady of Lindsay, some weeks ago. The fair bride took a wedding trip to Winnipeg where she secured a position for her husband. Mr. Bate immediately gave up his situation leader of the Lindsay band and on Tuesday morning left for the western metropolis, the Lindsay band accompanying him to the station. Failing to connect with the C. P. R. here, Mr. Bate visited the men he was deceiving and after imposing on their hospitality left them in the lurch, without giving them the slightest hint of what was in the wind. An EXAMINER reporter in conversation with Bate was informed that the Winnipeg report was all a blind to deceive the Lindsay boys, and that he was going to lead Smart's band. He did not want any mention of his arrival till the band was fully organized. The proposed band will negotiate for another leader, but they don't want one with a wife in Winnipeg.

The ladies of St. Paul's church will hold a social tea in the church school rooms this evening, to which new members of the church are invited.

Mr. J. A. McDonald, of Alexonte, second year's student in arts at Queen's College, Kingston, was in town to-day, on his way to Apsley where he will enter on mission work in connection with the Presbytery of Peterborough.

Mr. J. J. Daly, of Daly Bros., Grand Central hotel, went to Rochester this morning to attend the funeral of his nephew, son of Mr. P. J. Daly, formerly a resident of this county.

Edward O'Brien, of Hamilton, a gentleman with a flowing beard, attempted to force Mrs. McAuley off his place, Mrs. M. resented his impertinence, and grabbing him by the beard danced him round at a lively rate, until the handful of whiskers came out by the root. Then she had O'Brien arrested for assault, and fined $2 and costs.

St. John's Church Bazaar.

The bazaar conducted by the ladies of St. John's church, was opened to-day in the Opera House under very promising auspices. The fancy articles on sale are very fine and no doubt will sell well. The dinner given in connection with the bazaar to-day was well patronized.

If the ladies of Peterborough don't learn to bake it will not be for lack of instruction. In view of the adoption of the Scott Act, instructions in brewing may be expected to be added to baking.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 26th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, recently, two springless trusses made in York State, costing me $40. Being told your truss my Surgeon, I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it the rupture has never come down. It holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, GAFF. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken ten years to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work or severest attack. St. John's Church Bazaar.

The Opera House Converted into a Fancy Goods Store and Refreshment Booth.

The bazaar which the ladies of St. John's church have held in the Opera House during yesterday and to-day has been very successful, the patronage accorded it being liberal and substantial. The portion of the Opera House occupied by reserved seats having been cleared for the occasion, the ladies took possession. The room was bounded on the south and west by a large table or counter, called the "general table," on which were displayed all kinds of fancy goods, useful and ornamental articles, bric-a-brac, ladies' fine linen, etc., etc., the exponents of the skill and industry of the ladies of the church. This table was in charge of Mrs. Beak, Miss Cook, Miss Poole, Miss Beck, Mrs. Dr. Burnham, Mrs. E. Hammond and Mrs. Sherwood, who disposed of the articles with dispatch and in a manner satisfactory to all concerned. Many articles on this table were magnificent specimens of fancy work. A handsome five o'clock table, presented by Mrs. Sherwood, the draping of which was hand painted by Miss Tait, was much admired, as was also a beautifully worked table drape presented by Mrs. Sauer. Also a blue satin, hand painted ottoman cover presented by Miss Cooper, and a handsome satin apron, a contribution of Mrs. Chas. Ranney. Fine photographic interior and exterior views of St. John's Church graced the table, for which there was a good demand.

THE YOUNG LADIES' TABLE,

immediately under the stage, was the most conspicuous and attractive table in the house, except at meal times. On this were shown in great profusion, principally useful but all ornamental articles, crazy cradle quilts, little dolls for a cent and big ones for $10, dressed in the most stylish habiliments, pin cushions, slipper racks, brackets, needlework, and other mysterious things too numerous to mention. Among these was a handsome crazy quilt, the gift of Miss Killally, the designs on which would do credit to a Japanese artist, and also a pretty tea cosey of crazy work by the same lady; a beautifully painted placque by Miss Ward; a magnificently dressed, bouncing big doll by Miss Eastland; a three-storey cake by Miss Godred, on which was realized about $20; a handsome, hand painted bracket by Miss Clementi; a covered toilet set by Miss Stevens, and two fine floral oil paintings on glass by Mrs. D. Smith, besides hundreds of smaller articles. The young ladies who looked after the interests of this table were Miss Wallis, Miss Beck, Miss Clementi, Miss Killally, Miss Sherwood and Miss Halliday.

THE REFRESHMENT TABLES

were stationed under the gallery, and were exceptionally well patronized on both days, keeping Mrs. Durand, Mrs. J. E. Hammond, Mrs. Sadler, Miss Clementi and Miss Ferguson busy as could be. A cake bearing the compliments of Morrow, Tierney & Co. in raised icing, was given a conspicuous place on the table—for a time.

Owing to the unfavorable weather the purchases were not as large yesterday as they might have been, but to-day visitors were very numerous, while the sales were in proportion. This evening the broom drill by the young lady brigade will be repeated in connection with the bazaar. The price of admission will only be 10c. and all are invited to be present.

Creditable Workmanship.

Omission has been made of the mention of the fact that Mr. John Sargent, supplied and had carved the beautiful free stone dressing entering into the construction of St. Andrews Church. The work has been done in a highly creditable and artistic manner.

English Evergreens.

In the window of Mr. Geo. Matthews' meat store are placed two fine specimens of English evergreens. One plant is a variegated laurel and the other a vigorous holly bush, the attention of which Mr. Walter Barlow takes great pleasure in showing. Magnificent crisp curl, with striped eyes, glare at the bushes, probably exclaiming, "Ain't holly, you know, it reminds me of 'home,'" and forthwith drop into the shop to have a chat with Mr. Barlow.

GOULD'S WRITING.

FAC SIMILE OF HIS LETTER OF INSTRUCTIONS TO HOXIE.

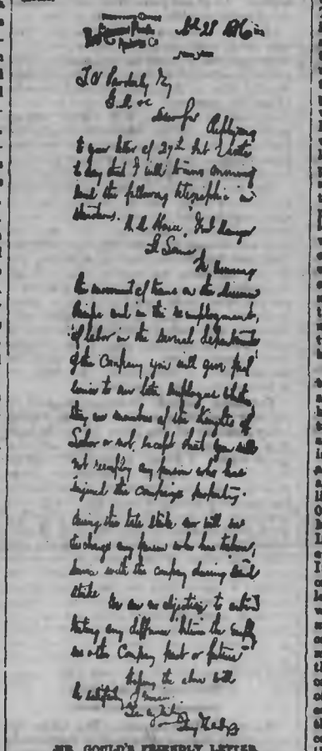
Gould and Powderly—Pressure Worthy Much Other's Stock, Although Powderly Seems Inclined to Spell it "Stock." Arbitrating Differences.

As specimens of plain English the recent letters that have passed between G. M. W. M. of L. Powderly and Jay Gould are worthy of note. The epistles are written in such a way, forcible English that it would have seem the greatest pity if they had not got into the newspapers. They are as well written, in fact, as if Gould and Powderly had been newspaper men, every bit. Such fine literary talent lying latent among business men like these two is a credit to the country. A Briton could not write such letters. He might be just as sound, and he undoubtedly would say quite as hard things, but he would go at it in a bulldog, matter-of-fact way. His language would be heavy, too. For neatly dissecting and polishing off his enemy, he could not hold a candle to the two opposing gentlemen whose minds supplanted to represent capital and labor.

It will be a pretty fight, they say. If it goes on, there are indications that it will be a broad one. Mr. Powderly would call it the battle between labor on the one hand and the Gould system of heaping up wealth on the other. It is not against capital, he declares, but against capital got by unjust means.

In the correspondence that has been published, Grand Master Powderly has the strongest convictions, while Gould is the mere adroit. In nothing does this overmatching wiliness appear more vividly than in Gould's first letter of directions to Vice-President Hoxie on settling the strike.

Those who would care to see a specimen of Mr. Gould's handwriting may be interested in glancing over the accompanying fac simile of that letter. Mr. Gould's chirography is very peculiar. It is cramped and little.



MR. GOULD'S FRIENDLY LETTER.

He signs the letter "Jay Gould. Pres't," thus giving it his official stamp. He sees no objection to arbitrating differences between the Missouri Pacific's company and its employes. On the strength of that, it was announced that employes would resume work, trains start running, and the whole enchanted palace of labor start into full activity again. The strike was ended, quoth the newspapers of Monday, March 29. Mr. Gould's letter was written the Sunday previous. That Monday the stock of the Gould southwestern roads went up several cents. First they boomed, then they dropped a little, then they went up again. His enemies say that the little financier cleared a good million on the strength of that friendly letter.

Then came another hitch. Vice-President Hoxie, out in St. Louis, would settle individual difficulties with striking employes, but he would have nothing to do in any shape or form with an official committee of the Knights of Labor. He drew the line there and was as granite in holding to it. Meeting a committee of the K. of L. wasn't his idea of "arbitrating differences." And when Mr. Gould's famous letter of instructions to Mr. Hoxie came to be strictly looked into, it was found to be no settlement of the difficulty at all. Mr. Hoxie was left free to do just as he had been doing before, and he has at no time since been informed by Mr. Gould that the president of the road "saw no objections" to his receiving a committee of the K. of L.

The strike was reopened, and then followed between Gould and Powderly the letters containing the forceful English one must admire. The question itself is one on whose merits it is extremely difficult for either an outsider or an insider to come to a decision. Powderly and Gould mutually throw the blame for the continuance of the strike upon each other. What the outcome will be who can tell? Through the present agreement inquiry will, it is hoped, settle the difficulty.

Mr. Gould's Liberality.

Shortly after the strike was settled Jay Gould visited Fernandina. His advent had been heralded, and the town was agog. The baggageman at the depot handled his multitude of trunks and valises with unwonted care. Mr. Gould personally superintended the operation. When it was completed he gracefully slipped a coin into the hand of the "manager." It felt just like a new $5 gold piece, and the onlookers observed a glance of joy on the functionary's face. For some moments the coin lay unexamined in the palm. Then Mr. Gould was gone, and the man was no longer restrained from feasting his eyes on his prize. He did so. It was a bright new nickel five cent piece.—N. Y. Tribune.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Matter Before the House.

Midland District Members Deliver Themselves on the Subject—Mr. E. H. Cook Talks Some Grant Things—Our Local Members Condemn the Government's Delay.

In the House of Commons on Wednesday, Mr. H. H. Cook, East Hastings, in moving for a copies of all papers having reference to the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, stated that the canal was originally projected as a means of getting cut lumber. Subsequently its construction was demanded bitterly the present Government had proceeded with it under the pretext of providing a new grain route, but CHIEFLY FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES.

In 1882, by means of a large vote towards the building of the canal, the Government carried nine constituencies along its route. It had nevertheless gone on very slowly with the work, and this year it only proposed $103,000 towards the undertaking. Surely if the Government honestly proposed to build the canal it would propose a larger vote than $103,000, particularly seeing that it had promised a deputation recently that it would give more. One of the Ministers had estimated the cost of construction at $3,000,000. This was an altogether outstanding estimate. The canal would cost at least $5,000,000. If the Government honestly intended to go on with the work, and if the canal was really practicable, the Government should face the music squarely and provide the capital to proceed with the work.

Mr. John Burnham, East Peterborough, regretted to hear the hon. gentleman cast doubts upon the practicability of the scheme. If the hon. gentleman had followed the matter he would have known that the whole question of feasibility had been enquired into, and that there was no doubt about it. The canal could not only be constructed, but it could be constructed at a comparatively small expense and at a great advantage to the country. Since the present Government took office it had applied itself to the matter and had tested the point whether at the height of land there was a sufficient supply of water for the canal. It had further so prosecuted the work that when the money voted for the building of locks was all expended, there would be completed a stretch of navigation of one hundred miles. (Hear, hear.) The canal was not, so the hon. gentleman hinted, a political enterprise. It was a work for the benefit of the locality and of the country generally. It would have advantages over the Welland canal, inasmuch as that from Midland it would afford a complete system of land-locked navigation to Montreal. There was no his mind no question as to the practicability of the scheme and he was surprised that the member for East Simcoe should even hint that there was a doubt on that point. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Hilliard said it was to be deplored that the member for East Simcoe should have spoken so coldly of the undertaking and that he should have thrown doubts upon its practicability. The hon. gentleman before speaking on such a matter should have fully informed himself regarding it. It was also a matter for regret that he should have exaggerated the cost of the enterprise to Parliament. He had placed the expense at $5,000,000, when he should have known that Mr. Stark placed it at less than $3,000,000. If the canal, however, should cost five, or even nine millions, it would be a cheap work. It was to be remembered that, after all, the canal to be built was not of such a tremendous length. Large stretches of navigable water waters were already there and the Government had only, in order to form a complete canal, to build something less than sixty miles of waterway. It was quite true that the estimates this year contained a vote of only $103,000 for the work. As a matter of fact though, this sum was placed in the estimates before the deputation about which the member for East Simcoe had spoken came down to ask for a larger vote. He (Mr. Hilliard) had every hope that when the supplementary estimates came down a larger vote would be proposed.

Mr. Cockburn said at the present rate of progress the Trent Valley canal would not be constructed this century. Instead of a small sum annually placed in the estimates for this work, he would be glad to see one million spent every year.

Mr. Robertson (West Hastings) said he looked upon the Trent Valley navigation scheme as second only to the Canadian Pacific railway. He dissented strongly from the opinion expressed by the member for Simcoe (Mr. Cook) that the Government only voted money towards its construction for political purposes. He believed the Government was in earnest and sincere in its desire to push the construction of the canal. He hoped to see an increased sum placed in the estimates this year for the construction of the work, and thought something should be done in West Hastings, where no money had as yet been spent.

Mr. Pope said he thought the deputation which came to Ottawa was satisfied that the Government was really in earnest with regard to this canal, but it was explained to them that there were very heavy works on hand or just being completed, and the Government was not in a position to put large sums of money in the estimates for new works until the country had taken a rest. During the progress of the work large sums of money had been appropriated for other undertakings, such as the Welland canal, and under these circumstances the Government would not be expected to go much faster than it had.

Mr. Blake asked if the Government had an estimate of the cost of this work.

Mr. Pope replied that he had two or three estimates, but he did not know whether they covered the entire works. They would be laid on the table.

The motion passed.

The Irish Problem.

London, April 29.—Mr. R. J. Mundella, speaking at Sheffield, said that Mr. Gladstone's proposals were the result of calculation based upon experience of the wisdom of daring to do right in spite of possible, or even probable public indignation. The refusal of self-government to Ireland was fatal to safety to Great Britain. Had the demand been granted, America would to-day be under the British flag.

The Eastern Question.

London, April 29.—The Powers in view of the willingness of Greece to submit to the wishes of Europe, have decided to withdraw the combined fleet to retire from Greek waters.

"EASTERTIDE."

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S EASTER MORNING SERMON.

I Corinthians, XV, 20: "Now is Christ Risen From the Dead, and Become the First Fruits of Them That Slept."

BROOKLYN, April 25.—The Brooklyn Tabernacle was elaborately decorated to-day, both in platform and galleries. Within the church a scene of rare beauty was presented the platform being covered with flowers arranged in various devices and breathing forth a delicate aroma. The building was so crowded that the doors were held open by the pressure, and many persons were turned away, being unable to get farther than the iron gates on the street. In addition to the usual artistes of the church, Mrs. Florence Rice-Knox sang twice. The opening hymn, in which 5,000 voices joined, was:

We praise Thee, O God, for the Son of Thy love,
For Jesus who died and is now gone above.

The subject of the sermon was "Eastertide." Dr. Talmage took his text from I. Corinthians xv, 20: "Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." He spoke as follows:

On this glorious Easter morning, amid the music and the flowers, I give you Christian salutation. This morning, Russian meeting Russian on the streets of St. Petersburg, hails him with the salutation, "Christ is risen," and is answered by his friend in salutation, "He is risen indeed." In some parts of England and Ireland, to this very day, there is the superstition that on Easter morning the sun dances in the heavens, and well may we forgive such a superstition, which illustrates the fact that the natural world seems to sympathize with the spiritual.

Hail! Easter morning. Flowers! flowers! All of them a voice, all of them a tongue, all of them full of speech to-day. I bend over one of the lilies, and I hear it say, "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as one of these." I bend over a rose, and it seems to whisper, "I am the rose of Sharon." And then I stand and listen. From all sides there comes the chorus of flowers saying, "If God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith!"

Flowers! flowers! Braid them into the bride's hair. Flowers! flowers! Strew them over the graves of the dead, sweet prophesy of the resurrection. Flowers! flowers! Twist them into a garland for my Lord Jesus on Easter morning. "Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Ghost; as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be."

Why, if a rainbow this morning had fallen and struck the galleries and struck the platform, the scene could not have been more radiant. Oh! how bright and how beautiful the flowers, and how much they make me think of Christ and his religion, that brightens everything it touches, brightens our life, brightens our character, brightens society, brightens the church, brightens everything. You who go with gloomy countenance, pretending you are better than I am because of your lugubriousness, you cannot cheat me. You old hypocrite! I know you. Pretty case you are for a man that professes to be more than conqueror. It is not religion that makes you gloomy, it is the lack of it. There is just as much religion in a wedding as in a burial, just as much religion in a smile as in a tear. Those gloomy Christians we sometimes see are the people to whom I like to lend money, for I never see them again. The women came to the Saviour's tomb and they dropped spices all around the tomb, and those spices were the seed that began to grow, and from them came all the flowers of this Easter morn. The two angels robed in white took hold of the stone at the Saviour's tomb and they hurled it with such force down the hill that it crushed in the door of the world's sepulcher, and the dark and the dead must come forth.

I care not how labyrinthe the mausoleums, or how costly the sarcophagus, or however beautifully parterred the family grounds, we want them all broken up by the Lord of the resurrection. They must come out. Father and mother—they must come out. Husband and wife—they must come out. Brother and sister—they must come out. Our darling children—they must come out. The eyes that we close with such trembling fingers must open again in the radiance of that morn. The arms we folded in dust must join ours in an embrace of reunion. The voice that was hushed in our dwelling must be returned. O, how long some of you seem to be waiting—waiting for the resurrection, waiting! And for those broken hearts to-day I make a soft, cool bandage out of Easter flowers.

Six years ago, the night before Easter, I received an Easter card on which there was a representation of that exquisite flower, the trumpet creeper, and under it the words: "The trumpet shall sound and the dead shall rise." There was especial reason why at that time I should have that card sent me, and I present the same consolation to-day to all in this house; and who has escaped?

My friends, this morning I find in the risen Christ a prophesy of our own resurrection, my text setting forth the idea that as Christ has risen so His people will rise. He the first sheaf of the resurrection harvest; He "the first fruits of them that slept." Before I get through this morning I will walk through all the cemeteries of the dead, through as the country graveyards where your loved ones are buried, and I will plant all those flowers and I will drop a sweet memory of the gospel—a rose of hope, a lily of joy on every tomb—the child's tomb, the husband's tomb, the wife's tomb, the father's grave, the mother's grave; and while we celebrate the resurrection of Christ we will at the same time celebrate the resurrection of all the good. "Christ the first fruits of them that slept."

If I should come to you this morning and ask you for the names of the great conquerors of the world, you would say Alexander, Philip, Cæsar, Napoleon I. Ah, my friends, you have forgotten to mention the name of a greater conqueror than all these—a cruel, a ghastly conqueror. He rode on a black horse across Waterloo, Atlanta and Chalons, the bloody hoofs crushing the hearts of nations. It is the conqueror Death. He carries a black flag and he takes no prisoners. He digs a trench across the hemispheres and fills it with the carcasses of nations. Fifty times would the world have been depopulated had not God kept making new generations. Fifty times the world would have swung lifeless through the air—no man on the mountain, no man on the sea, an abandoned ship plowing through immensity.

Again and again has he done this work with all generations. He is a monarch as well as a conqueror; his palace a sepulcher, his fountains the falling tears of a world. Blessed be God, in the light of this Easter morning I see the prophecy that his sceptre shall be broken and his palace shall be demolished! The hour is coming when all who are in their graves shall come forth. Christ risen, we shall rise. Jesus "the first fruits of them that slept."

Now, around this doctrine of the resurrection there are a great many mysteries. You come to me this morning and say: "If the bodies of the dead are to be raised how is this and how is that?" and you ask me a thousand questions I am incompetent to answer; but there are a great many things you believe that you are not able to explain. You would be a very foolish man to say: "I won't believe anything I can't understand." Why, putting down one kind of flower seed, comes there up this flower of this color! Why, putting down another flower seed, comes there up a flower of this color!—one flower white, another flower yellow another flower crimson. Why the difference when the seeds look to be very much alike—are very much alike! Explain these things. Explain that wart on the finger. Explain the difference why the oak leaf is different from the leaf of the hickory. Tell me how the Lord Almighty can turn the chariot of His omnipotence on a rose leaf. You ask me questions about the resurrection I cannot answer. I will ask you a thousand questions about every day life you cannot answer.

I find my strength in this passage: "All who are in their graves shall come forth." I do not pretend to make the explanation. You go on and say: "Suppose a returned missionary dies in Brooklyn; when he was in China his foot was amputated; he lived years after in England; he is buried to-day in Greenwood; in the resurrection will the foot come from China and will the different parts of the body be reconstructed in the resurrection? How is that possible?"

You say that the human body changes every seven years, and by seventy years of age a man has had ten bodies, in the resurrection which will come up? You say: "A man will die and his body crumble into the dust, and that dust be taken up into the life of the vegetable; an animal may eat the vegetable, men eat the animal; in the resurrection, that body distributed in so many directions, how shall it be gathered up?" Have you any more questions of this style to ask? Come in and ask them. I do not pretend to answer them. I fall back upon the announcement of God's word: "All who are in their graves shall come forth."

You have noticed, I suppose, in reading the story of the resurrection, that almost every account of the Bible gives the idea that the characteristic of that day will be a great sound. I do not know that it will be very loud, but I know it will be very penetrating. In the mausoleum where silence has reigned a thousand years that voice must penetrate. In the coral cave of the deep that voice must penetrate. Millions of spirits will come through the gates of eternity, and they will come to the tombs of the earth and they will cry: "Give us back our bodies; we gave them to you in corruption, surrender them now in incorruption." Hundreds of spirits hovering about the crags of Gettysburg, for there the bodies are buried. A hundred thousand spirits coming to Greenwood, for there the bodies are buried, waiting for the reunion of body and soul.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "MAUD EVELYN," "A ROSE IN CHANCERY," ETC.

"Of course," she went on, "I can easily imagine a poor ennobled by work."

"Can you not fancy a poor man ennobled in the same fashion Lady Lilias?"

"No," she replied frankly; work and poverty must go together; they are inseparable companions. Why, where is papa, Mr. Vibart?"

Lord Audley was at some little distance. He waved his hand to Lady Lilias, indicating that he was going over the next hill.

Vane and Lady Lilias walked on slowly together, the lovely sunlight round them, and the song of the birds in their ears.—Suddenly, sitting on a green bank where the wild flowers made a brilliant carpet, they saw a poor, wretched woman holding a little child in her arms. Naturally enough, Vane Vibart expected the "proudest girl in England" to pass by haughtily, and to draw aside the sweeping folds of her dress, lest they should touch the ragged miserable creature near her. He thought she would not even see such a spectacle. He would not have been surprised had she complained of having to breathe the same air. But she stopped. A light such as he had never seen before came over her face, making it inexpressibly beautiful, and the music of sweetest compassion came into her voice. The haughty girl who had refused to smile upon princes, who had rejected some of the noblest men in the land, whose name was a proverb for pride, leaned over the wretched woman, and spoke to her as he had not imagined she could speak.

A feeble pitiful moaning came from the child.

"You have a baby there," said Lady Lilias gently. "Is it ill?"

"It is dying," was the reply in a tone so utterly hopeless and despairing that Vane's heart was touched.

Then the white hands she had not deigned to hold out in courteous greeting to him put aside the torn, worn shawl, and touched with kindly pity the dying baby's face.

"Is it dying," she said.

"Ah, and of want, my lady," said the mother, with woeful, hungry eyes—of want—so little, so helpless, and starved!"

Greater was his wonder when she took the dying child, a mass of rags from the mother's arms.

"You cannot hold the baby," she said.

"No; I am dying of hunger myself," answered the woman. "Oh, my lady, give her back to me! We will die together; the sun is warm and the grass is soft. Let us die."

"You shall not die if care can keep you alive," replied Lady Lilias.

Vane saw—ah, wonder of wonders!—tears fall from her eyes upon the little dying face.

"I will not ask who you are, and what brought you here, she said. "You must have food and sleep first; afterwards we will see what can be done. Nay, do not cry. Poor soul! Poor soul!"

The woman wept bitterly, and Lady Lilias stood by, waiting with patience until the paroxysm of grief had exhausted itself. Vane thought he had never seen so lovely a picture in his life as this fair patrician girl, in her dainty dress, bending over the mother and child.

"Mr. Vibart," she said, "we left the carriage down the hill there. Would you be kind enough to tell John to drive as near here as he can."

He obeyed, lost in wonder. Then she, still holding the child in her arms, and followed by her mother, walked to the high road, where the carriage awaited them.—He heard her say to the coachman—

"John, drive as quickly as you can to Ulverscroft. Convey this poor woman and her child to the Audley Arms; and tell Mrs. Manners, the landlady, that Lady Lilias Audley begs that she will take the poor creature in, that she will give her all that she requires, make her quite comfortable, spare no expense, and call in a doctor to the child. Tell her I will drive over to-morrow to see how they are going on."

The coachman was evidently accustomed to such things for he merely touched his hat and said—

"I quite understand, my lady."

Vane helped the woman in, and Lady Lilias laid the little one in her arms.

"Hope for the best," she said. "Good care may restore the baby. Dry your tears, and look at the beautiful sunshine, and thank Heaven that you have found a friend."

The woman's tears fell like rain as she was driven quickly out of sight.

"Ah me," said the sweet voice, "what sorrow there is in the world! I shall never forget how strange that little white face looked in the lovely sunlight.

They walked back in silence to the bank of the river, to where the sun gleamed on the waters. Vane was too much astonished to speak. They had walked on the soft green turf for some few minutes when, with a flush on her rose-leaf face, she said—

"Would you tell me, Mr. Vibart, why you look at me with such an expression of wonder?"

"I was not aware of it, Lady Lilias," he replied.

"But why is it?" she persisted. "You look at me as though I were some strange being from another world. Why is it?"

He answered her in spite of himself, in spite of his better judgment; he was impelled by her earnest face and manner.

"Since I have been at Ulverscroft," he said, "I have often heard you called the proudest girl in England—pray forgive me Lady Lilias, for telling you as much."

The ripple of a smile passed over her face.

"I know people give me that name," she said, "and I think that perhaps in some measure I deserve it."

"And yet you carried the dying child of a beggar in your arms, and spoke to that poor woman more sweetly than I have heard you speak before. How can you be proud if you can do that?"

"I cannot see that it has anything to do with pride," she answered calmly—"at least with my kind of pride. On the contrary, I should think myself wanting in pride if I were to show disdain towards any poor person or dependant."

"Then why do people call you proud?" he asked.

"Have you not found that out for yourself, Mr. Vibart?" she said with imperious grace.

"No, indeed. I thought pride implied disdain for everything and every one inferior."

"That is ignoble pride, Mr. Vibart—that is the pride of the parvenue; and I detest it. There is a certain pride born with a noble name, rejoicing in noble race and lineage, a pride that disdains and tramples under feet all things ignoble and mean, that scorns all that is base and low, a pride that rises above the paltrinees of gossip and scandal—with that pride I thank Heaven, my veins are filled."

There was a ring of passion in her voice and a flush on her face.

"People did me proud when I refuse to listen to tittle-tattle and gossip, proud when I refuse to tolerate the society of ill-bred or vulgar people, proud when I decline to listen to what I know is untrue, and when I decline, to hear the character of my friends and neighbors travestied. They say even that I am too proud to flirt—which I am thankful is true. They say that I am too proud ever to love or marry—which——"

She stopped abruptly, as though it had only just occurred to her that she was speaking very freely to a stranger.

"Do you understand me?" she asked impetuously; and he answered—

"Yes—alas for me! only too well."

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

St. Paul's Social.

One of the most successful social events in the history of St. Paul's Church watched in the Sunday School room yesterday evening. By invitation of the ladies of the church, the office bearers, the members of the church, especially the new ones, and the members of the Bible Class met for a social tea and chat. The large room was crowded and the utmost sociability prevailed during the evening. A large table was spread with tempting edibles, which received the attention of as many as could be seated, while every class room also contained a small pic-nic party, intent on enjoying themselves. After tea a general making of acquaintances and social conversation took place. The young ladies who take an active interest in church work, and of which St. Paul's seems to have an unusually large number, led by the elderly ladies, busied themselves in seeing that every person was properly entertained, but especially the young men. Rev. Mr. Torrance, pastor, presided, and was most enthusiastic in his endeavours to entertain and with marked success. Several of the office-bearers of the church were called on, who gave short addresses. The choir, under the leadership of Prof. Parker, at intervals contributed musical selections. After a vote of thanks had been tendered to the ladies for the entertainment provided, the meeting was dismissed after singing the doxology, Rev. Mr. Torrance pronouncing the benediction.

The Twin Sites Trouble.

The following appears in the Globe's Ottawa correspondence:—"The Peterborough postoffice difficulty is still giving the Government a great deal of trouble. Sir Hector Langevin's announcement that he intended to build the postoffice on the Sawers lot, and the custom house on the Phelan lot, has brought to Ottawa Mr. Edward Phelan, the former owner of the last named property, who produces documents showing that the Government and Mr. Hilliard, M. P., have broken faith with him and with those who requested that the public building should be erected on his lot. The deed from Mr. Phelan to the Government transferring the ownership of his property expressly stipulated that the postoffice was to be built upon it. Upon that condition he sold the lot at a much lower price than he otherwise would; and if the Government do not carry out their agreement, he will commence an action for damages. By unfortunately buying two lots and put up two buildings when only one lot and one building were necessary, the Government tried to please all their Peterborough supporters, but their trickery and double dealing have only created new difficulties for them. Mr. Phelan saw Sir John to-day in reference to the matter, but all the Premier would say to him was that the postoffice was going to be built on the Sawers lot. Mass dep last week the Government sent an agent to Mr. Phelan to ask if he would allow the Custom House building to be erected on his lot. He refused, saying that the property had been sold by him for a postoffice site, and that it should be put to no other use.

Missionary Movements.

Andrew G. Smith, of Norwood, left town this morning for Victoria, B. C., by C. P. R. and [illegible], via Chicago. Mr. Alex. Hilliard, M. P. P., visited Apsley, and addressed the people there.

Important Sale.

A sale of ladies' and children's wear will be held on Monday, 3rd of May, in the school room of St. Andrew's Church, from 2 to 5 o'clock. No charge for admission to sale. All are cordially invited.

Waste No Time.

The Directors of the West Riding Agricultural Society who meet to-morrow morning, are reminded that if any action is to be taken with regard to planting trees in and around the grounds, it will need to be done promptly if done this year.

Selvarens on Temperance.

On Tuesday, May 4th, Mr. Ferdinand Selvarens will deliver a lecture entitled, "The Five Steps of a Drunkard," in Bradburn's Opera House. Admission free, but a silver collection, to which all friends of the temperance cause are expected to contribute, will be taken.

Live Agriculturists.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Central Agricultural and Live Stock Association at Cobourg, a Board of 40 Directors was appointed. The association has been incorporated with a capital stock of $12,000, divided into 1,200 shares. Wouldn't something like this exhibition of enterprise and push commend itself to the members of the West Riding Society. It would not be difficult to organize an association here with a capital of $20,000.

Will Abide by the Law.

A largely attended meeting of the local hotelkeepers and liquor dealers was held in the Grand Central last night, to consider what action should be taken with regard to the Scott Act. Mr. J. O'Meara was present to advise on points of law. After considerable discussion it was decided by a vote of 16 to 4, to abide by the law, and all hotel and saloon bars and liquor stores will be closed to-morrow. Several hotel men were in favour of contributing a fund of $5,775, the amount contributed in licenses last year, to fight the act. The hope that the Government will pass the proposed "wine and beer" clause amendment to the act keeps the hotel men's spirits up. Many proprietors of hotels have large stocks of liquors on hand. One unfortunate wanted to know what he would do with eight hogsheads of beer he had in his cellar. The learned counsel employed offered no suggestion, as the law is not concise on this point. A fee of 15c. will be charged for yard use at all hotels, and 25c. for stabling.

Police Court.

T. McNamara, T. Ritchie, John Wilson and J. Heffernan were this morning before Police Magistrate Dumble, charged by P. C. McGinty with having committed a breach of the peace on Tuesday night last. The prisoners pleaded not guilty.

Geo. Ball was sworn and stated that he did not see the prisoners quarrelling.

Michael Dunn testified that on the night in question he saw the prisoners scuffling in front of Chamberlain's restaurant. He thought that T. McNamara and Heffernan were fighting and went to separate them. They said they were only scuffling. He saw the window in the premises occupied by the "Little World" broken, but did not know which one of the party did it. Wilson had taken no part in the row.

P. C. McGinty heard the prisoners making a noise in front of Chamberlain's restaurant on the night in question. When he approached the noise ceased and the crowd moved on. Ritchie was swearing.

John Wilson, one of the accused, was sworn. He did not know who had broken the window. He nor Ritchie had not been engaged in the scuffle. He did not hear any swearing.

Other witnesses were called but did not appear.

The magistrate adjourned the case till to-morrow morning.

Bailliieboro.

SPRING SHOW.

The second annual exhibit of stallions and mares, under the auspices of the Bailliieboro Central Agricultural Society, was held at Bailliieboro yesterday. The exhibit was well attended, and some 23 very valuable horses were entered and competed for prizes. Good judges ventured the opinion that a better class of horses could not be got together in any portion of Ontario, east of Toronto. Many of these horses will be at the Peterborough spring show on Saturday. The following gentlemen acted as judges and awarded the prizes as below: Messrs. Bryan Boshill, James Flesher, Andrew King.

Hastings jurymen come out in an original role. At the Belleville Assizes the jury, in the libel suit of Wills vs. Ontario, found the Ontario guilty of libel, but averred that the plaintiff had sustained no damage.

The new blanket for "Fanny B.," Daly Bros.' trotter, was not made in Hamilton, but by Mr. B. Shortly. The one received from Hamilton was sent back.

Innumerable complaints come from every part of the town of the manner in which cows are allowed to roam at large, destroying boulevards, shade trees, etc. Let the Council take action at once.

The electric light first blazed forth in the new St. Andrew's last night. The gorgeous effect of the light piercing the stained glass windows attracted general attention and admiration.

The Annual Meeting—Officers Appointed for the Ensuing Year.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Rifle Association was held in the drill shed on Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance of enthusiastic members, who expressed their determination to hone the practices during the coming season. Col. H. C. Rogers presided.

After routine the

for the current year took place, which resulted as follows:—

PRESIDENT—Colonel H. C. Rogers, re-elected.

1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Rev. V. Clementi.

2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Col. J. Z. Rogers.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—Major R. W. Bell, re-elected.

COUNCIL—Messrs. W. H. Hill, D. Cameron, and D. Bellegham.

It was unanimously decided to affiliate with the Ontario Rifle Association.

The Council was authorized to take immediate steps to have the range put in suitable condition for practice, which will commence the 6th of May and continue during the summer months.

The reports submitted showed that the Association is in a very prosperous condition, having a considerable surplus on hand and a large membership.

NOTE.—Had the meeting been announced in the papers no doubt it would have been more largely attended and the interest in the Association correspondingly increased.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

In yesterday's issue we gave a report of the proceedings in parliament in reference to the Trent Valley canal. It will have been observed that Mr. Cook, (a Reformer) of East Simcoe laid bare the motives that had contributed to the dilatory attitude of the Government towards this important enterprise. His assertion that the Government was using the scheme for political purposes is nothing new; it has been so plainly apparent that it could not help but be seen. The representatives of the East and West Ridings of Peterborough, had not a word of reproof for the shameful delay in connection with the prosecution of the work, for which the Government is responsible, and while they sought to excuse the government and to break the force of Mr. Cook's accusation of political motives, they only confirmed his contention. According to these gentlemen the project is a feasible one, and the canal could be constructed at a small expense, much less than that required to suppress the Northwest Rebellion. Accepting the statements of these gentlemen, there is no excuse for the delay that has taken place, especially when the Government professes to be committed to the work. What is the recent history of the work, and how has the Government shown its intention to complete it? Before the general elections of 1882, Sir Charles Tupper, at that time Minister of Railways and Canals, went over the route, approved of it and officially promised that the work should be vigorously prosecuted. This was a good electioneering dodge and it had its effect in nine constituencies. How has this promise been redeemed? Since that time the fabulous sum of $481,000 has been appropriated and $280,000, or an average of $70,000 per year, expended on a work variously computed to cost from three to nine millions of dollars. Taking a mean sum between these two figures; at the rate at which work has gone on during the past four years, it will take eighty years to complete the Trent Valley Canal. Does this look like an earnest, honest intention to go on with the enterprise? Does it not, rather, look like keeping it as a political preserve? This latter view is confirmed by the activity with which local Tory political agents are booming the work on the eve of another general election.

Now Mr. Pope gives as an excuse that there is no money, and that the Government cannot undertake any large expenditure till the country has "taken a rest." But, under the present Government of extravagance, there is no prospect of the country getting "a rest." Then, if money is needed, there is the twenty millions loan, which it is asserted the C. P. R. Company is paying back, (by the Government buying back the land grant at $1.50 per acre!) Why not use that, or a portion of it. A new burden of taxation has been imposed this season. Is none of that available, or is it all pre-empted by past extravagance and waste? Mr. Robertson, of West Hastings, you may "dissent strongly from the opinion that the Government votes money to the T. V. C. for political purposes," but if you want to be believed disseminate your opinions among the marines.

Personal.

Messrs. O. Bennett, J. Miller and G. J. Smith, Peterborough boys who passed the recent arts examinations at Queen's College, with so much credit, have returned to town.

Mr. N. A. Dane, freight and passenger agent of the Atchiston, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, and G. D. Maxfield, travelling agent for the same line, were in town last night.

Mr. A. T. Smith, formerly manager of the telephone office here, and lately in charge of the Halifax agency, who is in town visiting friends, gave us a call yesterday. He will leave for Kingston in a few days, to take charge of the city agency.

Mr. W. Simpson is now at Starreon Point looking after the re-arrangement of the hotel preparatory to opening the summer resort for the season. Mr. Fred Graham, of Peterborough, will preside over the office.

It is stated that Mr. Wm. Gooderham, of Toronto, well known in town, will accompany Salvation Army Marshall Ballington Booth on his return to England on May 6th.

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS.

ILLUSTRATIONS SHOWING THEIR TREATMENT IN PENNSYLVANIA.

A Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic and Governor Pattison Find Several Dotheboys Halls—A Lesson to Other States.

HARRISBURG, April 28.—Such stories as the recent revelations about soldiers' orphans' homes in Pennsylvania may well make one doubt whether the world is civilized. In truth, it is not civilized, if the greed of people is taken into account. Pennsylvania soldiers and ex-soldiers have been going to their last rest in the belief that their state had provided ample means for the care and education of the children they left behind. So the state did, but the wretches to whose care they have been intrusted have proved to be no less than monsters in the avarice with which they robbed the orphans.

THE SCHOOL GREASER.

In the concern at Mt. Joy the children were horrible with running sores and vermin. This came from filth and neglect. One large boy was called "the school greaser." He went about with three kinds of salve, one for sore heads, another for body sores, and the third for what he called "the each." He went from child to child painting with these.

Squears' Dotheboys Hall yet exists in America as really as it ever did in England when Dickens wrote "Nicholas Nickleby."

Governor Pattison has been personally investigating the soldiers' orphans' schools. He pounced upon them unawares, hence the revolting revelations he has made to the attorney general. In Pennsylvania these schools are connected with the public school system. The state pays $150 to $115 for the keeping of each child. Certain persons contract to keep and provide for them for that sum, and they are handed over to them. It is the foul contract system that has tortured the innocents.

HOW THEY SLEEP.

Four men opened and managed four of the schools. They made an enormous per cent. by robbing the orphans. They deprived them of clothing and skimped them on food and lodging, and themselves kept all the money not necessary to hold the breath of life in the young ones. In many cases the children had no undergarments at all on in the cold winter weather. The excuse for this was the shameful one that "the state specifications did not require underclothing. Numbers of the helpless little ones, elsewhere than at Mt. Joy, were swarming with vermin.

There are eighteen of the schools, attended by 2,000 children. That they are under the supervision of the state superintendent of public instruction is the most stunning fact of all. No less shocking is the discovery that of the regular salaried inspectors of these enormities one was a woman; the other a man who hitched the word "reverend" to his name. What kind of womanhood, what kind of religion is that?

WHERE THEY BATHED.

When the unfortunates at Mt. Joy bathed it was in an old pickle tub, as you see in the picture. There was one clean towel a day to forty of them. The children did their own washing, ironing and baking when they had any done. A foul smelling, nasty boiler room, with moldy walls, to which the sun never penetrated, was called their "play room." Poor things! What brutes mankind are anyhow!

SARAH KING

Police Court.

The hearing of the charge against John Wilson, T. Ritchie, F. Taggart, J. Heffernan and T. McNamara, for creating a disturbance on George street on the 27th ult., adjourned from yesterday, was resumed before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning.

Thos. Brenton testified that he had seen the prisoners scuffling.

Chas. Beavis and Peter O'Neil also testified that the prisoners had been making a noise, scuffling and broke a window. Several of them had been drinking. It was not shown who broke the window.

All the parties earnestly pleaded their innocence.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $1 and costs on each of the parties.

Edward Courtney appeared before the magistrate, charged by Arthur Retherford, with the larceny of 125 feet of lumber. Mr. Courtney pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the magistrate. After hearing the evidence the magistrate dismissed the charge.

Spring Show.

A Splendid Exhibit of Stallions and Bulls
—A Hard Task for Experienced Judges
—The Show a Decided Success.

The spring exhibition of stallions and bulls in the agricultural grounds to-day, under the auspices of the West Riding Agricultural Society, was one of the most successful ever held by the Society. The number of animals, both stallions and bulls, exhibited exceeded that of any previous years, and the competent judges are unanimous in stating that they are also the finest lot ever exhibited in town, and it would be hard to find a better lot. Farmers are alive to the fact that the best stock pays the best, and therefore will employ only first-class animals for breeding purposes. In horses the powerfully built heavy draught stallions, imported and Canadian bred Clydes, dappled grey Percherons, and heavy English dray horses, besides beautifully proportioned agricultural or general purpose horses and fleet spirited and powerful roadsters, all resplendent with gaily colored ribbons, arched their glossy necks and pranced to the fair to disputes for prizes, making up a collection that delighted the eye of lovers of horse-flesh.

The bulls were also a fine lot of thoroughbred animals, including excellent specimens of the best beef and dairying breeds.

The attendance at the grounds was large, notwithstanding the fact that many farmers are busy at their spring work.

The system of appointing only two judges, one for horses and one for bulls, proved so satisfactory last year that it was again adopted this year, Mr. W. Keary, V. S., of Lindsay, judging the horses, and Mr. C. Snell, of Edmonton, a famous stock breeder, for bulls.

Inspectors and Commissioners.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane of Lakefield has been appointed by the Ontario Government Inspector of licenses under the Crooks Act and Messrs. Robert Graham, Lakefield, Robert Walton and T. Dolan, town, commissioners for the West Riding license district. For the East Riding district, Mr. Wm. Darling, Dummer has been appointed Inspector and Messrs. James Drummond, Otonabee, Wm. Meher, Deere, and Robert Wilson, Norwood, have been appointed Commissioners.

Double Distilled Liquor.

A local dentist, who, yesterday, wisely laid in a stock of liquid for hardening the gums, found to his sorrow this morning that it had all leaked out of the jar in which it had been placed. The liquor found its way through the floor and trickled down into the shop below, the proprietor of which, with a great deal of foresight, placed a pan in position and collected the drippings. This morning the small boy of the shop, not caring to be fined for keeping the liquor in stock, emptied it out in the back yard. The dentist says he will enter an action, under the provisions of the Scott Act, against the party who sold him the defective jug.

Market Items.

The market this morning was all alive with business. Produce of all kinds was offered in large quantities. The butter and egg market was not confined to the room alone, the benches along each side of the building being lined with parties having their particles for sale. Prices were as follows:—butter, in prints, 18 c. to 23 c., eggs, for shipment 10 c., for local consumption, 11c, chickens, 60 c. to 75 c., turkeys, 75 c. to $1.25, veal and lamb, 6 to 7 c., apples, 75 c. to $1 per bag, potatoes, 60 c. per bag, rhubard, onions, lettuce, etc., 5 c. per bunch, maple syrup, $1 per gallon, hay $16 to $12 per ton. Small porkers at from $2.50 to $3.00 each, were numerous. Fruit trees in large quantities were offered.

Mr. C. G. Cody, general agent for A. Harris, Son & Co., of Brantford, and Mr. Henry Owens, local agent, gave an exhibition of the working of the Light Brantford Steel Binder on the market this morning.

Mr. J. Beattie, general agent for the Maxwell Binder, and Messrs. Jas. Galvin and Jas. Fowler, local agents, also exhibited their machine.

A $40,000 Fire at Lindsay.

The Scugog Paper Mills, a Recent Addition to Lindsay's Manufactures, Burned to the Ground.

(By Telephone to the EXAMINER.)

The Scugog Paper Mills at Lindsay, recently set in motion after lying idle for years, were totally destroyed by fire last night. The fire was first noticed about 3 o'clock, and in a few minutes the whole building, a frame one, was consumed. The fire alarm was sounded, but had the place been in need of the water works it would have been almost impossible to save it, so rapidly did the fire do its work. The fire originated in the third story, where a man who was working, left a lighted lamp while he went down stairs. The lamp exploded, throwing the lighted oil on the stock of rags and cedar bark, used in the manufacture of paper, which ignited like tinder, and before assistance could be summoned the whole place was in flames and beyond control.

The very valuable plant of machinery together with the stock were ruined. Two immense boilers which supply steam for a 150 horse power engine were prevented from exploding by the falling of a heavy beam, which broke the connecting pipe allowing the steam to escape.

The mill commenced operations about a month ago and was making about four tons of building paper every 24 hours. The loss is over $40,000 with $20,000 insurance.

Philadelphia has over 2,000 girls in the Knights of Labor; New York, 1,500; New England, 6,000 to 7,000; Texas, 7,000; and Washington, D. C., has several hundred. There are several in the order in Toronto at the present time.

"EASTERTIDE."

REV. DR. TALMAGE'S EASTER MORNING SERMON.

(Concluded from yesterday.)

All along the sea route from New York to Liverpool, at every few miles where a steamer went down, departed spirits coming back hovering over the wave. There is where the City of Boston perished. Found at last. There is where the President perished. Steamer found at last. There is where the Central America went down. Spirits hovering, hundreds of spirits hovering, waiting for the reunion of body and soul. Out on the prairie a spirit alights. There is where a traveler died in the snow. Crash goes Westminster Abbey and the poets and orators come forth. Wonderful mingling of good and bad. Wilberforce, the good; Queen Elizabeth, the bad. Crash go the pyramids of Egypt and the monarchs come forth.

Who can sketch the scene? I suppose that one moment before that general rising there will be an eternal silence save as you hear the grinding of a wheel, or the clatter of the hoofs of a procession passing into the cemetery. Silence in all the caves of the earth. Silence on the side of the mountain. Silence down in the valleys and far out into the sea. Silence. But in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, as the archangel's trumpet comes pealing, rolling, crushing across the mountain and sea, the earth will give one terrific shudder and the graves of the dead will heave like the waves of the sea, and Ostend and Sebastopol and Chalons will stalk forth in the lurid air, and the drowned will come up and wring out their wet locks above the billow, and all the land and all the sea become one moving mass of life—all faces, all ages and conditions gazing in one direction and upon one throne, the throne of resurrection. "All who are in their graves shall come forth."

"But," you say, "if this doctrine of the resurrection is true, as prefigured by this Easter morning—Christ the 'first fruits of them that slept,' Christ rising, a promise and a prophecy of the rising of all His people—can you tell us something about the resurrected body?" I can. There are mysteries about that, but I shall tell you three or four things in regard to the resurrected body that are beyond guessing an' beyond mistake.

In the first place, I remark in regard to your resurrected body, it will be a glorious body. The body we have now is a mere skeleton of what it would have been if sin had not marred and defaced it. Take the most exquisite statue that was ever made by an artist and chip it here and chip it there with a chisel, and batter and bruise it here and there and then stand it out in the storms of a hundred years, and the beauty would be gone. Well, the human body has been chipped and battered and bruised and damaged with the storms of a thousand years—the physical defects of other generations coming down from generation to generation, we inheriting the infelicities of past generations; but in the morning of the resurrection the body will be adorned and beautified according to the original model, and there is no such difference between a gymnast and an emaciated wretch in a lazaretto as there will be a difference between our bodies as they are now and our resurrected forms.

There you will see the perfect eye after the waters of death have washed out the stains of tears and study. There you will see the perfect hand after the knots of toil have been untied from the knuckles. There you will see the form erect and elastic after the burdens have gone off the shoulder—the very life of God in the body.

In this world the most impressive thing, the most expressive thing, is the human face; but that face is veiled with the griefs of a thousand years. In the resurrection morn that veil will be taken away from the face, and the noonday sun is dull and dim and stupid compared with the outflaming glories of the countenances of the saved. When those faces of the righteous, those resurrected faces, turn toward the gate or look up toward the throne, it will be like the dawning of a new morning on the bosom of everlasting day! O glorious resurrected body!

But I remark, also, in regard to that body which you are to get in the resurrection, it will be an immortal body. These bodies are wasting away. Somebody has said as soon as we begin to live we begin to die. Unless we begin putting the fuel into the furnace, the furnace dies out. The blood vessels are canals taking the breadstuffs to all parts of the system. We must be reconstructed hour by hour, day by day. Sickness and death are all the time trying to get their prey under the treatment or to push us off the embankment of the grave; but, blessed be God, in the resurrection we will get a body immortal. No malaria in the air, no cough, no neuralgic twinge, no rheumatic pang, no fluttering of the heart, no shortness of breath, no ambulance, no dispensary, no hospital, no invalid's chair, no spectacles to improve the dim vision; but health, immortal health. O, ye who have aches and pains indescribable this morning; O, ye who are never well; O, ye who are lacerated with physical distresses, let me tell you of the resurrected body, free from all disease! Immortal! immortal!

I go farther, and say in regard to that body which you are to get in the resurrection, it will be a powerful body. We walk now eight or ten miles and we are fatigued. We lift a few hundred pounds and we are exhausted; ensnared we meet a wild beast and we must run or fly or climb or dodge because we are incompetent to meet it; we toil eight or ten hours vigorously and then we are weary; but in the resurrection we are to have a body that never gets tired. Is it not a glorious thought?

Plenty of occupation in heaven, I suppose, one-thirteenth of the year at noonday, is not as long as heaven is all the time. Grand mercy for other worlds. Victories to be celebrated. The downfall of deception on earth to be announced. Great songs to be learned and sung. Great expeditions on which God shall send forth His children. Plenty to do, but no fatigue. If you are seated under the tree of life it will not be to rest but to talk over with some old comrade, old times, the battles where you fought shoulder to shoulder. Jacob and the angel wrestled together. Jacob was not thrown because the angel favored him. But once get your resurrected body and the angel could not wrestle you down. It is impossible to wrestle down the giants of God on high—strong, supple, unexhausted, mighty, immortal. Oh, is it not a glorious thought!

Sometimes in this world we feel we would like to have such a body as that. There is so much work to be done for Christ, there are so many tears to be wiped away, there are so many burdens to lift, there is so much to be achieved for Christ, we sometimes wish that from the first of January to the last of December we could toil on without stopping to sleep or take any recreation or to rest or even to take food—that we could toil right on without stopping a moment in our work of commending Christ and heaven to all the people. But we all get tired.

It is a characteristic of the human body in this condition. We must get tired. Is it not a glorious thought that after a while, in the service of God, we are going to have a body that will never get weary? O glorious resurrection day! Gladly will I fling aside this poor body of sin and fling it into the tomb if at Thy bidding I shall have a body that never wearies. That was a splendid resurrection hymn that was sung at my father's burial:

So Jesus slept, God's dying Son
Passed through the grave and blessed the bed;
Rest here, blest saint, till from His throne
The morning breaks to pierce the shade.

O blessed resurrection! Speak out, sweet flowers, beautiful flowers!! While you tell of a risen Christ, tell of the righteous who shall rise. May God fill you this morning with anticipation!

I heard of a father and son who, among others, were shipwrecked at sea. The father and the son climbed into the rigging. The father held on but the sea after awhile lost his hold in the rigging and was dashed down. The father supposed he had gone hopelessly under the wave. The next day the father was brought ashore from the rigging in an exhausted state and laid on a bed in a fisherman's hut, and after many hours had passed he came to consciousness and saw lying beside him on the same bed his boy. O, my friends, what a glorious thing it will be to wake up at last to find our loved ones beside us! Coming up from the same plot in the same graveyard, coming up in the same morning light—the father and son alive forever, all the loved ones alive forever, nevermore to weep, nevermore to part, nevermore to die.

May the God of peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant make you perfect in every good work, to do His will; and let this brilliant scene of the morning transport our thoughts to the grander assemblage before the throne. This august assemblage is nothing compared with it—the one hundred and forty and four thousand and the "great multitude that no man can number," some of our best friends among them, we, after a while to join the multitude. Blessed anticipation!

Blest are the saints beloved of God,
Washed are their robes in Jesus' blood,
Brighter than angels, lo! they shine,
Their wonders splendid and sublime.

My soul anticipates the day,
Would stretch her wings and soar away;
To add the song, the palm to bear,
And bow, the chief of stamers, there.

CHAPTER IX.

The site of the bridge was chosen just where Lady Lilias had decided, and Lord Audley, delighted with the success of his scheme, showed them his plans, and the sketch of the bridge which Sir Raye had so warmly approved. Vane and the daughter stood by the [illegible] and looking at the sketch, her golden hair laid like a veil over her shoulders.—With careless grace she had thrown one arm around her father's neck, and stood looking with him at the sketch.

"It is a beautiful bridge, papa," she said. "You will call it a foolish fancy of mine, but it looks almost like a wreath of flowers."

The Earl laughed at the fancy; but it was not a very exaggerated one, considering the lightness, elegance, and grace of the design. She looked at Vane with wonder and admiration in her beautiful eyes.

"Is this idea your own? How elegant and simple it is! How beautifully you [illegible] You must be an artist. [illegible] you must [illegible]"

"I think so, Lady Lilias, because you are too accustomed to the workers of the world," he answered. "There is nothing especially clever about it."

"Can you do better things?" she asked.

"I hope so," he replied modestly. "I think Heaven has given me skill. I love to battle with the difficulties of my profession. A fierce tide, a steep hill, a rugged mountain, are all giants whom I love to fight single-handed, to grapple and conquer."

He looked so earnest, so handsome, so proud, that she watched him with admiration. In her own mind she thought this man, who loved his work, who liked to grapple with difficulty and danger, who played, as it were, with the great powers of the earth and moved them at his will, was worth a thousand of the "white-handed glittering youth" whom she was accustomed to meet. From that moment a certain respect for him crept into her heart. She admired his bravery, his courage, his truth, his devotion to his work, and his chivalrous simple actions.

Vane was soon quite at home. His unaffected noble character and beautiful sensitive face won friends for him. Every one respected him. When he had been there three days, the young Duke of Waltham joined the party; but he was neither liked nor admired one-half so much as Vane Fraser-Vibart.

Still the one blot on a fair and noble character remained. He was ashamed of his origin. He dreaded lest it should ever be known that he was the son of a poor ignorant farmer. He knew it was a hateful weakness, and he loathed himself for it. But he was powerless to combat with the feeling, and he was thankful that it could never be known.

At dinner one evening, when Lord Audley had invited several guests, the conversation turned upon the recent purchase of Wylton Chase, one of the oldest estates in the county. It had been bought by a retired pickle-maker, who was very anxious to secure admittance into the charmed circle of county families, but was not permitted to do so.

"We must draw the line somewhere," said the great Lady Holte of Castle Holte; "and we will draw it at pickles."

By some means Vane found himself by Lady Lilias, who looked more beautiful than ever in a superb dress of white lace trimmed with water-lilies and green leaves. Diamonds shone in the dead-gold hair and on her white breast. Her arms were bare to the exquisite polished shoulders. She turned to Vane.

"This is all miserable pride," she said. "Frankly speaking, I would neither visit nor receive this rich pickle-manufacturer. The reason why is that he does not, nor never could, belong to our class; that neither by thought, education, culture, nor ideas would he be pleasing to us. There must be different ranks to society as there are different strata in a house or strata in the earth. One alone is useless; but the whole of them make perfection. And my decided opinion is that class distinctions should be preserved. I should not care to associate with those whom I considered inferior."

"Yet you would carry the child of a beggar-woman in your arms?" he interrogated.

"That is a different thing. You will never understand me. Now, for instance, if I was that pickle-manufacturer, I should be too proud to cringe and fawn for the society of those who did not want me. I should not condescend to buy old pictures and call them family portraits, to talk about my 'ancestors.' I should take my stand on my own merits. I would say, 'I am a rich man retired from business. I have been a pickle-manufacturer, and now am anxious to mix in good society. Those who chose to value honesty and sincerity could know me if they liked—at least there would be no sham, no pretence, no affectation—I should stand on my own merits.'"

Vane laughed in a slow pained fashion which puzzled her.

"But you yourself," he said. "You would not visit or know the Wylton Chase family?"

"Frankly, no," she answered. "I do not admit that there is any equality between us. Why should I seek to tolerate such people?"

He looked at her with strange earnestness.

"I begin to understand," he said. "I begin to distinguish between the pride of one who can carry the child of a beggar-woman, and the pride of one who could [illegible] that a retired pickle-manufacturer."

She looked at him with a smile in her sweet eyes.

"Then you are beginning to be a wise man," she rejoined.

Still he was strangely ill at ease.

"Lady Lilias," he said, "if I ask you any questions that seem to you rude or out of place, rebuke me; but I should like to understand your social code. I see that there are around Ulverscroft some very nice [illegible]. They belong to Lord Audley, who takes the most kindly interest in his tenantry. Now would anything, could anything induce you to take even the least interest in the young farmers, or the farmers' sons?"

She laughed a sweet silvery laugh. She did not see the pain in his face, the trembling of his lips, and the keen anguish of his suspense.

"What a droll question Mr. Vibart! I think no class of men in England so honest, so honorable, so estimable as the farmers. To me they seem to be the salt of the earth. But what could there be in common between them and me, except the kindly sympathy I have for them?"

"You would not associate with, or receive, or whatever the word is, a farmer's son, Lady Lilias?"

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test of a quarter of a century, and not be led astray and unscrupulous dealers to purchase them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

CAMPBELL'S TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognised as specifics for the above-named disorders.

Sullivan, of Ashburnham, for wholesale license, and Wm. Collins, of Ashburnham, Wm. Rutherford, Norwood, and Dr. Shaw, of Keene, for druggist licenses. A petition was presented by Mr. Drummond, signed by the doctors of Keene and others, asking that no licenses be granted in Keene, in consequence of which no license was issued for that place. The only license issued was to Wm. Rutherford, druggist, Norwood.

A Splendid Spring Show.

Bound not to be behind anybody or anything, Messrs. Porter Bros., carriage builders, handsomely anticipated the hour of the spring show of the Agricultural Society and had an exhibition at their warerooms, corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets, this morning. From the hour of 7.30 to 9 o'clock they exhibited to the admiring gaze of early visitors, a splendid display of carriages, buggies and waggons, and the comments of the spectators were all pitched in a high key of praise. The public being judges, first prizes were awarded to all the articles exhibited, for solidity of construction, beauty of design and finish, and for general excellence. The firm was compelled to disappoint the spectators by hurrying the exhibit to a close, as most of the articles shown were sold, and arrangements had to be made to deliver them to the purchasers and get them ready for shipment. Six of the lot, two phaetons, two top buggies, and one open buggy were to-day shipped by rail to their various destinations. Porter Bro. are bound to lead.

How the Scott Act Works.

This morning, May first, there were, in consequence of last night's "stirrup-cups," big heads, dusty throats, and a dolorous demand for "pick-me-ups" that were not, and habitual bibulists felt like taking up the wail of the ancient mariner:

"Whiskey, whiskey, stowed away,
Nor any drop to drink."

The Scott Act is here, and though John B. Gough, the apostle of temperance, is dead, his zeal goes marching on, and the cause for which he lectured and made $100,000, has triumphed in this county and is on its trial on the optional principle. But a greater Gough is here—that is, in his own peculiar line. Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, is a true philanthropist, for he clothes the naked—at rock bottom prices—and, by virtue of these, saves so much money to the buyer, that in a sense he also feeds the hungry. At his store, Arcade Buildings, Peterborough, he has clothing for adults, clothing for boys, clothing for children, in unending variety and at prices that paralyze competition. Read his advertisement in the Daily and Weekly EXAMINER.

A Drop in Coal.

The wall at the rear of Mr. James Stevenson's coal shed, on Bethune street, fell away last night, the bricks and coal falling on sheds owned by Mrs. Leonard. The shed was filled to the roof with 250 tons of coal, and it is supposed that the action of the frost in leaving the ground caused the pressure which forced out the wall. The damage done will amount to $250 or $300.

A Wet Day.

Though the sales of liquors yesterday were unusually large—unprecedented in the history of trade—the amount of drinking during the day and night was not unusually great and was far below what was anticipated. Rumours that liquor would be gratis at all the hotel bars in the evening were circulated, but the reports were incorrect and decidedly misleading to many. Occasionally an intoxicated person reeled along the streets, making the night hideous with his howling, or again quietly slipped home to snooze off the booze, but after ten o'clock the town was as quite as usual. Delivery waggons were busy to a late hour distributing wet goods.

Anticipation of Time.

The following letter explains itself:

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES,

Please notify all interested parties accordingly.

Directors' Meeting.

A meeting of the directors of the West Riding Central Agricultural Society was held this morning. It was decided that all horses not entered in the proper classes for to-day's exhibition should be placed therein by the judge and directors previous to beginning judging. It was also decided to take no action this year with regard to tree planting, as the funds of the society would not warrant the outlay. It was determined to add the Percherons and imported thoroughbred road and carriage horses to the list of classes for to-day's exhibition, and, altogether likely, for future exhibitions. There will be another meeting on May 19th, to make arrangements for the erection of suitable exhibition buildings on the agricultural grounds, and to appoint committees to wait on the Town and County Councils to present the matter of grants to the funds of the society.

The White Cross.

A Society that is Endeavouring to Promote Purity.

One of the latest societies which have sprung up to combat a social evil is the Society of the White Cross. It already numbers more than 1,000 members in New York, and is establishing branches everywhere. The objects of the order is included in the following rules, to which every young man subscribes on joining the society:

1. To treat all women with respect, and endeavor to protect them from wrong and degradation. 2. To endeavor to put down all indecent language and coarse jests. 3. To maintain the law of purity as equally binding upon men and women. 4. To endeavor to spread these principles among my companions and try to help my younger brothers. 5. To use every possible means to fulfill the command: "Keep thyself pure."

REV. B. F. DE COSTA, D. D.

The leader of the White Cross movement in America is the Rev. B. F. De Costa, D.D., rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, West Eleventh street, New York. He is of Huguenot descent and of an old Boston family, being born in 1831. He received his degree from the College of William and Mary and is a member of the Boston university. He spent a number of years in study and historic research in Europe, acquiring large stores of rare material relating to early American history. He was chaplain of the Eighteenth and Fifth Massachusetts infantry. He was in the battle of Bull Run and went through the peninsula campaign. Before this he built a church at North Adams, Mass., in 1859 and afterwards was rector of St. Mary's, Newton Lower Falls. Disabled somewhat by hardship in the war, he assumed the editorship of The New York Christian Times in 1865, having previously shown unusual literary abilities and attracted attention as a writer. He afterwards edited The Episcopalian, and in 1868 and 1865 was in charge of The Magazine of American History. He has contributed largely to the magazines and has publish d some thirty volumes. His work on the "Pre-Columbian Discovery of America" attracted much attention, and is now one of the rare Americana. He also wrote a novel, "The Rector of Roxburgh," under the nom de plume of "William Hickling." He is equally at home in the learned discussions of historical societies, where he forms such a prominent figure, and in circles for the amelioration of poverty and sorrow. He maintains that the social evil is the greatest of all evils, and that vice alone can make our politics dangerous and bring the downfall of the nation. He is an able and eloquent preacher and one of the best known men in New York, his services being in constant demand for every good work having in view the moral and intellectual elevation of the people. In 1869 he began moral purity work, and in February, 1884, organized the first White Cross society in America. The work, has now spread all over the United States, being, like temperance work, undenominational. Dr. De Costa holds that the White Cross, purity, and the White Ribbon, temperance, must go together.

From Senate to Bench.

United States Senator Howell E. Jackson, of Tennessee, has been chosen to succeed the late Judge John Baxter as circuit judge in the sixth judicial circuit, which includes the states of Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee. The importance of this appointment lies in the fact that it will be before Judge Jackson that the great Pan Electric versus Bell telephone suits are to be tried. These suits promise to be further reaching in their consequences than any of our time.

HOWELL EDMUNDS JACKSON.

Judge Jackson is 54 years old and a Tennessean by birth. He was graduated at West Tennessee college in 1848, and subsequently studied two years in the University of Virginia. Choosing the law for his profession he studied in an office at his home, and then entered the law school at Lebanon, from which he graduated in 1856. He began practice in Memphis. Gubernatorial favor twice gave him a seat on the supreme bench of the state.

His Principles Forbid It.

If the united workmen of the United States should take it into their heads to make a nomination for the next presidency they would not have to look outside their own ranks. T. V. Powderly assumes the proportions of a statesman of no common caliber. But his principles forbid.—New York Sun.

Tom Corwin's Ready Repartee.

John C. Calhoun once pointed to a drove of mules just from Ohio, and said to Corwin: "There go some of your constituents." "Yes," said Tom, gravely, "they are going down south to teach school."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Kilmer Wire Company, of Sebenectady, N.Y., have agreed to the terms of the Knights of Labor, and the boycott of the last three months has been removed.

All the firms in Chicago who dealt in convict-made goods have compromised with the Knights of Labor and agreed to cease handling boots and shoes made in prisons.

Police Magistrate Appointed.

R. W. Dumble, Esq., has been appointed Police Magistrate for the county of Peterborough, without salary, under 41 Victoria, Cap. 4, sec. 9.

Business College Opening.

Studies were resumed at the Peterborough Business College this morning. All the students who attended last term (with the exception of the graduates) and several new students were present. As the session just began is a short one, work will be pushed with vigor, shorthand and penmanship receiving special attention.

Condolence.

The following resolution of condolence, passed by Nassau L.O.L., has been forwarded to Mr John H. Campbell, whose late son, Frederick A., was a member of this lodge:—

Whereas, it has pleased God in his all wise Providence to remove from our midst by the hand of death your son, Brother Frederick A. Campbell, who was an esteemed and worthy member of our noble Order, we are all hereby reminded of the necessity of having our work well done when the Master calls. It is unanimously resolved by the members of L.O.L. No. 457, Nassau, that we extend to you and your family our sincere and heartfelt condolement in your sad affliction and bereavement, although we humbly bow to Him who is the author of our being, and who has in His unerring wisdom transferred His labors from temporal to celestial fields, making our loss His eternal gain. We earnestly commend you to God, who never chastens but in wisdom, and He alone can heal the wounds He makes. —John A. Davidson, Alex. Hamilton, Committee.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Morrison leave on Tuesday next for Auburn, N. Y.

Mr. M. W. Williams, of the Cobourg World, was in town over Sunday, and favored the EXAMINER with a call this morning.

Mr. G. E. Williams, secretary of the Y. M.C.A., is visiting Lindsay to-day, with the object of establishing a branch of the association in that town.

Police Court.

Francis Taggart, charged with being disorderly on George street on the night of the 27th ult., and who failed to appear at court on Friday and Saturday when summoned, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning. He admitted the charge and was fined $1 and costs.

Sons of Toil.

Items of Interest to Workingmen.

The men employed in the brick fields at Carlton, Yorkville, and Leslieville, near Toronto, are considering the advisability of forming themselves into labor organizations.

The men of the paid fire department of Philadelphia have decided to join the Knights of Labor.

The varnishers of New York are demanding $3 50 for nine hours work, just as the painters are receiving.

Owing to the cautious policy of the Knights of Labor at the present time many local unions have determined to settle difficulties with employers before joining the K. of L.

So effective has been the boycott on convict-made goods in Oregon that unless released by the State from their contracts the contractors will be bankrupt.

Gail & Ax, tobacco manufacturers of Baltimore, Md., have reduced the working hours of 500 employees to eight per day, without any reduction in wages.

The employing carpenters of Milwaukee, Wis., have all agreed to the eight hour system on and after May 1st next.

After several conferences the Calumet Iron and Steel Company, of Chicago, have agreed with their locked-out millmakers to discharge all non-union men and restore the union men to their old places. It is said that some 17,000 kegs of nails, made by the non-union men, have been returned to the company as unfit for use, and that it will take several months to repair the machines damaged by unskilful hands.

Mr. T. V. Powderley, G. M. W., of the Knights of Labour, has summoned the General Assembly of the order to a special session, to be held at Cleveland, Ohio, beginning on the 25th of May next. In calling the present special session, among other utterances, Mr. Powderley says:—"We must place our order squarely before the world on several issues in such a way that no misunderstanding can possibly arise in the future."

An Imitation.

We have received for publication the following lines in imitation of Shakespeare's style:

Oh! then I see—St. Claus has been with you,
He is our Xmas grouse, and once a year
Visits the rosy children wrapt in sleep.
In shape he seems a burly gentleman,
Clothed warmly round with rugged winter furs
And cap of beaver on his hoary head.
December 24th sees depending from
His long and matted beard. His stately steeds
Are two sure-footed an small antler'd deer.
And thus equipp'd, he visits every house
In which the young ones dwell, at dead of night,
Leaving rich Xmas gifts of toys and sweets.
In great profusion all o'er country round.
His smiling, rosy face and keen sparkling eye
Is held in awe and with fatherly regard.
The maidens list, and with unbelieving faith.
They hear the tramp of his imment steeds
On the house-top around the chimney—where,
At the interior end, the bells chime hang
Their empty stockings with spontaneous glee.
Then glide into their super'br orbs, and wait,
In watchful sleep, the coming of the morn.
Anon the curious ones, on the bright sun
Hath strewn his bright rays, on tiptoe creep
Straight to the maiden-place and feel around
For substance to allay the fev'rish doubt,
Which ascertain'd, with smiling face retire.
And with a sigh to sink to sleep again.
But hist! Thoughtless, are not these hoary locks
Unlike to these more enlightened times,
Or do they really point the way to faith
In higher regions of air no doubt!
How stupid of me the child's simple trust
Of that which is imparted by his betters,
And of that spirit world, which like a mist,
Envelops all material things;—it points
To Calvary, where all eternities
Quaker around the death-like cross there,
Crowned with the glories of the Deity.
The lion and the lamb lie down together,
In that eternal bliss, where the weak
And strong are equal in their puissance,
The Alpha and the Omega of all things.

A PROPHETIC TRIUMPH.

The result of the general provincial elections in New Brunswick is a decided triumph for the cause of Liberalism—more so because of the gigantic efforts made by Toryism, as represented by the Dominion Government and its organized army of satellites and doers of doubtful political work. The elections resulted in the overwhelming victory of the provincial government; and 38 constituencies out of a total of 41 have been heard from, and these 38 give the government 30 seats and the opposition only 8. Among the wreckage of the Tory craft is Mr. Wetmore, the leader of the Opposition, and Mr. McLeod, the bosom friend and fidus Achates of Prof. Foster, who was left out of one of the six seats in St. Johns, city and county, secured by the Liberal Government. This contest and its result is of peculiar interest to the Liberals of Ontario. Hon. Mr. Blair, Premier of New Brunswick had brought down upon the Province the hostility of Sir John and his following, because of his staunch adherence to Liberal principles and his signal success in their promotion, and to honest government. Because New Brunswick would not bow down and worship the image set up by the political Nebuchadnezzar—because, like Hon. Mr. Mowat, Hon Mr. Blair bravely persisted in defying the power of Sir John and standing up for the rights and interests of his Province, the Chieftain essayed to crush him. To this end all the influence at the command of the Dominion Government was exercised to turn the votes of the people against the Reform Administration, but vainly. The death-blow given to Sir John's political influence by the triumphs of Hon. Mr. Mowat have greatly weakened his power to injure, and the victory in Nova Scotia shows that the Provinces will not submit to his dictation and that his reign is drawing to a close. The result is also interesting because of its prophetic character. It is a straw or rather, a bundle of straws showing how the wind is blowing in relation to the outcome of the Dominion elections. It is virtually a defeat of the Dominion Government, as far as this province is concerned. With Quebec redeemed to Liberalism as it certainly will be by Mr. Mercier at the coming provincial elections, Sir John will have arrayed against him in solid liberal phalanx the four greatest provinces of the Dominion, Ontario Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The handwriting is on the wall.

Strange as it may appear, the employing cabinetmakers of Buffalo, N. Y., are anxious that eight hours should constitute a day's work in their factories, while the men are reluctant. On last Saturday night twenty-two employers waited on the union, and desired to know if the men intended to work only eight hours per day after May 1, so that they (the employers) could make necessary arrangements to meet the change.

MADRE E HIJO CIGARS.—Try them. Exceptionally fine. Superior to any Imported cigar in the market.

The Opinion of all.

Who have tried Polson's Nerviline, the great pain remedy is that it is never-failing in pain of every description. Neuralgia, toothache, cramps, pain in the stomach, and kindred complaints are banished as it by magic. Rapid and certain in operation, pleasant to take, Nerviline stands at the very front rank of remedies of this class. A trial bottle may be purchased for 10 cents, a very small amount in any case; but the best expenditure you can make, if a sufferer from any kind of pain, is a 10 or 25 cent bottle of Nerviline at druggists and country dealers.

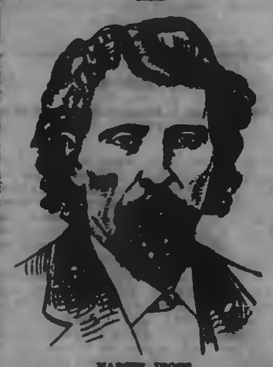
Martin Irons,

The Leader of the Strikers on the Gould Railroads.



MARTIN IRONS.

The chairman of the executive committee of the Knights of Labor, district No. 101, is Martin Irons, of St. Louis. He it was who precipitated the strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad by ordering the members of the Knights of Labor employed on the Gould system to quit work until their grievances were heeded. Mr. Irons is a Scotchman, stubborn, aggressive and self-reliant. In this respect he is said to resemble no man more than his antagonist, Vice-President and General Manager Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific. It is a contest in which the leaders are well matched. If the support on both sides were also equally balanced there would be a chance of victory resting with the right.

One of the results of the prominence given to Mr. Irons by this strike is a flood of telegrams and correspondence which pours in upon him every day. The majority of these letters bring encouragement, advice and substantial support. The autograph fiend is also hounding him. He has received a request with an accompanying check of $50 for a five-page article from one of the magazines. Through his present notoriety he has also received a letter from a sister who has been seeking him for twenty years. His mother, it appears, died in New Orleans after the war leaving considerable property. They advertised in every way for Martin in order that he should receive his share of the estate, but were never able to find him until now.

The Late "Buckshot" Forster.

William Forster, an English Quaker preacher, was mobbed in Tennessee while advocating freedom for the negro. His son, the late William E. Forster, died recently in England, having spent the latter years of his life in the endeavor to prevent legislative freedom for the Irish people. It is an illustration of the intense feeling which seems to be inborn in the average Englishman toward his Irish neighbor. Wm. E. Forster was a strong Liberal in his time, and during our war was shoulder to shoulder with John Bright on the side of the Federal states and in opposition to slavery, while his last words, it is said, were: "No home rule for Ireland."

William E. Forster was born in Dorsetshire, England, in 1818. In 1861 he entered parliament and has been returned continuously since. On the call to office of Mr. Gladstone in 1880 Mr. Forster became chief secretary for Ireland. Here he supported the relief distress bill and was the author of the compensation for disturbances bill. In 1881 he introduced some coercive bills that were bitterly opposed by Parnell and his party, who adopted the policy of obstruction by a system of dilatory tactics, and a sitting, commenced on Jan. 30, was protracted through the night and the whole of the next day and the following night, causing intense excitement throughout the kingdom. After the house had been sitting for the unprecedented period of forty-two hours, the speaker, on resuming the chair, Feb. 1, forbade further speaking and put the question. On the following day Mr. Dillon, Mr. Parnell, Mr. Finegan and twenty-eight other Irish members were suspended, the three named being removed from the house by force.

Though Secretary Forster promised at that time that the prosecution act, which he was armed with, would not be employed to repress agitation, immediately after the act received royal assent, the counties of Clare, Galway, Kerry, Leitrim, Limerick, Mayo, Roscommon, Sligo and several baronies in the county of Cork, were proclaimed and several persons were arrested, among them being Parnell, Dillon, Sexton, Father Sheehy, a Catholic priest, and Mr. Boyton, a native American, these were locked up in Kilmainham jail. "Suspects" were hurried to jail on all sides, and a reign of terror prevailed.

Then it became evident that to proceed with this policy the whole Irish nation would have to be imprisoned. This being impracticable a new departure by the government was announced and Mr. Forster resigned. It was in a speech in parliament later in explaining his reasons for resigning, that Mr. Forster gave Parnell the title of "the uncrowned king of Ireland."

Mr. Forster was undoubtedly a well-hated man. His nickname, "Buckshot" Forster, was bestowed upon him during the heat of Irish troubles connected with the suppression of the Land League, Mr. Forster having advocated the substitution of buckshot cartridges for the usual ball cartridges used by the Irish constabulary.

In personal appearance Mr. Forster was bizarre and uncouth. He dressed in such ill-fitting clothes that it was a standing joke in the house that they were cut and made by himself. But all this uncouthness of manner and simplicity of style were the result of design. The same affectation of simplicity characterized his speeches. They were rough and unrhetorical and bore all the marks of extemporization, although they were always carefully prepared and sometimes rehearsed for weeks beforehand. His ambition was great and, though few would suspect it, he was extraordinarily vain. He had the courage to maintain his convictions at whatever hazard, and even his worst enemies admit that he was brutally honest.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "PEGA SOMERS," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

("It is too absurd a question to answer." A new dashing idea came into Cecil Vane's head. "I will argue with him," he said jestingly.

"I wish I knew whether I were inside the line or out of it," he remarked.

[illegible] angry as the [illegible] To himself he said that, if she knew his origin, she would not address him again. Just then Colonel Gordon broke into the conversation with an anecdote.

"A very wealthy man," he said "bought Burchall Park, in our neighborhood, a Sir John Ilford by name." He had been in trade in the City, as an oil-merchant, I believe—and he had made a large fortune.—He was elected Lord Mayor and knighted for some service to [illegible] He bought Burchall Park, and soon after his installment there, he gave a magnificent fete.—All the elite of the county were present; and looking round Sir John thought he had made his position. He had sprung from the [illegible] and was [illegible] his father and mother had [illegible] to give their plain homely life to share their son's grandeur. Sir John had an enemy who envied and hated him, and who, hearing of the grand fete, gave himself the trouble to go to the village where the old couple lived, and told them that their son had sent for them, and that they were not to wait to exchange their every-day clothes. When the fete was in full swing, the guests had just sat down to a [illegible] banquet, the most active Head of the table, with a party of [illegible] Baroness of the [illegible] when the door was suddenly thrown open, and the old people were loudly announced as Sir John's father and mother. They stood there before the brilliant crowd, old, frightened, and trembling. His enemy had thought to shame the grand noble-hearted man—had thought to see him blush for his old father and mother, and turn from them, ashamed. Ah, how mistaken he was! It brings a lump into my throat to think of it. Sir John stood for one half moment at bay; then he went to his trembling old mother and kissed her with a hearty kiss, and shook his father's hand. 'You are heartily welcome!' he said. Holding a hand of each he led them to the top of the table. 'Ladies and Gentlemen,' he said, 'let me introduce my father and mother to you. I owe them everything, and I honor them with my whole heart. If anybody present declines to know me because I am the son of poor parents, I gladly renounce such persons' acquaintance.' So saying, he sat down again. The countess made room for his mother, and the Baroness for his father. There was a cheer such as had never been heard within those walls before. 'Brave, Sir John,' cried the gentlemen; and some of the ladies had tears in their eyes. 'One touch of nature makes the whole world kin.'"

"That was a noble man," said Lord Audley; while Vane was silent.

He was asking himself: What if he stood hand in hand with his father and mother before this brilliant young beauty? And he hated himself because in his heart he shrank from this ordeal. Suddenly he looked up at Lady Lilias, who had listened in silence. Surprise made him speak where prudence would have kept him silent.

"You have tears in your eyes, Lady Lilias," he said.

"Yes," she answered gently; "and a story like that was sure to bring them there."

CHAPTER X.

The force of a terrible passion gradually conquered Vane Vivart and left him powerless to cope with it. He had been at Ulverscroft only four days, but the time seemed to be much longer—indeed the life he had led before was almost forgotten. He did not think of the future. The present was so full of dazzling light to him that he could not take his eyes from it.

Lord Audley was so delighted with his visitor that he urged Vane to spend another week at Ulverscroft; and to the young engineer it seemed as though an eternity of bliss were enrolled before him. With the glowing warmth of the sunlight of love in his heart, he did not stop to count the cost. He knew only one thing, and it was that he worshipped Lady Lilias. It was as foolish as if he had wished to woo the moon and the stars. She was quite as far out of his reach and as far above him.—Even to himself he dared not say that he worshipped her; but his heart and the strength of his manhood had gone from him. Away from her all was blank, dull, and desolate. In the sunlight of her presence all was of the brightest and fairest. How he managed his work was a puzzle to him. He found himself compelled to rise early in the morning and get through it before he saw her. If he caught but one glimpse of her, if he heard only the sound of her voice, the blood coursed wildly through his veins.

Certainly fate was good to him. He met her always at the breakfast-table; and even that hour he knew little more until he parted from her at night. He had noticed her great love for flowers, and he rose an hour earlier that he might get the most fragrant for her. At first the proud young beauty did not know who it was laid the bouquet every morning by her plate. On the first day she hardly noticed the flowers—touched them, and then forgot them. On the second day she raised them and looked round half-inquiringly.

The same evening she was in the conservatory, and found Vane there reading. They began to talk about flowers and their names.

"Do you believe," said Lady Lilias, "that the character of people can be known by the flowers they love best?"

"No, I do not," he returned—"for this reason, that, out of twenty people, eighteen would prefer the rose or the lily; and eighteen out of twenty can never be alike.—It seems to me no criterion whatever.—What is your favorite flower Lady Lilias?"

They had grown more familiar with each other, and frankly discussed each other's likes and dislikes. She answered him readily—

"According to you, I, being one of twenty, should say, 'The lily' or 'The rose'; but it is neither. I love the daphne best; and I think the word 'daphne' is one of the most beautiful and poetic in the language. 'Hyacinth' ranks next; but 'daphne' sets me off dreaming."

The next morning the bouquet waiting for her was made up entirely of lovely fragrant white daphnes, the finest she had ever seen. Then she knew from whom the daily offering came. She looked from the flowers to the handsome face so anxiously watching her. Vane saw a crimson flush rise from the beautiful dimpled chin to the dead-gold hair, and his heart beat as it had never done before. Her eyes drooped from his, and something tender and loving came into the exquisite face. It seemed to him as though the room swam round him.

A Win for a Local Lawyer.

At the recent Belleville assizes, Mr. E. K Storm of this town, solicitor for the plaintiff succeeded in winning the suit: McKenzie vs. Hardy, having pitted against him Mr. G. D. Dickson, Q. C., and Mr. Jay Ketchum. The case was brought by the plaintiff to recover damages for trespass to the south half of lot 9 in 5th Con. of Percy, County of Northumberland and to establish the boundary line between the north and south half of said lot. The jury settled the division line and awarded the plaintiff $30 damages and full costs of suit.

Knights of Labor Organized.

Mr. Chas. Marsh, the Provincial Organizer of the Knights of Labor for Ontario, arrived in town late Saturday night, and at a meeting held in Trenoem's hall took the initiatory step in organizing a branch of the Knights of Labor in this town. The attendance was not very large, as it was not known definitely whether he would come or not. The several trades unions were not represented by their officers, as is required. Mr. Marsh, after instructing those present in the workings of the order, dismissed the meeting. He will return to town in a few days, when the order will be thoroughly organized.

Beautiful Horses.

Among the fine array of horseflesh at the spring show on Saturday, the exhibit of Messrs. Barrett Bros. was particularly admired. The Percheron stallion "Vigneaux" one of the horses shown in the Percheron class is a magnificent animal and "Huckleberry" the Kentucky thoroughbred blood is clean limbed, lithe, springy and active, the beau id al of a horseman's fancy in a racer. These two fine horses will serve in this vicinity this season. The home stand will be at Cavanagh's hotel and the route will appear in next issue of the Weekly EXAMINER. A better chance was never presented for the improvement of these classes of stock than the above splendid horses which occupy the first position in their respective classes.

An Accident Averted.

Just as the evening express from Toronto rolled into town the other evening, a number of youths assisted an intoxicated bibulist armed with a bottle, from the track, between Hamilton's foundry and the switch house, where he had placed himself to enjoy a drink. The man, who is well advanced in years, not being able to extract the cork from the bottle, took a stone from the track side and broke the neck off the bottle, after which he took his dangerous seat and was about to take a drink, which would have been his last, when the boys, noticing the train coming and almost upon him, removed him from his perilous position with despatch. One of the boys assisted him home, while the others secured the bottle and adjourned to the nearest shelter, a clump of trees, where they disposed of its contents.

Precocious Roguery.

A lad of early commercial proclivities brought a bag of bones to Paterson & Son's tannery for sale. The bag was weighed without examination and the boy directed where to empty it. While he was carrying it to the back premises, the junior partner suspected from the way the lad carried the bag that it contained something heavier than bones and took it from the boy and found that of the 22 pounds the bag weighed, 26 were stones. Meantime the wide awake young reprobate had gone to the office, collected his pay and made his way off at a rapid rate. He was pursued and made to disgorge, the 'prentice boy who collared him administering an admonition of the sole-leather variety on the evils of such stony deception, and sundry sore bones in the sacral region will help to maintain a persistent impression of the good advice. There is a future ahead of that youth. He may shine as the coming political "boy" that acquainces Northwest railway companies with a "limp" of $675,000 for himself.

The turnout was a very large one and the largest society funeral that has taken place for some time.

Dedicatory Services.

St. Andrew's Church Opened for Regular Worship — The Dedicatory Services Conducted by Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, and Rev. D. J. Macdonnell M.A., B.D., of Toronto.

On Sunday morning the new St. Andrew's church was opened for public worship. Some time before the services began the handsome edifice was crowded to its utmost capacity. The platform in front of the pulpit was decorated with a profusion of beautiful living flowers. Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, M.A., B.D., and Rev. A. Bell, pastor of the church, occupied the pulpit platform, while a choir of forty voices, under the leadership of Mr. D. D. Galletly, occupied the choir gallery. Dr. Cochrane opened the services with prayer, asking God to accept and bless the church. After singing the 100th Psalm, Rev. D. J. Macdonnell led in prayer.

As the first lesson Dr. Cochrane read the 48th Psalm, which describes the great love which the Jews had for Mount Zion, where they assembled to worship the Lord. He impressed upon his hearers that they should have the same love for their church. It was not the beauty of architecture that should make it dear to their hearts, but the invisible beauty of the presence of the Almighty God.

After again singing, Dr. Cochrane preached a powerful sermon, taking as his text the 16 th verse of the 3rd chapter of Malachi:

"Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another; and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name."

The speaker said that as the darkness of night revealed the stars in all their brilliancy, so the moral gloom only made the men who were the shining lights appear more brilliantly, as in the case of Elijah, Elisha, and Noah. During the days of Malachi a moral darkness prevailed. The Jews who had returned from captivity were living sinful and profligate lives. Malachi was sent by God to preach against the wickedness of those days. In uttering the words of the text he was speaking of the Old Testament saints who had kept their garments unstained and unspotted from the prevalent sins. Such days might come again, in the history of the Christians of to-day, and they had the same assurance as the Old Testament saints.

There were two points to which he wished to call attention to. The character of these saints and their reward.

THE CHARACTER OF THE SAINTS.

These saints having a just conception of God's character, feared him, as a loving child fears its parents. It was not a fear of man, or of punishment, but an implantation of the Holy Spirit. The fear of God is a gift of God that adorns the character of every Christian, and is the beginning and end of the Christian life.

These saints also spoke often one to another. They loved to hold communion with each other, and, aided by the Holy Spirit, to study the scriptures, learning of how the Lord had led their forefathers out of Egypt with a strong arm, and had established them in the promised land. He impressed upon his hearers the necessity of following the example of the early saints by becoming daily students of the scriptures, which was necessary to keep up their spiritual growth. The Christians of to-day should also imitate the example of these old-time Christians by communicating with and encouraging each other. He asked his hearers to resolve, that as they dedicated the new church to the service of God, to communicate with and encourage each other in spiritual things.

THE REWARD.

The first reward was that God heard the saints who spoke one to another. God always heard the prayers of his people and in his own time answered them. A book of remembrance was also written. Though they were often cast down and sometimes even doubtful if they were children of God, they should remember that God has a book of remembrance. God's saints were more precious to him than anything else in the universe. "And they shall be mine saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels," should be encouraging to Christians. In conclusion he instructed his hearers, who had not decided for Christ to do so, that they might be His in the day when He made up His jewels. He rejoiced with the congregation on the occasion of for the first time opening their church for Divine worship and on dedicating it to the service of the Lord, and hoped they would love and teach their children to revere the church as the Jews did Mount Zion. He prayed that it might be the gate to heaven to many and that the pastor of the congregation might have hundreds and thousands of souls as the result of his ministry.

AFTERNOON SERVICES.

The afternoon services were opened with prayer by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, who conducted the services. Dr. Cochrane and Rev Mr. Bell occupied seats on the platform.

Rev. Mr. Macdonnell took as his text the 4th and 5th verse of the 2nd Chapter of 1st general Epistle of Peter:—

"Two whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious."

"Ye also are living stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ:"

From which the speaker delivered an eloquent and impressive sermon, of which the following is a short synopsis:—The reverend gentleman said the figure underlying the expression used was not an uncommon one in those days. Peter and Paul frequently made use of it. It carried the Jews back to the time of the temple at Jerusalem, the destruction of which many of them had witnessed. Peter spoke of a spiritual house in which spiritual sacrifices would be offered up. Of this living temple Jesus was the corner stone.

A LIVING STONE

seemed a contradictory statement, but as the house was spiritual and not material, there must be a spiritual living corner stone. Christ was this corner stone, and from which the building received life. Christ gave life to all who came to him. He was the living vine giving life to every branch and stem. Those who built upon this living foundation stone, the stone rejected by the builders, could not be washed away or shaken by all adversities; it would not give or yield. "Ye, also, as living stones are built up."

CHRISTIANS WERE THE MATERIALS

used in the construction of the new temple. As the materials for Solomon's temple were gathered from every quarter, so the materials for the new temple would be gathered from every quarter—from every kindred, tribe and tongue. From the dens of vice as well as from the quarrys of purity, to be placed in the beautiful building. As there is room in the invisible church there should also be room in the visible church, for the grave and the gay; the toiler with the hand and the toiler with the brain; the rich and the poor, and no distinction made. Those who control the church should recognize this. A man's external advantages did not give him a standing in God's church, but the amount of life possessed.

LIFE IS LOVE.

A stone might be very dull and require a great deal of polishing, but the material being used had in life. The members of the church should be ready to assist in polishing these stones by helping and encouraging those who require assistance. The means of influence of the Christian family and the promising of God's word were means used in having and polishing these stones. When polished they were fitted together, with love as the mortar. It was possible for isolated stones to show beauty, but it was in the communion of saints that these gifts and graces increased most. Each member should contribute his life and strength to the whole building while they were all supported by the corner stone. Love was the only thing that would bind them together, and with such power that the individual life would separate before they would rend asunder. Each member was who should offer up spiritual sacrifices, such as prayer, praises and a holy body. These stones were also all builders. Each layer helped the next succeeding one, as one generation assists those who follow. They first become stones and then builders. By human agency the work would be carried on, and with love. Christ, the great high priest, as the high priest of old, went into the holy place with the names of the twelve tribes engraved upon twelve stones upon his breastplate, now carried the whole world upon his breast before the Father, interceding in its behalf. The golden age was not past, and the speaker exhorted his hearers to do the utmost to further the building of the new temple.

Rev. Mr. Macdonnell expressed the pleasure he had in assisting in the dedicatory services of the beautiful church. He remembered with pleasure the four years he had spent from 20 to 16 years ago,—a pastor of the old church, and he could look back with the congregation and thank God for the many blessings they had enjoyed. Since then Presbyterianism had passed through a disruption and two unions and now they enjoyed all the good features of each branch. With the congregation he prayed that the glory of the latter house might be greater than the former, and that it might be the means of bringing many souls to the Saviour.

In the evening Rev. Dr. Cochrane again occupied the pulpit, delivering an eloquent and impressive sermon.

During the service collections were taken up in the aid of the building fund.

Explanation.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER :

SIR,—As there are various rumours in circulation respecting the proposed closing of my business, I deem it prudent to publish the following explanation : I have arranged for the sale and transfer of my business to the 1st January, 1887. Until that date the business will be continued by me as in the past, and I need scarcely add I shall be pleased to secure the same patronage which has been so liberally extended to me during the past thirteen years.

Respectfully yours,

W. J. WALLACE.

Lakefield, May 3rd, 1886.

Bridgenorth.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Our village has been the scene of stirring events during the past few weeks. Rigors of the approaching cold, such as "wars and rumors of wars," "the grand farewell to whiskey O," the quiet introduction of the Scott Act, and the mooning from a watery grave a citizen of Emmemore, have received due consideration and discussion from this highly enlightened and intelligent community.

But perhaps the last mentioned item demands the most attention on account of the life of a fellow-being being at stake.

It seems that Mr. Phelan, of Emmemore, crossed the lake in a canoe on Friday morning for the purpose of going to town. When he arrived at this shore he drew the canoe out of the water into an old carpet, which has been in the vicinity of Mr. Keller's mill for some time, expecting, of course, to find it in the same place ready for the return trip in the evening. Unfortunately, however, this was not the case, for the wind, which had been high throughout the day, had driven both carpet and canoe across the lake. Mr. Phelan attempted to obtain the "Cheemaun" by wading to it on a log, but was unfortunate enough to collide with an old stump which was floating on the water. The shock precipitated him into the lake and forced him to swim for dear life. Happily he managed to reach a branch not far as the limit of human endurance had been reached, where he remained until after midnight calling for help. It seems his shouts were heard in Bridgenorth for some time before anyone understood that it was assistance that was called for. As soon, however, as this fact was ascertained, Mr. Thos. Cullon and Mr. Jas. Garrighty started for the rescue in a punt and reached the unfortunate man ere it was too late. Mr. Phelan thinks that if succor had not reached him when it did he must have certainly succumbed to the inevitable, inside of twenty minutes. I extend to him the hearty congratulations of this village on his narrow escape and hope he may never have such a terrible experience again.

The Messrs. Yetts have extensively repaired their residence. The building has been re-shingled, clap-boarded and otherwise fixed up and has assumed quite a juvenile appearance in consequence.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Sixth Parliament—Fourth Session.

FRIDAY, APRIL 30.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Bergin introduced a Bill to regulate the employment of children and women in workshops.

The greater part of the afternoon was spent in discussing Mr. Foster's Bill respecting the protection of navigable waters, which was read a second time and passed in committee.

After recess several minor Government measures were advanced a stage.

Mr. Carling moved the House in Committee on a resolution providing for the establishment of experimental farm stations. The greater part of the evening was spent in discussing the resolution, which was adopted, and a Bill founded upon it introduced.

Mr. White's Bill allowing grants of railways in alternate blocks or townships instead of alternate sections, was read a second time and passed in committee.

Mr. Thompson's resolution providing for the salary of the additional Chancery Judge for Ontario was adopted in committee and a Bill founded upon it introduced.

The House adjourned at 12 20 a.m.

That Colonization Affair.

A Halfbreed on the Sale of St. Louis de Langevin.

The Globe publishes a despatch from Regina, from a special commissioner, who spent the 16th and 17th of April on the lands of St. Louis de Langevin, whence he had just returned from investigating the Prince Albert Colonization company.

William Brenner, a respectable Scottish halfbreed, was first interviewed. He bitterly complained of the Government's treatment. "During four years he had been refused entry for his homestead. As a matter of fact since the sale of the land in the latter part of 1883, till the first of January of the present year, no settler of St. Louis de Langevin could get an entry from the Dominion Lands agent at Prince Albert. Dissatisfaction was naturally the result, thus giving Riel an easy opportunity of getting these halfbreeds to take up arms.

A HALFBREED'S TESTIMONY.

He said: "I am unable to read English. In December last Mr. Pearce, who said he was a special commissioner, called at my house. He was accompanied by Mr. Duck, Dominion Lands agent, and several others. An affidavit, which I think was partly printed, was read to me. The substance of it was that I was asked to declare that I had known nothing of the Prince Albert colonization society previous to Pearce's visit. In common with other settlers who could not read I signed the document. I

SIGNED IT THROUGH FEAR.

When Mr. Pearce went to my son, Joseph Brenner, the latter said, "It was hard to sign a paper the contents of which he could not read." He refused on these grounds to sign it. Pearce then got very indignant and told my son that if he did not sign that paper he could send him to prison in ten days. My son did not sign that paper at the time, but afterwards he got afraid of the threatened imprisonment and went after Pearce to Prince Albert. Here he signed the affidavit.

Only one settler, John Longwood, a respectable educated Englishman, got the entry in October, 1883. Mr. Duck, Dominion Lands agent at this time in Prince Albert, told Longwood that negotiations were going on for the sale by the government of lands of St. Louis de Langevin. In November, 1883, a settler, T. Syner, wished to enter a half section. Mr. Duck said he could not entertain his application. The lands had passed into the hands of the Prince Albert Colonization Company. A large number of settlers left the colony for the want of entries. The discontented ones remaining JOINED RIEL.

Mr. Pearce got Mr. Duck kept the affidavit affair a secret from Charles Nolin, McLeod and a few others of the most intelligent of the settlers. A list of the settlers numbering 24, who were in the parish of St. Louis de Langevin when the lands were sold to the Prince Albert Colonization Company, is also given.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "[illegible]"

She was kinder to him than to any one else; she talked to him, and their conversations were always interesting. He had lived in a world of which she knew nothing, and she would like something and spent in talking to him, and would have jumped up in naughty surprise had any one suggested it. [illegible] than usual, before going out on his darkest errand for a breath of the sweet morning air, she saw him sitting at the [illegible] the passion-flowers [illegible] turned towards the [illegible] golden in the morning sunlight. She was struck with the genius and passion which made it so different from ordinary faces, with its innate nobility and refinement, with the proud [illegible] of the head, and the erect grace [illegible]

"No one could ever mistake a gentleman," she said to herself. "How different are that face and figure from the faces and figures of the sons of the soil!"

[illegible] the expression [illegible] which [illegible] her [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] heart. The bouquet that waited for her that morning were composed of the sweet flowers that poets call "love-lies-bleeding."

"Papa," said Lady Lilias, as she sat with Lord Audley in the library, "have you ever noticed what a very handsome face Mr. Vibart has?"

[illegible] quick [illegible] struck [illegible] hand [illegible] by [illegible] of a [illegible] Yes, I would [illegible] Price is that among the crowd. The Vibarts are a good family, I believe, with nothing very particular about them. Their young man [illegible] Sir Rayer's, you remember."

"Yes; but he must be a Vibart too—must he? [illegible] he has the same [illegible] unlike the [illegible] generally meets."

"My dear, he is a genius. It is in that that he differs [illegible] In the course of my life I have met hundreds of young men, but never one like him. He has a poet's [illegible] and the [illegible] of a [illegible] I admire [illegible] affection for him. The day will come when the whole world will do homage to him, and [illegible] will be one of the first men in it."

"Do you really think so, papa?" she said.

"I am sure of it, my dear Lilias." And she looked very thoughtful at his words.

[illegible] with Lady Lilias again by the banks of the gleaming river. He had been making a [illegible] inspection of the [illegible] the bridge, [illegible] and [illegible] met her walking [illegible]

"Fate is against me," he thought. "Every moment and every hour I fall deeper and deeper into the gulf; and no human hand can help me."

He would hardly have stopped, but that, when she saw him, a lovely rose-flush covered her face and her eyes fell. Some quick keen instinct told him that, if he were quite indifferent to her, she would not blush at meeting him.

He spoke a few words, and then it seemed quite natural that he should turn round and walk by her side. He was in a delirium of delight as he watched her face [illegible] to her voice. She looked at the gleaming river, bright sunshine, and the radiant hues of countless flowers.

"This is [illegible]yland," she said.

"Ah, [illegible]s Love's Land, Lady Lilias; [illegible] that lovely little ballad Chilmaw?"

"[illegible] not seen it."

[illegible] through it all. Will you listen to the first verse and the last."

"Yes," she whispered; and the sweet [illegible] voice went [illegible] through her.

"'We are in Love's land to-day;
Where shall we go?
Love, shall we start, or stay,
Or sail, or row?
There's happy a wind and way,
And never a May but sudy.
We are in Love's land to-day;
Where shall we go?'

"'Land me,' she says, 'where Love
Shows but one shift, one deed,
One heart, one hand.'
A shore like that, my dear,
Lies nowhere man will steer,
No maiden land.'"

Silence fell upon them as the words died on his lips. What was coming to her? She wondered. Her heart was stirred. The lovely bloom on her face came and went, and she trembled. What was it? She had listened to poetry from lips of princes, and had listened unmoved; but then every prince had not the same music in his voice, nor the same beautiful face and eloquent eyes as this young [illegible] by her side, it was the first time she had ever felt embarrassed or confused. In those few minutes they seemed to have changed places. He had taken the ascendency, as had seized the sceptre of manhood; the nobler and stronger soul had suddenly asserted its supremacy over the other; the stronger love had suddenly mastered the other.—What had happened to her? She who had laughed lightly at love and lovers—why should she tremble and blush and falter? She would not give way to it; she would fight against it, sweet as it was; and, though it tore her heart with its mingled pleasure and pain, he should not think the words had impressed her. She looked up at him with a careless laugh.

"These are quaint pretty words," she said. "Do you know anything else by the same author?"

"Yes. Will your listen? This is called 'An Interlude.' I will give you only two verses again.

"'You came, and the sun came after,
And the green grew golden above,
And the bag-flowers brightened with laughter,
And the meadow-sweet shook with love.

"'Your feet in the full-grown grasses
Moved soft as a weak wind blows!
You passed me as April passes,
With a dead made out of a rose.'"

Again there was a pause. His words had stirred her heart with a strange new sweetness, while her silence and her blushes had given to him a courage that surprised even himself.

"These hours at Ulvercroft will never be forgotten by me," he said. "Nothing will ever be like them to me again. I may [illegible] I may see fair ladies, but no place will ever be like Ulvercroft to [illegible] and no one—oh, forgive me!—no one like you. I wonder if my [illegible] an [illegible] of happiness [illegible] will weave a blessing or curse to me."

All dogs not supplied with the proper tag will be impounded by the police, and if not called for in 48 hours and the law complied with, executed. The clause relating to cows to go in force immediately; and the clause relating to dogs to form a part of the celebration of Dominion Day, going in force on that day.

Advertising the Town.

The special committee authorized to negotiate with Mr. R. B. Bigger, of Montreal, editor of the Colonial Exhibition Journal, or, Canadian Exhibitor, with regard to advertising the in that paper, met in the new town buildings this morning. It was decided to insert a descriptive advertisement, occupying one page, in the journal, and also in the memorial volume, the description to be established with a view of George street, the cost of such advertisement to be $90. All the leading attractions and characteristics of the town will be presented, as gathered by Mr. Bigger, and revised by the committee. This journal will be an entirely Canadian production, printed on Canadian paper, with Canadian type, ink, etc., and by Canadian printers, published in connection with the Canadian exhibit. It will have an enormous circulation, those copies which are not sold, being distributed or directed by the sales. Mr. Bigger was delighted with the town, and says it is decidedly the leading town of Canada, and away ahead of some of the sleeping cities.

St. Andrew's Church Opened.

Monday, Sabbath Programme carried out in Sabbath Programme fashion. Special and appropriate services.

The concluding exercises in connection with the opening of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, were held on Monday evening.

From six to eight suppers were served in the school room. Three long tables, invitingly laden with a fine array of tempting edibles, were beautified with bouquets, evergreens, and other decorations, tastefully arranged under the superintendence of the ladies of the congregation. Doubtless as was the supply of food the demand was equal to it, both numbers filling the tables at the tables from time to time. At eight o'clock adjournment was made to the auditorium of the church, where was to be given. There was a large attendance of citizens, a noticeable feature being the fact that every congregation in town, without exception, was represented in the audience.

John Carnegie, Esq., M.P.P., occupied the chair.

The choir of St. Andrews, greatly strengthened in numbers by members of other church choirs, opened the programme by giving with grand effect, the eighth hymn, to the air of the "Old Hundredth," followed by prayer by the pastor, Rev. Alex. Bell.

The choir then rendered, in capital style, the anthem, "The Earth is the Lord's, etc."

Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor of the Baptist Church, then delivered a brief, appropriate, and excellent address. He congratulated pastor and people on the completion of so elegant a place of worship—a credit both to the congregation and the town and the finest specimen of architecture in Peterborough. This was as it should be. He agreed with Ruskin that places of worship should be the best structures that could be erected, and should be illustrative of the spirit of sacrifice. The rev. speaker showed that the Scriptural idea was that the place for the worship of God should be elaborate and costly. The true parallel in this respect was between the house of God and the house that man entered. There were scores of private residences in America worth a million of dollars, but only one church at that cost. The splendid accessories that God ordained in connection with His worship under the old dispensation, were our exemplar for making our churches beautiful. The possession of the new church should stimulate the congregation to renewed exertions in the promotion of God's cause. All human energies were potent for good or evil, and every effort to do good produced a good effect, and tended to inspire to further action. Therefore, all accessories should be appreciated and used accordingly. The true value of our opportunities for doing good could never be known till all are past.

The choir gave the anthem, "Thine O, Lord."

Rev. Dr. Cochrane of Brantford, then delivered a highly interesting, instructive and impressive address. He began by complimenting Rev. Mr. Munro upon the delivery of a solid and sensible speech thoroughly in keeping with the occasion. The occasion suggested many solemn thoughts in connection with the old church, which had stood for fifty years on the site of the beautiful new structure erected in a town

NOTED FOR ITS FINE CHURCHES.

The beauty and convenience of the new church should stimulate the congregation to renewed action. There was yet no bell in the tower, but they had an excellent Bell in the pulpit. He referred to the presence of ministers of other churches, which was a sign of the times—of an age which tended to minimize minor differences and promote harmony of action. The greater success in spreading the gospel depended on the closer unity among the different branches of the church. The speaker then went on to speak of the elements essential to congregational prosperity, defining them as praying, working, and giving. Without prayer the most splendid accessories were vain. Prayer was the power of the church; the sermons of these days were the same as St. Peter's on the day of Pentecost, but the Holy Ghost in answer to prayer constituted the great difference. Working was another important element. Because the congregation had a fine new church, all work must not be left to minister and elders. Every member should have something to do. The most prosperous minister is he who can enlist the sympathy and energies of every member of his flock. The church was the agency through which the conversion of the world was to be accomplished. Liberality in giving was insisted on. As we gave, so our spiritual life was quickened and our material prosperity improved. Conscientious giving was set as much an act of worship as prayer. Giving had no merit unless a sacrifice was made. The motive of giving should be out of love for souls and in proportion as we did good to others, we benefitted ourselves. With a stirring appeal to the congregation to never cease working so long as there was a soul to save, the Rev. Dr. concluded a long, impressive and entertaining address.

The choir rendered the anthem, "Sound the Trumpet."

Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, was glad to mingle his rejoicings on the occasion with the people of St. Andrew's. The pastor had great cause for rejoicing that God had put it in the hearts of his people to erect so beautiful a place of worship. After contrasting the intolerant spirit of the past with the harmony that now existed among the churches, the speaker pointed out that no church could be independent, the prosperity of one influenced that of another. Among all the evils of divisions there was the stimulus of rivalry. Every church was dependent on another in respect of its literature. He was glad to stand on the platform of a Presbyterian church because he could not forget to the Presbyterian Church. The speaker closed by wishing, with John Wesley, for a league, offensive and defensive, with every soldier of Jesus Christ.

HOW MUCH CHRISTIANITY OWED

After the choir had rendered the Nunc Dimittis, the chairman eulogized the speakers, and on behalf of St. Andrews expressed the appreciation by the congregation of the hearty sympathy and support that other denominations had extended them on the occasion. Especially appreciated was the good spirit manifested by St. Paul's in closing their church on Sunday evening. He regretted that a call of duty elsewhere prevented the presence of Rev. Mr. Torrance.

The choir closed their programme with the Anthem "Behold How Good, etc." It is simple justice to the choir to recognize here the excellent service rendered by it throughout the entire opening services. The choir did credit to the training of Mr. D. D. Galletly, and he is to be congratulated in thus securing their source of voices, which necessarily had inadequate opportunities for practice together. The doubtless instrumental musician of the chairman to publicly recognize their services was an unfortunate one. No one but those having experience of the preparation of a programme like that presented by the choir, can understand the anxiety, labour and sacrifice involved.

The blessing of the Doxology followed by the benediction by the Rev. Dr. Cochrane brought the gratifyingly successful series of opening services of St. Andrew's Church to a close.

Dangerous Illness

Of His Lordship Bishop Jamot—Slight Hope of Recovery—Extreme Unction Administered.

His Lordship Bishop Jamot is lying at the episcopal palace, dangerously ill of inflammation of the lungs. One of his attending physicians still entertains slight hope of a possible favorable turn. So serious is his condition, however, that it was considered, by his clergy, advisable to prepare His Lordship for death. Accordingly, Very Rev. Vicar-General Larocque, of Lindsay, arrived on the noon train to-day, and, assisted by Rev. Father Conway, administered the rite of Extreme Unction. Last Tuesday His Lordship visited Belleville and while in the city caught a cold, and a mild attack of bronchitis followed. Though suffering much from weakness, His Lordship insisted on his priests allowing him to say mass on Sunday last, at 6 and 10 o'clock. But on rising at about 8 o'clock, he fell to the floor in a dead faint, in which condition he was found when the sound of his fall summoned the occupants of the palace to his apartment. During the afternoon he had another attack of fainting, yet his case was not considered serious. At two o'clock on Monday afternoon, the attending physician said his Lordship and the bronchial affection showed symptoms of yielding to the remedies employed. But in the evening a sharp pain in the lower lobe of the right lung indicated that inflammation had set in, and the disease progressed till both lungs became involved. This morning there was no amendment in the condition of the patient, and a consultation of physicians was held. Since morning of to-day his Lordship has lain in a comatose or unconscious condition. At three o'clock this afternoon there was no favorable change, and the gravest apprehensions of a fatal issue are felt—"Very low; cannot be worse," are the words of Rev. Father Conway.

The Opinion of all.

Who have tried Polson's Nerviline, the great pain remedy in that it is never-failing in pain of every description. Neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, pain in the stomach, and kindred complaints are banished as it by magic. Hard at certain in operation, pleasant to take, Nerviline stands at the very front rank of remedies of this class. A trial bottle may be purchased for 10 cents, a very small amount in any case; but the best expenditure you can make, if a sufferer from any kind of pain, is a 10 or 25 cent bottle of Nerviline at druggists and country dealers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Rutland, Vt., Herald says:—"More French-Canadians are coming to the States this spring than for many years before. A Montreal despatch says that many of them are coming to stay." There was to be no exodus under the N. P.—but the N. P. has so signally failed that it is wearying to contemplate its short coming earnings.

A very successful banquet was given in honor of Hon. Edward Blake, leader of the Liberal party of Canada, at Ottawa. Hon. Mr. Lauzier occupied the chair. In reply to the toast of "Our Guest," Hon. Mr. Blake made a most happy speech, and indicated two or three salient points of the policy of the Reform party. One was that the policy of the party in respect to the Northwest was, one advantageous to the settler and against the speculator, or, as Mr. Blake said some years ago, "the land for the people." Another point was that Parliament must be restored to its purity. Another indication of the policy was found in the statement that the Liberals "had been endeavoring to prevent excessive, unjust and oppressive taxation and enormous increase of the public debt and expenditure." Thus, the important questions of Northwest administration, the destruction of the reign of corruption among our public men that is making Canada a by word and reproach, and the cessation of the reign of extravagant, expenditure and waste that are sapping the resources of the country, cover so much that nearly all minor questions of importance are involved in them.

Mr. Carnegie, M.P.P., and his politics confreres are never tired of condemning the Ontario Agricultural College and practically working for its abolition, yet the Dominion Government is wisely going to establish experimental farms in imitation of the action of the local Government in this respect. Mr. Hesson, of Perth, forgetting the one of his party for a moment, asserted that the Agricultural College was a "big success;" but he was severely denounced by a Tory member for indulgence in the luxury of telling the truth when the credit of the Reform party was strengthened thereby. While admitting that the action of the Dominion Government in establishing experimental farms is a step in the right direction, it must be recollected that there is a possibility of their management being tainted by the corruption that clings to all the Government touches, as spores from diseased potatoes infect sound ones placed in contact with them.

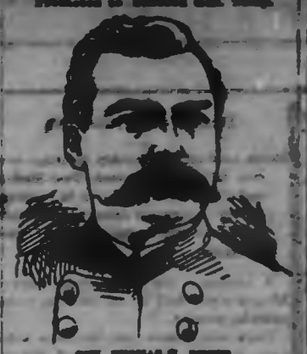
The Beatty Steamers.

Summer Travel on the Upper Lakes.

Travel on the Upper lakes during the heat of summer has a peculiar charm. The air is cool and bracing in the hottest weather and the scenery is a perpetual succession of magnificent panoramas. The Northwest Transportation Company have three splendid steamers on this route, one of which, the United Empire, is now on her first trip. The United Empire commanded (the 4th season) by Captain Robertson, is a splendid specimen of the shipbuilder's art, and she has been designed with an especial view to safety, speed and comfort. The vessel is 220 feet in length, and is propelled by engines of 1,200 h. p. The berths are roomy, and are so arranged that two can be united if desired by family parties. The saloon can seat between one and two hundred, the tables being separate, each capable of seating ten or twelve persons. The ladies' cabin is a model of comfort and elegance and every provision is made to ensure the comfort of guests. In order that no one should have cause to complain that time hangs heavy on his hands, an excellent brass and string band is in attendance. The music rendered is of the highest order, the leader having had the best operatic training. The round trip occupies ten days, and the route takes by the United Empire and Ontario is along the north shores of lakes Huron and Superior and eastern portions of Georgian Bay. At Duluth a stay is made of sufficient length to permit a run to points of interest within a radius of two or three hundred miles, and catch the ship on her return voyage. The Wisconsin takes the south shore of lake Superior, so a choice of routes can be made, which will give constant change. These vessels leave Sarnia twice a week, connecting with the G. T. R. and Northern Pacific Railroads. No better route over our inland seas either for traffic or pleasure travel is presented, than that offered by the palatial steamers of the Northwest Transportation Company.

The virtues of carbolic acid for healing, cleansing and purifying is well known; but from the many modes of applying it, the public is uncertain how best to use it. To meet that want, McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate is prepared, and may be used with confidence. Do not be misled. Take only McGregor & Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Sold at J. McKee's drug store. d102eod-w17

Promoted to General Gen. Staff.



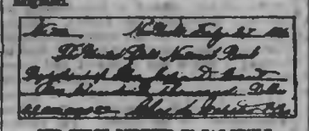
GEN. THOMAS H. ROGER.

To the vacancy created by the promotion of Gen. Terry the president has nominated Col. Thomas H. Roger. Gen. Roger was a New York boy, but was appointed in 1850, at the age of 17, to West Point from Wisconsin, from where he graduated with high honors in 1854, he being the third in his class and Gen. O. O. Howard the fourth. Entering the Engineers, as his rank entitled him to do, he was engaged for a few months on the construction of the defences of New Orleans, but the following spring, April 1, 1855, resigned and opened a law business at Janesville, in which he was occupied until the outbreak of the civil war, six years later. His first command in the war was as lieutenant-colonel of the Third Wisconsin Volunteers, in the summer of 1861. He became colonel of this regiment in August, and was on duty in Maryland, and in the Shenandoah valley during that and the succeeding year, taking part in the combat at Winchester, May, 1862, and in the battles of Cedar mountain, August 9, and Antietam, Sept. 17. He was made brigadier general of volunteers, Nov. 29, 1862, and as such took part in the battles of Chancellorsville and Gettysburg in 1863. He was engaged also in suppressing the draft riots in New York in that year. Transferred to the west, he took part in Sherman's campaign of 1864 to Atlanta, and then as a division commander of the Twenty-third corps in Gen. Thomas' Tennessee campaign against Hood, serving with the western army until the surrender of Johnston.

After the war, Gen. Ruger was made colonel of the Thirty-third infantry in the regular army, and brevet brigadier general for gallantry and meritorious services at Gettysburg. He was for a time provisional governor of Georgia, and held other commands at the south throughout the reconstruction period, and until 1871, when he served as superintendent of the Military academy at West Point for five years, until 1876. Then he returned to Atlanta and took command of the department of the south. He had, in 1880, on the reduction of the number of regiments, been transferred to the colonelcy of the Eighteenth infantry, and with this regiment proceeded to the west on the reduction of the southern garrisons. At the time of his recent nomination, Gen. Ruger was in command of the School of Application and the post at Fort Leavenworth.

Mrs. Grant's $200,000 Check.

Herewith is presented a reproduction in fac-simile, though reduced in size considerably, of a check that is likely to become historical. The amount of this check is said to be twice as large as any sum ever paid to an author before. Macaulay having received £20,000 in one payment for his history of England.



THE CHECK REDUCED IN FAC-SIMILE.

The most remarkable point in regard to this check is that it is dated just one year after the date on which Gen. Grant signed his contract with the publishers. Within that year the book was almost wholly written, published and the great bulk of the money collected. The author in the meantime going through a lingering and painful illness and death. The production of the book has given employment to about 1,000 operatives besides the 9,000 canvassers who have been engaged in selling it, they having disposed of 325,000 copies of the first volume. Nor is the sale by any means ended. The second volume will be ready in April, when it is expected Mrs. Grant's share of 70 per cent. in the profits on the sale of the complete work will aggregate $500,000. Who can say there is no money for American authors.

The First Labor Strike.

A paragraph recently printed in a New York newspaper said that the first labor strike in this country of which record is preserved occurred among the factory girls of Dover, N. H., in 1827. The girls paraded the town with a flag and a brass band, and the employers quickly yielded to their terms. In reply to this paragraph a correspondent of The Commercial Advertiser writes that the cordwainers (shoemakers) of New York city went on strike in November, 1809. They were indicted for conspiracy to hamper trade and extort money, and were arraigned before Mayor De Witt Clinton and Sessions Justice Mosier and Carpenter, composing the "mayor's court." Mr. Sampson and Mr. Colden defended them, and on the other side were District Attorney Riker and Thomas Addis Emmet. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and the strikers were fined $1 each.

Benafort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The reading season, though a little backward at first, has been all that could be expected. Growth of all vegetation has been very rapid. The trees are green nearly a month earlier than last year. Winter grain has all a fine appearance so far. Clover and grasses have escaped winter killing and are in good flourishing condition.

We have been enjoying all the pleasures connected with organizing a football club, and putting the funny thing in motion. Great interest is apparently taken by those who take part in the lively game. It is spreading like contagion, but differs in effect by leaving those affected always ready to kick.

The river has been unusually high during the season. We were reminded by a northern friend to look out down below, but we have nothing serious to fear. The safety of the ice for crossing was affected about March 1st by stoppers placed in the water up the stream, preventing the usual flow and lowering the ice. The river broke up this year March 20th, and April 20th last year. The effect of high water is seen most about the middle of concession 4, where the road was impassable for about a week.

It is not necessary to take a great quantity before any result is produced. A few doses will convince you of its merits. Trial bottles given free at J. McKee's Drug store. d102.eod-w17

CAMPBELL'S TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

UNPARALLELED.

For Elegance in Texture, Durability in Wear, and CHEAPNESS IN PRICE, the Spring Stock of Clothing now on Exhibition at Gough's has no parallel in the county. The sensation of the day among Clothing Men is how Gough can sell a Beautiful All-Wool Suit, for man's wear, worth $15.00 for $7.00, and a Child's $3.00 Suit for $1.75, they claim is marvellous; but then, GOUGH IS A MARVELLOUS MAN, and in his Boys', Youth's and Children's Department, he stands unique. In these Departments can be found Sunday Suits in endless variety. School Suits, warranted not to rip, are also a special feature in these Departments.

Parents and all intending buyers of clothing should make their purchases from Gough, because he guarantees every article he sells, SELLS CHEAPER THAN THE CHEAPEST, and cheerfully refunds the money if goods are not satisfactory.

TELEPHONE COMMUNICATION.

I have great pleasure in announcing that MR. P. H. MORRE, the Eminent Optician, will be at my Store on for the purpose of fitting the "B. LAURANCE" Pebble and other Spectacles and Eye Glasses. The expressions of satisfaction from all those who availed themselves of his skill during his last visit are very gratifying, many coming a long distance to avail themselves of his services, having failed to do so when he was here before, and the Best Spectacles in the world adjusted to their sight. Mr. Morre feels high in the Optical World, and will no doubt, up to date, be able to effect improvement in your eyes. I wish also to draw the especial attention of the public to the valuable privilege accorded by Mr. B. Laurance to all purchasers of his Spectacles, whether bought from myself Agents in Peterborough, or from any of Mr. Laurance's Agents in the Dominion of Canada, that they can, during Mr. Morre's visits have them exchanged free of charge, if they are not suited, this arrangement holds good with all Spectacles or Eye Glasses sold in my establishment in the past and in the future.

MONDAY and TUESDAY, 10th and 11th of MAY, 1886,

To meet the times I am selling the "B. Laurance" Spectacles and Glasses at ONE DOLLAR per pair. Remember the dates of the visits at my store, Monday and Tuesday, 10th and 11th of May.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

[illegible] asked gently.

His face flushed and then grew deathly pale.

[illegible] that all men love you—[illegible] before whom all men kneel, as the very [illegible] and love you must know it."

"But indeed I do not," she answered, with averted face and drooping eyes.

"You know what happens to the moth when the taper is bright—doomed to the clear hot flame," he said. "The brighter the light the more eager the moth. You know what would happen to [illegible] a star."

"I can imagine," she returned, remembering the poet's beautiful words about the desire of the moth for the star.

"Yes"—with the dainty, rose-leaf flush [illegible]—"I [illegible] you will."

She had never given so much encouragement to prince or peer; and he almost knew it.

"Most men [illegible] one or other of their [illegible] to me, I want in my case now. Pray accept it as an excuse for all that I may say. I shall be [illegible] speak to you [illegible] "You are [illegible] "

"I can never be hopeless," he said; "and when you have heard the story of my folly, you will scarcely deserve to have one; yet, in the [illegible] years, I shall like to remember that I defied my fate, dared it, braved everything, and told you all. You are an Earl's daughter, Lady Lilias Audley, and I belong to what you call the professional class. Yet I have been mad enough to do as the moth did. I have been mad enough to dare to love you—you who, they tell me, have sent away the noblest in the land. Overwhelm me with your scorn; hate me for my daring; but [illegible] is a man's right to [illegible] all merit for my folly, I glory as much in my love that I would proclaim it to the whole world."

The passionate pride, love, and defiance in his voice startled her heart. A tuft of [illegible] grew at her feet. She gathered it and caressed it with [illegible] as she spoke.

"I do not know why you should be so sure that I shall scorn you," she said gently. "I am not much given to scorn."

"You account me vastly your inferior," he rejoined. "You will [illegible] with me if I were more [illegible]"

She was silent, and he looked [illegible] with a sigh.

"The trees will grow white again with May," he said, "and the limes will blossom; but I, with my miserable love-story, shall never appear before you again. You will laugh when you think of me. 'The [illegible] creature,' you will say.—'He was here only a few short days, he did not speak to me a hundred times, he had neither title nor fortune, he had not one single thing to recommend him; and yet he dared to love me. What was worse, he dared to tell me so.'"

"I shall say nothing of the kind," she murmured, bending her head over the meadow-sweet.

"You will laugh at me. I—oh, Heaven, what am I, when I, that I should dare to [illegible] to your face—you, the [illegible] of women, and I the [illegible]"

She looked up at him then with bright reproachful eyes.

"You are not the lowliest of men. I will [illegible] about yourself. You are a genius, and that makes you a king amongst men."

"Not a king who could woo a queen like you," he answered; "but you will always remember, Lady Lilias, that I knew my fate, that I never nursed myself on any false hope. I never hoped for a kind look, and I never dreamed of a smile. In my wildest moments I never even thought of toleration where princes and peers have failed. How could I hope?"

The meadow-sweet trembled [illegible] her hands. Her head bent lower and lower over it.

"I have never loved prince or peer," she said.

"Yes, I know it. If I dare say what I thought; I should say that you are one of those happy beings who have 'never [illegible] with a heart.' I grew more daring, [illegible] Lady Lilias, I know already that I have sinned past forgiveness. I know that, in telling you the story of my mad passionate love, I have placed a barrier between us for ever. So I will finish my sin, and tell you that men have loved you and men will love you, but that no man in the wide world has ever loved, or can ever love you as I do. Remember always, through the long blank years in which I shall see you no more, the greatest, deepest, most passionate love that was ever given to a human heart was laid at your feet for you to trample on—nothing more; and, if a hundred lives, a hundred hearts, they should all be laid there. The knights of old were content if they might die for the ladies they loved. Lady Lilias, I would ask no greater favor from Heaven than that I might give my life for you."

She did not raise her face to his; but he saw that the white hands caressing the meadow-sweet trembled.

"I have [illegible] a brief delirium," he went on, "by a life-time of pain. I shall go from you branded with the fire of a fatal love; and yet I would rather, far rather, have loved you in vain for a few short days than be loved by any other woman until death."

His voice died away in passionate murmurs, and he was silent. She looked at him with infinite pity beaming in her soft eyes.

"I am sorry," she faltered.

"Why should you be sorry? It is not your fault that you are the most beautiful of women; it is not your fault that your beauty and grace madden those who look upon them; you are no more to blame than the star is to blame because the moth desires it."

"Still I am sorry," she repeated gently [illegible] for your pain."

"My pain! Ah, Heaven, how can you know what that pain is? How can you understand! If I had to choose, I would rather undergo the torture of the wheel, or of the stake, than that of a hopeless love. Those pains kill quickly—these live on. How should you know or understand the anguish of a tortured heart, the bitter pain of longing, the chill of despair, the terrible hopelessness, the weary stretch of [illegible] which no joy can creep? Ah, Heaven grant that none of this pain may ever be yours!"

[illegible] Lady Lilias [illegible] [illegible] in a low voice, all the [illegible] destroyed the meadow-sweet with her white fingers.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

A Fish Story Spoiled.

The fishery act often prevents liberality of speech and sometimes spoils a fish story from. A Peterborough man has received an immense fish from Langford, which, dressed, weighs 26 pounds, and measures 4 feet, 6 inches in length.

Runaway.

Mr. Adam Hall's horse, with a small load of stove pipes and eavestroughing in tow, galloped along Simcoe and Hunter streets about a dozen this afternoon, the hind double coming with the distance it travelled. It was stopped at Croft's corner. No damage was done.

A Hallelujah Wedding on the Tapis.

Rumors of another hallelujah wedding are current in Salvation Army circles. On enquiring of an official in the army it was learned that a certain sergeant who has been assiduously courting a pretty Salvation Army lassie for months past had popped the question and was accepted with smiles. "Hallelujah Jim" is said to be the lucky lover. The wedding will be celebrated as soon as arrangements can be completed.

Outdoor Amusements Opening.

The Cricket Club will be the first summer amusement club to start the ball a-rolling this season. On Saturday afternoon wickets will be pitched on the P. A. A. grounds, Ashburnham, where the first match of the season will be played between the married and single members of the club. The game will commence at one. Between now and then the bachelors and benedicts will practice for the occasion.

Market Notes.

The market this morning is keeping with the weather was dull. Small lots of butter, eggs, veal, vegetables and poultry [illegible]. Quotations were: [illegible] to 23 c.; eggs, for shipment 10 c.; per dozen, 11 c.; veal, per lb. 5 c. to 7 c.; potatoes, 60 c. per bushel; hay, $10 to $12 per ton. A quantity of green garden truck as lettuce per bunch, and cabbage and tomato plants for transplanting, at "two bocca for a quarter" were sold.

Tree Planting.

Although Friday next has been appointed by the Department as arbour day, nearly all the tree planting will be completed by that date. During the past two days Mayor Stevenson has planted ninety trees in the public parks, and to-day men are busy putting in fifty American elms in the Court House Park. A fine lot of 150 of these trees arrived in town yesterday from Rochester, for Mayor Stevenson, Mr. Geo. A. Cox and Mr. D. W. Dumble, and will be placed in Canadian soil to-day. The Property Committee of the Board of Education have planted 22 trees at the south ward school, while scores of citizens have beautified their property in the same way.

The Boating Club.

A meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club was held in the club boat house yesterday evening. There was a fair attendance, and eight new members were added to the club. A communication from the Royal Military College (Kingston) Canoe Club, inviting the members of the Peterborough Club to join them in a meet and camp at Kanady's Point, five miles below Kingston, on May 22nd, 22rd and 24th, was read by the secretary and received. The Executive Committee reported, suggesting several changes in the club management, which was accepted. The club has now four double shells and two four oared shells, all in good repair. The cheyer bibbs have been repaired and the gymnasium will receive necessary attention, when the club equipment will be complete. Boating and canoeing is, during these fine evenings, being well patronized.

Personal.

Mr. F. [illegible], of Norwood, has passed the final examinations at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Ontario.

Mr. A. L. Hogg, C. E., and wife registered at the Offenhauer last night. They had just returned from Inverness, Scotland, and were on their way to Montreal, where they will reside. Mr. Hogg discovered the C. P. R. short cut through the Rocky Mountains, for which he received a liberal reward, and also took a short cut for Inverness, where he was married.

Riots.

CHICAGO, May 4.—At the labor riots in Chicago yesterday, a conflict took place between the strikers and military, and some 60 [illegible] were shot down, six hundred participated in the fight.

Was Shocked a Thousand.

Last night the Opera House was a living jam wedged in to hear Schiverea's address—"Five Steps of a Drunkard." Standing room was also crowded, many, unable to get seats or standing room, [illegible] outside. Mr. Gus T. Cox occupied the chair, and upon the platform were Rev. Messrs. Munro and Terrance. A choir furnished suitable music, singing gospel hymns. After prayer by Rev. A. H. Munro, the speaker began his address specifying the "Five steps of the drunkard" as "[illegible] the first glass," then "the glasses," "the gutter," "the drunkard's grave" and the "drunkard's hell." All these positions were graphically delineated with illustration, anecdote and energy peculiar to the speaker. The ramseller was particularly denounced as a "wholesale, damnable villain" and the doctors who prescribed strong drink, and the persons who in their homes and in social circles offered drink to friends, were contended in equally unsparing terms. There was little applause, the speaker finishing by saying he would rather have the prayers of the audience than their clapping. The speaker, while perhaps extravagant in some of the positions assumed, was evidently in terrible earnest, and felt the truth of what he was cheerfully quoted. At the close several took a stinging pledge of total abstinence, floated by Mr. Schiverea.

The Dead Bishop.

His Lordship's Remains Lying in State—A Steady Stream of Mournful Visitors—Pontifical Services on Friday at 10:30 o'clock.

Just after yesterday's edition of the EXAMINER was printed, containing the particulars relating to Bishop Jamot's dangerous illness, His Lordship breathed his last—at 4.15 p.m. He was unconscious from 4 o'clock on Monday morning, and never rallied before his passing away, which end [illegible] took place quietly and calmly, painlessly, and the slightest struggle indicating any resistance by the physical powers to the [illegible] of death. Arrangements were at once made for the funeral services, which will take place at half-past ten o'clock on Friday morning, the place of interment being a vault beneath the cathedral. This morning the body lay in state in the drawing room of the episcopal palace, which is deeply draped in mourning. A steady stream of visitors, chiefly members of the dead prelate's flock, came and went, and the exhibitions of grief were extremely touching. Nuns escaped shedding tears, many burst into audible weeping, which could be heard, in some cases, after the disconsolate mourners had passed into the streets.

This afternoon the body will be removed to the church, and will lie in state till the funeral services take place.

The church in its sombre drapery presents a solemn and awe-inspiring appearance. The stained glass windows are covered with crape, suffusing the edifice with a dim funereal light. The gallery pillars are wrapped in alternate spiral bands of black and white, and the gallery rails are hung with white and black cloth. The high altar, as well as the altar of the Blessed Virgin, has been changed from its ordinary splendour and sombred in the emblems of mourning. The altar rails are hung in black and the floor and steps of the sanctuary are carpeted in the same sable hue. The episcopal chair at the right of the altar is draped in black, and over the prie-dieu in front a black pall, with a large white cross in the centre, is thrown. The catafalque, which will support the body of the dead bishop during the lying in state, is placed in front of the altar at the [illegible] of the central isle.

It is expected that His Grace Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, will arrive in town to-[illegible] and it is expected that [illegible] bishops [illegible] number of clergy, will be present for the funeral occasion.

LONDON, May 4.—Her Majesty the Queen in person, formally opened the Indian and Colonial exhibition to-day. The ceremonial was a splendid one.

FISHING.

On Thursday last the steamer, Cruiser made her first trip up the lakes, and three or four of our [illegible] took advantage of it to have a day's salmon fishing at Eel's creek. Only one of the party was fortunate enough to secure the coveted prize. Mr. [illegible] succeeded in landing a fine fish, which [illegible] pounds. Others had [illegible] but [illegible] will be good there this year.

POISONING.

The following letter will speak for itself:

John C. Bethune, Chief Ranger Court Lakefield, No. [illegible] C.O.F.:

Please accept my thanks for the draft of $1,000 from the High Court, C. O. F., forwarded through you, being the amount due as endowment on the death of my late husband, George Affleck. Also kindly express to the members of Court Lakefield my gratitude for the great kindness shown to my husband both before during his long illness and since his death. May your Order long prosper in the good work which has just proved so beneficial to me and my little ones, is the earnest prayer of

Yours most sincerely,
GRACE ALLEN.

Smith, May 1st, 1886.

ARBOR DAY.

Arbor day was observed by the Lakefield School Board last Thursday, as owing to advanced season it was considered advisable to get the trees out as early as possible. It is to be regretted that our citizens did not take more interest in the beautifying of the school grounds and turn out and lend a helping hand to the trustees; the chairman and Messrs. Wallace and Deneh being the only parties on the grounds, except the men employed to assist. Some 150 fine trees were set out, which, with a number of evergreen trees [illegible] will be set out later on in proper season, will add to the beauty of the grounds.

A Daring Robbery.

Over Sixty Bags of Seed Grain Stolen from Mr. Slattery's Barn.—No Clue to the Perpetrators.

Monday night some parties entered the barn of Mr. Thos. Slattery of Lot 16, 12th Concession of Otonabee and stole therefrom over sixty bags of seed grain,—barley and wheat. It seemed that Monday Mr. Slattery filled about forty bags with seed barley, for Mr. Hamel. About five o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. Slattery's boy, who [illegible] the barn where the grain was stored, [illegible] him that his stallion with the [illegible] threatening that the oats and grain had been stolen. Mr. Slattery visiting the barn could hardly believe his eyes or realize that he was not dreaming. All the bags of barley had been removed, while wheat and barley were scattered around the barn floor in large [illegible]. A diligent search showed that the thieves had driven to the barn with a heavy waggon, from the direction of the road, coming in a [illegible] to drive past the gateway a considerable distance and then doubling. After effecting an entrance, the rear doors of the barn were opened, at which the waggon was loaded. The heavily laden waggon was tracked by Mr. Slattery and [illegible] in the direction of Bowman's [illegible] the direct road to the agricultural grounds, where the tracks became mingled with other marks.

It is thought that a gang of thieves have been operating in the section for the past month as several farmers have complained of losing smaller quantities of grain.

Mr. Slattery's loss, being of a considerable size financially, was also delayed with his spring work. This morning he was obliged to come to town to purchase a new stock of seed grain, but while here he placed the case in the hands of Chief [illegible] with the stolen grain after many days.

GROVER'S BRIDE.

Her Genuine Portrait, if she is the Right One.

If the Newspapers Want Your Picture Take It as a Compliment and Give It—Sketch of Miss "Frankie."

MISS FOLSOM.

BUFFALO, April 27.—When the roses come again it is said the president is going to be married. Our readers may have the pleasure of knowing that they see here an authentic likeness of his girl-bride, Miss Frances C. Folsom, of this city. Some of her pictures have already been published, but it is said that her indignant friends are hunting the artist that made them, with a shotgun and three detectives. If I tell you how a New York paper got hold of one picture of the lady, you must never, never reveal it. There was an elderly gentleman who was an intimate friend of the Folsom family. In true girly-girly style Miss Frances, in exchanging vows of eternal friendship with Mr. Blank's people, had given them her photograph. When it was announced that she might become Mrs. President Cleveland in the time of the June roses, this respectable gentleman was so set up over the presence of her fair portrait in the family album that he had to go and tell of it. But he wouldn't let a blamed reporter have it. No, never! It was 'always nosing into people's private affairs, the press was, and it was a shame and outrage. Wow!

An insinuating newspaper young man heard of the boast. By his persuasive tongue, by alternate bulldozing and coaxing he got the respectable citizen to show him the picture. Then alas! they adjourned to a gilded gin palace to talk over the enormity of the presence of newspaper reporters who turn reputable private persons inside out and put their pictures in the newspapers.

Shall I tell you the rest? Alas for Spartan incorruptibility! In an hour of pleasant conversation on the wickedness of the press, the eminent citizen became so blind intoxicated that he would have given away the story of how he was caught by a bunco man, if the fascinating youth had asked for it.

Next Sunday Miss Folsom's picture appeared in the great metropolitan journal.

That was a bad young man, no doubt, but he was a smart one. Hey, for instance, did we get the picture which here appears? I will tell you a way in which it might have been got. When the rumor of the coming marriage was first "wired over the country," as the newspapers say, a telegraphic dispatch was received at a certain office I know of, as follows, to wit:

"Reporter of New York —— here; has secured a photograph of Miss Folsom. Will let me have it instead of sending to his own paper if I pay him $——. Shall I?"

The rest of the story you don't want to know.

MISS FOLSOM'S BIRTHPLACE.

The pretty stone house, No. 478 Franklin street, in which Miss Folsom was born, is shown in the illustration. While our artist was making this sketch he says that an old maid with carbarrow ringlets rolled up to him to volunteer this: "So you're sketching Franklin's birthplace, are you? Well, my opinion is Grover never should marry the mother, but the girl."

The matter of pictures of Miss Folsom is with her lady friends a particularly greasy hobby. They all claim to have one, but the funny thing about it is that they can never be prevailed upon to show it. There is a story now that Miss Folsom, during her stay in Washington a few months since, had six taken; that the president has one, Miss Grogan, of Buffalo, another, and a Buffalo lawyer the third. Where the rest are is not known, but they are said to be all carefully catalogued, and not one of them, if any exist, can be seen for love or money. Everybody claims that the one she had taken when she graduated from the Buffalo Central school is the only one that looks like her, and it is from this photograph that our engraving is made.

There is a craze for newspaper portraiting at present and photographs of prominent people will be got by the able journals at any cost. They do it merely to supply the demand among their readers for such illustrations and not with a fiendish desire to distress nice people. If the persons whose photos are wanted refuse to give them, then the next best thing is done by the newspapers, which is to get them some other way. The honorable ones often have a skillful artist case upon the person unawares, and with a few lightning strokes, produce an outline sketch which is recognized at once. Newspapers have many other ways of getting portraits. In fact there is no such thing as their not being able to obtain one. Therefore, if a respectable journal wants your portrait give it quietly and graciously.

The fair and gracious young lady, who it is said, will shortly be Mrs. Grover Cleveland, is now in Genoa, Italy, with her widowed mother, but is expected home about May 25. She is the daughter of the president's former law partner, in Buffalo. She was born in Buffalo, in 1864, consequently is 22 years old; two and a half years less than half an old as her presidential lover. But if she and Grover want to marry each other, their respective ages are none of my business, certainly. Miss Frances is said to be rather a serious minded girl, given to intellectual pleasures, rather than to the frivolities of the dance, the rushes and the hottie-drawn.

She first attended, history says, the Buffalo high school, then graduated at Wells college, where it is fairly contested as women's colleges go, which is not very far. She was the star student of her class at Wells. She is a gentle, lovely girl, those who know her have say, quite good enough to be the wife of the best president that ever occupied the White House. She had a little romance in her life a few years ago. She was betrothed to a Mr. Charles Townsend, who concluded to be a preacher. After studying theology a while Charles decided he could not love her as he ought, and told her so. She released him. When she becomes Mrs. President, Rev. Charles will have a chance to chew the cud of bitter fancies.

When she was 16, Miss "Frankie" presided over a booth at a fair in Buffalo, and in a vote of 15,000 won the first prize for her beauty and amiability. The Folsom family is one of the oldest in America, dating back to 1638.

NORTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, BUFFALO.

It was at this church the family attended when Miss Frances took the prize for beauty. All of us in America must wish that this fair girl will be happy. ELIZA ARCHARD.

Strictly Scott Act.

Enthusiastic Mass Meeting in the Opera House—Address by F. S. Spence on the Subject of Enforcement—A Fund of $4,125 Subscribed on the Spot.

The mass meeting of the friends of the Scott Act, held in the Opera House last night, and addressed by Mr. F. S. Spence, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, was very largely attended and of the most enthusiastic character.

The meeting was opened by singing the hymn, "Rescue the Perishing," after which Rev. F. H. Wallace offered up a prayer. Mr. Geo. A. Cox, who presided, in a short and complimentary speech introduced Mr. Spence, who, on rising, was greeted with a hearty applause.

The speaker began by stating that he was thankful for the privilege of speaking to the Peterborough friends of the Act who had so nobly passed through the preliminary skirmish and were now entering upon the real campaign. In an address bristling with humor and eloquence he described the growth and the improvement of the temperance movement within the past fifty years. To remove misconceptions he explained that the act was not what the people wanted, but merely a step leading to prohibition, and the temperance cause must be progressive. The temperance people by failures and experience, learned many valuable lessons, and strengthened their machinery in consequence. The machinery so full of faults at the start had been steadily improved until it reached its present efficiency. The attempt to prevent drunkenness by temperate drinking of ardent spirits; the old wine and beer movement, being resurrected by the opposition, and the total abstinence movements, each better than the other, had all come short of the mark, as the manufacture of liquor still continued. Total abstinence and is now the great object of the temperance party. The temperance people had asked the government at Ottawa to grant this and they replied that they would when the people sanctioned it. The temperance party, though hampered by having to do the work the Government should have done, showed that the people wanted prohibition. The Government instead of complying with the people's request provide the defective machine called the Scott Act. The people are responsible for sending such men to Ottawa, who appointed the anti-temperance customers, who, however, they were good for nothing else were elected to the senate. The Scott Act had not been given a proper trial as the Dominion Government in framing its McCarthy Act had supplied Scott Act counties with worthless inspectors and whiskey commissioners, and when the McCarthy Act died, eleven counties were left without officials. The Dominion Government utterly refusing at first constitutional to supply the new forty-two counties with efficient commissioners and inspectors who were in sympathy with the Act. It would never receive a fair trial. With its many defects the Act wherever tried had

REDUCED DRUNKENNESS AND CRIME.

It was better than the Crooks Act because both were instituted for the suppression of the liquor traffic and the Scott Act had proved the most successful. To suppress the liquor traffic by licensing was like trying to suppress a mad dog by licensing it. The only way to suppress it was to knock it on the head. It was always possible to get a drink after hours under the Dunkin Act, but how many were refused on Saturday last was known to many of his hearers. When the Act had thus far proved a success without officials, with proper enforcement it could be made signal success.

REFORMING THE ACT.

It mattered little who was pleased or displeased, the liquor traffic was going to be swept out of existence. The Reform or Conservative parties were not going to do it, as was compelled to do so by the electors. The Act will be a great success when electors have sand enough to cast their votes only for those who will pledge themselves to support the Act without regard to party. The temperance electors would have to see that every government and municipal office was filled with men in entire sympathy with the movement, from members of the School Board, Town Council, County Council, to the Provincial and Dominion Parliaments. The temperance electors would have to organize and act unitedly as the liquor men did. They would also have to enforce the Act when officials neglected. The temperance men and men in favor of the Act must have pluck. They were not scared to go to the Northwest to fight, but to be cowed on an informer knocked all the courage out of them. It was no more objectionable and in every way as on those who broke the laws by selling liquor as to inform on a thief or murderer, and a person who would not inform the police when he saw a neighbor being robbed was a mean person, indeed. Men should not be babies all their lives, and must not shut their faces against intemperance more determinedly than ever. They required an in sympathy with the law, and live commissioners; a police force not scared to do their duty, and a police magistrate. It was very desirable to have a magistrate, as his judgment could not be appealed from, and who would not be duped by wily lawyers, as many justices of the peace were. They also required to secure the best lawyer the land can produce, and a good fund to prosecute. The several temperance societies should be supported, and the best temperance lecturers engaged to educate the people to the requirements of the times.

Personal energy, support, and self-sacrifice were necessary. Here the speaker graphically described the North-West rebellion, showing how willing the people enlisted to suppress it, making great sacrifices to rescue the country from danger. Intemperance was a more dangerous enemy than half-breeds, and the temperance cause wanted as hearty and substantial a support from the people. The people were required to vote for temperance, inform, and put their hands in their pockets.

The county of Peterborough had the right kind of a magistrate, efficient officers, inspectors and police, and a very determined Scott Act committee, and all that was wanted was money to carry on the campaign. The more they subscribed, the less they would have to give, as the liquor dealers would not fight a large sum with all the disadvantages they had. All they wanted was $6,000.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox said he had pledged himself to support the Act and he intended to keep his promise, and handed the subscription with $500. The applause which greeted this announcement shook the hall. Messrs. Wm. Yelland, J. Stenson, A. Rutherford, J. W. Flavelle, W. J. Mason, J. Kendry, W. A. Morrow, R. Cox, T. Lapinote, J. J. Hartley, J. C. Lacy, D. M. Sim, and F. Cox signified their intention of contributing $100 each amid applause, but when Mr. J. Kendry announced that he had a further sum of $1,400 to add, subscribed by a number of friends of the act who were not present, the applause was tremendous. Messrs. Stock, F. Hilliard, Weir and Gardiner each contributed $50, and Messrs. John Moore and David Doig $25, and Mr. Cook $20. Slips of paper were passed around and the subscription was rolled up to $4,125—with the county to hear from. A minister present contributed $100.

The meeting was brought to a close by singing the doxology.

Rebellion in Burmah.

Mandalay Retaken from the British and 4,000 Houses Burned.

LONDON, May 5.—News from Burmah to-day shows that the natives, with the assistance of the Dacoits, have temporarily got the better of the British army of occupation. One despatch states that the insurgents have taken Mandalay and burned 4,000 houses. Among the buildings destroyed were Chinese and Siamese bazaars. The hostility of the natives, who remain loyal to the dethroned King Thebaw, to the Chinese in instance, because of China's openly avowed endorsement of Great Britain's seizure of Burmah. The officers commanding the British forces have telegraphed Lord Dufferin that they are powerless to prevent the rebellion of the natives, and have urgently asked for reinforcements.

CONDONING CORRUPTION.

Every day fresh evidence of the corruption that rules the Dominion Government and its supporters is brought to light. Bad as such a state of things is, it is worse when the Dominion Government is not only not ashamed of it, but officially endorses and justifies it. A case in point is that of Mr. J. Beaty, M.P., to whom the Government has permitted, by a vote of 80 to 50 in the House of Commons, to make all the money he can out of his position. Mr. Beaty is so clever that by a well-directed use of his abilities, and by a judicious prostitution of his influence as a member of Parliament, he was able to secure a charter for the North-west Central Railway (in Manitoba) and a land grant of 6,400 acres per mile. That was the first step. Now Mr. Beaty is or has been engaged in negotiating with capitalists in New York and England, for the sale of the charter, the modest commission he demands, being only $6,75,000. This he will, by the help of the Government, probably be able to secure, because the railway which will only cost $15,000 per mile, can, according to the conditions of the charter, be bonded for $25,000 per mile, while the land grant is equal to, at least $6,400 per mile. Counting all contingencies any company, purchasing Mr. Beaty's charter, can afford to allow him a handsome margin, and all things considered, Mr. Beaty is not unreasonable in demanding $675,000 for the "boy"—"meaning himself." Mr. Beaty was elected to represent Toronto West in Parliament to promote the interests of his constituency and the country at large, but in this charter-broking matter, he is serving himself at the expense of the people of the Northwest. For, whatever sum he succeeds in selling his influence as a member of Parliament for—that sum will be taken out of somebody. The people of the Northwest, who are patrons of the proposed railway, will have to make the amount of Mr. James Beaty's plunder good in the shape of a tax paid in the form of increased rates for freight and passenger service. Mr. Beaty and his friends—among them being no less a person than Hon. Thos. White—claim that a member of Parliament has a right to engage in what business enterprises he can make any money for the "boy" in. But he has not such a right. His services belong to the country, and when he prostitutes his position to his own personal gain, he is defrauding the country. When he finds that he cannot afford to be satisfied with the amount of his sessional indemnity, the country has no further use for him, and an honest man should be put in his place. Mr. Beaty is only a type of a class that enters largely into the composition of the party supporting the Government. The Hamilton Times thus tersely puts it:—"It is bad for a country when men go to Parliament to make themselves rich. The House of Commons needs a thorough cleaning out. It must be purged of land grabbers, bonus hunters, printing contractors, office seekers, and all others who, by their relations with the most corrupt Government Canada ever saw, have unfitted themselves to give an independent, honest vote on any public question." It is no matter of surprise that a House of Commons, controlled by a charter-selling premier, should endorse the action of a charter selling member. Like master, like man.

MAGISTRATES' COURT.

A member of the Ithans at Burleigh purchased a quantity of beer and had a dispute over it, which resulted in a case before two of our local justices on Wednesday of last week. As the plaintiff appeared to have been as much in the fault as the two defendants, the case was dismissed with costs for all three.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. John Lynch, a foreman on the T. V. O. Works at Burleigh, had his hands and face burnt by an explosion of powder one day last week. He was lighting a fuse to explode a blast and when it had caught he threw the match away, which fell, lighting in some powder near by, which, of course, exploded. Fortunately, the quantity was not large and was lying loose, or Mr. Lynch's life might have been the same as that of the man who were loading the load of dynamite in September last.

LONDON SOCIETY.

AMUSEMENTS DURING THE ENGLISH FASHIONABLE SEASON.

Men are Scarce and Women are Plenty. The Ball and the Drama—"Frisky Matrons"—The London Season—The Races.

There is one respect in which, as far as they have got, American Anglo-maniacs have not yet imitated the English. That is in fixing the time of year which fashionable society calls the "season." In America, about this time of year, fashionable people are preparing for their summer flight to the seashore, to the country, to the mountains, across the water, or wherever else fancy takes them. The season is over, at least it will be immediately after Easter.

In London, on the contrary, the season is just beginning. Rich families who are in society are coming up to town. The fashionable season begins immediately after Easter, and continues through May, June and July. From "Easter to Goodwood" is the period in which balls, receptions and other so-called amusements are at their maddest and merriest. "Goodwood" means the Goodwood races, which come at the end of July. After Aug. 12, says a recent writer, the season is not only dead but buried. The rest of the year fashionable society houses itself in the country, for an Englishman loves rural life only less than he loves a lord.

YOUTHS WHO DANCE.

Dancing men are in great request during the season. Indeed most of any sort are, and for this reason it is said any man with good clothes and good manners can get into society in the metropolis. But the British are extremely particular about manners, much more so than Americans, so it is perhaps not so easy after all.

London society is made up of much the same people that compose it in New York, except that there are more women in it. Daughters, daughters everywhere. Mothers bring their girls to balls and receptions as to a market. But there are so many more of them than there are eligible men, that London society becomes a real scramble for husbands to an extent which one must hope will remain forever unknown in America.

One constituent of London society, that perhaps which enjoys the jolliest time of all, is called the "frisky matron" element. This is composed of lively married ladies, young or not as the case may be, who give little dinners and entertainments on a small scale. They go to bachelor club suppers and loom large at bachelor club balls. But they are frowned on by the solemn British matrons in high life, especially those with daughters to marry, which most of them have. But the "frisky matron" element gives a large share of its life and spice to the London fashionable world.

Balls, dinners and "drums" are the leading entertainments of London society. The ball is the most important. In a more civilized age than ours doubtless the wonder will be how a people could have seen any fun in an assemblage which is little else than a jam. Guests go to be presented to their hostess and her daughters, who stand at the top of a staircase to greet the new comers. In the ballroom all is a huddled, struggling mass of humanity. Women—mothers, chaperones and girls—range around the walls two and three deep. There they are pinned. Men are so scarce that when occasionally a masculine creature in evening dress approaches the throng of women and asks a girl to dance he really does it patronizingly, as though he were bestowing a favor.

ON THE STAIRCASE.

The only proper enjoyment anybody can have is that attained by the two or three fortunate couples—young lovers and flirts, chiefly—who manage to split off from the rest of the wriggling mass and get seats upon the rear staircase at a London party.

The fight for something to eat among the old women in the supper room is said to be something terrific. The British love to eat. There is a tea room in which light refreshments are served constantly, before the supper hour.

The Ascot is a horse race to which women go to show their clothes. The beauty and fine dressing here are a sight to see. Ascot is thirty miles from London and the races are in the height of the season. Another great sight in the season is the riding in the park, late in the afternoon and evening. All fashionable London that can ride is there on horseback and in carriages. There is such a jam that it suggests an American camp-meeting or country fair, but there is a great amount of tone and style at the London show. "The Park" is the space from Hyde Park corner to Albert Gate.

George Du Maurier, the famous artist of The London Punch, has familiarized the world with the phases of London society in his illustrations. The views herein presented are from some of his drawings for the Harpers.

A Snake with a Man.

A foreign publication in Singapore gives an account of a fight between a man and a python, which would indicate that the Guy Livingstone type of muscular heroes is not extinct among Europeans in the settlement. One day news was brought to the curator of the museum that a great python, which was on exhibition there, had escaped from its box, and was careering about the building, no doubt thoroughly enjoying the fright of the attendants and visitors. The brute was no less than twenty-two feet long. At that moment the curator happened to have a bottle of carbolic acid in his hand. "It was a most exciting tussle when they came together, and for a few seconds the shivering native spectators could not make out which was snake and which was man." The guardian of the museum's treasures had secured a firm grip of the python's throat, but on the other hand the serpent had coiled its crushing folds around his legs. Had it been a question of strength merely, the boa must have won the day; the curator would soon have been only fit to make a stuffed mummy in his own museum. But after a struggle or two more he managed cleverly to decant the bottle of carbolic acid down the reptile's throat—the grip on which he had never relaxed. The boa had evidently been unaccustomed to drink—nay, it obviously disagreed with him. The coils loosened from the curator's limbs, a convulsive shiver went through the entire twenty-two feet of snake, and in a few minutes the great python was dead! The boa has not merely oftimes been mastered by man, but by much inferior beings. An officer stationed at Kallaghee, in India, was once climbing a rocky hill, when he and a native who accompanied him witnessed the following episode: A poor monkey was being slowly enwrapped in the voluminous folds of an enormous boa, its bones breaking like pine stems by the pressure. Gradually the reptile unwound itself, leaving a crushed, unrecognizable mass. The nauseous monkeys on the rock were in the greatest state of excitement, running wildly about, gesticulating, chattering, and moaning, though of course powerless to help their comrade. While the snake was commencing its gorge, and before its body began to fill and swell, the officer and native went in quest of a stout cudgel and a sharp knife, expecting to make it an easy prey as soon as it should be filled to repletion. When they returned to the scene of strife, the boa lay thoroughly gorged, beneath a projecting mass of cliff, looking more like a log than anything more lively. On the summit above a troop of monkeys were assembled, and three or four of the largest and strongest were occupied in displacing a massive fragment of rock, already loosened by the rains from the main ledge. By enormous exertion—made, too, with a silence quite unusual to monkeys—they at length succeeded in pushing the rock until it trembled just over the boa's head; then, uttering a yell of triumph, they dropped it over the miniature precipice. It struck the boa on the head, mashing it to a jelly. As its great tail lashed about ineffectually in its last struggle, there was a general chorus of exultation—man joining his near relative, if we believe some of our instructors—over this well-accomplished act of revenge.

"No, I am not angry," she answered.

"You forgive me for having told you of my love?"

"I have nothing to forgive," she replied. "Love from you must always honor the one you love."

"I will tell you the truth," she said. "I care for you—yes, a little. But it could never be—never! And we must say good-bye."

[illegible] Vane Fraser Vibart [illegible] Another fine station [illegible] another week [illegible] the [illegible] day. He took with him the crushed blossoms of the meadow-sweet.

CHAPTER XI.

Two years had passed since Vane Fraser Vibart, had prayed to be left alone amongst the meadow-sweet that he might die there. For him they had been two eventful years, as he had now risen to the head of his profession, and was crowned with fame. He had tried to drown all thought, all memory, in work. He no longer spent hours in watching the fair face of Nature, lest among the green leaves, in the gleaming waters, or in the hearts of flowers he should see the lovely face that had intoxicated him with its witchery.—He spent no more pleasant hours over books of poetry, lest from their pages Lady Lillias's sweet face should smile on him. What he suffered no one knew; he bore his pain and anguish as the Spartan boy bore the gnawing of his fox. He [illegible] the world would [illegible] the [illegible] lost—

"Thou shalt fear
Waking and sleeping, mourn upon thy bed,
And say at night, 'Would God the day were here!'
And say at dawn, 'Would God the day were dead!'
With weary days thou shalt be clothed and fed,
And wear remorse of heart for thine attire,
Pain for thy girdle, and sorrow upon thine head.
This is the end of every man's desire."

He fought a brave fight with grim Despair. There were times when he was victor, and for a few hours he would say out that his work was everything, that a man's life was his work, and that love was play—when he would go about trying to smile, trying to sing gay snatches of song, and, after a few hours, be overdrawn with black [illegible] and bitter [illegible] Once he woke up from a long dream of Lady Lillias, with these passionate words on his lips—

"I wish we were dead together to-day,
Lost sight of, hidden away out of sight,
Clasped and clothed in the cloven clay,
Out of the weight of way, out of the light,
Out of the ages of mortality weather,
Forgotten of all men altogether,
As the world's first dead—taken wholly [illegible]
Made one with death, filled full of the night."

He loved her so passionately and so well that he would rather have been dead and buried with her, out of sight, out of the world's way, out of the light.

He had read in some quaint poem of a man who had loved a beautiful woman his whole life long—he, a son of the people, born for labor and toil; she, a dainty lady who had never even looked at him with her proud sweet eyes. It was in the fair land of France; and down to the banks of the Loire, in the fifth century, came one who brought with him murder and death, one who loved torture; and he gave orders that the bronzed son of the soil and the dainty lady should be bound together heart to heart, and flung into the river; and the man died, crushed in death, because, during its agony, the lady he had loved his whole life long was with him.—Vane Vibart knew that for such a death he would have laid down his life with a smile.

One thing comforted him. Every day with weary eyes he looked through the newspapers, but there was never any mention of Lady Lillias's marriage. He read of her triumphs—for each year brought the fashionable world more and more to her feet; he read her name among the participators in the most brilliant gayeties of the season—he knew that she was the queen of the fashionable world—but there was never a line that told of her marriage.

"No man is good enough for her," said Vane to himself, "and no man could ever be."

The bridge over the Ulver had been built. Sir Rayo, having recovered his health, and undertaken the superintendence of it, and Vane had not seen Ulverscroft since the day he had been left [illegible]

A Large Safe.

A monster safe for the Midland and North Shore Lumber Company was delivered on the sidewalk in front of the express office to-day. The safe is from the Goldie & McCulloch works, Galt and weighs about two tons and a half. It will be raised to the company's office as soon as the apparatus can be procured.

A Good Advertising Medium.

On Tuesday a 10-acre park lot was advertised for sale in the Daily Examiner. On Wednesday afternoon instructions were telephoned to withdraw the advertisement, as the lot had been sold. Comment is unnecessary. Persons desiring an effective advertising medium can draw their conclusions without difficulty.

New Delivery Waggon.

Messrs. Porter Bros. have turned out another fine new delivery waggon—this time for Knox Bros., soda water manufacturers. The gearing, which is painted vermillion, is of the platform style, and the boxes painted a dark green, beautifully lettered with the name and business of the firm. The vehicle is a two-horse one, and is provided with three story receptacles for pop bottle baskets. Altogether the new "rig" is a most complete one and reflects credit on the carriage building establishment of the enterprising Porter Bros., whose specialty is the producing of A. 1 delivery and express waggons.

Driving Park Races.

The attention of those who delight in the exciting sports of the turf is called to the Queen's Birthday attractions in this line. They cannot be but pleased with the splendid programme prepared by the Driving Park Association, for the races to be held at the Park on May 24th. The programme includes several events in trotting, running and hurdle races and as liberal purses are provided, it is certain that large entries will be made of good horses, and that a splendid afternoon's sport will be the result. The starter's bell rings for the "ready" at 1 o'clock.

Ocular Aids.

The reader whose sight is defective is particularly concerned in remembering that Mr. P. H. Morris, the eminent optician, will be at the drug store of Mr. John McKee, Peterborough, on Monday and Tuesday, May 10th and 11th, for the purpose of fitting the celebrated "B. Laurance" pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses. This is an opportunity of having the best spectacles and eye-glasses in the world, fitted to the exact requirements of the eye by a thoroughly competent optician. Further valuable information can be got by reading Mr. McKee's advertisement in the Daily and Weekly Examiner. Make a note of the date of Mr. Morris' visit, May 10th and 11th.

Magnificent Offerings of Temporal Flowers.

Additional evidences of the respect and esteem which the late Bishop of Peterborough enjoyed, is furnished by the magnificent floral offerings that were sent in to-day for the decoration of the bier and catafalque of the deceased prelate, now lying in state in St. Peter's.

Both of our local florists, Mr. Frank Mason and Mr. Arthur Blade, have been kept busy in preparing flowers for the purpose. Among the floral pieces contributed by Mr. Mason are the following:—

A splendid floral pillow contributed by the St. Vincent de Paul society, and formed of the snowy blooms of pyrus communis with the creamy cups of the calla lily at the corners on which rested the Latin word amor, signifying love, which was placed at the foot of the casket.

A floral mitre and crozier the gift of Messrs. D. Morrow and James Mason. The mitre bore a cross of purple pansies in frost.

A beautiful floral basket consisting of a variety of cut flowers, presented by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre.

Dr. O'Sullivan contributed a splendid floral cross, of vari-colored flowers, about three feet in height.

A beautiful wreath was the gift of the cathedral altar boys.

Mr. A. Blade designed and made two beautiful pieces of floral tribute.

A very beautiful floral heart, combined with a purple cross, presented by the members of the Separate School Board.

An elegant floral cross of bright hued flowers, the offering of the ladies of the altar society.

In addition to this Mr. Blade did the beautiful decorations of the catafalque. These consisted of graceful festoons of passion vine, looped up with smilax and daisies, with calla lillies at the corners.

The other contributions of floral pieces consisted of a handsome cross from the society of the "Children of Mary," and a beautiful floral harp, ordered by the members of choir from Toronto.

There are besides abundant floral offerings by individuals, too numerous to be particularized. A beautiful supply of living flowers was kindly loaned by Mr. G. M. Roger for general decorative purposes. The above list comprises only those offerings received up to one o'clock, and it is probable that this afternoon will largely add to the number.

His Grace, of Toronto, Most Rev. Archbishop Lynch, arrived in town on the mid-day train. When his Grace entered the cathedral, and as he approached the bier of his departed brother, he seemed dazed with grief. After gazing long and steadfastly on the face of the dead prelate, he suddenly burst into an uncontrollable passion of weeping, and sunk on his knees beside the coffin.

Appreciated Abroad.

Our inquisitive reporter while interviewing the Dominion Express wagon last evening, learned that among the day's shipments, was a case consigned to Ottawa containing medicine, prescribed by Dr. E. C. Crevier, V. S., for six cases of pneumo-bronchitis, now epizootic among the horses of that district. Dr. Crevier had such marked success here in the treatment of that disease that his fame reached Ottawa, and the order shipped last night was the result.

The Late Bishop Jamot.

The Toronto World to-day says:—"Yesterday Archbishop Lynch celebrated pontifical requiem high mass at St. Michael's Cathedral for the repose of the soul of the late Bishop Jamot. The music of the mass was rendered by the students of St. Michael's College. The funeral takes place at Peterborough on Friday at 10.30 a. m. His Grace goes to Peterborough this morning, and Bishop O'Mahoney, Vicar-General Rooney and several priests will follow him this evening."

No Arbor Day.

To-morrow, appointed by the Education Department as an Arbor day for public schools, to be given up to the planting of trees, flowers, etc., and beautifying of the grounds, will not be observed in town, the season being too far advanced and there being a decided objection to breaking in upon the school work, which has hardly recovered from the Easter vacation. The Property Committee had the necessary tree planting completed over a week ago.

Farewell Social.

The members of the boys' branch of the Y.M.C.A. gave a farewell social in the Y.M.C.A. rooms yesterday evening to Mr. W. Gilbert, who has been an ardent promoter of the boys' association. At 6.30 about fifty boys, ranging from ten to fifteen years of age, together with a number of invited guests and friends of Mr. Gilbert, sat down to a sumptuous repast prepared by the lady friends of the association. Mr. Gilbert presided at the head of one table and Mr. Williams at the second, while the boys lined the tables on either side, and for half an hour busied themselves in doing justice to the excellent spread and honour to the guest of the evening. After the tables were cleared away by the ladies, the boys assembled in the lecture room, where a pleasant hour was spent in company with their guest and champion. W. Atlee gave a capital recitation, and E. Witcher and D. Smith each contributed interesting readings, and several choruses were sung by the boys, Miss Sadelier playing the accompaniments. Mr. G. E. Williams and Mr. D. H. Whitlow addressed the boys briefly. Mr. Gilbert, after giving imitations of the English and American "cries" by solicitation, in a short address bade farewell to the boys, and the meeting was brought to a close.

The work of improving Dr. Kincaid's lawn surrounding his residence, corner George and Murray streets, has been completed. Mr. John Cousins has made a neat job as he always does with anything he touches in that line. Dr. Kincaid has faith in the ability of the town to keep cows restrained, for his new fine grounds are without fence of any kind.

DUST TO DUST.

Solemn Obsequies of Bishop Jamot.

Remains of the Deceased Prelate Consigned to Their Kindred Clay—Solemnly Impressive, Ecclesiastical Ceremonies—Touching Tribute of Respect—From Archbishop to Acolyte—Priests and People Share the Common Grief.

At 10.30 o'clock this morning, St. Peter's Cathedral church was the scene of a solemnly impressive ceremony, perhaps the more so in contrast with the solemn yet joyful scenes it has witnessed within the past four brief years. On September 21st, 1882, within its sacred walls were gathered the multitudes to hail Bishop Jamot on the occasion of his installation as the first Bishop of the diocese of Peterborough. On March 5th, 1886, its walls again enclosed rejoicing hundreds, assembled to hail with joy his safe return from the Eternal City, but to realize that they could again receive the benefits of his pious ministrations, and feel the joy of his presence among his people. On Friday, May 7th, 1886, thousands gathered in and around the church to pay and to join in the sacred ceremonies that consigned the mortal remains of Bishop Jamot to the soil of his adopted land, the scene of his life work and the dearest earthly object of his love.

Long before the hour announced for the funeral services, the church was filled with mournful humanity whose heavy hearts were in sympathy with the funeral gloom its somber trappings cast over it. As before stated in these columns, the church throughout was deeply draped in mourning. The body of the dead bishop, reposing in its casket which rested on a catafulque draped in black and buried in flowers, lay directly in front of the high altar, and beneath a rich funeral pall. The face of the dead bishop wore a calm and placid appearance, and, but for the motionless repose that death leaves as his peculiar mark, was little changed from the benign aspect of life.

THE OBSEQUIES.

During the early morning strangers poured into the town from every incoming train, and in addition to the church dignitaries and clergy there were hundreds of visitors from the surrounding country. The attendance of prelates and clergy was very large and representative, of which the following is as full a list as could be got up to the time of going to press:

Most Rev. Archbishop Lynch, Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Mahoney, Vicar-General Rooney, V. G. Laurent, Rector of St. Michael's Cathedral; V. G. Vincent, St. Basil's, Toronto; Bishop Fabre, Montreal; Bishop Duhamel, Ottawa; Bishop Lauraine, Pembroke; Bishop Carberry, Hamilton; Bishop Walsh, London; Bishop McQuade, Rochester; Bishop Ryan, Buffalo; Bishop Cleary, Kingston; and Rev. C. A. Morris, representing the Archbishop of Quebec; Vicar-General Laurent, Lindsay; Archdeacon Cassidy, Dixie; M. Davis, Brechin; M. Jaffcott, Orangeville; Rev. Father Sweeney, Lindsay; James Beausange, Newmarket; W. J. McClosky, Victoria Road; P. J. O'Brien; W. McDonough; N. G. O'Brien, Peterborough; Rev. Father Spratt, Wolfe Island; Rev. Father Walsh, Trenton; Father Cecolari, Lochiel; T. C. Duffus, St. Raphael's; M. Delavigne, A. Langevin, Director Grand Seminary, Ottawa; P. Provost, O. M. I., Ottawa; P. Michel, Buckingham, P. Q.; G. Lavecque (formerly of Peterborough), J. J. McCann, Brockton; J. Allaire, Uxbridge; P. J. McColl, Whitby; F. Robidoe, Vrooomanton; P. Ray, Uptergrove; K. A. Campbell, Orillia; T. J. Sullivan, Thorold; Rev. P. Conway, Episcopal Palace; Rev. P. Redkin, Palace; W. J. Kelly, Emsemere; D. O'Connell, South Doure; Rev. —, McEvoy, Fenelon Falls; C. S. Brotherton, Rev. —. Maguire, Bracebridge; J. Quirk, Hastings; D. J. Casey, Campbellford; J. Browne, Port Hope; R. H. Murray, Cobourg; L. Larkin, Grafton; T. O'Connell, Brighton; and Monsignour Farrelley, Belleville.

At the hour appointed, the solemn toll of the church bell sounded, and simultaneously the long procession of prelates and clergy, numbering sixty, proceeded from the palace to the church. As the long and imposing procession entered the church the organ wailed for the funeral march, which continued while the ecclesiastical dignitaries were placing themselves around the altar, and formed the opening of the solemn services of the

which was sung by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Mahoney, with Very Rev. C. Vincent as deacon, and Rev. J. S. O'Connor, of Perth, as subdeacon, and Rev. Father O'Brien, of the palace, as book bearer. The service was exceedingly impressive and solemn. The musical portion of the service, which was prepared under the direction of the sisters of the convent of the Congregation de Notre Dame, was exceptionally excellent and appropriate. The "De Profundis" was sung by Misses A. Dunn and M. Tierney, the full choir taking after each verse the "O Christe." The solemn music of the requiem mass, harmonized for four voices then followed, the solos being taken by Messrs. W. and Geo. Ball, T. Dunn and J. Coughlin. At the Offertory, the "Inflammatus" of Rossini, so fitting for the solemn occasion, was rendered, Miss Bagley taking the solo. At the communion, the trio "O Jesu Vivi" of Verdi was given by Miss M. Dunn. The harmony in this piece was very difficult but it rendering was very effective. The "Libera" followed, the choir and the clergy taking alternate parts.

At the conclusion of the office of the mass, Right Rev. Bishop Walsh, of London, preached the sermon, which was a splendid specimen of ecclesiastical oratory, replete with feeling and piety. The text was taken from the first three verses of the 5th chapter of the Book of Wisdom:—

"But the souls of the just are in the hand of God, and the torment of death shall not touch them. In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die: and their departure was taken for misery: And their going away from us, for utter destruction: but they are in peace."

The distinguished prelate said that the occasion that called the assemblage together was, in a human sense, inexpressibly sad and distressing, and had shrouded the young diocese and the church at large in Ontario, in the darkness of a great sorrow. A few weeks ago the good bishop had returned home amid the rejoicing and plaudits of a grateful people. When in the Eternal City he found at the Shrine of the Church, renewed strength for his spiritual mission, and drank in more of the spiritual holiness, that characterized his life. After he had paid his spiritual homage to the Vicar of Christ, he had returned with blessings for his people and renewed zeal for their spiritual welfare and for the extension of Christ's kingdom. In contrast they now saw their good bishop lying cold and stiff in death, his mitre removed from his brow, the crozier from his grasp and the hand so often raised in blessing still forever, and the diocese widowed and plunged in tears. In presence of such a sorrow, human language was unavailable to give relief. The only voice that should be heard was the voice of the Church of God, pleading for the repose of the soul of her great bishop and offering up her great sacrifice on his behalf. The death of such a bishop was as instructive as his life had been. Though dead, he yet spoke. The sermon from the pulpit of the coffin told of the uselessness of human concerns and the wisdom of loving and serving God and laying up treasures in Heaven. The death of a holy Christian, and especially of a holy bishop is precious in the sight of God—they seemed to the unwise to perish, but they were at peace. Christ had destroyed death and the power of the grave, and rising again he had brought life. There was consolation inasmuch as we mourned not without an assured hope. When the holy die we have the hope and assurance that they will rise again. Their good bishop would rise again and meet his spiritual children. The speaker had had many occasions of associating with the departed bishop and he could bear personal testimony to his untiring zeal and energy. His Lordship after detailing the work in the extension of the church, which Bishop Jamot had accomplished, and the privations, hardships, toils and dangers, he had braved without flinching, and with an apostolic spirit of heroic intrepidity saw the work of such a noble man had been had always would be blessed by God. In Peterborough, his labours and zeal were too well known to need mention. Evidences and monuments were to be seen all through the diocese. He had fulfilled his mission and death was to him the opening of the gates of eternal life. He left behind him a legacy of great virtues and of holiness of life. Their bishop was a perfect man; he walked in justness and lead an exalted life of holiness and piety. Their bishop had scaled to the height of Christian perfection, had scaled the height of God. But all men were humanly imperfect, and had sins of nature. There had been only two sinless ones. Holy Mary and Jesus Christ. All others were stained with sin and could not enter heaven without purification. They were here today to plead for the eternal rest of the soul of their departed bishop, that it might enter the kingdom of happiness and rest.

At the conclusion of the sermon His Grace Archbishop Lynch announced that he had appointed Very Rev. Father Laurent, of Lindsay, of Peterborough for the interval, with full power to administer all sacraments except such as required the episcopal authority.

ADMINISTRATOR OF THE DIOCESE

Then followed the solemn ceremony of the Absolution, administered by the following prelates: Archbishop Lynch, Bishop Ryan, of Buffalo, Bishop Fabre, of Montreal, Bishop Cleary, of Kingston and Bishop O'Mahony, of Toronto, the choir closing the ceremony with the rendering of the "Libera." The funeral procession then formed, the casket being borne by the following PALL BEARERS.

Messrs. H. LeBrun, Dr. Crevier, Thomas Quirk, Richard Mooney, Thomas Kelly, Thomas Dolan, John Hackett, J. C. Sullivan, R. W. Muncaster, Dr. O'Sullivan, John Lynch, John Sullivan, James Henry, and Edward Phelan.

As the procession passed out of the sacred edifice, Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, from the choir, rendered with great feeling and excellent execution, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." The procession, formed of the clergy followed by the prelates, next the attending physicians, and last the pall bearers with their sad burden, made the circuit of the square to the solemn chaunt of the priests, and reentered the church, and, dispersing, surrounded the place of interment, which was beneath the eastern gallery at its northern end, between the first pair of columns. The body was lowered to its last resting place—"earth to earth, ashes to ashes and dust to dust," his grace of Toronto, whose protege and most honored son the dead bishop was, performing the last sad rites. Thus was laid to rest, in the consecrated soil beneath his own cathedral church the mortal remains of the first bishop of Peterborough.

FLORAL OFFERINGS.

In addition to the floral offerings noted in yesterday's issue, the floral trimmings of the casket and a rich vase of flowers were contributed by the children of the convent school. Mrs. John McClelland kindly loaned living flowers, as did also Mrs. Thos. Henry. Mrs. Thos. Kelly contributed a beautiful basket of fleurs de lis, the flower of France. Flowers were also contributed by Mrs. O'Sullivan (Dr.), Mrs. Jno. Lynch, Mrs Delaney, and Mrs. Muncaster. Mr. James J. Sheehy contributed a beautiful floral cross.

SCHOOL BOARD'S TRIBUTE.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Separate School Trustees was convened last night, but out of respect of the memory of the late Bishop, adjourned after passing the following resolution:—

Moved by J. O'Meara, seconded by James Henry, and resolved,—That, whereas, it hath pleased the Almighty to call away from us, to receive the Heavenly reward he hath so richly merited, our dearly beloved and revered Bishop, Right Reverend John Francis Jamot, D. D., first Bishop of Peterborough; and, whereas, we, the trustees of the Peterborough Catholic Separate School, while bowing with reverential submission to the decree of Heaven in calling him to God's Kingdom, hereby express our regret that we have lost, by his death, one of the most saintly and pious men, who has lived to the glory of Christianity, and, in testimony to his long continued and successful efforts to secure the present system of education for the Catholics of Ontario, we desire to place this resolution on record as a memorial to his name and as a mark of our grief for the loss of our dearly beloved Bishop.

And, whereas, we also feel that, though by his death we lose one, who has always been to us our director and guide, a true father and a kind friend; therefore we, the said trustees, while bowing in Christian resignation to the Divine decree which afflicts us so keenly, hereby desire to express our deep regret at the loss, which we, in common with society in general, sustain by the death of so holy a prelate.

Resolved, also, that, as a mark of respect to his memory, this meeting adjourn.

Notes.

The Business College was closed this forenoon on account of the funeral of the late Bishop Jamot.

The court house flag was flying at half mast to-day out of respect to the memory of the late Bishop Jamot.

The assemblage in the church was about equally divided between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

The special train from Lindsay this morning brought a large number of persons to town, to attend Bishop Jamot's funeral.

Miss Morrier, an old pupil of the Congregation de Notre Dame, presided at the organ. The choir was under the direction of the sisters.

Throughout the Midland District the G. T. R. and the C. P. R. to-day issued tickets from all points to Peterborough at single fare.

Business was generally suspended till noon to-day. All shops belonging to Roman Catholic business men being closed, and also those of a large number of Protestants.

Mr. C. D. Barr, of the Lindsay Post, D. J. McIntyre, M.P.P., Mr. Hugh O'Leary, and about fifty friends of the late Bishop Jamot, from Lindsay, are in town to-day attending the funeral.

The vaults of St. Peter's contains besides the remains of Bishop Jamot, the following former priests of the parish. Rev. John Butler, who founded St. Peter's Church and pastor for 19 years. He died on June 28th, 1853, aged 71 years. Rev. D. Farelly was parish priest for one year and ten months and died June 1st, 1858, aged 44 years.

The Home Rule Debate.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Blake introduced the same motion he made on Tuesday, reaffirming the Canadian Parliament's Home Rule Resolution of 1882. Mr. Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue, moved an amendment leaving out the part of the resolution which directed that an address be laid at the foot of the Throne. To this amendment Mr. McMullen moved an amendment to the effect that the experience of Canada since 1882 had confirmed the House in its former opinion.

A division was taken on Mr. McMullen's amendment which was lost by 69 yeas to 116 nays, Mr. Costigan's amendment was carried by 117 to 61, and Mr. Blake moved in amendment to the adoption of the motion as amended that a copy be sent to Mr. Gladstone.

J. Maloney was burned in his shanty at Sudbury last Sunday.

TABERNACLE SERMON.

REV. DR. TALMAGE DISCOURSES ON "CONGREGATIONAL SINGING."

The Importance of Sacred Music and Some of the Obstacles to Its Advancement—The Irresistible Power of Music Over Mankind.

BROOKLYN, May 2.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage preached this morning on the subject of "Congregational Singing." Services were opened by the congregation singing the Hymn beginning:

The morning light is breaking.
The darkness disappears;
The sons of men are waking
To penitential tears.

Before the sermon Dr. Talmage expounded one of the jubilant psalms of David and then took his text from II Chronicles v. 13: "It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lord." Following is the sermon in full:

The temple was done. It was the very chorus of all magnificence and pomp. Splendor crowded against splendor. It was the diamond necklace of the earth. From the huge pillars crowned with leaves of flowers and rows of pomegranate wrought out in burnished metal, down even to the tongs and snuffers made out of pure gold, everything was as complete as the God-directed architect could make it. It seemed as if a vision from heaven had alighted on the mountains. The day for dedication came. Tradition says that there were in and around about the temple on that day two hundred thousand silver trumpets, forty thousand harps, forty thousand timbrels and two hundred thousand singers; so that all modern demonstrations at Dusseldorf or Boston seem nothing compared with that. As this great sound surged up amid the precious stones of the temple, it must have seemed like the River of Life dashing against the amethyst of the wall of heaven. The sound arose and God, as if to show that He was well pleased with the music which His children make in all ages, dropped into the midst of the temple a cloud of glory so overpowering that the officiating priests were obliged to stop in the midst of the services.

There has been much discussion as to where music was born. I think that at the beginning, when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy, that the earth heard the echo. The cloud on which the angels stood to celebrate the creation was the birthplace of song. The stars that glitter at night are only so many keys of celestial pearl on which God's fingers play the music of the spheres. Inanimate nature is full of God's stringed and wind instruments. Silence itself—perfect silence—is only a musical rest in God's great anthem of worship. Wind among the leaves, insect humming in the summer air, the rush of billow upon the beach, the ocean far out sounding its everlasting psalm, the bobolink on the edge of the forest, the quail whistling up from the grass, are music. While visiting Blackwell's Island I heard coming from a window of the lunatic asylum a very sweet song. It was sung by one who had lost her reason, and I have come to believe that even the deranged and disordered elements of nature would make music to our ear if we only had acuteness enough to listen. I suppose that even the sounds in nature that are discordant and repulsive make harmony in God's ear. You know that you may come so near to an orchestra that the sounds are painful instead of pleasurable; and I think that we stand so near devastating storm and frightful whirlwind we cannot hear that which makes to God's ear and the ear of the spirits above us a music as complete as it is tremendous.

The Day of Judgment, which will be a day of uproar and tumult, I suppose will bring no dissonance to the ears of those who can calmly listen; although it will be, as when some great performer is executing a boisterous piece of music, he sometimes breaks down the instrument on which he plays; so it may be on that last day that the grand march of God, played by the fingers of thunder and earthquake and conflagration, may break down the world upon which the music is executed. Not only is inanimate nature full of music, but God has wonderfully organized the human voice, so that in the plainest throat and lungs there are fourteen direct muscles which can make over sixteen thousand different sounds! Now, there are thirty indirect muscles which can make, it has been estimated, more than one hundred and seventy-three millions of sounds. Now, I say, when God has so constructed the human voice, and when He has filled the whole earth with harmony, and when He recognized it in the ancient temple, I have a right to come to the conclusion that God loves music.

I propose this morning to speak about sacred music, first showing you its importance, and then stating some of the obstacles to its advancement.

I draw the first argument for the importance of sacred music from the fact that God commanded it. Through Paul he tells us to admonish one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs; through David he cries out: "Sing ye to God all ye kingdoms of the earth." And there are hundreds of other passages I might name, proving that it is as much a man's duty to sing as it is his duty to pray. Indeed I think there are more commands in the Bible to sing than there are to pray. God not only asks for the human voice but for the instruments of music. He asks for the cymbal and the harp and the trumpet. And I suppose that, in the last days of the church, the harp, the lute, the trumpet and all the instruments of music that have given their chief aid to the theatre and bacchanal, will be brought by their masters and laid down at the feet of Christ and then sounded to the church's triumph on her way from suffering into glory. "Praise ye the Lord!" Praise Him with your voices. Praise Him with stringed instruments and with organs.

I draw another argument for the importance of this exercise from the impressiveness of the exercise. You know something of what secular music has achieved. You know it has made its impression upon governments, upon laws, upon literature, upon whole generations. One inspiriting national air is worth thirty thousand men as a standing army. There comes a time in the battle when one bugle is worth a thousand muskets. In the earlier part of our civil war the government proposed to economize in bands of music and many of them were sent home; but the generals in the army sent word to Washington: "You are making a very great mistake. We are falling back and falling back. We have not enough music." Then the government changed its mind; more bands of music were sent to the field and the day of shameful defeat terminated. I have to tell you that no nation or church can afford to severely economize in music.

Why should we rob the programmes of worldly gayety when we have so many appropriate songs and tunes consecrated in our own day, as well as those ancient ones of church psalmody which have come down with the dissolution of old associations—tunes no more worn out than the old grandmothers and grandfathers clothed with the garb of the church gone to glory? Some of such, how they used to sing! When they were cheerful our grandfathers and grandmothers used to sing "Colchester." When they were very meditative then the meeting house rang with "South Street" and "St. Edmunds." Were they struck through with great tenderness they sang "Woodstock." Were they wrapped in visions of the glory of the church they sang "Zion." Were they overborne with the love and glory of Christ they sang "Ariel." And in these days there were certain times married to certain hymns, and they have lived in peace a great while, those two old people, and we have no right to divorce them. "What God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Since as we have been amid this great wealth of church music commended by the commentions of artists in our day, we ought not to be tempted out of the sphere of Christian harmony and try to seek unconsecrated sounds. It is absurd for a millionaire to steal.

Many of you are illustrations of what sacred song can do. Through it you were brought into the kingdom of Jesus Christ. You stood out against the warning and the argument of the pulpit, but when in the sweet words of Charles Wesley or John Newton or Toplady the love of Jesus was sung to your soul, then you surrendered, as an armed castle that could not be taken by a host lifts its window to listen to a harp's trill.

There was a Scotch soldier dying in New Orleans and a Scotch minister came in to give him the consolations of the gospel. The man turned over on his pillow and said: "Don't talk to me about religion." Then the Scotch minister began to sing a familiar hymn of Scotland that was composed by David Dickenson, beginning with the words:

O mother, dear Jerusalem.
When shall I come to thee?

He sung it to the tune of Dundee, and everybody in Scotland knows that; and as he began to sing the dying soldier turned over on his pillow and said to the minister: "Where did you learn that?" "Why," replied the minister, "my mother taught me that." "So did mine," said the dying Scotch soldier; and the very foundation of his heart was upturned, and then and there he yielded himself to Christ. Oh, it has an irresistible power! Luther's sermons have been forgotten, but his "Judgment Hymn" sings on through the ages and will keep on singing until the blast of the archangel's trumpet shall bring about that very day which the hymn celebrates. I would to God that those who hear me to-day would take these songs of salvation as messages from heaven; for just as certainly as the birds brought food to Elijah by the brook Cherith, so these winged harmonies God sent are flying to your soul with the bread of life. Open your mouth and take it, O hungry Elijah!

I have also noticed the power of sacred song to soothe perturbation. You may have come in here with a great many worriments and anxieties, yet perhaps in the singing of the first hymn you lost all those worriments and anxieties. You have read in the Bible of Saul and how he was sad and angry, and how the boy David came in and played the evil spirit out of him. A Spanish king was melancholy. The windows were all closed. He sat in the darkness. Nothing could bring him forth until Farnell came and discoursed music for three or four days to him. On the fourth day he looked up and wept and rejoiced, and the windows were thrown open, and that which all the splendors of the court could not do, the power of song accomplished. If you have anxieties and worriments try this heavenly charm upon them. Do not sit down on the bank of the hymn but plunge in that the devil of care may be brought out of you.

It also arouses to action. Do you not know that a singing church is always a triumphant church? If a congregation is silent during the exercise, or partially silent, it is the silence of death. If, when the hymn is given out, you hear the faint hum of here and there a father and mother in Israel, while the vast majority are silent, that minister of Christ who is presiding needs to have a very strong constitution if he does not get the chills. He needs not only the grace of God, but nerves like whalebone. It is amazing how some people with voice enough to discharge all their duties in the world, when they come into the house of God have no voice to discharge this duty. I really believe that if the church of Christ could rise up and sing as it ought to sing, that where we have a hundred souls brought into the kingdom of Christ there would be a thousand. How was it in olden time? Cajetan said: "Luther conquered us by his songs."

But I must now speak of some of the obstacles in the way of the advancement of this sacred music; and the first is, that it has been impressed into the service of superstition. I am far from believing that music ought always to be positively religious. Refined art has opened places where music has been secularised, and lawfully so. The drawing room, the musical club, the orchestra, the concert, by the gratification of pure taste and the production of harmless amusement and the improvement of talent, have become very forces in the advancement of our civilization. Music has as much right to laugh in Surrey gardens as it has to pray in St. Paul's. In one kingdom of nature we have the great sifting of the wind as well as the long metre psalm of the thunder. But, while all this is so, every observer has noticed that this art, which God intended for the improvement of the ear and the voice and the head and the heart, has often been impressed into the service of error. Tartini, the musical composer, dreamed one night that satan snatched from his hand an instrument and played upon it something very sweet—a dream that has often been fulfilled in our day, the voice and the instruments that ought to have been devoted to Christ captured from the church and applied to perverse ends.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

the meadow-sweet alone. Perhaps Sir Raye had discovered something of Vane's secret; for he never said much of Ulverscroft to him.

On one of those nights Vane lay closely veiled with his misery; and yet to those who, like Lethbridge or Blenkinsop, lived by the light of happiness, he would have appeared a very happy man. The moon shone full and bright, and the stars looked like diamonds in the sky; but Vane did not see that the light fell upon a face which was very like love. She had earned that she cared for him a little, but she had added that there could be no end. There were times when he thought himself; yet the words from the sweet proud lips were firm enough—"It can never be."

Would the time come, he wondered, when he should forget her, when the dead gold of her hair, the proud grace of her figure, the fair beauty of her face, would fade from his memory and cease to torture him? The incident was bad, as it was; but if Vane had but known it, he had escaped worse, for if she had accepted him as a poor farmer, a day of the week would not even have spoken to him as she did then; she would not have listened to him. At least, now she did not remember him with contempt.

The moon waned and waxed, the round, full face of it filled with that fervor called love, but he still pale and thin, with dark eyes and face.

He had in a great measure forgotten his old home; the new life with its thousand aims had entirely claimed him, the new love had entirely drowned all memory of the old. Since he had grown wealthy he had sent home every year a sum of money that filled the old farmer with wonder and made the mother cry out with admiration of her gifted son; but Vane did not go near them. It was not that the voice of nature was dead in his heart, but that he had outgrown his old life. Still he never forgot them. Great packages were sent from London to the Meadow Farm—dresses for his mother and Kate, and handsome presents for the farmer and Desford. They might have indeed lived without work, but that their pride was too great, and they longed with unutterable longing to see once more the son who had left them to be a gentleman.

Sir Raye was troubled to see Vane looking so ill. They had both been in the country for some time; but the country in June reminded Vane only too keenly of his lost paradise. On the day after their return to town an old friend of Sir Raye's, whom he had not seen for years, called upon him. He had been an officer in the Army, but had recently succeeded to the Barony of Charnwood. He was delighted with Vane, but was sorry to see him looking so ill.

"Give yourself a holiday," he said; "all work would not suit any one. Come and spend a week with me. I have just bought a very nice place in the country; and we have some nice visitors coming—What do you say?"

"I shall be pleased, Vane, if you say 'Yes,'" put in Sir Raye. "I have not felt easy about you for some time. A week or two in the country will do you good. Let him go, eh?"

"I shall be very pleased," replied Vane.

"Then I may look upon it as a promise—as really settled?" said Lord Charnwood. "I am delighted; and so, I am sure, will Lady Charnwood be. When shall we expect you? We go down on Tuesday.—Will you follow us on Thursday?"

"Yes," replied Vane with a smile, as he remembered that Lord Charnwood had met as yet told him where his new place was.

"I am delighted with my purchase," resumed his friend. "The estate is splendid, the castle, and lies about four miles from a sweet country town called Ashburnham."

Sir Raye had turned aside to speak to some one, and so did not hear what was said.

Vane started as though a sword had been laid at his breast. King's Clyffe!—He remembered it well; he had often been there when he was a boy. The Meadow Farm lay on one side of Holwood and King's Clyffe on the other. He would never go there. He loved his home and loved his parents too well to go so near them and ignore them. Vane looked half-doubtingly at Lord Charnwood.

"I am afraid I must be made a very hasty promise," he said. "I must see what work we have on hand."

But Lord Charnwood would take no excuse.

"You are not well, Sir Raye says. You want a holiday, and a holiday you must have. I shall expect you as we have arranged."

When he was gone, Vane went at once to Sir Raye and told him his difficulty.

"It is no fear home," he said; "I do not see how I can go to Lord Charnwood's. I should feel like a hypocrite."

"I do not see why," remarked Sir Raye. "When I adopted you, you gave up home; that is, you exchanged your home for mine; and the arrangement was agreed to by all. You changed your name and your home."

"I do not like it," returned Vane. "I shall feel loathed all the time to say that I came from that neighborhood and who I am. Again, I might meet some one who would recognize me; and, if that were the case, I could not conceal my identity."

"You're in a fever," said Sir Raye. "You were only a pretty-faced boy when you left the Farm; now any Duke's son might be proud to take your face, manners, and figure. I wish you to go. Lord Charnwood is one of my best friends. I should like you to go. In the world we must take the world does. Make up your mind, pack up your portmanteau, and Heaven speed you. Stay as long as you wish. I can manage pretty well."

But Vane did not like the idea that he should be so near home and yet ignore it. He would have given much to have avoided the journey and declined the invitation.

CHAPTER XII.

Vane sat at the window of a first-class carriage, his heart stirred to deepest emotion, and his eyes dim with a mist like tears. The old loves and hopes of his boyhood came before him. He remembered his pretty village love Marjory Lynn, with her rich brown hair and red-rose face.—How Marjory had loved him when they were children together! Also would not Phyllis and Lilias Kray and Edith Ashe's heart seize by a few proud, cold words.—The old meadows, the rush of the mill-stream, the clover meadows, and the broad river, with its green banks, all came back clearly to his mind. What visions of greatness had come to him then! Had they been realized? Decidedly so in many respects. He had never dared to hope that such honors of the world had given to him would be his. But he was not happy; his life was barren and empty to him. He had given up home, father, mother, sister.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

House-cleaning.

Wilson's woollen mill is the place to get your carpets washed and cleaned.

Cincinnatti Plastering and Pointing Trowels, the very best made in America. Also Fine and Coarse Hand Saws from the same manufacturers, warranted equal to Disston's and at less prices. GEORGE STEVENS.

North Ward School Site.

The special committee of the School Board visited the North Ward to-day to select a site for the proposed North Ward school. They selected a lot owned by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, situated on the hill west of the Barnardo Home, consisting of over an acre.

Doubling Its Capacity.

The demand for the superior goods manufactured by the Peterborough Lock Works, has increased to such an extent that Mr. Brooks has decided to double the capacity of the works, in consequence of which the foundation is now being laid for another moulding shop in the rear of the present shop and of the same dimensions as the one now used.

Apron Drill.

The Salvation Army were out on parade last night with an advance guard of three soldiers, one male and two females. The former carried a pole with a large "S" on it while the latter were conspicuous with paper caps and large white aprons. They attracted considerable attention, which is the object of their march.

St. Andrew's Society.

The Executive Committee meeting of St. Andrew's Society was held in Collector Cummings' office last night. There was a fair attendance. Mr. John Erskine presided. Several accounts were ordered to be paid. Mr. W. Menzies was appointed Secretary in the stead of Mr. D. D. Gallelly, resigned. It was decided to canvass each ward with a view of securing as members of the Society, every great Scot and small Scot in town.

Dobbin vs. Dobbin Decided.

Yesterday, Chancellor Boyd gave judgment in the suit of Dobbin vs. Dobbin, tried at the recent Chancery Sittings in town, in which judgment was reserved. The action was brought by the widow of the late W. F. Dobbin, of North Monaghan, against John Dobbin, to recover dower. The widow claimed dower out of the land free from any claim in respect of a mortgage on the farm, contending that the heir-at-law is bound to pay off the mortgage. The court sustained the defendant, giving judgment that the widow should bear her share of the mortgage and take dower out of the residence. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., for plaintiff, and D. W. Dumble for the defendant.

Ocular Aids.

The reader whose sight is defective is particularly concerned in remembering that Mr. P. H. Morris, the eminent optician, will be at the drug store of Mr. John McKee, Peterborough, on Monday and Tuesday, May 10th and 11th, for the purpose of fitting the celebrated "B. Laurance" pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses. This is an opportunity of having the best spectacles and eye-glasses in the world, fitted to the exact requirements of the eye by a thoroughly competent optician. Further valuable information can be got by reading Mr. McKee's advertisement in the DAILY and WEEKLY EXAMINER. Make a note of the date of Mr. Morris' visit, May 10th and 11th.

Smith—Zion Vicinity.

(From our own Correspondent.)

This lodge has now been organized a little over one year and have to report a steady increase in membership, having a list of 51 members in good standing. The meetings have been very well attended and have been conducted with interest and profit to all present. Last evening the ladies of the lodge gave a social which was a great success. After the good things had been disposed of, songs and recitations were indulged in.

Mr. John O'Donohoe hasn't yet got the position in the Cabinet promised by Sir John Macdonald, and now he proposes to know the reason why.

Town Council.

The Town Council elect this afternoon to appoint members of the Town Trust Commission to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Mr. Edmund Chamberlain and the resignation of Mr. J. J. Lundy.

Correction.

In the list of those who contributed $100 each toward the fund subscribed for the enforcement of the Scott Act at the Opera House Wednesday night, which appeared in yesterday's issue of the EXAMINER, the name of Mr. T. Laplante was given by mistake for that of Mr. N. Laplante.

Raising the Fund.

The Scott Act Executive Committee by this evening will have the subscribed fund for the enforcement of the Act raised to $5000 in the town alone. Several $100 subscriptions have been added. A county fund will also be raised.

Baseball.

A largely attended meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club was held in Spencer's city cigar store yesterday evening. A committee was appointed to look after suits and other accountrements. It was decided to practice at Burnham's point until the Riverside Park is sufficiently dry for play. The Secretary was authorized to arrange for a foreign match on the 24th, if possible.

Triple A Topics.

The Secretary of the P. A. A. A. has issued a notice calling the attention of members and intending members to the fact that in accordance with the by-laws of the Association that only those whose subscriptions are paid will be allowed to play on or have the use of the grounds after May 8th, 1886.

The bachelors and benedicts of the P. A. A. A. cricket club will engage in a match to-morrow. Wickets pitched at one.

And Still Another.

The National Fire Insurance Company, of Ireland, established in 1822, has appointed Mr. E. E. Henderson agent for the company in Peterborough and district, which includes Lindsay. Mr. Henderson now represents the following first-class and substantial insurance companies, viz: the British Empire Mutual Life, 1847; the Phœnix Fire, of England, 1872; the National Fire, of Ireland, 1822; and the Accident Insurance Company, of North America.

A Giant Gasometer.

The Central Bridge Works are now engaged in building a colossal gasometer for the Peterborough Gas Works. It will be forty-five feet in diameter, about one hundred and fifty in circumference, and sixteen feet high, with a capacity of 25,000 cubic feet. It will be placed in an excavation, 50 feet in diameter and 15 feet deep, which will be lined with a brick wall about 2½ feet thick. It will require 150,000 bricks to build the wall and 13,500 for the floor.

The First Drive.

All day to-day the river has been dotted with logs, hurried along on the swift current on their way to Rice Lake. They are the property of Mr. Fowld, of Hastings, and will be cribbed and rafted at Rice Lake. It is a pretty site to see them gliding quietly and swiftly down the stream, plunging over the dams, sporting about in the surging waters below, tossed about like chips, gradually settling down to a steady gait, only to take another plunge. The drive consists of many thousands of logs, and the mill men say they have only commenced to come.

Condolence.

Mr. John Kincaid has the sympathy of the community in the sad affliction which has visited his family within the past few days. On Wednesday the dread disease diphtheria, removed from the house circle his youngest son, Melville John, a bright little fellow four years old, and yesterday death by the same disease carried away another member of the family, Margaret Ellen, his youngest daughter, aged 12 years and 3 months. The funeral of the latter will take place from the family residence corner of Harvey and London streets this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"Sweeping" Suggestions.

To the Editor of THE DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR,—It was refreshing, a few days ago, to see the Street Inspector with his army cleaning up the streets and putting them into order, and it is as disgusting to notice that the majority of storekeepers, instead of endeavoring to keep them so, continue to throw and sweep into them all sorts of rubbish and refuse—it is astonishing that they allow their boys to do so. Let any one take a stroll down, say, George street, and notice the untidy, slovenly appearance of the sides of the street from the cause named, and I am sure the views expressed will be concurred in.

A gentleman from Worcester, Mass., visited Peterborough a couple of years ago, and while admiring the general fine appearance of the town, said: "You have a mighty smart town, but, oh, the way you keep the streets!" referring to the accumulation of paper and sundry other articles too numerous to mention. Nothing strikes a visitor adversely, so readily, as untidily-kept streets.

Not long ago our Health Officer, (Dr. Clarke) in his report, denounced the practice of making the streets receptacles for sweepings from stores, etc., and it is to be hoped that the proper authorities will take steps to prevent the continuance of this evil and the dangerous practice of throwing out paper, hand-bills, etc., for the wind to scatter about and frighten horses.

It would be a good plan to have the corporation waggon sent round through all the streets, and gather up the old tins, stovepipes, stoves, etc., and deposit them in Spalding's Bay.

Yours, etc.,
CITIZEN.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

About thirty Tory members bolted and refused to vote on the bill, practically giving James Beaty, M. P., parliamentary authority to traffic on his parliamentary influence to enrich himself. Although both Sir Hector and Sir John called for a straight solid party vote on the question, there were thirty bolters, and the government majority was only 26. In justice to the members for the East and West Ridings of Peterborough, it may be stated that neither of these gentlemen deserted the government on this occasion.

The Tory St. John, N. B., Sun describes Mr. John White, M. P., as "a noisy excitable, generous-hearted North of Ireland man." To which the Toronto World adds that it is generally admitted that John's heart is all right, but there is a hideous suspicion abroad that there must be something the matter with his head.

The Irish landlords complain that Gladstone's Home Rule scheme and the accompanying land bill are not Liberal, as applied to themselves. When did Irish landlords, as a class, show such an excess of generosity towards their down-trodden tenants that they can lay claim to having it exercised in their interests now?

Another flourish added to the handwriting on the wall. Barnard, Liberal, was on Wednesday elected to represent the riding of Vercheres, in the Province of Quebec in the Provincial Legislature by 130 majority, with one poll to hear from, over Cartier, Conservative. A Tory majority of twenty-six at the last election converted into a Liberal majority of 130, in face of the money and efforts of the Federal Government.

Among the seventy odd political relics, that compose the Dominion dormitory, the Senate, a considerate government distributes annually $5 worth of restorative in the form of snuff—that is about seven cents each. Supposing that government money were spent on the principle of "for value received," and that seven cents worth of snuff was all a Senator cost the country per year, the most pessimistic alarmist could not point out a more flagrant example of criminally wasteful extravagance.

The Government's majority on the Beatty-boodle vote was only 26, because, as the "boy" proposed, to appropriate all the loot to himself, thirty members decided that their consciences would not allow them to condone such an outrage without being paid for it. But the next day on the timber limits question the bolting thirty recovered interest in parliamentary matters and the majority against Mr. M. Cameron's motion, denouncing members selling themselves for timber limits, was 56,—26 + the thirty bolters of the day before. This looks as though Mr. Cameron's charge that the majority of the Tory members of parliament had dealings in timber limits, was about true. It is plain that Sir John has so educated his supporters, that they will stand by him only so ong as it pays them to do so.

INJUDICIOUS APPOINTMENTS.

As will be seen in our report of the Town Council yesterday evening filled the vacancies on the Board of the Town Trust Commission, caused by the death of Mr. Edmund Chamberlain and by the resignation of Mr. J. J. Landy, by the appointment of Mr. R. S. Davidson, member of the Town Council and representative of No. 1 Ward, and Mr. John Carnegie, M. P. P., a resident of the Township of Smith. With regard to the latter appointment it need only be said that considering the importance of the local character of the office, the Council would have done wiser to have selected a resident of the town, Mr. Carnegie's former connection with the Board has not carried with it so much personal sacrifice, nor been so barren in substantial advantage to himself, that the Council need feel under any special obligation to appoint him an outsider, to the position, over the heads of scores of residents of the town fully as much meant and as able to perform the duties of the office. In regard to Mr. R. S. Davidson's appointment, there is no objection to be made on the score of honest dealing, administrative ability and fitness in every way but one. In regard to the position the EXAMINER has taken and the Municipal dual representation, his total disqualification for the office of Town Trust Commissioner, or any other office in the gift of the Town Council, while he remains a member of that body. His appointment is, in this respect alone, a breach of a principle, for the observance of which we have repeatedly and strenuously contended. "The exceeding impropriety of the Town Council appointing one of themselves, to any position they have the power to do, has been pointed out again and again. As in the matter of the appointment of High School School trustees, the dullest witted can see the evil precedent established by allowing a member of the Town Council, to virtually decide, by his own vote, his appointment to [illegible]. Councillor Davidson, of the Town Council, is the choice of Solomon, or of Aristides, the Just, should he be appointed by himself to an office in any other civic corporate body. The most brilliant member of the Council, [illegible] of the Province, by [illegible] the duties [illegible] position. The town is not so lacking in men of ability and rectitude that a dozen men can practically claim a monopoly of offices requiring brains and honesty. As before intimated, there is no objection personally to the appointment of Mr. Davidson; he is, in that respect, in every way well qualified for the position—has administrative ability, business tact, honest intention and an interest in the welfare of the town, but while he is a member of the Town Council he must, on principle, be regarded, as that appointment, ineligible for the position. The Town Council flagrantly disregards the principle, universally conceded, except by themselves, that no member of any body has a right to appoint himself to an office of trust. If that body continues to disregard one of the most brilliant principles of responsible government, it will be the duty of the Government to supervise and remove the power of working evil beyond which.

Since the above was in type it is reported that Mr. Davidson only accepted the office in view of his retirement from the Council at the end of this present year. This does not, however, lessen the force of the contention, nor justify the practice of disregarding the principle of the incompatibility of office.

Personal.

We are pleased to state that Mr. A. E. Dixon, law student in the office of Mr. Geo. Edgerson, has just returned from Toronto, after having passed successfully his second intermediate examination in law at Osgoode Hall, in which he obtained the requisite number of marks on his written examination to relieve him from an oral. The EXAMINER gives its congratulations.

Mr. D. J. Lynch, barrister, and Dr. Orme, of Campbellford, were in town yesterday attending the funeral of the late Bishop Lamont.

Dr. C. Collins, graduate of Queen's College, Kingston, is about to open an office for the practice of his profession in Peterborough, in the house on Simcoe street, next to Dr. Crowley's veterinary office. Dr. Collins passed most creditable examinations and will no doubt secure a share of the patronage of the public.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5th.

In the Commons yesterday Sir H. Langevin introduced a Bill to prevent the unauthorized construction of works on navigable waters.

Sir John Macdonald said that the Government was considering the question of issuing scrip to certain Halfbreeds from whom scrip had been withheld for participation in the rebellion. He also stated that certain Halfbreeds, who had crossed into the United States near the Turtle Mountains had been informed that if they came back and behaved well they would not be disturbed.

Mr. McLelan said that the gross debt of the Dominion on the 1st of May was over $261,000,000, and the net debt over $205,000,000, and the floating debt over $14,000,000.

Sir John Macdonald said that another contract had been granted within the last few days to I. G. Baker & Co.

Mr. Carling said he believed the amount of the goods detained at Halifax on the way to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition was very small. He stated that the total tonnage of the Canadian exhibits was three thousand tons and that the cost would be about $160,000.

Bills founded on both sets of Canadian Pacific Railway resolutions were introduced and read a first time. Mr. White's Dominion Land Bill was passed through committee.

Mr. Foster's Steamboat Inspection Act was read a second time and passed through committee.

The House then went into supply and passed several items.

A Vermont Borgia.

ROTLAND, Vt., May 7.—The lines are tightening around Mrs. Herbert E. Nason, who is under arrest for the alleged poisoning of her son-in-law, Dan C. Parker. He died a month ago under mysterious circumstances, after exhibiting symptoms of poisoning. An examination of his remains, brought about by suspicions of foul play, resulted in Mrs. Nason's arrest. Parker and his wife had supplied a plausible motive for the alleged crime by threatening to leave the mother-in-law and remove to Boston. It soon came to the ears of Mr. Kendall, the State Attorney, that other relatives and close friends of Mrs. Nason had died in a sudden and mysterious way. He obtained leave to exhume the bodies of the dead. Three bodies were exhumed; that of Herbert Nason, the woman's husband; that of a young son of Mrs. Nason's sister, and that of Mrs. C. Britton. The body of Nason was found in that peculiarly fine state of preservation usually produced by arsenic in the system. Mrs. Britton was one of the suspected woman's closest friends. They were forever together and there seems no reasonable motive for foul play in her case nor in that of the infant nephew unless evidence may develope a Borgia mania for poisoning on the part of the suspected woman. At the preliminary hearing on Wednesday, Professor Wilbans, of Buffalo, testified to the presence of arsenic in the stomach of Parker. Mrs. Nason has stood well socially. There is great anxiety to know whether the chemical expert will find traces of arsenic in the bodies of the others.

More Handwriting.

The Globe.

Everything now portends the speedy overthrow of the Macdonald Government. It has so mixed itself up with Provincial affairs in its endeavor to obtain control of all the means of influence that it has a party in every Province which fights its battles in Provincial elections, and when that party falls, the Macdonald Government is defeated. In Quebec the Ross Government is, like its predecessor, a mere outwork of the Macdonald Government, and in the elections held in Lotbinière and in Drummond and Arthabaska, the Macdonald Government suffered a greater defeat than the Ross Government suffered. In the New Brunswick elections the great victory of the Blair Government was a great defeat of the Dominion, which set all its agents to work and used all its influence. On Wednesday last the Macdonald, as well as the Ross, Government suffered a great defeat in Vercheres, where, as at the Dominion election and at the general Provincial election, the numbers were close, and as they now had a candidate personally popular and plenty of money they felt sure of victory. All the influence of the Dominion Government was employed in Vercheres as it was used in New Brunswick. Yet a small, doubtful Liberal majority was converted into a majority of 130. So all over the country the people tell them that they have no confidence in them, and in the House of Commons their absolutely reliable majority has been reduced to 26.

Defeating the Scott Act.

The Scott Act went into force in Brockville on Saturday last, but provision is made for those who should still wish to drink. "The Old Man's Island" lies between Brockville and Morristown, in American waters. It has been leased, and a frame building erected upon it, for the sole of intoxicating liquors, a license having been obtained from the American authorities. The influences of such a place will be adventurous in the extreme, as in the summer boating is the favorite amusement here, with people of all ages and classes.

Dominion Doings.

Town Council.

A Short Special Session—Messrs. R. S. Davidson and John Carnegie, M.P.P., Elected Commissioners of the Town Trust.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday evening.

Those were present—Mayor Stevenson in the chair, and Messrs. Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, Moore, Kendry, Hartley and Measday.

The Mayor explained that he had called the meeting for the purpose of electing two commissioners of the Town Trust in the place of Mr. J. J. Landy, resigned, and Mr. Edmund Chamberlain, deceased.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. McNeil, that Mr. J. J. Landy's resignation as commissioner of the Town Trust be accepted and that Mr. R. S. Davidson be and is hereby appointed in his place.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Measday, that John Carnegie be appointed a commissioner of the Town Trust of the town of Peterborough.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Dangerous Pigeon Creek Bridge.

Its Disrepair Causes a Serious Accident.

The following incident shows that Pigeon Creek bridge is in a very dangerous condition. On Monday last Mr. John Montgomery was proceeding with his stallion, "Young Favorite Stranger," to Bobcaygeon. In crossing the bridge, after leaving the apron, no guards were found, the flimsy poles that did duty as such, having been washed away. The horse became frightened at a hole on one side and shied to the other side, where he was confronted with another hole. He reared and made a tremendous plunge, and went headlong into the water, about ten or twelve feet deep at this point, carrying his driver with him. The horse went completely under water, making a dive of about ten feet before he came to the surface. Meantime Mr. Montgomery, who is a good swimmer, or he never would have come up to tell the tale, reached the bank and called the horse which was aimlessly swimming about. The docile animal tried to obey, but a wheel of the sulkey caught in a snag and the horse was unable to reach the shore. Mr. Montgomery was powerless to give any assistance, and if it had not been for the timely arrival, with a punt, of Mr. John Sullivan, a neighboring farmer, and his son, a valuable horse would have been drowned. But by cutting the harness the animal was got ashore, with the loss of the harness and a waterproof coat. Mr. Montgomery mounted the horse in his wet clothing and rode him to the Hub. Mr. Montgomery thinks properly enough that he is entitled to substantial compensation by the corporations concerned, whether neglect to keep the bridge in proper repair be the prime cause of the accident he may with and the loss be sustained.

THE CROPS.

Fall wheat, as was expected, has come out well and continues growing steadily, being far advanced on the 1st of May. Grain of all kinds is growing steadily and looks better than on the 1st of June, 1885. All other grains are thriving well, in fact, farmers never had a better prospect at this time of year. Fruit trees are blossoming out in fine shape, and if they receive no serious check, there is, as with our fields, every prospect of a bountiful crop.

TABERNACLE SERMON.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Discourses on "Congregational Singing."

The Importance of Sacred Music and Some of the Obstacles to Its Advancement—The Irresistible Power of Music Over Mankind.

(Concluded.)

Another obstacle has been an inordinate fear of criticism. The vast majority of people singing in church never want anybody else to hear them sing. Everybody is waiting for somebody else to do his duty. If we all sang then the inaccuracies that are evident when only a few sing would be drowned out. God asks you to do as well as you can, and then, if you get the wrong pitch or keep wrong time, he will forgive any deficiency of the ear and imperfection of the voices. Angels will not laugh if you should lose your place in the musical scale, or come in, at the close a bar behind. There are three schools of singing I am told—the German school, the Italian school and the French school of singing. Now, I would like to add a fourth school, and that is the school of Christ. The voice of a contrite, broken heart, although it may not be able to stand human criticism, makes better music to God's ear than the most artistic performance when the heart is wanting. I know it is easier to preach on this than it is to practice; but I sing for two reasons—first, because I like it and next because I want to encourage those who do not know how. I have but very little faculty in that direction and no culture at all, yet I am resolved to sing though every note should go off like a Chinese gong. God has commanded it and I dare not be silent. He calls on the beasts, on the cattle, on the dragons, to praise him, and we ought not to be behind the cattle and the dragons.

Another obstacle that has been in the way of the advancement of this holy art has been so much angry discussion on the subject of music. There are those who would have this exercise conducted by musical instruments. In the same church there are those who do not like musical instruments, and so it is organ and no organ, and there is a fight. In another church it is a question whether the music shall be conducted by a precentor or by a drilled choir. Some want a drilled choir and some want a precentor, and there is a fight. Then there are those who would like in the church to have the organ played in a dull, lifeless, droning way, while there are others who would have it wreathed into fantastics, branching out in jets and spangles of sound, rolling and tossing in marvelous convolutions, as when in pyrotechnic display you think a piece is exhausted it breaks out in wheels, rockets, blue lights and serpentine demonstrations. Some would have the organ played in almost inaudible sweetness, and others would have it full of staccato passages that make the audience jump with great eyes and hair on end, as though by a vision of the witch of Endor; and he who tries to please all will succeed in nothing. Nevertheless, you are to admit the fact that this contest which is going on in hundreds of the churches of the United States to-day is a mighty hindrance to the advancement of this art. In this way scores and scores of churches are entirely crippled as to all influence, and the music is a damage rather than a praise.

Another obstacle in the advancement of this art has been the erroneous notion that the part of the service could be conducted by a delegation. Churches have said: "Oh, what an easy time we shall have. The minister will do the preaching and the choir will do the singing and we will have nothing to do." And you know as well as I that there are a great multitude of churches all through this land where the people are not expected to sing. The who'e work is done by delegation of four or six or ten persons and the audience are silent. In such a church, in Syracuse, an elder persisted in singing and so the choir appointed a committee to go and ask the squire if he would not stop. You know that in a great multitude of churches the choir are expected to do all the singing and the great masses of the people are expected to be silent, and if you utter your voice you are interfering. There they stand, the four, with opera glass dangling at their side, singing, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me," with the same spirit that they might before, on the stage, they took their part in the "Grand Duchess" or "Don Giovanni."

My Christian friends have we a right to delegate to others the discharge of this duty which God demands of us? Suppose that four wood thrushes propose to do all the singing some bright day when the woods are ringing with bird voices. It is decided that four wood thrushes shall do all the singing of the forest. Let all other voices keep silent. How beautifully the four warble! It is really fine music. But how long will you keep the forest still? Why, Christ would come into that forest and look up as he looked through the olives, and he would wave his hand and say: "Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord;" and keeping time with the stroke of innumerable wings there would be five thousand bird voices leaping into the harmony. Suppose this delegation of musical performers were tried in heaven; suppose that four choice spirits should try to do the singing of the upper temple. Hush now, thrones and dominions and principalities. David, be still, though you were the "sweet singer of Israel." Paul, keep quiet, though you have come to that crown of rejoicing. Richard Baxter, keep still, though this is the "Saints' Everlasting Rest." Four spirits now do all the singing. But how long would heaven be quiet? How long? "Hallelujah!" would cry some glorified Methodist from under the altar. "Praise the Lord!" would sing the martyrs from among the thrones. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory!" a great multitude of redeemed spirits would cry—myriads of voices uttering into one harmony and the one hundred and forty and four thousand breaking forth into one acclamation. Stop that loud singing! Stop! O, no; they cannot hear me. You might as well try to drown the thunder of the sky or beat back the roar of the sea, for every soul in heaven has received to do its own singing. Alas that we should have tried on earth that which they cannot do in heaven, and instead of joining all our voices in the praise of the most high God, delegating, perhaps to unconsecrated men and women, this most solemn and most delightful service!

Now, in this church, we have resolved upon the plan of conducting the music by a precentor. We do it for two reasons; one is that by throwing the whole responsibility upon the mass of the people, making the great multitude the choir, we might rouse more heartiness. The congregation coming on the Sabbath day feel that they cannot delegate this part of the great service to any one else, and so they themselves assume it. We have glorious congregational singing here. People have come many miles to hear it. They are not sure about the preaching, but they can always depend on the singing. We have heard the sound coming up like "the voice of many waters," but it will be done at a better rate after a while, when we shall realize the height and the depth and the immensity of this privilege.

Another reason why we adopted this plan. We do not want any choir quarrels. You know very well that in scores of the churches there has been perpetual contention in that direction. The only church fight that ever occurred under my ministry was over a melodeon in my first settlement. Have you never been in church on the Sabbath day and heard the choir sing and you said: "That is splendid music." The next Sabbath you were in the church and there was no choir at all. Why? The leader was mad or his assistants were mad or they were all mad together. Some of the choirs are made up of our best Christian people! Some of the warmest friends I have ever had have stood up in them, Sabbath after Sabbath, conscientiously and successfully leading the praises of God. But the majority of the choirs throughout the land are not made up of Christian people, and three-fourths of the church fights originate in the organ loft. I take that back and say nine-tenths. Many of our churches are dying of choirs.

Let us as a church give still more attention to the music. If a man with voice enough to sing keep silent during this exercise, he commits a crime against God and insults the Almighty.

Music ought to rush from the audience like the water from a rock—clear, bright, sparkling. If all the other part of the church service is dull, do not have the music dull. With so many thrilling things to sing about, away with all drawling and stupidity! There is nothing that makes me so nervous as to sit in a pulpit and look off on an audience with their eyes three-fourths closed and their lips almost shut, mumbling the praises of God. During my recent absence I preached to a large audience and all the music they made together did not equal one skylark! People do not sleep at a coronation. Do not let us sleep when we come to a Saviour's crowning. In order to a proper discharge of this duty let us stand up, save as age or weakness or fatigue excuse us. Seated in an easy pew we cannot do this duty half as well as when, upright, we throw our whole body into it. Let our song be like an acclamation of victory. You have a right to sing. Do not surrender your prerogative. We want to rouse all our faculties upon this subject. We want each family of our congregation to be a singing school. Childish petulance, obduracy and intractability would be soothed if we had more singing in the household; and then our little ones would be prepared for the great congregation on Sabbath day, their voices uniting with our voices in the praises of the Lord. After a shower there are scores of streams that come down the mountain side with voices rippling and silvery, pouring into one river, and then rolling in united strength to the sea. So I would have all the families in my church send forth the voice of prayer and praise, pouring it into the great tide of public worship that rolls on and on to empty into the great, wide heart of God. Never can we have our church sing as it ought until our families sing as they ought.

There will be a great revolution on this subject in all our churches. God will come down by his spirit and rouse up the old hymns and tunes that have not been more than half awake since the time of our grandfathers. The silent pews in the church will break forth into music, and when the conductor takes his place on the Sabbath day, there will be a great host of voices rushing into the harmony. My Christian friends, if we have no taste for this service on earth, what will we do in heaven where they all sing and sing forever! Let me prophesy in regard to any one here who has no delight in the worship of heaven, if you do not sing the praises of God on earth I do not believe you will ever sing them in glory. I would that our singing to-day might be like the Saturday night rehearsal for the Sabbath morning in the skies, and might begin now, by the strength and by the help of God, to discharge a duty which none of us have fully performed.

Let those refuse to sing
Who never knew our God;
But children of the heavenly king
Should speak their joys abroad.

The hill of Zion yields
A thousand sacred sweets,
Before we reach the heavenly fields
Or walk the golden streets.

Then let our songs abound,
And every tear be dry;
We're marching through Immanuel's ground
To fairer worlds on high.

Come now, clear your throats and get ready for this duty or you will never hear the end of this. I never shall forget hearing a Frenchman singing the Marseillaise hymn on the Champ Elysees, Paris, just before the battle of Sedan. I never saw such enthusiasm before or since, as he sang that national air. O, how the Frenchman shouted! Have you ever, in an English assemblage heard a band play "God Save the Queen." If you have you know something about the enthusiasm of a national air. Now, I tell you that these songs we sing Sabbath by Sabbath are the national airs of Jesus Christ and of the kingdom of heaven. When Cromwell's army went into battle he stood at the head of them one day and gave out the long metre doxology to the tune of "Old Hundred," and that great host, company by company, regiment by regiment, battalion by battalion, joined in the doxology.

And while they sang they marched, and while they marched they fought, and while they fought they got the victory. O, men and women of Jesus Christ, let us go into all our conflicts singing the praises of God, and then, instead of falling back, as we often do, from defeat to defeat, we will be marching on from victory to victory!

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "ONE THING THERE," "A ROSE IS THERE," ETC.

[illegible] but no love.

"Perhaps it would have been better for me if I had stayed at the Manor and [illegible] love."

The handsome face was [illegible] he stood in the little station of Lady Church. There, where the trees were greenest and the land was most fair, lay the pretty town of Holwood—the town that, as a child, he had believed to be the most wonderful in the world; and his home, the gray farmhouse, lay just beyond it. On the other side lay the lordly lands of King's Clyffe.

At the station a carriage awaited him, in which he was quickly conveyed to his destination.

[illegible] met him at the hall, [illegible] met heartily, [illegible] introduced him to his wife as an especial friend and favorite.

"I heard that you had not been well, Mr. Vibart," said her ladyship kindly—"Sir [illegible] Clyffe [illegible] very [illegible] hope we will grow [illegible]"

Vane said to himself that he must be out of health, for the gentle voice of Lady Charnwood had brought tears to his eyes. Then he was taken to his room; but Lord Charnwood, who was really fond of him, could not leave him long alone.

"Come out with me, Mr. Vibart," he said, "and we will have a stroll through the grounds. Then we can join the ladies at the five o'clock tea."

Vane was only too pleased to talk to his kindly genial host while they walked through the beautiful grounds of King's Clyffe. Lord Charnwood said suddenly—

"I must not forget to describe our party to you. We are fairly fortunate. We have just now under our roof the most beautiful woman in England and the richest peer. A magnificent combination, is it not?"

Vane said "Yes," with white lips and a beating heart. To him there was but [illegible] woman in the world—Lady [illegible] We have also the greatest artist, Mr. Holme, and one of the finest singers in Europe, although she is not professional—Lady Fayne. Quite a galaxy, is it not?"

But Vane asked with feverish lips—

"Who is the most beautiful woman in England?"

Lord Charnwood laughed.

"Not to know that is to be out of the world," he said. "The loveliest woman in England is Lady Lilias Audley; and she, I am proud to say, is now visiting my wife."

Vane did not swoon, which seemed to him afterwards somewhat wonderful, nor did he cry out, but he walked on for some minutes in silence by Lord Charnwood's side.

"You must put on strong armour, Mr. Vibart," continued his lordship, "for besides being the most beautiful she is considered [illegible]"

How the words stung him! He saw again the beautiful proud face bending over the meadow-sweet. He heard again the words that had cut him off and cast him from her—"It can never be."

Lord Charnwood had not noticed his agitation; he went on—

"Lady Lilias is of my mind perfect. Have you ever seen her? Her hair is like dead-gold, and her eyes—well, you must see them to appreciate them. She has been the reigning beauty for the last three years, there is no one to come near her. I am a great admirer of beautiful women," added his lordship frankly.

Then the question that had been burning on Vane's lips found voice.

"If she is so beautiful, how is it that she has not married?"

The voice was not like his own, and his face had the pallor of death.

"I do not know. At first people said she was too proud to marry even a prince, but I hear she has changed very much during the last year, and the general opinion is that beautiful Lady Lilias loves some one she is too proud to marry."

Vane was silent again, for he could find no words; and when he did speak, it was to change the subject. He said that beautiful face that he had seen bending over the meadow-sweet have a smile for him?

"You look far from well, said Lord Charnwood, when they separated. "Perhaps you would rather not join the ladies?"

"Such a change as that would do any one good. We have no ladies at Lulworth," said Vane laughingly; but there was no laughter in his heart.

Lady Charnwood was very fond of a five-o'clock tea. It was to her one of the most pleasant hours of the day—an easy happy hour.

The tea was served in a pretty room known as the white room, a bright, warm, sunny apartment always full of sweet flowers. On this June afternoon, the long French windows of the white room were open, and the curtains of fine white lace were gently stirred by the wind; the fountains in the pretty rose-garden played merrily, and the song of the birds made sweeter music than the ripple of woman's laughter.

Lady Charnwood, a most fair and gracious lady, presided at the little table, and dispensed cups of tea and choice fruit.—Near her sat Lady Fayne, whose face was not beautiful, but was so full of expression that no beauty of form or coloring was equal to it. Near the window, surrounded as she always was by a little circle of admirers sat Lady Lilias Audley, looking more beautiful, more queenly than ever.—There was some subtle change in her face. It was even lovelier, but its color was somewhat lessened, and the expression was infinitely sweeter and softer. She looked like a fair young queen in her dress of cream-colored silk with trailing white lace, and a spray of white jessamine in her dead-gold hair. She held a peach in her hand, and was admiring the down on it, when the door opened and Lord Charnwood with Vane entered the room. The young Duke of Rayford, the greatest matrimonial prize in England, was scowling over her, thinking that this lovely woman with the dead-gold hair, holding the peach in her white hand, formed the fairest picture he had ever seen. She saw her start suddenly and grow deadly pale, and the peach fell from her hand. He saw her shiver as with cold, and the beautiful figure trembled.

"You are ill, Lady Lilias," said the Duke.

"No; I am tired. The room is warm, and there are too many flowers."

She rose abruptly, but her fate was not prepared. There stood Lord Charnwood, and with him the man that loved her more than his life.

"Lady Audley," said the master of King's Clyffe, "may I introduce Mr. Vibart to you?"

She summoned all her courage, and rub-

Don't be Deceived.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them so take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Pointed Suggestions

"The man whose wife woke him up in church by sticking a pin in him says he doesn't like such pointed suggestions." We have a few suggestions to make which although not quite so pointed are very important:—

Before you buy your Dolmans we would suggest that you see our New Materials. Ottoman Cords, Polish Rep, Satin Duchesse, Brocaded and Merveilleux Satins, and Plain Black Silks.

Extra Good Value.

Another suggestion we cannot avoid making is, that you inspect our Trimmed and Untrimmed Millinery. Our success in this department enables us to be adding constantly new goods.

Just opened another lot of Beautiful New Shapes and at prices that more than surprise. A share of your patronage solicited.

Wilson's woollen mill is the place to get your carpets washed and cleaned.

Bachelors vs. Benedicts.

The bachelors and benedicts of the P. A. A. cricket club were engaged in the first match of the season at the time of going to press.

Sunday Services.

The Rev. C. H. Marsh, Incumbent of Mulmur, and formerly of Otonabee, will occupy the pulpit of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, to-morrow.

Murray Street Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Munro will preach at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. His subject in the morning will be "Light for Others," in the evening, "The Great Supper."

"The Flower Queen."

Practice for the cantata "The Flower Queen" will be held in St. Andrew's church on Monday evening. A full attendance of participants is requested.

Cincinnatti Plastering and Pointing Trowels, the very best made in America. Also Fine and Coarse Hand Saws from the same manufacturers, warranted equal to Disston's and at less prices. GEORGE STOCKDILL.

Re-Opening Anniversary.

The anniversary of the re-opening of St Paul's Church will be celebrated on Sunday next, May 9th, when Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Knox Church Toronto, will preach morning and evening. Special collections in aid of the building and furnishing fund will be taken up.

For Gentlemen Only.

This morning a boy stood at the corner of Hunter and George streets with a handful of letters addressed, "Gentlemen only," of which he handed one to every man that passed. Of course they were accepted, the address being considered correct. The contents was a medical advertisement.

The Boating Club.

At a largely attended meeting of the Boating Club held on Thursday night, it was unanimously decided to reduce the scale of rates and membership fees. The full membership fee, with use of club row boats, is $5—commencing members, $2, with a further fee of 50c. for racks. The initiatory fee of $1 was abolished. A large number of new members were added to the club, and prospects of a lively season's boating are promising. Parties wishing canoe racks should apply to the secretary immediately as the number is limited and have nearly all been taken.

Ocular Aids.

The reader whose sight is defective is particularly concerned in remembering that Mr. P. H. Morris, the eminent optician, will be at the drug store of Mr. John McKee, Peterborough, on Monday and Tuesday, May 10th and 11th, for the purpose of fitting the celebrated "B. Laurance" pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses. This is an opportunity of having the best spectacles and eye-glasses in the world, fitted to the exact requirements of the eye by a thoroughly competent optician. Further valuable information can be got by reading Mr. McKee's advertisement in the DAILY and WEEKLY EXAMINER. Make a note of the date of Mr. Morris' visit, May 10th and 11th.

The Cobourg & Peterborough.

The Cobourg World, in an item on the Cobourg & Peterborough Railway, lately purchased by Mr. Pearce, of Madoc, at auction in Toronto, the particulars of which were supplied by Mr. Pearce, says:—"Mr. Pearce intends taking the personal management of his newly acquired property, and will operate this season the Harwood branch. On Monday, in company with the engineer, he took a run over the road between Cobourg and Harwood, to ascertain the extent of the damage done to the road-bed by the storms of winter. They found that considerable ballasting would be necessary before the road could be used for traffic. The railroad will be operated this year at all events. Mr. Pearce has completed arrangements with the Peterborough proprietors of the Harwood mills for the transhipment during the coming season of seven or eight million feet of lumber. Mr. Pearce will probably dismantle the road from the Narrows to where it crosses the C. P. R., a distance of six miles. There have been several millions of dollars invested in the property, which will, we trust, under Mr. Pearce's energetic direction, be profitable to him and the municipalities which are interested in it." The Bank of Toronto has a participation in the speculation.

A Horse For Sale.

A large and heavy horse was sold on the market this morning for $180. The animal was worth more than the price paid for it by at least one dollar for every year he had lived.

For Young Men.

The young men who can't get the advantages in the Y. M. C. A. rooms the always get a welcome either when there are entertainments. The usual meetings will be held to-night at 8 o'clock and on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. A song service, open to all, is held on Sunday at 8.30 p. m.

Great Growth.

Mr. D. McIlmoyle, of Fraserville, South Monaghan, has shown the EXAMINER a stalk of wheat of this year's growth, pleaked on May 8th, of the astonishing growth of 22 inches. This is an evidence both of the extraordinary growth of the season, and of Mr. McIlmoyle's excellent farming.

A New Serial Story.

On Saturday next, on the completion of the serial story now running in the EXAMINER, will begin the charming tale entitled, "Love's Victory." And at the close of this, arrangements will be completed for the publication of one of the great Walter Besant best stories, "My Lady's Money."

Spring Cleaning.

The work of cleaning out yards, sheds, etc., is progressing rapidly. Parties who have not done their spring "cleaning up," as required by law, should remember that after Saturday next the Sanitary Inspectors will make their annual visits, and all who have failed to comply with the law will be prosecuted.

Raised the Rates.

The Lindsay council, by compelling the G.T.R. to erect freight sheds, have "driven" the company to imposing higher freight rates, and the merchants are complaining in consequence, but to no avail. On east bound freight the rate from Lindsay was the same as from Peterborough, but Lindsay is made reduced to its geographical position in regard to rates.

Successful Surgical Operation.

The attending surgeon at the Nicholl's Hospital yesterday removed successfully a large tumour from the thigh of an elderly female patient. This is the first operation of the kind ever performed in the hospital. To-day the case continues to progress favorably. There are six inmates at present, five of which are surgical cases, and only one medical.

And Still Another.

The National Fire Insurance Company, of Ireland, established in 1822, has appointed Mr. E. E. Henderson agent for the company, in Peterborough and district, which includes Lindsay. Mr. Henderson now represents the following first-class and substantial insurance companies, viz: the British Empire Mutual Life, 1847; the Phœnix Fire, of England, 1782; the National Fire, of Ireland, 1822; and the Accident Insurance Company, of North America.

Licenses Granted.

A meeting of the West Riding License Commissioners was held in the town yesterday afternoon. The several applications for licenses received, were considered and the following granted:—Druggists' licenses—Ormond & Walsh and John McKee. Wholesale licenses—John Cameron, Rush Bros., John Garvey and Morrow, Tierney & Co. The wholesale licenses were granted on the condition that the parties receiving them comply with the Act with regard to having separate liquor premises as well as in all the other particulars.

Driving Park Races.

The attention of those who delight in the exciting sports of the turf is called to the Queen's Birthday attractions in this line. They cannot be but pleased with the splendid programme prepared by the Driving Park Association, for the sports to be held at the Park on May 24th. The programme includes several events in trotting, running and hurdle races and as liberal purses are provided, it is certain that large entries will be made of good horses, and that a splendid afternoon's sport will be the result. The starter's bell rings for the "ready" at 1 o'clock.

Baseball.

The Peterborough Baseball Club began practice last night on Bonnerbee's point. About two dozen of the boys assembled and practiced by striking out and fielding. The interest taken in the game is growing and the boys feel confident that they will be able to hold their own with the clubs of the neighboring towns. They have among their numbers several pitchers and catchers, besides good all-round men, and intend to play the game as it should be played. A practice game will be played to-night, commencing at 5.30. A meeting to appoint a captain and transact other important business will be held on Tuesday evening.

Market Items.

Green garden truck, vegetables, flowers, butter, eggs and hay were plentiful at the market this morning. Purchasers were numerous and the square presented a lively picture. Prices were little changed and were quoted as follows:—Butter, in prints, 18c. to 20c.; eggs, for shipment, 10c.; for local use, 11c.; duck eggs, 20c.; chickens, 60c.; turkeys, $1.00; veal, 5½ to 7½; potatoes, 60c. to 65c. per bag; parsnips, carrots and beets, 70c. per bag; onions, lettuce, spinach, asparagus, and rhubarb, 5c. per bunch; maple sugar, 12½ per pound. Messrs. F. Mason and A. Slade, florists, offered loads of beautiful flowers for sale, and tomato and cabbage plants were offered in large quantities. About a dozen loads of hay were offered at $10 per ton.

News Notes.

Sunday Services and Sermons.

Anniversary Services in St. Paul's Conducted by Rev. Mr. Parsons of Knox Church, Toronto.

The congregation of St. Paul's Church celebrated the anniversary of the re-opening of their church on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Knox Church, Toronto, conducted the services, occupying the pulpit both morning and evening and also conducted the pastor's Bible Class in the afternoon. His discourse were eloquent and impressive and were delivered to large and attentive congregations. A largely attended praise and thanksgiving service was held in the church.

The following is a short synopsis of the sermon delivered at the usual morning services:—

The reverend gentleman took as the subject of his remarks the 2nd to the 15th verses of the 2nd Chapter of Colossians. He said that Jesus Christ having overcome the principalities and powers of darkness, made a show of them openly and triumphed over them, and Christians who died and were resurrected with him should also triumph and rejoice over those powers of darkness. Christ condescended to suffer death that through death he might have power over death and the powers of darkness. The reluctance of the devil to allow any to escape death was shown in the Scriptures. The victory of Jesus over the last foe, and the reluctance with which death let the body go, was also shown. Many were inclined to think that at Christ's death the conflict was ended, but it was not. After death a conflict with the powers of darkness ensued, and

CHRIST ROSE VICTORIOUS.

It was the same now as at the creation. Christ speaks and the new-born spirit comes into existence. The almighty power that raised the body of Jesus from the dead was pledged to defend Christians. The angels of wickedness in robes of light might try to deceive, but the Holy Spirit would give power to overcome all attacks. "Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell" was a prophesy which referred to the resurrection of Christ, whom God would not allow to suffer the bondage of death or of the unseen world.

"When he ascended upon high he led captivity captive." "For in that he himself hath suffered he is able to succor them that are tempted." Christ led death captive and robbed it of its sting. Christians had now the blessed assurance that after death they would live and that they would again meet their friends

TO PART NO MORE.

Dying was like parting to meet on the morning. As Paul says in his epistle to the Corinthians. "Behold I show you a mystery. We shall not sleep, but we shall be changed. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed." The dead shall be raised up first and then those who are living shall be changed. Christ was the willing victim sacrificed to secure this blessing. Christians derived comfort when they contemplated the resurrection of Jesus and the public show he made of the power of darkness and his subsequent triumph. By the victory of Jesus over death his followers. They were also certain of victory over the powers of darkness and unseen demonic forces. Though many scoffed the idea Christians knew of the existence of a personal devil and of a personal Saviour, who by his spirit gave them power to overcome the attacks of the devil. Though the body was dying away Christians should be jubilant and thankful, knowing that Jesus had overcome death for all and that they shall be clothed in the beauty of his holiness.

SPIRITUAL LIFE WAS INSURED

In the evening the reverend gentleman preached a powerful sermon from the 16th verse of the 2nd chapter of Philippians, exhorting the members of the church, on the occasion of their anniversary, to consecrate themselves anew to God, and to more vigorously maintain his cause by "holding forth the word of life."

Special collections in aid of the church building and furnishing fund were taken up.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The regular services were conducted in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning by Rev A. Bell. The evening services were dispensed with to allow all members of the church who wished an opportunity of attending the anniversary services at St. Paul's.

ST LUKE'S CHURCH.

The pulpit of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was occupied yesterday by the Rev. C. H. Marsh, Incumbent of Malmur, formerly of Otonabee, who delivered able and earnest sermons to large congregations.

No one should miss hearing "Ruth" at St. John's Church, on Tuesday evening, 11th inst. Mrs. Chambers as "Ruth."

Those Town Trust Appointments.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—I am in sympathy with your sentiments, as expressed in your article in Saturday's issue, respecting the recent appointment of commissioners of the Town Trust. In speaking of Mr. Carnegie's appointment, you very properly condemned the impropriety of selecting a non-resident, but you might have strengthened your position by pointing out that the Act, 24 Vic., Cap. 61, respecting the debt of the town of Peterborough, contemplates that only a resident of the town shall be an incumbent of the said office. Section 8 of said Act says:

In the event of the death, removal, absence, or resignation of any of the said Commissioners, the vacancy or vacancies shall be filled from time to time by the Town Council, who shall have power, at any meeting specially called for that purpose, to appoint a new Commissioner in the room of any Commissioner so dying, removing, or absenting himself from the Town, or resigning his office, and thereupon the said property shall vest in such new Commissioner along with the Commissioner or Commissioners who shall still retain office, upon the same trusts as are heretofore declared.

This section clearly debars Mr. Carnegie from being a commissioner, according to law. It may be cited that Mr. Edward Chamberlen was a non-resident and therefore improperly held the office. But it must be remembered that he was appointed by the Act and the Town Council had no power in his case. In the cases of Messrs. Charles Bradfield and William Toole removing from town, the office thereby became vacant.

I have no objection on personal grounds to Mr. Carnegie holding the office but I take this position. In addition to its being a clear infraction of the clause of the Act above recited, it is a most improper principle, that a man who has been secretary of the Trust for years and practically its accountant, should, whether outsider or resident, be placed in the position of being able to examine his own books and to pronounce upon the correctness of his own records.

The fact, is as you say, the time has come when the practice of appointing persons to offices whose functions at any moment may come into conflict, should give place to a mode of making appointments, which will, while avoiding a clashing of duties, comply with the principles of honest representative government, and avoid the "very appearance of evil."

Yours, etc.,
APPENDIX.

The Deadly Dynamite.

A Thurlow Farmer Blown to Pieces.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that one of the most horrible casualties recorded in the annals of the township of Thurlow was that which hurled Mr. Andrew Sherman into eternity on Friday morning, May 7th. Mr. Sherman lives on lot 24, 3rd concession of Thurlow, near the Tyendinaga line. With him dwell his wife and two sons. On the morning in question the victim of the accident went to a rock in the field about forty rods from the house for the purpose of blasting it out. About 10.30 an explosion was heard, but nothing further was thought of it, as Mr. Sherman is accustomed to handling explosives, especially powder, having done considerable blasting at one time and another. Not coming to dinner at the usual time, a son proceeded to the field and found what remained of his father's body. When found, Sherman was lying on his back about 20 feet from the rock completely disemboweled. His face was not disfigured and had a look of repose. The left arm was broken and the hand slightly lacerated. His heart was found hanging to the fence, and his liver and a few ribs were picked up 150 feet distant from the body. The family did not know that he was going to blasting that day, although they knew he was drilling the rock. They had no explosives about the place, so far as the family knew. It is stated that Mr. Sherman told his wife in the morning that he had a disagreeable dream the night before, which clung to him and gave him a presentiment of impending evil. He was about 52 years of age, and has always been a resident of the county.

OUR NATIONAL LIBRARY

AFTER YEARS OF NEGLECT CONGRESS WILL ALLOW IT A HOME.

History of the Congressional Library Twice Destroyed by Fire—Its Growth and Present Cramped Quarters—Sketch of the Proposed New Building.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—This nation is at last going to have a library building worthy of the name, and when we look back at the long attempts at legislation in the matter in the light of the evident needs on the subject it does seem incredible that congress would be so dilatory in making provision for the thousands upon thousands of valuable books and art works that have been virtually piling up about their feet.

THE PRESENT CONGRESSIONAL LIBRARY.

Not only have the shelves and tables of the present library been fairly bursting with books, but a number of dark, unventilated rooms in the basement of the Capitol have been gorged as well, until the storage capacity of the Capitol being exhausted, congress was compelled to do something. It is to Senators Voorhees, of Indiana, and Morrill, of Vermont, as well as Representative Singleton, of Mississippi, that the credit is due in securing the long delayed legislation.

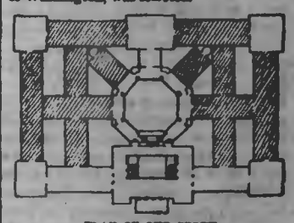
The present library has had a wonderful history. It was founded by congress in 1800, and 3,000 books were selected in London for it. John Randolph was one of its strongest supporters. When the British soldiers looted the Capitol building in 1814 they used the books from the library to kindle the fire which destroyed the building. About this time Thomas Jefferson had got into financial straits, which compelled him to sell his very valuable library of 6,000 volumes. Congress purchased them. These books, wrung by poverty from poor old Jefferson, were the nucleus of the new library.

The library was then in the room now occupied by the clerk of the supreme court, but in 1824 a portion of its present quarters were established. In 1851 the library numbered about 60,000 books, when it was again visited by fire from a defective flue, which destroyed 30,000 of the books. In 1853 the present quarters were built, with shelf room for less than 300,000 books, while the present collection considerably exceeds 330,000. The law library contains 60,000 volumes and occupies the old chamber of the supreme court. Ainsworth R. Spofford, of Ohio, has been the librarian for twenty-two years, while a predecessor of his, John S. Meehan, of New York, held that position for thirty-two years. So much for the present library.

THE NEW LIBRARY BUILDING.

Over thirteen years ago, after years of urging in the matter, congress allowed a commission to be appointed to consider plans for a new library. A report of the labors of this commission and the various other committees selected in the matter later, together with the bills introduced from time to time, would fill a good sized library. Senator Voorhees says that never in the history of legislation has a measure been so thoroughly weighed and considered in every detail, and herewith we present the result in the illustration.

To procure competition among architects a prize of $1,500 was offered for the best design. Twenty-eight plans were submitted, many of them from Europe. Two years was given to a consideration of the plans, when the design submitted by J. L. Smithmeyer, of Washington, was selected.



PLAN OF ONE STORY.

In the above plan the shaded portions indicate the parts of the building to be occupied by book shelves. The other large rooms will be used for fine art exhibits, maps, charts, etc. The main reading room will be in the central rotunda, which will be 100 feet in diameter. The second story will be almost a duplicate of this plan.

It is estimated that the proposed new building will cost about $4,000,000, and will require three years in construction before being ready for occupancy. Five hundred and fifty thousand dollars is appropriated for the purchase of the property, the site to be the three squares nearest either the northeast or southeast corners of the Capitol grounds.

The new building will be 420 by 300 feet in exterior dimensions, covering 2.9 acres of ground, and will ultimately have a capacity for shelving three million books. The area covered by the British Museum is five acres, that of the National Library, Paris, four and one-half acres, and for comparison's sake it might be added that our buildings of the Capitol cover three and one-half acres.

TRENT NAVIGATION WORKS.

On Friday last the following members waited on the Minister of Canals to present the remonstrance of further delay, of the Trent Valley Association, adopted at the meeting of that body:—Messrs. Tyrwhitt, O'Brien, Cameron (Hector), Hilliard, Burnham, Robertson, Cochrane and Guillett. Mr. Cameron, as spokesman, presented the case. The Minister said the Trent Valley Canal Association seemed to be under a misapprehension, as a considerable sum (by the way, a peddling little re-vote) was in the printed estimates, and he had no doubt they would find a sufficient amount in the supplementary estimates when brought down to show that he had not forgotten his promise. The association was under no misapprehension. The association has had enough experience with the shilly-shallying of the Government on the question of building the Trent Valley Canal not to continue laboring under "misapprehensions," and if their indignant remonstrance, couched in plain language, had not been sent forward to the Minister, there is no probability that any mention would have been made of a sum being placed in the supplementary estimates. The apprehension of Government methods and motives by the Trent Valley Canal Association is too lively to admit of their trusting the Government to take further action in prosecuting the work, without being vigorously reminded of its duty in this respect. The people have had enough of palaver; they want money to build the canal.

MORE PLUNDER BY MERE "BOYS."

The evidence of the corruption that reigns among the Tory members of Parliament at Ottawa is accumulating every day. On the heels of the Beaty-Woodworth scandal comes another job which implicates several members of Parliament who have used their influence as members to enrich themselves at the expense of the public revenues. Papers were brought down to Parliament on Friday showing the relations between the Government and the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Company. The company referred to is composed of Senator Robitaille, his brother Mr. L. A. Robitaille, Mr. Riopel, M. P., and Mr. McGreevy, M. P., all being supporters of the Government. The Mr. Riopel mentioned is also a director in Mr. Beaty's North-west Central Railway. Evidently "The Boy" selected his associates with care. On the seventh November last Messrs. Robitaille, McGreevy, and Riopel, under the name of the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Company, made a contract with the Government to build twenty miles of railway, from Metapedia to Paspebiac, for $300,000 or $15,000 per mile. This contract, which is signed by the Hon. J. H. Pope on behalf of the Government and Senator Robitaille and his brother on behalf of the Company, the signatures being witnessed by Mr. Riopel, M. P., sets forth that "Her Majesty agrees to grant, and does hereby grant, to the Baie des Chaleurs Railway Company the sum of $300,000 for twenty miles of railway to be constructed, payable out of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada. Now it is known that the Robitaille-Riopel Company have been trying to play Beaty with this contract. Having a large subsidy of $15,000 per mile from the Dominion Government and about $6,000 per mile from the Quebec Government they have been trying to sell out to advantage. They offered their contract and subsidies to one contractor for $25,000 cash; to another they offered to sell out for $600 per mile on all subsidies received from the Government, a condition of this arrangement being that the contractor should use his influence on behalf of the Tory candidate (Mr. Riopel himself) at the next election. All this can be easily proved. The fact is the Government entered into a contract with these men, and in order that they would have something to sell, the Government spent about $5,000 on the Paspebiac Railway last year, and the Robitailles got the benefit of that expenditure. When is this sort of thing to cease? Political morality is a thing of the past when the government of a country condones such dishonest trafficking in the influence which a member of Parliament should exercise for the benefit of the country. What honest administration can be expected? What national prosperity is possible if such things continue? What hope is there for the future of Canada?

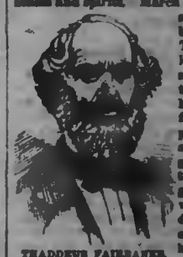
Italian Band.

The principal streets were paraded to-day by two Italian minstrels, who produced from Swiss bagpipes and a flageolet the most select Italian airs, such as "Where is my little dog gone," "Beautiful Spring," and "Home, Sweet Home." The music was not highly appreciated and the poor fellows received pittis for their exertions.

THADDEUS FAIRBANKS.

He Invented the Platform Scales and Befriended St. Johnsbury.

The inventor of the Fairbanks platform scales lived to be 80 years old, and then died of an accident. Sunday, Jan. 22, was his 80th birthday. His neighbors called to see him, and congratulated him on his good health and spirits. March 21 he made a misstep in the hall of his house, and fell. The fall broke his left hip. He was so aged that from the first there was little hope that the fracture could knit properly and heal again. He suffered great pain from the injury, which grew worse and worse until he died. Only for the accident, he might have lived several more years.



THADDEUS FAIRBANKS.

Thaddeus Fairbanks was born at Brimfield, Mass., 1796. He was a hereditary Puritan New Englander. In 1633 Jonathan Fairbanks came to this country from Yorkshire, England. The family must have been very long lived. Thaddeus was only the sixth in descent from this first Jonathan. It is nearly as old an American family as there is left in the country. Neither do the number of full-blooded Fairbankses that survive the venerable gentleman bear out the oft-repeated accusation that the old New England families are running out. There are in St. Johnsbury this day nearly enough of the kin to keep two churches going. The patriarch himself attended the South Congregational church, of which his nephew, Edward Fairbanks, is pastor. His son is superintendent of the Sunday school, and another nephew is deacon. There seems to be not room for all the Fairbankses in this church, and a number of them belong to the North Congregational church of St. Johnsbury, of which still a third nephew is deacon, and a fourth Sunday school superintendent.

Thaddeus Fairbanks was a born inventor. When a boy he helped his father build a saw mill and a grist mill. He never had any education, except what was got in the common schools of his native village, but his mechanical genius triumphed without book learning. In the early part of the century he and his brother started a small iron foundry with the firm name of E. & T. Fairbanks, in St. Johnsbury, to which their father had removed. Erastus was twice governor of Vermont.

The brothers at first made stoves and plows. Thaddeus designed and made the patterns for both. In 1826 he patented a plow and in 1825 a cooking stove. That was about the days of the first cooking stoves in America. But his great work was the invention of the platform scales. In 1830 it was the fashion among New England farmers to cultivate hemp. There was great difficulty in separating the fiber from the bark or straw. To obviate that Thaddeus invented and patented a hemp dresser. The firm bought the straw and paid $15 a ton for it. But it was exceedingly difficult to decide how much a ton was. There was no way to weigh anything except by the balance and the old-fashioned steelyards.

Once more Mr. Fairbanks began to turn his mind to inventing. He studied, thought and experimented. The result was the platform scale, not perfect at first but practicable, so that a loaded wagon could be weighed upon it. In a little while the scales were in demand the country over, and the fortune of the Fairbanks brothers was made. They gave up the manufacture of everything else and confined themselves thence forward to scales. They made many patterns and sizes of these. Thaddeus has received decorations from three foreign governments for his scales.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., is proud of two possessions, the Fairbanks scale works and the St. Johnsbury academy. It owes both to Thaddeus Fairbanks. St. Johnsbury is said to be a workingman's paradise. The academy is a noble institution of learning. He gave to it $300,000. For many years it was his custom to sign and present the diplomas of the graduating class.

What Say You to a Piece of Roast Beef and Mustard?

Well, there is much to be said. The question being asked of the banqueter at the average boarding house, calls up reminiscences of close contiguity to the horns, and beefsteak three cuts south thereof. LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

ed her eyes to his, then turned away.

"I have met Mr. Vibart before," she said gently. "He is an old friend;" and Lady Carnwood left them together.

"I did not know that you were expected here," she remarked.

"Nor did I dream of seeing you, Lady Lilias," he answered.

She walked to the window and he followed her.

"If my presence annoys you," he said, "I will make some excuse and leave King's Clyffe, at once;" and there was a ring of passion in his voice.

"Why should you?" she returned. "You must know it is a pleasure for me to see you again." She spoke as though she were compelled to tell the truth even in spite of herself. "I am glad you are looking well, Mr. Vibart," she added.

"I do not feel well," he replied. "I find life very hard, harder than I had ever dreamed."

"I have not found it very easy," she said gently. She half hesitated, and then added, "I have thought of you very often since that meeting."

"And I have thought of nothing but you," he said. "I have tried to forget you; I've tried to drown all thoughts of you, but I might as well have tried to live without a heart beating in my breast. What cruelty of fate has brought me hither to suffer all the old pain and anguish over again?"

Her exquisite face was raised shyly to his. "Perhaps you will not suffer. Life teaches many things. I have learned one lesson since you went away."

Then Lady Carnwood joined them.

"I had no idea that you were old friends," she said.

"Mr. Vibart was with us for a short time at Ulverscroft," answered Lady Lilias. "The beautiful bridge over the river was his design."

She decided that there should be no mistake this time. He should not think she was ashamed of him. For she, the proudest girl in England, had found out for herself the secret, and at the time with all her heart she had learned to love the ardent boy who long ago had first dreamed of winning her. Of course his suit was all nonsense, and could never come to anything. A marriage between the queen of beauty, the heiress of Ulverscroft, and a professional man was absurd even to think about. Yet she loved him as she could never love prince or peer. The day came when "the proudest girl in England" owned to herself that the whole happiness of her life had gone with Vane Fraser Vibart. She had thought she would never marry. Title, money, position—nothing could tempt her, nothing save love, and love and she had parted on the day when she sent Vane from her. She had repented it; she could never understand why from all the world she had chosen him; she had said to herself if that morning were to come over again she should speak differently. But he had passed out of her life, and her pride would never let her call him back again—never!

But, now that fate or fortune had brought them together again, now that she stood once more in his presence, the old glamour fell upon her, the old love stirred in her heart; and she knew, if he spoke to her again, what her answer would be.

She was so kind, so gracious, so sweet in her manner to him that he was bewildered. She sat next to him during dinner, and talked with a brilliancy quite new to her. She wanted to know all that he had done since they parted.

"Would it really interest you?" he asked wonderingly.

"More than anything you can tell me," she replied.

"You have no idea," she said, "how beautiful the bridge looks over the Ulver. Will you never come to see it again?"

"I should imagine not," he replied; and yet a strange happiness was stirring in his heart. Why was she so kind to him? If she knew that nothing but an unhappy love could be between them, why was she so gracious, so kind, so sweet to him? Yet he dared not think, dared not hope—he was bewildered.

Into Vane's mind came other thoughts. How near he was to his old home, and how little any one surmised it! What a false position it seemed, that he, the son of a poor farmer, should be a welcome guest at King's Clyffe, where his father would enter in lowly guise! Yet his genius had won the place for him; and there was no need to be ashamed of his home. There were times when he almost longed to reveal who he was, and to say boldly, "I am the son of a poor farmer who lives near Holwood." And again there were times when he shuddered lest any accident should make it known.

When dinner was over, and the music began in the drawing-room, he found himself once more by her side. The light fell full upon her, upon her figure of imperial beauty and grace, upon her exquisitely lovely face upon the masses of hair with diamonds shining in it, and upon the artistic dress of rich white lace trimmed with long green grasses.

"You are fond of music," she said, with one of her irresistible smiles, which went straight to Vane's heart. "You will be delighted to hear Lady Fayne. She is one of the finest singers I have heard."

"My delight will be doubled if you will allow me to remain some where near you, Lady Lilias."

She did not answer him in words; but there was something in her face which told him that the delight would be doubled for her.

Then the young Duke led Lady Fayne to the piano, Vane and Lady Lilias went to one of the long open windows.

Vane owned to himself that he never knew what music or magic meant before. Lady Lilias had turned from the brilliant light of the lamps and in the moonlight her proud fair face was all sweetness.—Her dead-gold hair and diamonds shone brightly, and her proud superb beauty was softened.

Clear, fresh, and magnificent, the rich contralto voice of Lady Fayne rose and filled the room with grandeur and—a voice so sympathetic that it brought tears to the eyes of those who heard it. The song she sang—"Three Kisses"—was strangely sweet—a song sad as it was sweet. And these were the words—

"Three, only three, my darling,
Separate, solemn, and slow,
Not like the swift and joyous ones
We used to know—
Then we kissed because we loved each other.
Simply to taste love's sweet,
And lavished our kisses as summer
Lavishes heat—
But as they kiss whose hearts are wrung
When hope and fear are spent,
And nothing is left to give except
A sacrament.

"First of the three, my darling,
Is sacred unto pain;

Pointed Suggestions

"The man whose wife woke him up in church by sticking a pin in him says he doesn't like such pointed suggestions." We have a few suggestions to make which although not quite so pointed are very important:—

Before you buy your Dolmen we would suggest that you see our New Materials. Ottoman Cords, Polkin Rep, Satin DeLeon, Brocaded and Marvelleaux Satins, and Plain Black Silks.

Extra Good Value.

Another suggestion we cannot avoid making is, that you inspect our Trimmed and Untrimmed Millinery. Our success in this department enables us to be adding constantly new goods.

Just opened another lot of Beautiful New Shapes and at prices that more than surprise. A share of your patronage solicited.

Nominations for Councillors.

At a meeting held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, to-day, the following gentlemen were nominated as candidates for the village council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Wm. Mills, Esq.: Messrs. Wm. Wand, John Anderson and Roland Tivey.

Baseball.

The baseball boys practiced at Burnham's point on Saturday night. There were about thirty players present. Sides were chosen and a lively game engaged in. The score for the first three innings stood, 1 to 1. The play was exceedingly good considering that it was the first for most of the teams. The club has good material and intend to work it up this season.

New Auction Business.

In addition to the commission and forwarding business, Messrs. Sherwood & Co. have established themselves as auctioneers, and now, with the experienced and clever expert, Mr. John Haggart, as salesman, are prepared to conduct auction sales in town and country. Remember the new firm when auction business, efficiently and satisfactorily done, is needed. Office, Water street, Peterborough.

The Event of the Day.

The 24th of May is fast approaching, and so is the fulfilment of the most attractive programme for the day's enjoyment. The Driving Park Association will present on the afternoon of the 24th an exciting programme of sporting events, in trotting, running, and hurdle racing. Good prizes will draw good horses, and closely contested and fast races, and a rattling afternoon's sport is sure to be the result. Don't forget the Driving Park Races on Monday afternoon, May 24th.

Railway Changes.

A change has been made in the management of a portion of the Grand Trunk Railway system. Mr. W. M. Riddel, who has recently occupied the position of district superintendent of the Midland division, has been promoted to the general superintendency of an amalgamated division, consisting of the Grand Trunk, main line, from Montreal to Toronto, and the entire Midland system. His headquarters will be at Belleville, whither the despatchers' office will be removed at no distant date.

Ocular Aids.

The reader whose sight is defective is particularly concerned in remembering that Mr. P. H. Morris, the eminent optician, will be at the drug store of Mr. John McKee, Peterborough, on Monday and Tuesday, May 10th and 11th, for the purpose of fitting the celebrated "B. Laurance" pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses. This is an opportunity of having the best spectacles and eye-glasses in the world, fitted to the exact requirements of the eye by a thoroughly competent optician. Further valuable information can be got by reading Mr. McKee's advertisement in the DAILY and WEEKLY EXAMINER. Make a note of the date of Mr. Morris' visit, May 10th and 11th.

Ottawa subscriptions to the Col. Williams memorial already amount to over $500.

The Tailors' Strike.

The Employers Will Not Accept the Bill of Wages as it Stands.—The Majority of the Employees Quit Work.—Hopes of a Settlement.

The presentation of a bill of wages by the Tailors' Union to the Manufacturing Clothiers has resulted in a strike on a general scale. This morning the majority of the tailors, male and female, went to their several places of work and after waiting around for a while a large number left to attend a meeting of the union in Treasure's Hall. The whole staff employed by Messrs. Andrew McNeil, H. LeBrun and T. Dolan left in a body, besides four men from A. Mercer's, one man from Hall, Innes & Co., two from D. Cameron's, and one man and four girls from Flaherty & Clark's. A meeting was held in Treasure's Hall, after which three members of the union called on the employers to ascertain if they would accept the bill of wages presented by the union, which calls for a uniform scale of prices and a general advance in prices, besides extras for trimmings, etc., and also that all work shall be done by the piece; equal pay for both sexes, and apprentices to be governed by the society. All the employers decided not to accept the bill as it stands, and the majority who left work did not return. The workmen claim that in several of the shops the proprietors have been cutting wages to such an extent that they were compelled to take some action; and also that a uniform scale of rates is necessary, so that all may enjoy equal advantages.

Several employers informed their hands that they were willing to adjust grievances if they were laid before them but would not submit to be dictated to by any union. Others are in favor of holding a joint meeting of employees and employers to arrange a uniform rate, holding that the amount for extras on the bill is preposterous and that it does not admit of a classification of work.

The proprietors say that if the wages asked in the bill are insisted on that it will seriously affect a large number of the employes, as only competent hands would be employed; and the tailoresses, instead of receiving the same wages as men, would not be employed, unless they were in every particular as proficient, which is seldom the case. One firm asserts that they will always employ a day hand, the union to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The strikers claim that all they want is a fair price for their work, and are anxious to meet the employers to discuss the matter.

Hall, Innes & Co. are paying the prices demanded with a few exceptions. The employes of Mr. W. J. Green will not participate in the strike, being satisfied with their wages.

It is likely a meeting of the union and employers will be held this evening. The employers have till this evening to sign the bill presented, when, if the union's request is not acceded to, a general strike will be proclaimed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Tory Hamilton Spectator suggests that it might be the proper caper for Mr. James Beaty, M. P., to drop the last letter of his name. Y do you propose that Mr. Spectator. If Mr. Beaty, as it is admitted he did, committed the crime of selling his influence as member of parliament to line his own pockets, did not the Government endorse his action and tell the "boy" to go in and win? As if his corrupt trafficking were a noble and self sacrificing piece of patriotism, instead of being an act of corruption, striking at the very root of honest representation and honest Government.

The Strike Hanging Fire.

The Tailors' Trouble Still Unsettled—Both Parties Undecided—The Union Will Hold Out—Eg Will the Employers.

A meeting of the Tailors' Union was held in Treasure's Hall last night, at which the questions disputed between the employers and employees were discussed. A committee was appointed to wait on the employers to ascertain if an amicable agreement could not be brought about. The committee was also authorized to advertise in the Toronto papers warning all tailors to keep away from the town.

In the meantime the majority of the strikers have returned to work. They will finish the work on hand and it is said if a settlement is not arrived at they will strike in earnest.

Several of the employers have signified their willingness to draw up a bill of wages, but will not pay the same prices to competent and incompetent hands, should the present staff be employed.

The whole trouble is hanging fire, and it is impossible to say the result may be.

Home Rule Debate.

LONDON, May 10th.—The great debate on Home Rule was resumed in the British House of Commons this afternoon. It is likely that Gladstone will, at the outset, ask on the motion for the second reading, state the chief alterations which he proposes to make in the provisions of the measure. One of these is almost certain to be the continuance of Irish representatives at Westminster. The debate, according to our latest telegrams, may last for two weeks.

The Still Warlike Outlook.

Austria Active.

VIENNA, May 10.—English journalists have at last come to the conclusion that Russia, and not the combined powers, holds the key of the Turko-Grecian embroglio. Their papers for the past three days have been debating and re-echoing the fact that the decision as to peace or war will come, not from Constantinople or Athens, or London, but from Livadia. Trustworthy reports from the Czar's retreat, in the Crimea, are exceedingly difficult to obtain. The general drift of opinion regarding the decision of the Czar is that it will be for war. The Czar has plainly, though not officially, aided Greece for many weeks. Without such aid and encouragement, Greece never would have defied the combined powers with such mingled skill and determination as she has shown throughout. The question, however, which most vitally interests all circles in Vienna is whether, in the event of war, Austria would be drawn into the difficulty. Officers, who are to be met with at the military clubs, express themselves as sure there will be war, and that an Austria-Hungarian army will take a very prominent part therein. The Austria-Hungarian army was never in a more fit condition to be immediately sent into the field. The ranks are full of picked material; every detail of the Commission has been thoroughly inspected and the men are full of fighting ardor. The officers are still more belligerent. They argue that this is just the time to humble the pride of Russia as she will have to fight single handed with Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey and is almost threat from the Councils of Europe.

WEATHER NOTES.

April without exception, both in my own experience and from enquiry among the old settlers, has never been excelled for a fine month and early seed time. The month came in with a gale, a regular sou-wester. Although not very cold the lowest register being on the morning of the 4th, and that 13° above zero until the decided of the month. On the 6th and 7th with a fierce gale from the east, we had 4 inches of snow with the thermometer only at the freezing point. This was the only snow of the month, after which it became fine and mild with a gradual rising of temperature and on the 15th at 3 p.m., in the shade the thermometer stood at 76°; on the 16th at 71°; on the 17th at 69°; on the 18th at 78°; on the 19th at 76°; on the 20th at 79°; on the 21st at 77°; on the 22nd at 78°; and on the 23rd at 80°; the latter being the hottest day of the month. Let any previous April beat that if it can. After this we had some wet days; although wetting the land some they did not greatly retard the sowing. With the mean temperature of the month at 48° 16-30, rain fell on 7 days to the depth of 1 inch and 24-100 of an inch; snow fell on 2 days but only to the depth of 2 inches. We had two sharp gales during the month on the 1st and 6th. Our migrating birds arrived or, more properly speaking were, seen as follows: On the 3rd, sea gulls, on the 6th, cranes, on the 10th, loons, and on the 20th wild ducks. Fog on two mornings, thunder on the 12th and 19th, some hail on the 24th. Our last frost was on the morning of the 26th but only slightly. We had no frost during the month to injure vegetation. Ploughing and sowing both commenced on the 15th, steadily progressing with only slight interruption, with a large amount of grain sown on the 1st of May. During the month at sunrise the wind was blowing from the different points respectively, namely; south-west 7 days, north-west 4 days, north 2 days, east 5 days, south-east 5 days, west 4 days, and north-east 3 days.

Obituary.

We have the sad duty to record the death of Mr. J. P. Howden, only son of Mr. Robt. Howden, Bethune street, formerly of the township of Cavan, which event took place on Monday evening. Last fall the young gentleman, who was only 24 years of age, was first attacked with hemorrhage from the lungs, and the disease progressed till it terminated fatally. On his dying bed the deceased was comforted by the consolation of religion in a remarkable manner. He had only been a resident of the town a little over a year, removing with his father from the farm in Cavan. He was highly respected where best known, and was an especial favorite among his many friends. By a singular coincidence a few days previously the only son of his uncle, Major Howden, was called away by death. The EXAMINER joins the many friends of both families in sympathy with them in their great bereavement.

United States Minister to Siam.

The president of the Missouri Press association is Col. Sarah T. Child, who has recently been appointed our minister to Siam. Col. Child is of Quaker ancestry, as his appearance would indicate. He was born in Philadelphia in 1826. At the age of 3 years he removed with his parents to Richmond, Va., where he attended the common schools, and was subsequently apprenticed in the office of The Richmond Whig. In 1849 Mr. Child raised a company of young men and accompanied them to "Bleeding Kansas," taking an active part in the Doniphan expedition. After which he went to St. Joseph and started The Tri-Weekly Journal, which, in the course of a year was enlarged into the first daily paper published in the Missouri valley. At the outbreak of the civil war, although nominated by progressives with the south, he enlisted on the side of the Union, and was commissioned as major in Col. Robert Stewart's regiment. His paper was meanwhile suppressed by Gen. Sterling Price, but he revived it during the war, and afterward started The Evening News in connection with Charles Thompson, a brother of the noted Gen. Jeff. Thompson. He became adjutant of the Twenty-first Missouri regiment, and subsequently colonel, but shortly afterward resigned his commission. Col. Child assisted in establishing The Union newspaper of St. Joseph, but severed his connection with it in 1866. He then moved to Richmond, Ray county, and purchased The Conservator, which he has continued to publish ever since.

Praying for Newspaper Men.

The members of the Salvation Army are "down on," to use a slang expression, the Williamsport newspaper writers. At times the soldiers become very angry, and in their speeches and prayers throw all sorts of maledictions upon the heads of the newspaper men. Last evening one of the soldiers, named Joe Nelson, after denouncing the newspapers in an expressive manner, prayed that "the Lord would make the journalists' hearts as soft as their heads."—Williamsport Sun and Banner.

How They Began.

General Master Workman Powderly, it seems, began his working life as a switch tender. Mr. Hoxie, manager of the Gould system of railroads in the southwest, was at one time hostler in a hotel near Des Moines. Afterward he became chairman of the Republican state central committee and United States marshal of Iowa. Mr. Gould himself earned his first money as a map peddler.—New York World.

Utah's New Governor.

CALEB W. WEST.

Caleb W. West, of Kentucky, who was recently nominated by the president to be governor of Utah territory, lives in that provincial little town, Cynthiana, where James G. Blaine once taught school. At the breaking out of the war Mr. West joined the company of fighting Joe Desha, who in after years became one of the Confederate leaders. After a year's fighting with Desha, West joined the army of Gen. John Morgan, and was one of his staff when that chieftain surrendered at Greenville. At the close of the war he prepared himself for the law, and has risen to the dignity of a judge, which position he occupied at the time of his appointment. At the last congressional nomination in his district he had ambitions to come to congress, but declined the honor in favor of his friend, Col. Breckenridge. Judge West is a handsome fellow, a typical Kentuckian, and no better judge of horses ever grazed the sacred soil of the "Dark and Bloody Grounds." West is a gentleman of considerable affinity and polish. It is claimed for him by his friends that he has the proper metal to deal with the Mormons, and will make as good a governor as his predecessor, Eli Murray.

John L. Sullivan on Health.

"John," said I, "there are lots of people who are not fighters or athletes—men who are clerks, or in sedentary positions, who would like to know just how to 'condition' themselves in the spring. What ought they to do?"

"In the first place," he answered, "they ought to set apart fifteen minutes to half an hour every morning for exercise. More than half of them lie in bed until the last moment in the morning, then jump up, dress in a hurry and go right to the breakfast table, and wonder why they have no appetite and feel dull and stupid. The human stomach was not made to be treated that way." A man should, after getting up, take a few minutes brisk walk, if possible, or, if that is not convenient, use a light pair of dumb bells for three or four minutes, so as to bring on a slight perspiration. Then he should rub himself dry with a coarse towel, and after that take a sponge or towel bath. Then after he has rubbed himself dry, he should rub and slap himself briskly, as I have done just now. Then, after dressing, he must go to the table and eat a couple of poached eggs on toast, or a bit of nice steak, with bread and coffee, and he will be fit for his day's work, and, my word for it, he will want no other tonic to give him an appetite for his dinner.

TORYISM AND HOME RULE.

The Home Rule resolutions adopted in the House of Commons, passed under the mutilating and hostile hand of Toryism though they amount to nothing or next to nothing as an expression of Canadian opinion are eloquent as indicating the innate hostility invariably exercised by Toryism towards liberty and representative institutions. With an honest desire to strengthen the hands of Mr. Gladstone in his honest attempt to give Ireland a similar measure of self-government to that which Canada enjoys, Hon. Mr. Blake gave notice of a resolution on the subject. Mr. Costigan asked delay so that a conference of both political parties might be held to agree on a resolution that would secure the unanimous approval of the House. This was a mere dodge, for he took no action to carry out the arrangement but became a pliant tool in the hands of Sir John, who has "no confidence in the breed." When after waiting and seeing that Mr. Costigan's and Sir John's proposal was ignored, and that the question was likely to be barked, Hon. Mr. Blake moved his resolution, endorsing the principle of Gladstone's Home Rule measure and directing that an address, embodying such affirmation be adopted by the House and laid at the foot of the throne. Mr. Costigan met this plain and simple proposal with an amendment that meant nothing, and if it had meant anything, would be useless, as his amendment did not provide for its presentation to the Imperial Parliament through the usual channel. Mr. Costigan was so desirous of presenting such a resolution as would secure the unanimous support of the House that his motion was so weak that the most rabid opponent of the principle of home rule, Mr. O'Brien, Muskoka, said he would support it, in effect because it meant nothing. Mr. Costigan could only fear opposition from the Tory side of the House, for the Reformers were a unit as they always are in giving the fullest measure of constitutional liberty to every British subject, in supporting Hon. Mr. Blake's attempt to strengthen Mr. Gladstone's hands in his endeavor to give to Ireland similar liberties to those possessed by Canadians. But every Tory in the House voted against Mr. Blake's motion that would have been an effectual aid to Mr. Gladstone, and in favor of Mr. Costigan's amendment, which destroyed the main motion and practically consigned the emasculated amendment adopted, to oblivion. For neither Gladstone nor the British House of Commons will ever officially hear of it. The Government decided to send a resolution such as it had been made, to Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner, who has no more authority to place it before the House of Commons than the village clerk of Coboconk possesses. The friends of Irish liberty, the friends of Canadian liberty, can see by the action of the Tory majority in the Canadian House of Commons that the implacable hostility of the Tory party to freedom of the subject still lives, and that the Liberal party are its true friends, as they always have been. The same party that struggled for responsible and representative government for Canada against the hostility of the family compact are the party that, in Canada, sympathize with the efforts of Mr. Gladstone, to give a like measure of constitutional government to Ireland, while the same party that fought for taxation without representation, half a century ago, are the foremost foes of Irish freedom. This party Sir John leads, the other is led by Mr. Blake.

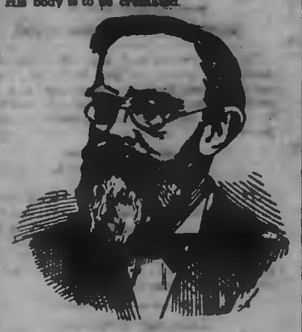
Short Hours and Strikes.

NEW YORK, May 9.—A commercial agency report states that 325,000 men have taken part in the short hour movement; that 175,000 have struck, and that 150,000 received concessions without having to strike. Some 25,000 have gained their ends by striking. The outlook for an early or general clearing away of the industrial disturbance is not bright.

FLORUS B. PLIMPTON.

Death of a Well-Known Ohio Journalist and Poet.

Florus B. Plimpton, for many years on the editorial staff of The Cincinnati Commercial until of The Commercial Gazette, after the consolidation of the two papers, died on one of the last days of April, at his home in Cincinnati. Death was caused by heart trouble. His body is to be cremated.



F. B. PLIMPTON.

Mr. Plimpton was born at Palmyra, O., 55 years ago. He comes of the strong-hearted, long-lived stock that peopled what is known as the western reserve. His father, a Methodist preacher, is still living—a hale, ruddy man, past 80. Florus was born a poet. Some of the strongest, sweetest and most graceful lines ever written by an American are from his pen. That they are so little known is because they were usually written at his desk in the midst of his editorial duties and published only in his own paper. Of spare hours he had few or none. If he had been at ease financially in his youth, he would have been at his death one of America's distinguished poets. Indeed, he had always looked ahead to gathering his poems at some future time and publishing them in a volume. His friends and those familiar with them very much desired this, but the leisure to make the book never came. Bits of verse from his pen are found in collections of American poetry.

Methodist preachers' sons must turn out early to earn their own living. Florus learned first the printer's trade. But writing for newspapers suited him better than putting other people's writing into type and he early began to do that. He graduated at Allegheny college, paying for his education himself. After a varied newspaper experience he became a member of the editorial staff of The Cincinnati Commercial in 1860. He left The Pittsburg Dispatch to become a writer on The Commercial. He was offered at one time an editorial place on The New York Tribune, but he declined it. He was identified with The Commercial and its fortunes for twenty-six years.

During the absences of Mr. Halstead, Mr. Plimpton had charge of the paper. These absences lasted for months sometimes, and occasionally they came in the midst of important political campaigns. At those times The Commercial did brave and brilliant work for its party. Mr. Plimpton frequently slept upon a sofa in his editorial rooms and did not leave the office for days, so busy and anxious was he. His last years were saddened by discouragement and declining health. He was a forceful, witty writer, one of the brave, quiet newspaper men whose fame is unwritten.

Vassar's New President.

REV. JAMES MONROE TAYLOR.

While search was being made for a party to fill the rather trying position of president of Vassar college, it was suggested that a woman be given a trial. This, for some unexplained reason, was not done, but the next thing to it was effected in the choice of a Vassar girl's husband, whose sister is president of the Vassar Alumnæ association. So it is presumed that the fair sex will have this time an opportunity of carrying out their wishes in the government of the institution, with the advantage of having an excellingly handsome and efficient man to carry out their behests.

The father of President Taylor was for twenty-five years a Baptist pastor in Brooklyn, where, in 1843, this son was born. Great care was taken with the future Vassar president's education. From private schools he was sent, in 1854, to the University of Rochester, from which he was graduated with high honors—afterwards spending three years in the Rochester Theological seminary.

He spent the year 1871 in Europe in travel and study. Upon his return he was called to the Baptist church at South Norwalk, Conn., and after nine years of a remarkably successful pastorate he accepted a call to the Fourth Baptist church of Providence, R. I., from which he was chosen president of Vassar.

Well, there is much to be said. EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS.

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 20 years ruptured, I looked upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various remedies without success, among others, recently, two trusses, purchased in New York State, costing me $40. Nothing would retain me. I have worn your truss over four months, night and day, with great satisfaction and comfort; even to bathe in it—recommend it to every one down, it holds me perfectly secure under all circumstances. You may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. R. K.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has been given to make it perfect; is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest of work or violent strain. It will draw a rupture; and in case of every 100 of adults, 75 require your truss; 20 require your truss, but need strong for our trusses; 5 require light pad. Send for pamphlet, with full description and questions for you to answer. When writing please mention this paper.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "NORA THORNE," "ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

We have hurt each other, 'tis true,
We shall repent
Time we pine because we miss each other,
And do not understand
How the written words are so much colder
Than eye or hand.
I kiss thee, dear, for all spoil this
Which we may give or take,
Buried, forgiven, before it comes,
For our own love's sake!

"The second kiss, my darling,
Is full of joy's sweet thrill;
We have blest each other always,
We always will.
We shall reach and feel and sight each other
Beyond all time and space;
We shall listen till we hear each other
In every place.
The earth is full of messengers,
Which love sends to and fro;
I'll send, darling, for all joy
Which we shall know.
The last kiss—Ah, my darling,
My love, I cannot see
Through my tears as I remember
What it may be!
We may die and never see each other
Die, with no time to give Any sign that our hearts are faithful,
Even as live.
Then if what they tell us be true
Of the darkling breath,
The last cold kiss, my darling, seals
The soul of faith."

Slowly, clearly, distinctly each word fell; and the fair proud face in the moonlight grew paler and sweeter. Once again Vane saw a mist of tears in the beautiful eyes, and his heart beat quickly. He drew nearer to her, so near that the sweet subtle perfume from the flowers she wore reached him.

"If you gave one of these three kisses, Lady Lilias," he asked, "which would it be?"

There was no anger, nothing but love in the eyes she raised to his.

"It would be the kiss of death," she answered.

He drew nearer still to her in the shadow of the curtains; something in her face told him he might. He took the white hand, bent over it, and kissed it with passion too deep for words.

"I do not care if you kill me for it," he said. "I have looked at your hands and have longed to kiss them until I have almost gone mad with my own longing.—You may do your worst to me, Lady Lilias."

"This is my worst," she answered, holding out the other hand to him. She saw that he had grown pale and that he trembled.

"How good you are to me," he cried—"and yet how cruel! It would be more merciful a thousand times to drive me with cruel words from your presence. I am drinking poison."

"I have no wish to drive you from me," she answered. "I am well content that you should be here; I have not been so happy as this since you went away."

The proud face drooped, and a burning flush came over it. Vane was dazed and bewildered. "The proudest girl in England" to say this to him!—the Earl's daughter, beautiful Lady Lilias, to speak so to him!

"Ah, Heaven have pity on me!" he cried. "You are driving me mad. I have lost——"

He stopped suddenly, for Lord Charnwood laid his hand upon his shoulder and asked if they were admiring the moonlight.

CHAPTER XIII.

It was a lovely morning, clear and cloudless. The whole party at King's Clyffe had decided upon a long ride and drive around the country. Lady Charnwood had declined. Lady Fayne rode a fine horse that she had brought with her, and Lady Lilias rode Lord Charnwood's famous Bonnie Bell. The heiress excelled as a horsewoman; and her beautiful figure was never seen to better advantage than on horseback. The young Duke, Captain Lorne, and Vane formed her escort, while Lord Charnwood rode with Lady Fayne. The sweet air was full of fragrance. They rode along roads where tall trees met overhead and formed an arch of green leaves, and through lovely green lanes, where flowers grew in lovely hedgerows, and the soft sweet grass under their feet was like a carpet.

Vane found himself by the side of Lady Lilias. She could not have been kinder to him; the smile, at once so proud and tender, she wore was for him alone. She never once avoided him, never turned from him. In vain the young Duke of Rayefort tried his best to engross her and attract her attention; it was useless. In vain did the Captain display his superior horsemanship, and try to engage her in conversation. All her smiles and her favors were for Vane. He saw it and it bewildered him. Could it be possible after all that she had relented, and that she cared for him? The very thought of it made his heart beat wildly, and sent a glow to his face.

All at once he awoke from his dream.—Where was he? There stood the row of beautiful lime-trees, there was the deep clear river, there the mill-stream with its rush of water, and there—ah, Heaven, there stood the pretty gray farm-house with its veil of flowers and foliage! A mist seemed to come before his eyes and for a short time to hide it all. He was at home again at the Meadow Farm, the home he had left so long before to become a gentleman. Lady Lilias turned her face to him.

"Look at that pretty picturesque spot!" she said. "That is my ideal of a farm-house. Look at the honey-suckle round the windows, and the white pigeons whirling round. How pretty the cows look drinking from that clear pool! I am so warm and so thirsty! I wonder if they would give me a glass of milk?"

The Duke of Rayefort laughed.

"Yes," he answered, "I am sure they would, and remember your visit all their lives."

"I can picture the inside," said Lady Lilias. "It is just like one of the interiors of the old Dutch painters—a clean kitchen, with everything shining and bright, a kindly clean house-mother, a table with white cloth, a homely brown jug. It was worth riding all the way for. What do you say, Mr. Vibart? Shall we try to get some milk? Look at that pleasant old-fashioned garden, with its sweet mass of flowers! I should like to walk there. Do you think the good people would mind?"

Vane was white to the lips—white he knew, with cowardly shame and fear. He hated himself for it. Yet, with the young Duke and the gay worldly Captain close beside, with Lady Lilias' proud beautiful face smiling on him, he could no more have spoken than he could have flown. He longed to say, "This is my home. I was born here. I am a son of the house.—Love me no more as you will, I am not ashamed

How to Depend.

Sensible will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Chibs" or "El Padre" brand of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Knights of Labor.

Scott Act.

Many persons claim that liquor is sold openly at all, or nearly all, the hotels in town, but if they should be asked to prove that their statements are true they always balk. It is said that one vendor keeps liquor in a slop pail under the bar, on which lemon rind, corks, paper, etc., float, to give it the appearance of slops, yarn and dipple. The Scot Actors are after him.

Our Postoffice in Parliament.

On Friday in Supply, the Peterborough postoffice political practicalities came up for discussion in the House of Commons, and further light was thrown on the matter. In to-morrow's impression we shall give the discussion on the subject as it appears in Hansard. Two sites, two buildings and increased expense. All to placate a few ward politicians, the public money is squandered and the public convenience ignored.

A Supposed Grain Thief.

Mr. H. Lillico, of North Monaghan, on returning home on Sunday night, was surprised to find that his granary had been opened in his absence, and that preparations had been made for removing grain. A man who had been prowling around the premises made himself scarce immediately. Mr. Lillico is confident that his arrival saved him from being robbed. He has an idea who the visitor was.

The Event of the Day.

The 24th of May is fast approaching, and so is the fulfilment of the most attractive programme for the day's enjoyment. The Driving Park Association will present on the afternoon of the 24th an exciting programme of sporting events, in trotting, running, and hurdle racing. Good prizes will draw good horses, and closely contested and fast races, and a rattling afternoon's sport is sure to be the result. Don't forget the Driving Park Races on Monday afternoon, May 24th.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises. The President, Miss Sanderson, occupied the chair. The Union wish to convey their thanks to the ladies who so kindly sent flowers for platform decoration on the evening of Mr. Schiveres's lecture; also to the chairman for his very able services, and to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted with the singing on that occasion.

Cooler Aids.

The reader whose sight is defective is particularly concerned in remembering that Mr. P. H. Morris, the eminent optician, will be at the drug store of Mr. John McKee, Peterborough, on Monday and Tuesday, May 10th and 11th, for the purpose of fitting the celebrated "B. Laurance" pebble and other spectacles and eye-glasses. This is an opportunity of having the best spectacles and eye-glasses in the world, fitted to the exact requirements of the eye by a thoroughly competent optician. Further information can be got by reading Mr. McKee's advertisement in the DAILY AND WEEKLY EXAMINER. Make a note of the date of Mr. Morris' visit, May 10th and 11th.

Music Meggots.

The journeymen [illegible] this morning.

It takes nine tailors to make a man, and ninety-nine to make a strike.

Though the [illegible] the show ought to fill the hall, [illegible] master tailors, however, count it a full hit.

There is an awful responsibility resting on [illegible] journeymen carriage makers are preparing to strike.

Mr. J. C. Turnbull is having plate glass in the windows of his millinery shop facing on Simcoe street.

A Horse Killed by a Train.

A special train which left down yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, on the Missing Link, collided with a horse at the road crossing near Cheapside, killing it instantly. The engineer did not always in the engine would not leave the track when urged by its owner, until the engine assisted it. The vehicle and harness were smashed to atoms. St. John's Adjourned Vestry Meeting.

The adjourned meeting of St. John's Church Vestry was held in the school room yesterday evening, and was largely attended. The Rector presided. The auditors' reports of the general accounts and also of the Building Committee accounts were received and read. The final acceptance of the Building Committee accounts was deferred till Thursday week, 20th inst., by which time the report will have been printed and circulated among the congregation. The church debt [illegible] amounts to $1,400, which amount has been contributed within the last two months by new subscriptions and by the sum realized by the ladies of the church at their bazar. The greatest interest was manifested in the report, wherein a meeting of the church committees were appointed to work in the several divisions of the parish.

"Canadian Athletic News."

This is the title of a new candidate for the favor of sporting Canadians, the first number of which is to hand this morning. It is a handsome, twelve-page, large quarto, with a fine symbolical title page, printed weekly from new type on toned paper. The annual subscription is only $2.50 per annum. Every honest patron of and participant in Canadian sport can sympathise with and endorse its key-note, as struck in the first paragraph of the prospectus of the new publication:—"The Athletic News will be a paper of which no one need be ashamed. No [illegible] element of anything immoral will be encouraged. Canadian sports are clean, and we shall resist any attempt to sully them." The first number, though full of interest, will be improved upon, for the season for sports has not yet opened. Peterborough cannot complain of the attention it receives from the opening number, for there are no fewer than eight or nine paragraphs referring to sports in this town, filling a column of the News. It should receive a hearty support, not only from Canadians generally, but from the friends of sport in this town, for it aims to carry out the objects of the P.A.A.A., namely, to maintain a high standing and clean record for Canadian sports. Practical ways of helping the News are to subscribe for it, and for the secretary of every sporting organization to supply it with brief, pithy, paragraphic sport items, promptly, from time to time. The Canadian Athletic News exactly fills the bill, and the MEANDERER wishes it every prosperity, and will await with pleasure its weekly visits.

Lakefield.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FORESTERS.
The regular meeting of Court Lakefield, No. 43, C. O. F., will be held in the Court room on Thursday evening, 13th inst., for installation of officers.

CLEAN UP.
The Health Inspector will be on the war path after the 15th inst., and it behooves our citizens to have a general cleaning up of yards, &c., before that date to save trouble. We do not want typhoid or diphtheria to visit Lakefield, and clean yards and outbuildings are the best means to keep them away.

COURT OF REVISION.
As will be seen by the advertisement, the Court of Revision on the Lakefield roll will be held on Monday afternoon, the 7th of June.

OUR BAND.
The band have received their new instruments and will begin practice at once. They have decided to cast in their lot with the Foresters, and will in future be known as "The Foresters' Band." The public have been very generous in the way of subscriptions, and it will not be long, we trust, before they receive some return in the shape of open air concerts, in the council chamber grounds.

CANOES.
Mr. Thos. Gordon, the well-known builder of this village, has now ready for shipment to England one of the finest lot of canoes that has ever left his shop. They consist of six cedar, twelve walnut and cedar, and eighteen basswood. All are finished so as to show the color of the wood, and have brass or plate mountings. He also sends with them 144 maple and ash paddles, besides an assortment of boat hooks, &c. This will be his second shipment this season, besides those sent to the Colonial exhibition.

A LOSS.
On Friday while Mr. Hugh Fitzgerald was engaged ploughing near the village, a horse, which he not long since refused $130 for, dropped dead. The loss will prove a serious one for Mr. Fitzgerald, coming as it does, as he was in the midst of his spring work.

MUNICIPAL IMPROVEMENT.
The fence surrounding the village council property has been removed, the lot leveled up and a number of young trees planted. It has made a great improvement to the place, especially as noticed when crossing the iron bridge. Now, to see if we can't get a market established.

COUNCIL MEETING.
The regular meeting of the village Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, the 10th inst.
Present, the Reeve in the chair, Councillors Cox, Isbister, McWilliams and Moore.
Minutes of last regular and adjourned meetings read and confirmed after some discussion.
Moved by Councillor McWilliams, seconded by Councillor Isbister, that the clerk prepare a by-law to amend by-law No. 9, embracing the following provision: That all persons are prohibited from beating drums, firing guns or rifles, or other firearms, shouting, or making any unusual noises on the streets within this corporation on the Lord's day.—Carried.
Moved in amendment by Councillor Cox, seconded by Councillor Moore, that by-law No. 9 be not amended, but be enforced as it stands.—Lost.
Moved by Councillor Cox, seconded by Councillor Moore, that an order be drawn on the village treasurer for the sum of $100.00 in favor of Michael Harrigan, in full of the balance due him on the gravel contract.—Carried.
Moved by Councillor Isbister, seconded by Councillor Moore, that the clerk call for tenders for plank and stringers required by the corporation, to be good and sound, plank not less than 10 inches wide by one and a-half and two inches thick, stringers of cedar. Tenders to be addressed to village clerk, on or before 22nd of May.—Carried.
Moved by Councillor Isbister, seconded by Councillor Moore, that the Reeve and Councillors Cox and McWilliams be a committee to confer with the president of the Lakefield Weigh Scales Company with the object of having the scales removed off Bridge street, or purchasing the same.—Carried.
Moved by Councillor McWilliams, seconded by Councillor Cox, that the following accounts be paid, and that the Reeve's order do issue for the same, viz:—

Isaac Watson, wages	$ 16 75
George Rowe, "	7 00
John Rogers, horse hire	7 00
E. Podger, wages	75
Canadian Rubber Co., hose	41 00
Total	$72 50

—Carried.
Moved by Councillor Cox, seconded by Councillor Isbister, that Isaac Watson be paid the sum of $7.50, cost of planting trees on Water, Bridge and Queen streets, and that the Reeve's order do issue for the same.—Carried.
Moved by Coun. Cox seconded by Coun. McWilliams, That whereas the present large and increasing accommodation in this municipality is insufficient for the rapidly increasing trade on the present navigable waters of the Trent Valley Canal north of this point, and whereas the works at Burleigh and Bobcaygeon will be completed at an early date which will tend to still further create a demand for increased accommodation for the back-country trade, we consider it the duty of this Council to devise the best plan to meet these requirements, and that the Clerk lay and obtain a meeting of the outlet of the canal at Lakefield, so that in considering the increased wharfage we may not interfere with that work, and that this Council make every effort to obtain a government grant for the required improvements.—Carried.
A By-law No. 109 to amend By-law No. 9 prohibiting the blowing of horns, beating of drums, shooting or other unusual or tumultuous noises on the Sabbath day on the streets of Lakefield, received its several readings, was passed, signed and sealed by the Reeve and Clerk.
A By-law 110 to afford better protection from fire by the erection of steam boilers, smoke stacks, storage of ashes, etc., received its several readings, was passed, signed and sealed by the Reeve and Clerk.
Moved by Coun. Isbister, seconded by Coun. Moore, That the Cow By-law be not considered but that it be laid over for six months.—Carried.
A By-law No 111 to borrow money to meet the current expenditure of the municipality, received its several readings, was passed, signed and sealed by the Reeve and Clerk.
Moved by Coun. McWilliams, seconded by Coun. Isbister, That this Coun. do now adjourn to meet at the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

VITAL STATISTICS.
There are quite a number of parties in the village who do not trouble themselves to conform with the Registration Act, and register births and deaths. They can blame themselves if trouble results, as the Inspector insists on a strict observance of the law.

Booming Building.

A Rich Harvest for Builders—The Crop Exceeds that of any Previous Year.

Building operations are being carried on with unusual vigor in town this season, and on almost every street in all localities buildings in various stages of construction may be seen, while the local architects and contractors are busily engaged in preparing plans for proposed buildings.
Messrs. Ranney & Blackwell and Mr. J. E. Belcher very kindly allowed a reporter of the EXAMINER to look over the several plans which they are preparing for buildings to be erected during this season, of which the following are among the most important:—
The Toronto Real Estate Investment Company, which has purchased from Mr. Geo. A. Cox the Stewart House property, on the corner of Hunter and Water streets, have under contemplation the erection thereon of an immense new block, to extend from Mr. W. J. Devlin's harness shop to Mr. A. P. Poussette's law office, including the premises now occupied by Mr. T. Cavanagh, which will be built over. The plans which Mr. J. E. Belcher is preparing, subject to approval, show a magnificent building four stories high, with mansard roof and three towers (one on Water street, one on Hunter street and one on the corner), with a frontage on Water street of 126 feet, divided into ten shops, and on Hunter street 118 feet, divided into six shops. It will undoubtedly be the largest and handsomest block in town.
Mr. Wm. Snowden proposes building, as soon as the material can be procured, a large and handsome brick block on the north side of Simcoe street, from plans prepared by Messrs. Ranney & Blackwell, tenders for the erection of which have been received. The block will be three stories high with mansard roof and will extend from the C. P. R. Hotel to the creek, having a frontage of 100 feet by 50 feet deep and will be divided into five stores. It will be a decidedly handsome building and will be a great improvement to Simcoe street.
On Dickson street Mr. A. Brodie has now under construction a handsome and substantial two story red brick dwelling house, which when completed will cost over $2000.
Mr. W. Lesk has commenced work preparatory to erecting a fine double two story white brick dwelling house on Rubidge street.
Mrs. Moffat has had plans prepared by Messrs. Ranney & Blackwell for a handsome white brick double dwelling house to be erected on her property on George street, between Loudon and Dublin streets. It will be two stories high with a tower.
In addition to these Mr. W. Metherall has commenced to build a fine brick terrace at the corner of Aylmer and Murray streets. The building will be three stories high and will be divided into four dwellings.
Mr. H. Staples is constructing on his property in the north ward a large number of two storey brick-veneered dwelling houses.
Mr. Thos. McKee has also under construction in the same locality four two story brick residences.

ASHBURNHAM.
Messrs. Ranney and Blackwell have also prepared plans for a handsome residence for Mr. J. C. Sullivan, who proposes building on Robinson street, Ashburnham. The building will be a fine red brick, three stories high with a tower.
The chancel of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will be extended to join with the new school room.
The brick-makers find it impossible to supply the demand for bricks, and the work on many buildings has ceased in consequence. As it is this season's make of bricks will be placed on the market about the 1st of June. The manufacturers have large orders ahead which it will take them some time to supply.

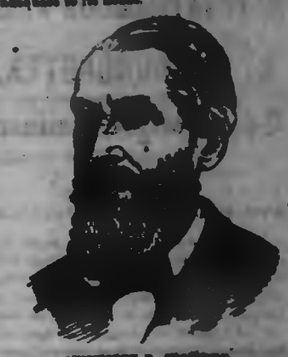
More Logs.
The surface of the river is again dotted with logs of the drive of Mr. Fowlds of Hastings. A small jam occurred above the Dickson dam yesterday afternoon, which a number of Mr. Fowld's men dislodged with the characteristic dexterity of experienced "drivers."

A Great Exhibition Coming.
Milliners have their spring openings, and there is no law to prevent Messrs. Porter Bros., Peterborough's wide-awake carriage builders, from following suit. On Saturday, May 22nd, this firm will open with appropriate ceremonies at their warerooms, near the G.T.R. station, a grand exhibition of all the classes of vehicles made by them, from a wheelbarrow to a carriage fit for a prince. The exhibit will be well worthy of seeing; don't fail to call. All will be welcome from either town or country. Further particulars hereafter.

LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS.

Also One Greatest Statisticians and Bibliographer in the United States.

When in 1802 Congress founded its library it also provided that a librarian should be engaged and paid at the rate of $2 per day when actually employed. The present librarian, Ainsworth R. Spofford, has a salary of $4,000, with 29 assistants from salaries ranging from $2,500 to $400, the entire salary list being $26,800 per annum. This in itself is an indication of the growth of the institution, which will in a few years have a building adequate to its needs.



AINSWORTH R. SPOFFORD.
Mr. Spofford was a New Hampshire boy, born sixty-two years ago. His education was had at private schools, and included chiefly a thorough classical course. He was chosen an assistant librarian of congress chiefly through the remarkable talent he displayed in compiling statistics, coupled with one of the most retentive of memories. In 1864 he published an alphabetical catalogue of the library, and this with supplements which have followed is exceedingly valuable to bibliographers. In 1875 Mr. Spofford became principal librarian and has worked consistently for the advancement of the library, it being very largely through his efforts that the new library building has become so near a fact. The American Almanac is edited by Mr. Spofford, and is truly a treasury of facts. In 1870 the copyright business was transferred from the patent office to the care of congress. This has largely increased his labors.
Only members of congress and about forty high officials of the government are allowed to take books out of this library, and yet there are 5,000 books out all the time. The library is open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and any one above 16 years of age is allowed free use of its books for consultation within its walls.

THE NEW CHINESE MINISTER.

His Picture and His Life so Far as Known.

His excellency, Chang Yen Woon, is the new Chinese minister to the United States. He is said to be tall and handsome. The last part of the statement seems rather startling. Mr. Woon is picturesque-looking, stating there in his quilted petticoats and queer little cap, like the pictures on a Chinese tea box, but one would not at first call him handsome. However, he might grow on one, in time, becoming, like Katisha in "The Mikado," an acquired taste. Perhaps in due time the Washington society ladies will rave over him in their amiable manner, and call him a sweet thing.

HON. C. Y. WOON.
It must be with mingled feelings that he sets foot upon American soil, and disgust must be one of the feelings. He came by way of San Francisco, but he and his legation were not allowed to land for some time in this free country because of the stiff laws relating to Chinese immigrants. They were treated as common Chinese laborers until their papers were all gone through and their cast-iron credentials proved. This of itself could have been nothing less than a mortal insult to the high-minded mandarin. China must love America, anyhow.
After the delay on shipboard the legation, nineteen persons in all, proceeded to the Palace hotel in San Francisco, thence eastward.
Chang Yen Woon is a gentleman of high culture. He wears peacock feathers in his cap. That is the badge of a mandarin of the second rank. His thumb ring and pointed finger nails also show his high degree. He is 50 years old, and dresses in the richest silks and gold embroidery. His wardrobe would make a city belle pale with envy. But his wardrobe is not his chief recommendation. He is a highly cultured man, to begin, and a trained diplomat besides. In his own country he has held responsible offices in the bureau of foreign affairs. His manners are polished and winning; and—don't tell it—but in this respect he has the advantage of some of the ministers the United States has sent to foreign parts.
The Chinese embassy at this moment has duties of unusual importance on its hands. Through it will have to be settled the little fracas in which our unterrified countrymen up in Washington territory lately covered themselves by killing and robbing Celestials. That was their idea of fun. Chang Yen Woon is charged with very special dispatches regarding this matter. His emperor's last instructions to him were to promote an amicable feeling between the two nations.
Two or three members of the legation were educated in America. Long Hale, the interpreter, is a graduate of Amherst college. He wears the scarlet cap and gold button of a mandarin of the seventh degree. Lin and Leang, two other members of the embassy, were also educated here.

OUR POLITICAL POSTOFFICE.

The sites for the Peterborough postal and customs and inland revenue buildings have been both issues of contention in the happy family of local Toryism and a spectacle of derisive wonderment to impartial on-lookers. A question that involved at first only the simple exercise of departmental executive function, has been enlarged into a bitter strife between political partizans whose identity of political faith has not prevented a squabble, which has deepened into a feud, and will probably lead to investigation in the courts of law. All the trouble arose from the desire of the Government to make political capital out of the matter and from the double-dealing and dishonest, jesuitical juggling of the Minister of Public Works and the member for West Peterborough.

On Friday last another chapter in the story was contributed. The House being in Committee of Supply, the following is the Hansard report of the proceedings in reference to the "twin sites":—

Sir Richard Cartwright.—With regard to the public buildings at Peterboro', I understand that the necessities, shall I say, of the public service have required, that whereas in all other cases the post office and custom house were put together, in Peterboro' they are widely separated, and two distinct sites have to be paid for. Will the hon. gentleman be good enough to tell the House what has been paid for sites, and where, and wherefore?

Sir Hector Langevin.—I explained the other day, on a question being put by an hon. member that two sites had been bought, the one being the "Sawyar" lot, I think on Hunter street.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—What is the religious persuasion of the "Sawyer" lot?

Sir Hector Langevin.—I never knew that a lot had a religious persuasion and therefore I am unable to answer the hon. gentleman. That lot was purchased because it was near the village of Ashburnham; which is next to Peterborough. There is a bridge between the two, and that brings leads to this street and the postoffice will serve the requirements of both places. This lot was considered not a proper site for a custom house and inland revenue office, and we thought that under the circumstances another lot should be purchased in the interior of the town, in another place. That lot is called the Phelan lot, near the station, I believe, though I have not been there myself. Tenders have been called for the two buildings and instructions have been given to the architect to prepare his plans and specifications in such a way that the cost of the two buildings would not exceed that of one building, if we had erected only one.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—What is the price of the Phelan lot and what of the "Sawyer" lot?

Sir Hector Langevin.—I think one lot cost $6,000 and the other something like $3,500 or $4,000.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—What is the total cost of the buildings to be?

Sir Hector Langevin.—About $30,000, each.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Peterborough is a considerable town, and one which, if it does not now rank as a city, will soon rank as a city, and all the arguments advanced by the hon. gentleman recently as to erecting imposing buildings in towns of importance would apply very strongly to the erection of an imposing and useful building for the town of Peterborough. The hon. gentleman will hardly himself maintain that a very much better building could not have been put up for $60,000, one which would be a much greater credit to the town of Peterborough than the two buildings costing $30,000 each. Moreover, in all cases before this where the town is of considerable size, I think the custom house and postoffice have been combined. I think that has been the invariable practice of the Department in considerable towns.

Sir Hector Langevin.—Not everywhere.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Where are the departures?

Sir Hector Langevin.—Winnipeg, London, Montreal, St. John, Quebec.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Most of those are very large towns.

Sir Hector Langevin.—I thought the hon. gentleman was trying to erect Peterborough to the same rank?

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Wherever they were of a size under 15,000 or 20,000 people, that was the custom, for the reason that you could erect a very much more imposing building for $60,000 than by dividing it into two buildings of $30,000 each. How far are these two lots apart?

Sir Hector Langevin.—I cannot say, but I know the Phelan lot is near the railway station, and near the market, whilst the postoffice is in another direction.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Has the hon. gentleman got possession of these two lots?

Sir Hector Langevin.—Yes.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—I understand the hon. gentleman has completed purchase and paid for both.

Sir Hector Langevin.—Yes.

Sir Richard Cartwright.—Does the hon. gentleman know whether there is any qualification in the deeds of these lots—whether they are deeded to the Government for a particular purpose in either case?

Sir Hector Langevin.—Yes. In the deed for the purchase of the Phelan lot, the words "for postoffice and other buildings," were inserted. That was done without the consent of the Government. According to the Order-in-Council, it was for a public building; it did not mention a postoffice; and so soon as the deed was sent to me I sent it back in order that the matter might be investigated. I have not yet been able to ascertain how these words came to be put in the deed. Objected to the proprietor of the lot, who objected the postoffice to be built there instead of at the other place, who declared he should never have sold it for the price paid, $6,000, if he had known it was not to be for a postoffice, that the Government were ready to rescind the lot to him provided he gave back the money, so that he would not suffer any loss from the sale. He has refused that, and has told me he would make a claim for damages. Under these circumstances, perhaps the hon. gentleman will not ask me to make any further explanation on that point.

Mr. McMullen.—If I am rightly informed, the Government, in the first place, bought the Phelan lot, with the intention of erecting a postoffice and custom house on it. But there was a quarrel between the parties, as each wanted to sell his lot to the Government, so the Government thought to patch up the quarrel by buying both lots and putting up two separate buildings. I am quite satisfied that if an investigation were held, the statements I make could be proved. One of the men has been down here, since Parliament met, to demand that the Minister of Public Works erect the building on his lot. It is outrageous that the money of the country should be wasted in this way. That is the truth, and I challenge the Minister of Public Works to deny it.

Mr. Thompson.—In regard to the conveyance, perhaps I might explain that the conveyance is not limited to the purpose mentioned, but there is a recital that the lot has been purchased for that purpose.

Now, there is something exceedingly tangled here and a grave discrepancy exists between the statements of Mr. Phelan previously published in these columns and those of Sir Hector Langevin. The statements of Sir Hector are misleading, to use the mildest term and mean a much stronger one. He says the "Sawyer" lot as Hansard has it, was bought because it was near Ashburnham. This is not true. The lot was bought because the government thought it would pay them better as a political investment, to please the Sawers Syndicate and fool the Phelan party. Sir Hector is very clumsy in his endeavor to escape the promise he made to Mr. Phelan that the postoffice should be built on the latter's lot and it will take more than his bare assertion to convince the public that the clause in the deed stipulating that the postoffice should be built on the Phelan lot, was put in "without" as he cunningly puts it, "the knowledge of the government," but, he does not say, without his personal knowledge. "I have not," he says, "been able to ascertain how these words came to be put in the deed." This is altogether too transparent. Who can accept this statement coming from a man who, a few minutes before, had the effrontery to say on the floor of Parliament that the Sawers lot "was bought because it was near the village of Ashburnham," and not because it paid better to give the Sawers Syndicate a double supply of loaves and fishes. In this matter the Dominion Government have not only shamefully prostituted their public trust, but they have tricked, duped and deceived a gentleman who has faithfully supported them for years.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "JOHN HOLDEN," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

[illegible] to him, and [illegible] to utter them.

"What do you think, Mr. Vibart?" said Lady Lilias. "Would those [illegible] suit me?"

He turned away his face lest she should see its pallor. There on the other side was the old sweet, familiar [illegible] stream—it seemed to sing with a thousand voices that this was [illegible]. He was compelled to answer her.

"I am sure they would be pleased to see you," he said, in a strange husky voice.

"Will you not [illegible] me?" she asked, half surprised, [illegible] at his manner.

"I—I would rather not," he replied slowly; and the young Duke, seeing his [illegible]

"[illegible], I am [illegible] anxious [illegible] to see the interior of which [illegible] is a picturesque [illegible]."

They dismounted, and Vane watched them enter the house where the first few years of his life had been spent. Some of the men in the [illegible] came forward and attended to [illegible]. Lord Charnwood and Lady Wayne joined the party, laughingly declaring that a glass of milk [illegible]

[illegible] with the [illegible] and [illegible] some distance. [illegible] [illegible] and regret. [illegible] the star of hope shone so brightly before him, never had the light of love fallen on him so fully. It seemed to him, although he hardly dared to believe it, that the beautiful proud lady he had loved so long and so hopelessly was beginning to care for him a little, and that she was attending to him in her proud gracious fashion.—If just now—while she was learning to love him perhaps—he made known his birth and parentage, that would steel her against him. Yet he loved his early home. All the manly and [illegible] in him rose in hot rebellion against the [illegible]. But to speak was to lose his love, or to lose the hope that was growing from it—a hope far dearer than his life.

He stood once more by the mill-stream. How it all came back to him. The sunlit morning when Sir Raye Vibart had first spoken to him about the past! How much had happened to him since then! One by one the honors which he had received passed through his mind. He had left home a poor unknown boy. Now he held every fair gift of the world in his hand.—The week before he came to King's Clyffe Sir Raye Vibart, having no children, no kindred, had formally made his will in his favor, and had adopted him as his heir.—He had left him the fine estate of Lulworth, with all the money he had accumulated; he had left him all he had in the world, so that he would be an excellent match for any lady in the land, so far as money went. He remembered that as he stood with the sound of the mill-stream in his ear.

He looked across the fields. There in the far-off meadow—they called it the oak-meadow, when he was a child—with his gray head bent and his tall figure drooping, he saw his father busily at work, and his brother Desford helping him. His heart warmed to them; he longed to go to them, to throw his arms around his father's neck, and cry out to him that he loved him, that he was not ashamed of him. But, if he did so, what of his love, what of Lady Lilias? He could not lose her; he would rather have died a hundred deaths.

"It is a false position," he said to himself. "If I had my life to live over again, I would avoid it. I have a place, amongst the great people of the world; and yet, if my birth and origin were known, they would decline to associate with me. Lady Lilias would. I remember what she said about another's sons."

Then he saw the whole party returning. He walked with slow steps down the lane, and suddenly, to his surprise, he saw Lady Lilias talking to a most beautiful girl—a picture of healthy blooming country beauty—with a tall, full rounded figure full of supple grace, a shapely head proudly set on [illegible] shoulders, a dark handsome face glowing with health, fresh red lips, teeth whiter than pearls, dark bright eyes, and dusky rippling hair—a girl whose beauty took him by surprise; and, looking at her, he recognised his sister Kate, who, years before, had hung round his neck and begged him to leave home to be made a gentleman. How well he remembered it, and how his heart went out to her! Lady Lilias was talking kindly to her; and Kate held a bunch of sweet honeysuckle in her hand, which had evidently been gathered for her Ladyship.

He saw another thing too—the Duke of Rayefort was looking at her with admiring eyes, and Vane trembled with impotent rage. The Duke, while Lady Lilias walked on, stayed behind; he begged some of the honeysuckle; and Kate, with a bright blush and flattered smile dimpling her face, gave it to him. Then—and the sight of it enraged Vane—the Duke laughingly touched the lovely face with his fingers, and Vane knew that he was saying something about the beautiful color of it. At that moment he could have struck the young Duke to the earth. He gave one quick glance around, but could not see his mother. His heart was heavy and sore in spite of the smile with which Lady Lilias greeted him.

"How ill you look, Mr. Vibart!" she said. "I could not imagine why you would not go in with us. Why did you not tell me you were ill?"

His hands trembled and his lips quivered; he was filled with a sense of unworthiness that was gall and wormwood to him. Yet what could he do?

"Let us walk on for a few minutes," said Lady Lilias. What a lovely lane this is! I shall sketch that pretty picturesque farm-house some day before I leave King's Clyffe. Look at this beautiful honeysuckle!"

She held it out to him, and he, knowing where it had grown, felt that the touch of the tender, graceful tendrils, was as the touch of hot flame to him. She smiled as she continued.

"I knew it was a model farm-house. Everything in the kitchen was bright and shining, just as you see it in those wonderful Dutch pictures; and the mistress was a clean comely woman, so kind and nice in her manner."

If she had known, if she had but dreamed that she was his mother! Still smiling, she resumed—

"You will be sorry too that you missed another treat. I saw the prettiest girl in that farm-house that I have ever seen in my life—such a rosy, dimpled, blushing face. She reminded me of a May morning and everything in the world most sweet. I do not believe you are interested."

The eyes that met hers were so full of pain that Lady Lilias came to the conclusion that he was suffering deeply, and she said no more.

Market Items.

The market this morning was below the average, probably owing to the fact that farmers are taking advantage of the fine days to push their spring work. Sales were slow, purchasers not being numerous. Prices were quoted as follows: Butter, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 10c.; chickens, 60c. per pair; turkeys, $1.25; potatoes, 55c. per bag; hay, $10 per ton.

Preparing for Drill.

A meeting of the local members of the Durham Field Battery was held at the drill shed yesterday evening to arrange for drill, preparatory to attending the annual camp. Sergeant-Major Metheral, Sergeant Snyder and about a dozen privates assembled, the majority of whom wore their uniforms. It was decided to drill twice a week, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, commencing on Friday evening next.

The Civil Service Reformers

say their object is simply to retain good men in office when you find them. This theory may be safely applied to the treatment of the human system by means of medicine. Those who have once tried Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" for scrofulous swellings and sores, loss of flesh and appetite, weak lungs, spitting of blood and consumption, will apply to it the real principle of Civil Service Reform and "hold fast to that which is good."

Dog Tags Ordered.

At a meeting of the License Committee held last night, it was decided to provide dog tags as soon as possible, and an order was given a Toronto firm for 500 brass tags of the 1882 brand. They are supposed to resemble a small maple leaf and have a stem about an inch and a half long. They will be marked "P. D. T.," (Peterborough dog tax, or paid dog tax) and will be numbered. It is supposed that Mr. Beavis will have them ready for distribution in about a week. Parties who value their dogs should see that they are tagged, as the police will certainly destroy all unbranded animals after July 1st.

Change in Firm.

Mr. Harry Phelan, who for the past ten years has been practically associated with the general hardware business, in the store of McKee & Davidson, and recently R. B. McKee, has purchased the interest of Mr Thos. Fortye in the Golden Anvil hardware store, lately bought by Fortye Bros. from Mr. M. Millar. Mr. Thos. Fortye retires from the firm because he has found that his health will not admit of his giving to the large business that attention which its importance demands. The new member of the firm will maintain them to standing, for he has excellent business qualifications, having had a thorough and extensive acquaintance with the trade for ten years in a well conducted establishment, and possesses the principal qualifications,—good nature obliging disposition and affability—tending to make him popular. The EXAMINER wishes the firm of Fortye & Phelan the brilliant success which an enterprise conducted on sound business principles, should command.

The Cantata "Ruth."

The Rubinstein Musical Association in St. Johns Church.

Last night the beautiful cantata, "Ruth," was presented in an admirably manner to a good audience in St. John's church, and the expectations of a great musical treat, previously formed, were in no case modified. Excellent solo performances, and a good, strong, coherent chorus, gave effective interpretation to the beautiful music abounding in the piece. Mrs. Chambers, a vocalist, so well known in Peterborough, took the title role of Ruth in a manner that revived the delights of listening to her, to often experienced before by the public of Peterborough. In the several solos assigned her, her clear, smooth, sweet and well-cultured voice, full of feeling, gave most effective interpretation to the various sentiments incidental to the composition. Miss Wells, as Naomi, added new laurels to her reputation. Her contralto voice, very rich and full, in the lower registers especially, was admirably managed, and her performance throughout was the theme of warm praise. Miss Cleaver Orpah, did well in her part of the trio, "(Ruth, Naomi, Orpah,) "Farewell" which if not the gem of the piece was the gem of the first part. Mr. T. Dunn as Boaz gave a splendid interpretation to his numbers. His rich, powerful, well cultivated baritone voice, managed with taste and feeling, delighted the audience and the regret was general that the programme did not permit of his more frequent appearance in solo. Being troubled with a slight hoarseness and on this account the audience was deprived of the pleasure of hearing him sing "Pro Peccatis" from Rossini's "Stabat Mater." In regard to the chorus too much cannot be said in their praise. The time, harmony and expression throughout were unexceptionally excellent. The satisfactory manner in which the chorus acquitted itself reflects credit upon Mr. Humphsire, organist of St. Johns, under whose direction the Cantata was so successfully presented. The cantata itself deserves more than a word of praise. To those familiar with the most tender and affecting episode in Biblical history, the music itself is its faithful expression of the various passions called into exercise, repeats the story with affecting fidelity. At the conclusion of the cantata a miscellaneous programme was given. This consisted of an organ solo, Batiste's "Grand Offertoire in D' Major," given by Mr. Hampshire, in an exceedingly creditable manner. Mr. Alex. Elliott's singing of "Abide With Me" was most effectively done. It is the public's loss that he does not appear more frequently. Altogether the cantata "Ruth," as put on last night, was a success most gratifying to all concerned—to audience, director and participants.

Musical.

Miss Maggie Mines, lately a pupil of Prof. Davis, of Hamilton, Ont., is prepared to give piano and organ lessons at her residence, corner of Perry and Aylmer streets, or at the residence of pupils, at reasonable terms. Miss Mines comes to town highly recommended as a finished musician and a thorough instructor, and no doubt will be accorded a liberal patronage.

The Tailors' Trouble.

The striking tailors and their employers have not yet arrived at an understanding. The employers still contend that the prices asked are too high, especially the extras, while the tailors and tailoresses still hold out for the bill. It is unfortunate that business should be hampered in this way, and it is to be hoped that the trouble will be speedily and judiciously settled, with due regard to the interests of both parties.

Fired by a Milk Can.

Mr. Joseph Payne, of North Dummer, had a fire on a small scale on Sunday last, the origin of which beats spontaneous combustion. He left a milk can, used in carrying milk to the Warminster cheese factory, of which he is a patron, lying on the delivery stand near his gate, with the shining tin bottom toward the sun. The bottom reflected the sun's rays on the gate post, forming a focus, which ignited the wood, enveloping the post in flames. Fortunately the phenomenal fire was observed and extinguished before much damage was done. Parties using milk cans, no doubt, will be careful in future to place their cans in an upright position.

News Nuggets.

A very large procession followed the remains of the late J. P. Howden to the cemetery this afternoon.

Messrs. Webber, Shaw and Stutt have, for the credit of the neighborhood, put down a fine boulevard in front of the Charlotte street church premises. The best boulevard in town now fringes both sides of this street between Reid and Rubidge streets.

The "Strike" Trouble.

No little sensation has been created by the difficulty between the master and workmen, interest in the issue of the matter. But ing tailors and the public have a direct monecone man sours serene above all the broil—

Strikes may come and strikes may go
But Goughgoes on forever;

No matter what conflicting struggles may shake the high price clothing trade, Gough the wonderful cheap man, can fill the breach and still supply cheap men's clothing cheap boys' clothing and cheap gents furnishings to the public. Remember the day is approaching when Gough will sow 500 linen dusters from the top of the Opera House on the market square, to be scrambled for by the million. And remember that Gough and the cheapest clothing on the continent, will be found at his store, Arcade Buildings, Market Block, Peterborough.

The Synod of the Diocese of Quebec has been summoned to meet on June 29.

Triple "Tapton."

The apparatus for supplying water for the P.A.A.A. grounds, put in under the direction of Mr. E. B. Rogers, is now complete. An inch and a-half iron pipe has been laid to the cricket crease, which, by means of two hydrants, (one near the crease and one at the tennis plot) supplied with 50 feet of hose, will supply water wherever required. The water will be supplied from a well, sunk at the rear of building at the north-west corner of the grounds, provided with a force pump which empties into a large elevated tank over the well, capable of holding 500 barrels. The piping leads from the tank, the weight of the water in which supplies the pressure.

An immense iron roller has been ordered from the Central Bridge Works, which will be pressed into service immediately.

The track around the grounds will be re-cindered in a few days and put in prime condition.

The association is determined to improve the grounds until they will be second to none.

Her Majesty's Sixty-Seventh.

How it will be Celebrated in Town.

On the 24th inst. Queen Victoria will celebrate her 67th birthday in royal style and on the most magnificent scale and in which the whole empire will participate. The citizens of Peterborough, in keeping with the long established custom, will celebrate the day with becoming festivities. The 24th will be observed as a general holiday, and every person will give themselves up to mirth, pleasure and recreation.

The several sporting organizations in town have arranged for sale day events, while public and private picnics, pleasure parties, etc., will be held in honor of our Sovereign Lady's natal day.

The early hours of the morning will be occupied in firing royal salutes with cannon and firecracker and preparing for further festivities. The steamer Whistle-Wing will run an excursion to Idyl Wild, which will no doubt receive a liberal patronage from those wishing to enjoy a day's outing.

THE GUN.

The Gun Club desiring to keep the public interested, will have a shooting match at the Riverside Park, commencing at nine o'clock. The usual clay blackbirds will be used and each man will fire a royal salute—21 guns—at the birds. This lively sport will fill up the morning blank and cannot fail to entertain.

MEN ON THEIR MUSCLE.

In the afternoon the P. A. A. A. will provide the most attractive programme of sports ever held in town, including foot races, long and short distance, high and long jumping; bicycle races, etc., for valuable medals in which the muscular men of the association will try their speed and skill. Several events are open to all amateurs, and no doubt will be well contested by visitors. The association which has done so much to elevate the tone of athletics generally, in town, will receive a liberal support.

AT THE DRIVING PARK.

The directors of the Driving Park have posters out announcing races to be held in the Driving Park on the Queen's birthday. The directors, by offering large purses, and having a reputation of conducting this sport in an impartial manner, have already received a large number of entries in the several events, with more to hear from. The fastest horses in Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland counties will participate in the races, and an exciting afternoon's sport is insured. As the track is one of the finest in Ontario, some fast records may be expected.

MUSICAL.

The lovers of music will have an excellent opportunity of enjoying themselves. In the evening the charming cantata "The Flower Queen" will be given in the Opera House by a chorus of 60 voices under the direction of Mr. D. D. Gallelly, whose ability in managing musical entertainments is well known.

Thus, it will be seen that during the whole day the best of amusements is offered on every side. Those who have not decided where or how they will spend the day should at once make up their mind to visit Peterborough. Every event will be conducted in the most honorable manner, and a rattling good day's sport is insured.

Police Court.

Mr. Geo. Reynolds was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning, charged by Mr. Elias Barnham with fraudulently and clandestinely removing goods to prevent restraint.

Mr. E. Barnham was sworn and testified that Geo. Reynolds had been a tenant of his, occupying his house on Park street for seven months, ending April 7th. Reynolds had not paid his rent, which amounted to $42, besides taxes. On Monday last he left the house, removing his goods. On Mr. Barnham demanding his rent, the defendant had refused. Since the information had been laid the defendant informed Mr. Barnham that he might take the things realized. A sewing machine had been removed to prevent seizure.

Other evidence was also heard.

The magistrate reserved judgment till to-morrow morning.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. McCarthy, a firm supporter of the Dominion Government, is very anxious that the workmen should get a chance to cast their votes. He proposes to amend the Franchise Act to extend the hours of polling in cities till 8 p. m.—so that the blasted employer need not be troubled by his men asking off to get a chance to vote. Your good Tory thinks it a waste of time for a workman to go to vote in working hours.

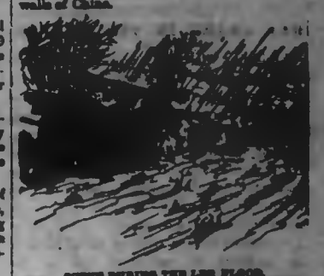
WIND AND FLOOD.

CALAMITIES WHICH ARE COMMON TO THE EAST AND WEST,

None of the ofttold memorables of Europe can boast triumphs of nature's handiwork in the way of water falls and crops and shipping such as we possess, neither do they privileged to witness such grand exhibitions of nature's power when agitated. Our blizzards and cyclones are guaranteed to excel anything of the kind elsewhere. Then our floods go unsurpassed in for their vigor, and as full of destruction as those floods elsewhere. Our losses from this last cause are in a large measure due to our want of caution. We build our bridges and dams and locate our houses a good deal on the "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" principle. The old country people are almost on the side of modern caution. Witness their bridges, they are always built with provision for the stream running beneath to swell past all the bounds of reason or precedent. Then their millidams are built even more solid than the walls of China.



SCENES DURING THE LEE FLOOD.

Here, as in the case of the recent disaster at Lee, Mass., a stock company constructs a dam to store water power. Their aim is, of course, to build it with the least possible expense and with the greatest show of strength. Residents of the town detect signs of weakness in the dam. The persons who own the structure have their attention called to it, but they are too busy making money to bother about it. "Sufficient unto the day," etc., they answer. One fine morning, at 5:30, the dam gives way and the torrent washes down the valley, placing a gully or channel in the earth from 50 to 200 feet wide for a distance of some four miles, wrecking $500,000 worth of property, besides killing nearly a dozen persons. The loss of life would have been greater had not a farmer boy, named Dwight Baker, who heard the crash of the bursting dam, rushed down the valley and aroused many slumbering families of the danger that was upon them.

Similar disasters have frequently occurred in the New England states and always from the same cause the criminal neglect and avarice of mill owners and water power proprietors. This is the season of the year for such catastrophes, and this should be a warning to settlements with such elements of destruction stored above them to examine and strengthen their dams.

VIEW IN ST. CLOUD AFTER THE CYCLONE.

Human negligence is in a great measure responsible for the terrible loss of life in the recent Minnesota cyclone. They have had many previous experiences of a similar nature in that country which should have warned them to build cyclone pits, and not trust to cellars that are covered only by the floor of the house above, so that when the latter is swept away the uncovered cellar becomes a pitfall for flying debris, which piles in upon the unfortunate inmates who have sought it as a place of safety.

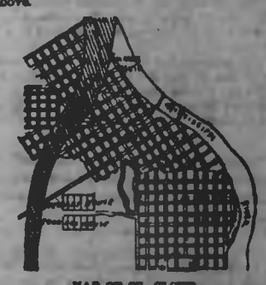
Among the cyclones which have recently occurred in Minnesota, previous to the last one, the most destructive was that which visited Rochester early in the evening of Aug. 20, 1883. The entire northern part of the city was laid in ruins, twenty-six people killed outright and eighty others badly injured. The storm was terrific, carrying everything before it. After leaving Rochester it swept onward to the west through Dodge county, carrying death and destruction in its path. The loss in property from the effects of the storm was about $600,000.

In the recent cyclone at Sauk Rapids and St. Cloud the number of killed and injured were as follows:

St. Cloud—Killed, 21; injured, 60.
Sauk Rapids—Killed, 35; injured, 100.
Rice's Station and adjacent country—Killed, 15; injured, 33.
Total—Killed, 74; injured, 213.

Besides many who have died since from injuries. The property loss is estimated at $600,000.

This cyclone swooped down on these towns about 4 p. m., and wrested with them about twelve minutes, only leaving the terrific amount of death and destruction recorded above.



MAP OF ST. CLOUD.

In the above map the path of the cyclone is shown, and this is a curious feature of these visitations, that they will cut a swath across a country moving everything to the level of the earth and leave all outside its path untouched.

Among the freaks of this cyclone were the wafting of a suit of clothes from a tailor shop to Brainerd, sixty-two miles away, and the carrying of a headstone from a graveyard to St. Cloud, across the Mississippi, and landing it three miles away. In the heart of Sauk Rapids a safe weighing 1,800 pounds was carried 600 feet.

The iron bridge at this point, which weighed hundreds of tons, was carried clear over the town, and dropped in the country some distance on the other side.

The depot sign, "Sauk Rapids," was carried thirteen miles away, in the direction of Rice's.

OUR SHARE IN THE SENATE.

In dealing with public matters the EXAMINER has always, where local interests have been involved, sought the promotion of those interests. In continued pursuit of this policy, we cannot afford to let pass an opportunity of pointing out what the Dominion Government owes this district, and for the matter of that, this town in the matter of Senate appointments. On principle, we do not attach much importance to the Senate as a legislative body, neither on the grounds of its necessity or usefulness, nor on the grounds of its political impartiality. It is a partizan, non-elective body, and, as such, not directly responsible to the people. But the Senate is a fact, not without, sometimes, the characteristic stubbornness of the fact, and we must accept it till it can be remodeled in accordance with principles of representative government, or abolished. While it is necessary to make appointments to the Senate, we must uphold the right of this district to recognition. The appointment involves the conferring of an honor, and we must assert the claim of this district to share in such an honor. There are several vacancies in the Senate, and the one that adds force to our contention is that caused by the death of Senator Hon. John Simpson, of Bowmanville. We are certain that we voice the desire of the public of both political persuasions when we demand, on behalf of this district, that this vacancy shall be filled by the appointment of a local man, and since "the front" has had its share of the honor, we further insist that a resident of this county shall receive the appointment. Among the names which have been mentioned in this connection is that of H. Calcutt, Esq., of Ashburnham. It is not for us to dictate to the Dominion Government whom it shall select for the honor of the senatorial dignity, except by way of demand, on the principle of just distribution of favors, that it shall be a resident of this county, but we know no other gentleman whose appointment would, on personal grounds, so fully meet the approval of all parties composing the general public; besides, length of service and result in the interests of the Conservative cause have made the compliment due him from that party. So long as Senate vacancies are filled on political grounds, and there is no danger of a departure from that principle by the present Government, Mr. Calcutt's claims are most entitled to recognition.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

TUESDAY, MAY 11th.

In the House of Commons to-day, Mr. McLelan's Bill for the relief of the Corporation of the town of Cobourg; Mr. McLelan's Bill to explain the Act for the final adjustment of the claims made by Manitoba on the Dominion, and Mr. Carling's Bill respecting Experimental Farm Stations were read the third time.

Mr. Thompson's resolutions respecting the salaries of registrars and other officers in the Northwest Territories were adopted in committee.

A Perfectionist.

Death of John H. Noyes, Founder of Oneida Community.

Probably not one person in twenty who reads that John Humphrey Noyes is dead will know who or what John Humphrey Noyes was. Yet every reader of newspapers has heard of the Oneida so-called free love community, in Madison county, N. Y.

Well, the man whose death at Niagara Falls, Ont., the newspapers have noted, was the founder of this community. A singular history w his, and there have not been many persons whose real doctrines were more misunderstood.

Noyes was a man of fascinating manners and the literary culture and taste. He was born in Brattleboro, Vt., in 1811. From a boy he was a dreamer, a person of deeply devout and meditative nature. H. Hepworth Dixon, the English writer, visited the Oneida community some years ago, and wrote his impressions of it and of its leader. Noyes he describes as a "tall, pale man, with sandy hair and beard, gray, dreamy eyes, good mouth, white temples, and a noble forehead." There was something lion-like in his face and shaggy head. He resembled Carlyle in appearance, which was no great compliment to his beauty, perhaps.

THE LATE JOHN HUMPHREY NOYES.

Noyes was highly educated. He graduated at Dartmouth college and began the study of law. But in 1831 a great religious revival broke out at Putney, Vt. It drew Young Noyes within its influence. He whom press and people have hounded as a monster of immorality and a destroyer of Christianity abandoned all his worldly prospects and began a work for the sake of religion.

He pondered deeply over religious questions and finally studied theology at Yale college. He considered that he had been converted and was a Christian. In 1833 he became a Congregational preacher. Soon after this his peculiar ideas began to manifest themselves. He pondered more and more deeply on religious questions, till at last the Perfectionist doctrines began to be clear to him. He drew these doctrines from the New Testament and the teachings of Paul. Upon these he based the whole social and religious system, which afterward resulted in the founding of the Oneida community.

He became what he called a seeker after truth. His meditation and study brought him to the decision that the teachings of Paul have been misunderstood. He seems to have believed devoutly in the second coming of Christ, but not that it was to be a material appearance, with pomp and a flourish of trumpets, before the physical eyes of men. It was to be rather the quiet stealing into and impressing of the inner spirit of the individual, without outward sign other than the beautifying changes wrought in the character of the individual. Therefore, it was Noyes called himself and those who believed with him "Perfectionists," strivers towards perfection in all ways—mental, moral, physical and spiritual.

Mingled with this were other doctrines of the equality of all mankind, and particularly the equality of men and women. He believed that those in whom the spirit truly dwelt should separate themselves from the world and live as one family, and return to community of goods, as in the days of the early Christians.

For such as these, also, there should be Christian liberty. The existing laws in regard to marriage, as other matters, should not be binding on them. His doctrines in regard to marriage were more furiously criticised than any others. And yet they seem to have meant directly the opposite of what they are commonly supposed to do. Noyes believed that men and women should live in a state of celibacy ordinarily, and that children should only be born from selected parents. It is a fact that few children were born in the Oneida community. Such as were were turned into a common nursery and school room.

The women of the organization looked very queer to the outside world. Many of them were wholesome and healthful looking, but they wore dresses made for convenience rather than for adornment—scant skirts to their knees, with trousers of the same goods below. Their hair was cut short, and they wore no corsets, but a dress in one piece fitting the form and buttoned close up to the throat. Noyes believed that women were put into the world for something else than merely to look fascinating and enticing to men.

Noyes' teachings were so opposed to the views of the church that his license to preach was speedily taken from him. Then he commenced to found his own sect. He married Harriet Holton, and with her obtained sufficient land and money on which to found his colony. She was in perfect sympathy with his plans. The first colony was started at Putney, Vt. But the citizens of Putney thought they had something to say about the Perfectionists. They broke up the settlement.

Then Noyes and his band of followers went to a retired region in Madison county, N. Y., and set up housekeeping. That was in 1847. The company bought 600 acres of land in course of time. They began to practice their doctrines. All worked for the good of the community, without seeking gain for himself. In thirty years they had, without at all attempting to do so, amassed a valuable property, worth $500,000. The "Oneida trap," known to fur hunters the country over, was the invention of an old Canadian trapper who had joined the community. They prospered greatly, and seemed to live in peace and content.

In 1874 there were 288 of them, with a branch establishment. Hepworth Dixon declared that in the peculiar costume worn by the female portion of the community, "plain women escaped notice and pretty girls looked winsome."

In 1879 the united preachers of the state of New York interfered with the Perfectionists, and set about collecting legal evidence whereby they could be suppressed. Thereupon, in deference to public sentiment, Noyes advised the organization to give up complex marriage and pair off like common folk. This was done. After that Noyes did not live constantly with the community.

He adhered to the last to his doctrines, but believed the world was not yet ripe for them.

DUBLIN May 12.—A despatch from Ulster to the Express says:—"The Orangemen of Ulster are enrolling as volunteers, all members between the ages of eighteen and thirty years. The men will be supplied with arms, and will be drilled by army and navy police officers, and it is hoped, by the organization, their numbers will be augmented by volunteers from England, Scotland and Canada. Arrangements are also being made to obtain arms and ammunition.

Gladstone and Home Rule.

LONDON, May 12.—The defection among the supporters of Gladstone has grown rapidly. The number of adherents of Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain has risen from 58 to 108. The English and Scotch Radical papers that have hitherto supported Gladstone now concur that his concessions are inadequate, that a joint commission is practically impossible, and that the Home Rule bill is doomed to defeat unless crucial amendments be made. Its opponents calculate that there will be a majority of 40 against the bill. Gladstone has been urged to assent to delay the discussion of the bill. He has promised to reply on the subject on Thursday. One hundred and twenty-five members will speak during the debate.

LOVE CONQUERS

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

The same night the Duke of Rayefort said to Captain Lorme—

"I shall call at the Meadow Farm again. The girl we saw there is the most beautiful I have ever seen."

"Not so beautiful as lady Lilias," replied the Captain.

"Much more to my taste. I like those dark faces with a rose-bloom. I shall call there again, for the girl's face haunts me."

CHAPTER XIV.

A moonlit night—and such a moon! It hung like a clear lamp in the blue sky, and the golden stars surrounded it as courtiers do a queen. The dinner was over at King's Clyffe. Lady Fayne had delighted every one with her magnificent singing. Tempted by the lovely moonlight, many of the guests had gone out into the grounds. Lady Fayne was talking sentimentally to the young Duke; Captain Lorme would have fain done the same thing, but Lady Lilias would not listen.—The moonlight lay like a silver veil over the fair earth, making the night almost as bright and clear as day; the water thrown up from the fountains was like silver; and the tall trees threw graceful shadows on the grass.

During dinner there had been some conversation about the pretty farm-house, and Vane had listened with inexpressible pain. He hated the false colors under which he appeared, yet he could not change matters now. He knew that Sir Raye would be greatly displeased if he did so, as one of the conditions of his adoption had been that he should give up home. Vane felt miserably unhappy, and wished he had never accepted Lord Charnwood's invitation—but then he would not have seen Lady Lilias, and she was so kind and so gracious to him. He awoke from his reverie to find Lady Lilias was near him. White lilies were in the dead gold of her hair and in her dress of white silk with rich trailing laces, diamonds sparkled on her lovely arms and neck, and a smile was on her face—sweeter, Vane thought, than the face of woman ever wore before.

"What are you thinking about so deeply, Mr. Vibart?" she asked. "I have been watching you for the last five minutes; you look really as though you would never smile again."

As she spoke, she walked slowly from the long French window on to the terrace, and he followed her. He watched her as she drew over her shoulders a wrapper of white cashmere with golden fringe. There in the moonlight her beauty gained fresh radiance, for the light fell full upon her charming face and golden hair. She seemed to expect that he would accompany her.

"Every one prefers the moonlight," she said. "We are not singular in our taste."

In a few minutes they had reached the gardens where the lilies stood in thick clusters and the odorous roses filled the air with perfume.

"You look like the queen of the lilies," said Vane abruptly; "and as for me, Lady Lilias, my reason is going again, my senses are leaving me!"

There was no anger in the fair face.

"Remind me, will you, of my folly," he went on—"remind me that you are as far above me as the stars. Send me away with cold and cruel ridicule, send me from you with bitter words, for I love you—oh, Heaven, how I love you—and how utterly in vain!"

But no rebuke was in the sweet proud lips, no scorn was in the beautiful eyes. He saw a warm tremulous flush which rose even to the roots of her hair—he saw a tender wistful smile in her eyes; and he was bewildered.

"Send me away, Lady Lilias, while I have strength to go," he said. "Could any man keep sane while you smile so kindly? I love you. As I stand here I could worship you! The moonlight lies on your golden hair and kisses your beautiful face—ah, happy light! The sweet night wind caresses you and stirs the white lilies you wear, ah, happy wind!—For one touch of your white hands I would die! It is worse than madness, this outpouring; send me away while I have the strength to go!"

But no words came from her lips, which had grown strangely pale.

"You will never forgive me, Lady Lilias, I cannot help it. I love you so well that, standing here under the night skies, I swear to you that for one loving word from your lips I would die—I would die," he repeated; and his voice died away in a long low sob.

Had he gone mad, or was he dreaming? A white hand, on which rare gems shone in the moonlight was laid upon his, and a sweet voice whispered to him—

"You need not die."

For one moment his brain reeled and he thought he should swoon. She was so near to him that the sweet subtle odor of the lilies she wore reached him—so near, that her face was close to his.

"I will go to-morrow," he said; and his voice was heavy with tears, "You will forgive me—you will bear with my folly. To-morrow I will go, and I will pray Heaven never to bring me near to you again."

"You need not go," whispered the sweet voice again.

She never forgot the cry that came from his lips—a cry of wonder, pain, fear, and love.

"You did not mean to be cruel to me—you meant to be kind and gracious; but your words are the sweetest poison. You do not understand how you torture me."

She laid her other hand upon his.

"I am not the one who does not understand," she said shyly and sweetly. She bent her shapely head nearer to him, her face crimson, her eyes drooping from his. "I will not understand," she laughed.

"I—I dare not!" he cried. "You told me that it could never be—you sent me away—you left me with my heart crushed, even as you had crushed the meadow-sweet in your hand!"

"Listen to me," she said. "I am sorry that I crushed the meadow-sweet. I wish that I had it in my hands now—fresh and living."

There was a note of passion in her voice, and he heard it. What could it mean?—He trembled like a leaf in the wind.

"If," she continued, "I had the meadow-sweet now, I would not crush it; and, if you said the same words now, I should answer them differently."

He could not believe it, although both of her hands were upon his, and her face was close to his; although she was looking at him with inexpressible truth and the very light of love was in her face and shining in her eyes, he could not believe it.

"Do you understand now?" she said gently; and he answered her almost roughly.

"If I seem to find this a jest, a dream—"

"It is neither," she replied earnestly.—"Why will you not believe?"

"Because," he cried in a voice broken with passion, "it is incredible! Stay—stay! I have never, even in the most ardent of my love, had such hope! Heaven—it is Heaven, can it be true?"

"It is true," she whispered; "and you must never call me the proudest girl in England again. I will tell you the truth. I loved you even when I sent you away; but I would not own it even to myself—I would not admit it. I acquired the habit of saying over and over to myself, 'It will not do,' until I really grew to believe that it would not do. I found out my mistake after I had sent you away. I found that, though I held as my own almost every good gift, they were almost useless to me because I had not love. I found that I had sent away with you the happiness of my whole life. I should never have sent for you; but Providence has brought you

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

Well, there is much to be said. Lovers of music should bear in mind that under the above auspices a grand concert will be given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Tuesday, May 18th. Merit Recognized.

Mr. H. W. Watson, D. D. H. C. R., of the Foresters, accompanied by Mr. John Fanning, R. W. H. M., were in Lindsay last night, where they installed the officers of the Lindsay court. After the installation, the members of the court agreeably surprised Mr. Watson by presenting him with a complimentary address, recognising his able services in promoting the interests of the order. The address was accompanied with the gift of a beautiful, silver mounted ebony walking stick, bearing the following inscription, "Presented to H. W. Watson, D. D. H. C. R., by the members of Court Lindsay, C. O. F., No. 125, Lindsay." Mr. Watson responded in a brief and appropriate speech. Such presentations are particularly pleasing to the recipient when they constitute an honest recognition of merit and of services efficiently rendered.

Hymeneal.

During yesterday the north and south ends of the town were agitated by wedding festivities. In the forenoon Miss Lily Clarke, eldest daughter of the late Rev. Mr. Clarke, at one time pastor of the Episcopal Methodist church in town, was united in marriage to Mr. A. Lukes Rundle, a prominent barrister of Oshawa. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's mother, in the north ward, Rev. F. H. Wallace, M. A., B. D., officiating. The presents received by the bride were numerous and costly. The happy couple left for Montreal on the 11.45 G. T. R. express, accompanied by the best wishes of their many friends.

In the evening Rev. F. H. Wallace was again called upon to officiate at the wedding of Mr. T. B. Pratt, employed in Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage works, to Miss M. Northcott, which took place at the residence of Mr. W. Brownscombe, in the south ward. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome, among which were several valuable pieces of silver, the gift of the employes of Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage works.

The EXAMINER adds its hearty congratulations to those of the many friends of the contracting parties.

The Port Hope Y. M. C. A. excursion to Toronto, yesterday, was well patronized.

The Tailors' Strike.

Settled, Signed & Sealed—Masters and Journeymen Other Employers Still Besieged.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Geo. Walker, representing Hall, Lunan & Co., met with the Executive Committee of the Tailor's Union and after discussing the bill presented by the union signed it on behalf of the firm, an agreement having been previously entered into with regard to the employment of a specific hand. The employees of the firm have been notified that on Monday the union bill of wages will come into force. The other tailoring establishments still refuse to sign the bill, and in consequence the tailoring rooms are almost deserted.

Sportsmen Visit.

N. Washington, M.D., etc., has arrived at the Grand Central, as per advertisement, where he will remain till Saturday night. Dr. Washington is the oldest and most experienced throat and lung surgeon in Canada, and is wholly unqualified to all who may consult him. He believes no "bogus institutions," employs no second-hand agents to fill his place, but appears in person, and the public can depend on his appearance every time. Look at the testimonials on large posters which are genuine as gold, and remember the doctor devotes his whole time to throat and lung diseases. Only that specialist is found to apply the remedy in time. Come early. Remember the date, and don't come too late. Consultation always free.

Love's Victory.

On account of the story now running in the EXAMINER being longer than expected, the new story, "Love's Victory," will not be begun till about Saturday, May 22nd.

The "Strike" Trouble.

No little sensation has been created by the difficulty between the master and working tailors and the public have a direct monetary interest in the issue of the matter. But one man soars above all the broil—

Strikes may come and strikes may go
But Gough goes on forever;

No matter what conflicting struggles may shake the high price clothing trade, Gough the wonderful cheap man, can fill the breach and still supply cheapmen's clothing cheap boys' clothing and cheap gents furnishings to the public. Remember the day is approaching when Gough will sow 500 linen dusters from the top of the Opera House on the market square, to be scrambled for by the million. And remember that Gough and the cheapest clothing on the continent, will be found at his store, Arcade Buildings, Market Block, Peterborough.

Real Estate Investments.

Now that the available real estate within the town limits is nearly all demanded for building purposes, the opportunities for investment are becoming exceedingly limited. Under these circumstances it is interesting to know that an opportunity is presented for profitable investment by the Toronto Real Estate Investment Company, a corporation having offices in Peterborough and Toronto. This company now offers for sale a very desirable, well-located block of land situated east of the Communication Road, and north of Smith street and west of the old Cobourg Railway track, besides plots of land both east and west of the Barnardo Home. The first named plot is bounded by new streets as follows: Barnardo Avenue on the east, Bellevue street on the north, Communication Road on the west, and Wolseley street on the south. The several plots have been sub-divided into some 125 building lots of convenient size, which are now put upon the real estate market, on such reasonable terms that buyers, at present prices, will be certain of a liberal profit on the amount invested. In addition to the topical advantages embraced in a salubrious situation, the property in question being just outside the northern limits of the town, it is not subject to town taxes and investors will not find their property burdened with town taxes, which are higher comparatively than township taxes. This opportunity is well worth the attention of those wishing to secure suburban homes, or invest available funds to good advantage. The property will increase in value at a rapid rate and its yearly augmulation in value will be equivalent to a most generous revenue from the investment. The company has issued a handsome lithographic map, showing both absolute location of the property, and a general town map showing their location in relation to the town. These maps it is understood will be placed in various public places and may be consulted by those interested. Full particulars may be had on application to the Secretary, Mr. F. G. Cox, 28 George street, town.

Personal.

Dr. Washington, throat and lung surgeon, of Toronto, is in town and registered at the Grand Central Hotel. He will remain until Saturday.

Mr. P. C. Blaicher, of Hamilton, who taught in the Peterborough High School about twenty-six years ago, on his return from Ottawa, where he had been on railway business, dropped off here to visit old friends.

Rev. Edward Hine, the father of the Anglo-Israelite theory, was in town to-day. It was expected that he would lecture this evening in the Opera House, on "The Lost Israel Found," but no arrangements were made and the engagement fell through. He will return to Toronto to-night.

Mr. J. A. Richardson, Canadian Travelling Passenger Agent of the Great Wabash Railway and Mr. John B. Frawley, Passenger and Land Agent of the Missouri and Pacific Railway which has a mileage of 6045 miles, were in town yesterday and registered at the Grand Central. They are running through Ontario in the interest of their respective companies. This is Mr. Frawley's first business trip to Ontario and he is much pleased with the appearance of this fine town. He greatly admired the brilliancy of the electric light which he pronounced steadier and as he put it—almost up to American brightness.

POLITICAL PROCEEDINGS.

Phelan versus Langevin.

The Minister's Prevarication Proved—"Black and White" Against a Minister's Ipse Dixit—"Political Exigency" Representation Against Documentary Evidence.

In Wednesday's issue of the EXAMINER was published a report of the proceedings in Committee of Supply, in Parliament, respecting the "twin" shoe for the Peterborough postoffice; and the extraordinary statements made by Sir Hector Langevin, were so at variance with what the public in Peterborough regard as the truth, that a reporter sought Mr. Edward Phelan for the purpose of getting some additional information on the subject, when the following conversation took place:—

Reporter—Mr. Phelan, you doubtless read in yesterday's EXAMINER the report of the questions put to Sir Hector Langevin, and Sir Hector's replies to them?

Mr. Phelan—I have read them, with astonishment.

Reporter—You noticed that Sir Hector ostensibly stated that the words "for postoffice" were inserted in the deed of conveyance from yourself, "without his knowledge." Have you anything to say to that?

Mr. Phelan.—Yes, indeed. If Sir Hector will take the trouble to look at the deed again, he will see that the postoffice alone was mentioned. And in the Department's letter of instructions to their solicitor in Peterborough, he was told to call on me for my title deeds, and to examine into my title and to execute a deed of conveyance of my property to the Government for a site for the Peterborough postoffice.

Reporter.—Yes; and what next?

Mr. Phelan.—When the solicitor had prepared the documents, he omitted to put in the clause stipulating that my site was for the postoffice, and I, of course, refused to sign the deed in that shape and until such a clause was put in as had been agreed upon. The Government solicitor, not wishing to do so without further consulting the Department, wired the Department, and received an answer, instructing him to insert the clause.

Reporter.—Sir Hector says this was done without his knowledge or consent. What do you say about that?

Mr. Phelan.—I have this to say—Some time after the Government had bought my lot for the postoffice site, when the rumour became circulated that there was to be a change of site I visited Ottawa with Mr. Garvey and we had an interview with Sir Hector. Mr. Garvey asked him if the clause in the deed assuming that my lot was for the postoffice was correct, and Sir Hector answered "Yes." Mr. Garvey then drew out of his pocket a copy of the receipt for the purchase money which contained the same conditions and he said that was correct too. But when Mr. Garvey asked him how it came that there was an effort being made to change the postoffice site, the minister in a confused manner stammered and instead of answering Mr. Garvey's question, addressed me with,

"Is it damages you want?"

"No" I replied. "I want you to carry out your agreement to put the postoffice on my lot which I sold you for that purpose." He made no audible reply and Mr. Garvey and I withdrew.

Reporter—What about his statement that he bought the Sewers' lot because it "was near the village of Ashburnham, which is next to Peterborough" and the further statement that "this lot was considered not a proper site for a custom house and Inland Revenue office, and we (the government) thought that under the circumstances another lot should be purchased in the interior of the town, in another place. That lot is called the Phelan lot near the station."

Mr. Phelan.—Why, my lot was bought for a site for the postoffice two months before the Sewers' lot was bought, and it was only after buying the Sewers' lot that the Government proposed separating the two buildings.

Reporter—What is your idea, Mr. Phelan, about separate buildings? Will you state your opinion?

Mr. Phelan—Certainly, I sold my lot for a postoffice only, but I agree with Sir Hector, when he told me previous to buying my lot for the postoffice, that the two buildings must be under one roof, and I think the majority of the people are of the same opinion. But what I want the Government to do is to carry out their agreement with me and build the post office on my lot as agreed to do.

Reporter—But the contract has upon lot for the postoffice on the Hunter street site.

Mr. Phelan—Well, it only down would it as they agreed, "there'll be wigs upon the green."

The Fire Brigade Band will perform at the Court House Park this evening, weather permitting. A choice selection of instrumental music will be given.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Fifth Parliament—Fourth Session.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 12th.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Chapleau introduced a Bill respecting the Department of Public Printing and Stationery.

Mr. Thompson moved that the order for the second reading of the Bill respecting interest in the Province of British Columbia be placed on the Government orders.

Mr. Blake moved that Mr. Jamieson's bill amending the Scott Act by improving its machinery be placed on the Government orders. This was lost on a vote of 69 yeas to 86 nays.

Mr. Kenny then moved that Mr. Orton's bill on the question of allowing the sale of spirits and beer for sacramental purposes be placed on the Government orders.

Mr. Cameron (Victoria) moved in amendment that all bills relating to the Scott Act be placed on the Government orders.

The speaker ruled that Mr. Jamieson's bill could not be included in this motion, as a vote had been already taken on that question.

This bill was, therefore, struck out of Mr. Cameron's amendment, which was then put and lost; yeas, 62; nays, 102. Mr. Kenny's amendment was lost on a vote of 59 to 105.

Mr. Hinkley moved an amendment to place the bill relating to the sale of liquor by druggists on the Government orders was also lost. Two resolutions was carried.

The following Government bills were read a third time and passed:

To amend the Act relating to the salaries of certain judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario; to make further provision respecting the administration of the public lands of Canada in British Columbia; to amend the law respecting Crown cases reserved; the Act in amendment of the "Consolidated Inland Revenue laws."

The Bill respecting the appointment of judges in the Northwest Territory was read the first time. The money clauses of the North-west Representation Bill were passed and referred to the committee on the Bill.

In Committee of the Whole on the Bill respecting the revised statutes, Mr. Thompson promised that the form of oath under the Franchise Bill should be submitted in the Bill instead of being passed in this consolidation.

The Bill to amend the Chinese Immigration Restriction Act was read the second time and passed in Committee of the Whole after a long discussion.

The House adjourned at 11.30.

Chicago Master Tailors Strike First.

CHICAGO, May 13.—An extensive lockout of striking tailors will be inaugurated to-day by the Association of clothing manufacturers and wholesale dealers. A general lock-out means that 20,000 to 25,000 sewing people, men and women, will be denied work. The employers resolved it will continue until the strikers withdraw the demands they have made for increase of pay.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An exchange calls attention to the fact that the Liberals are united and harmonious at Ottawa, while the Tories, like wolves, are biting and devouring one another.

Rev. Price Hughes, the distinguished editor of The Methodist, the organ of the Methodist Church in Ireland, is an enthusiastic advocate of Home Rule, and has written several articles in favor of the principle contended for by the British Premier.

Sir John Macdonald in the pursuit of his political ends has worked so hard to destroy Confederation by opressing the Provinces, and with so much success that the Nova Scotia House of Assembly has passed formal resolutions favoring the secession of the Province from the Confederation.

An Ottawa despatch says: The Senate occasionally proves it has a little life in its dry bones. For example, the other evening, Senators Alexander and Plumb had a pitched battle over some question of privilege or other. Mr. Alexander referred to Mr. Plumb in the customary way, as his honorable friend. Mr. Plumb rose to remark that he was not Mr. Alexander's honorable friend. In the altercation which followed, both gentlemen were endeavoring to speak at once. Mr. Alexander shouted at Mr. Plumb "Bore! bore! bore! Sit down." Finally the Speaker ordered both to sit down. Mr. Alexander now refers to his five special enemies in the Senate as "Rats," and at present is known himself as "Rough on Rats."

Mr. Ferguson, M. P., of Leeds, ardent supporter of the Government and an eloquent apologist for their Northwest maladministration that resulted in the rebellion, in reply to Mr. C. Cameron's incisive speech on Northwest matters, made cowardly insinuations against Rev. Mr. Robertson, a Presbyterian missionary who had exposed the Government's misgovernment in the Northwest, and when the valiant member was called on to make some explicit charge against Rev. Mr. Robertson or withdraw his insinuations, he refused to do either. Speaking in reference to the conduct of the member for Leeds, the Canada Presbyterian says:—

Mr. Ferguson now stands before the people of Canada as a Member of Parliament who uses his privileges to stab by insinuation the reputation of a missionary of the Church, and who when called upon to make specific charges or withdraw his insinuation, is unscrupulously to do the one or the other. We direct the attention of the Christian people of Leeds, especially Presbyterians, to the conduct of their representative.

America's Popular Preacher.

The Rev. T. D. De Witt Talmage—His Father's Reception.

The reception and ovation which the press of the country has given the recent series of sermons of Dr. Talmage on the Marriage Ring, show that the words of the reverend doctor have commanded attention to the public. He has reached the zenith of his fame and influence, as it does seem scarcely possible that a simple minister could obtain a wider popularity than that which he now holds.

Dr. Talmage owes his success to hard, unflagging work. The family of which he is born is from his parents. He was born in Bound Brook, N. J., fifty-four years ago, the youngest of twelve children.

In [illegible] Dr. Talmage says: "My father [illegible] to the anniversary of hard donations, but had this high honor that no one could disparage by weight the gift [illegible] kept His commandments. Two years two hands and two feet were the capital my father started with. For fifteen years an invalid, he had a fearful struggle to support his large family. Sometimes [illegible] he ate his first dollar, but [illegible] God has [illegible] he found Him who owns the cattle on a thousand hills, and out of the pain of whose mouth all the fowls of heaven [illegible] their food."

Speaking of his mother, he says: "I was the child of her old age, and I remember how her voice used to tremble in evening prayer, with what tenderness she chanted me off to bed, and how she sustained unused cheer me all the way through; and then, during each one of us a blessing she would offer to the palace window, where she is waiting for good news from us."

After graduating from the University of the City of New York, T. De Witt Talmage studied two years [illegible] his mind toward the pulpit, and he entered the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, N. J. His first charges were at Belleville, N. J. and Syracuse, N. Y. From there he went to the Second Reformed Church of Philadelphia. Here his fame began. After seven years of labor here he went, in 1869, to the Brooklyn Tabernacle, which he has since rendered famous. The congregation was small, but his preaching soon attracted crowds far beyond the capacity of the building. A larger structure was erected, capable of seating 3,000 people. This was burned Dec. 22, 1872. In 1873 the present edifice was dedicated. It will seat 5,000 persons, though an enlargement of its [illegible] long been contemplated, owing to the [illegible] ing, the doctor himself often preaching all sermons only through the aid of the public address.

Dr. Talmage preaches without notes, and sometimes to emphasize his remarks he gesticulates with the long and supple arms and legs which the Almighty has lavishly provided him with.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

An able writer says of his sermons: "Dr. Talmage starts out with a narration of incidents told in Scripture in connection with the text. His voice is conversational in tone. He talks just as he would if at a prayer meeting. With his hands folded behind his back, he leisurely proceeds to his long platform, along which there is neither railing nor the usual pulpit. Walking up and down, talking now this, now another section of the text, his unaffected narrative proceeds. He passes from pleasing narrative to entertaining history, and, while pursuing to the entertaining features of it, also abounds with marvellous gleanings the characters of the personages involved therein. But before his analysis has been reported a curtain falls over dazzling hall, resplendent decorations and art treasures, and in their blend is opened up a view of a mountain and a cross upon it, with the flesh of God before offered as a sacrifice for the sins of the world. The charming conceiver, historian and artist has magically lured his audience on, enchained its fancy, spell-bound its attention, only to fit it for the transcendant glories of the divine scene he here presents. Now the thoughts glow and his gestures encompass the order of his soul in the cause of salvation; on and on, from height to height of divine eulogy he leads his listeners, while they tearfully follow. It is as a encounter of history that Dr. Talmage commands and delights his audience."

Gladstone and Home Rule.

LONDON, May 13.—Gladstone, replying to a congratulatory telegram from the Premier of Nova Scotia, expresses cordial and respectful thanks on behalf of the Cabinet.

Lord Hartington will meet his followers in the House of Commons to-morrow.

Gladstone will shortly convene a meeting of his Liberal supporters in the House of Commons, probably on Saturday, in accordance with the wish generally expressed at an informal meeting on Tuesday. The latter meeting deprecated hurrying the second reading of the Home Rule Bill while discussion on the details existed. A general agreement on the principle of the Bill was arrived at. A motion to approach Chamberlain with the object of inducing him to withdraw his opposition was protested and withdrawn.

Several of Gladstone's supporters are urging him to withdraw the Home Rule Bill in order to avert the disruption of the Liberal party.

Mr. Healey will call the attention of H. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary for War, to the recent speech of William Johnston, member of Parliament for South Belfast, in which he ordered that General Wolseley had declared that if Home Rule were given to Ireland he would throw up his commission and place himself at the head of an army of Ulster men to resist the new Irish Government.

RETURN FROM THE CHASE.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE AT THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.

The Hunt for Pleasure and Gold in the Morning of Life—May Evening Bring a Division of the Spoils of Christian Character!

BROOKLYN, May 9.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage preached this morning in the Brooklyn Tabernacle on the subject "Return from the Chase." The opening hymn was:

Now I have found a friend
Whose love shall never end,
Jesus is mine.

Before the sermon the pastor read and expounded an appropriate chapter from the Evangelists. The great organ of the Brooklyn Tabernacle has been re-stored by improvements, which greatly add to the majesty and power of the instrument.

Dr. Talmage's text was from Genesis xlix, 27: "In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil." Dr. Talmage said:

There is in this chapter such an affluence of simile and allegory, such a mingling of metaphors, that there are a thousand thoughts in it not on the surface. Old Jacob, dying, is telling the fortunes of his children. He prophesies the devouring propensities of Benjamin and his descendants. With his dim old eyes he looks off and sees the hunters going out to the fields, ranging them all day and at nightfall coming home, the game slung over the shoulder, and reaching the door of the tent the hunters begin to distribute the game; and one takes a coney, and another a rabbit, and another a roe. "In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil." Or it may be a reference to the habits of wild beasts that slay their prey and then drag it back to the cave or lair and divide it among the young.

There is nothing more fascinating than the life of a hunter. On a certain day in all England you can hear the track of the sportsman's gun, because grouse hunting has begun, and every man that can afford the time and ammunition and can draw a bead starts for the fields. On the 20th of October our woods and forests will resound with the shock of firearms and will be tracked of pointers and setters, because the quail will then be a lawful prize for the sportsman. Xenophon grew eloquent in regard to the art of hunting. In the far east people, elephant-mounted, chase the tiger. The American Indian darts his arrow at the buffalo until the frightened herd tumbles over the rocks. European nobles are often found in the fox chase and at the stag hunt. Francis I was called the father of hunting. Moses declares of Nimrod: "He was a mighty hunter before the Lord." Therefore, in all ages of the world the imagery of my text ought to be suggestive whether it means a wolf after a fox or a man after a lion. "In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil."

I take my text, in the first place, as descriptive of those people who in the morning of their life give themselves up to hunting the world, but afterward by the grace of God, in the evening of their life, divide among themselves the spoils of Christian character. There are aged Christian men and women in this house who, if they gave testimony, would tell you that in the morning of their life they were after the world as intensely as a hound after a hare or as a falcon swoops up a gazelle. They wanted the world's plaudits and the world's gains. They felt that if they could get this world they would have everything. Some of them started out for the pleasures of the world. They thought that the man who laughed loudest was happiest. They tried repartee and conundrum and burlesque and madrigal. They thought they would like to be Tom Hoods or Charles Lambs or Edgar A. Poes. They mingled wine and music and the spectacular. They were worshipers of the harlequin and the Merry Andrew and the buffoon and the jester. Life was to them foam and bubble and cachinnation and roystering and grimace. They were so full of glee they could hardly repress their mirth even on solemn occasions, and they came near bursting out hilariously even at the burial, because there was something so dolorous in the tone or countenance of the undertaker. After awhile misfortune struck them hard on the back. They found there was something they could not laugh off. Under their late hours their health gave way or there was a death in the house. Of every gross thing their soul was exhilarated. They found out that life was more than a joke. From the heart of God there blazed into their soul an earnestness they had never felt before. They awoke to their sinfulness and their immortality, and here they sit today at sixty or seventy years of age, as appreciative of all innocent mirth as they ever were, but they are head on a style of satisfaction which in early life they never hunted, the evening of their days brighter than the morning. In the morning they devoured the prey, but at night they are dividing the spoil.

Then there are others who started out for financial success. They see how timber a man's hat is when he bows down before some one transpicuous. They fix they would like to see how the world looked from the window of a three-thousand-dollar turnout. They thought they would like to have the mercantile sunlight kindled in the headgear of a morning open. They wanted the bridges in "Bark to resound under the reteplum of their swift hoofs. They wanted a "Yokohama, and so they started in gilled, fair hunt. They chased it up one sideboard chased it down another. They by that it when it burrowed in the cellar, stepped it for the roof. Wherever a dollar was reported to be they were. They chased it across the ocean. They chased it from the land. They chased and for the sight flowering man amidst, even in the darkness, thrilled them as an Adirondack sportsman is thrilled by a bear's growl. They chased that dollar to the money vault. They chased it to the government treasury. They rousted it from under the counter. All the hounds were out—all the pointers and setters. They leaped the hedges for that dollar, and they cried "Hark away! a dollar! a dollar!" and when at last they came upon it and had actually captured it, their excitement was like that of a fisherman who has successfully fixed his first hawk. In the morning of their life, oh, how they devoured the prey! But there came a better time to their soul. They found out that an immortal nature cannot live on government bonds. They took up a Northern Pacific bond, and there was a hole in it through which they could look into the uncertainty of all earthly treasures. They saw some Raleigh, living at the rate of $50,000 a month, leaping from a San Francisco school because he could not continue to live at the same ratio. They saw the wisest and purest-hearted bankers who had changed their souls into molten gold stamped with the image of the earth, earthy. They saw some great souls by avarice tossed into the sea, and they said to themselves: "I will seek after higher treasure." From that time they did not care whether they walked or rode if Christ walked with them; nor whether they lived in a mansion or a hut if they dwelt under the shadow of the Almighty; nor whether they were robed in Tyrian broad-cloth or in a housemaid if they had the robe of the Saviour's righteousness; nor whether they were sandaled with morocco or calf-skin if they were shod with the preparation of the gospel. Now you see pause on their countenance. Now that man says: "What a fool I was to be enchanted with this world! Why, I have more satisfaction in five minutes in the service of God than I had in all the first years of my life while I was gain getting. I like this evening of my day a great deal better than I did the morning. In the morning I gaudily devoured the prey; but now it is evening, and I am gloriously dividing the spoil."

My friends, this world is a poor thing to hunt. It is beautiful to go out in the woods and hunt. It is delightful to the lustre of the eye. It strikes the brown of the autumnal leaf into the cheek. It gives to the pneumatic limbs a strength to leap like the roe. Christopher North's pet gun, the muckle-mouthed Meg, going off in the summer in the forests, had the echo in the widest time in the eloquence that rang through the university hall of Edinburgh. It is health to go hunting in the fields; but I tell you that it is belittling and hedwarfing and belaming for a man to hunt this world. The hammer comes down on the gun cap and the barrel explodes and kills you instead of that which you are pursuing. When you turn out to hunt the world the world turns out to hunt you; and as many a sportsman aiming his gun at a panther's heart has gone down under the striped claws, so while you have been attempting to devour this world, the world has been devouring you. So it was with Lord Byron. So it was with Coleridge. So it was with Catherine of Russia. Henry II went out hunting for this world and its lances struck through his heart. Francis I aimed at the world, but the assassin's dagger put an end to his ambition and his life with one stroke. Mary, Queen of Scots, wrote on the window of her castle:

From the top of all my trust
Mishap hath laid me in the dust
(Concluded To-morrow.)

A Russian Shipton.

Society at St. Petersburg is just now much occupied with the revival of a very curious story. About three years ago there was a spiritualistic seance at the Officers' club in that city, at which the spirit of a famous departed general was called up, and prophesied among other things that there would be a great war in 1886, in which Russia would take the leading part. As the ghost of the deceased warrior mentioned among the names of officers who would greatly distinguish themselves in the war those of some men who did not even figure in the army list, the affair was looked upon as a joke and nothing more was thought of it. But, by a strange coincidence among recent appointments to the rank of commissioned officers the very names appear which the spirit had foretold, the bearers being men of no family, who have risen from the ranks. As there is no country in the world where superstition is carried to such an extent as in Russia, the incident has caused quite a sensation. It would be very strange if at the commencement of the year 1886 we should see Russia drawn into a war with Austria as a result of the struggle between Servia and Bulgaria.—London Life.

Attention is called by the Coal Trade Journal, in an elaborate article, to the fact that the value of water as an aid to blasting, when used in connection with explosives, is rapidly becoming recognized in this country, as well as in the larger mines and quarries of Europe. Among the favorable points pertaining to this process special mention is made of the fact that the powder in exploding bursts the tube containing the water, and—careful estimates showing—with increased power or explosive violence; this is because the rending force is extended through the water, in accordance with certain well known principles of hydrostatics, over the enlarged interior area of the bore hole, due to the space occupied by the water tube. A much larger quantity of the material to be mined or quarried is thus brought down or loosened with a smaller quantity of the explosive used. Again, the heat given off by the burning of the powder and surrounding gases converts a larger proportion of the water into steam, the elastic force of which assists in the operation of blasting, and the steam and remaining water together extinguish the flame and flush of the power.

RUPTURE CURED
IN FROM 20 TO 90 DAYS BY WEARING
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 25th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and ruptured for over 40 years, I looked upon my case as hopeless, and was induced to purchase one of your trusses without much confidence, expecting it would be of little benefit to me. I am happy to say, however, contrary to my expectations, it has done me more than I could have hoped for. I have worn it for nearly two months, and can say that I am entirely cured. I can recommend it to all ruptured persons as the best truss ever invented, and will be pleased to answer any enquiries from persons desirous of procuring one. It holds me perfectly secure, and is easy and comfortable to wear. You are at liberty to publish it for the benefit of others afflicted with rupture.

Yours truly, JOHN CARTER.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken two years to perfect, and is the result of the very worst cases coming into the hands of the inventor; and in any of cases of double rupture, or where other trusses have failed to hold, this truss will be found a perfect success. A complete fit guaranteed in every case. Circulars free. Call or address back to me. I have mourned in my heart for you as people mourn for the dead.—Now do you believe me Vane?"

She never forget the cry of rapturous delight that came from him, nor the sudden joyful radiance that overspread his face.

"I believe it—at last?" he cried.—"Thank Heaven, thank Heaven!" and his whole frame trembled. "Forgive me," he said; you do not know what it is to me. I feel as though I were coming from death to life. Oh, my darling, my love, how shall I thank you?"

He whispered his thanks as he gathered her to him and kissed the beautiful face that he never dreamed would nestle on his breast. A few moments afterwards, when his passionate love-words had died away, she said to him—

"You are trembling still, Vane."

"I have not realized it yet," he answered. "I have never had any hope Lady Lilias—"

"Are you going to call me 'Lady Lilias,'" she interrupted, "after all the nice pretty kind things I have said to you? It seems very formal. When papa is pleased with me, he calls me 'Lily.'"

"He must call you 'Lily' always then," said Vane. "I am trying to realize it, but I cannot. I feel dazed and blinded, as though I had been looking at the sun.—Oh, Lily, sweet, can it be true that you love me?"

"I do love you," she replied.

"Can it be true that you will be my wife?"

"Yes, if you ask me," she answered.—"But, Vane, you have not asked me yet."

He drew the beautiful head down upon his breast.

"Will you be my wife, my beloved?" he asked.

The answer contented him.

Half an hour afterwards they were still by the lilies in the moonlight, and he was slowly beginning to understand his position.

"What will Lord Audley say?" he asked.

Lady Lilias laughed.

"He will say that I have chosen wisely and well," she replied. "It is an old promise between us that he should give me full liberty on that point. He likes you very much, and I think he will be delighted."

"What will the world say? Ah, my darling, the world will say you have thrown yourself away!"

"I am content," she replied. "I shall have love and happiness with you. I should have neither away from you."

And in that hour of supreme bliss and triumph he never gave one thought to the one secret of his life. Her love had graced him and placed him by her side. In the warmth of his triumph he forgot that he was keeping one secret from her.

CHAPTER XV.

"Tell it to me all over again; I cannot believe it. I spent the whole night looking at the moon and the stars, trying to find out whether I was dreaming or happily awake."

Vane was speaking. Lady Lilias had gone to the conservatory, where she went every morning to look at the flowers, and he had followed her.

"It is all quite true, and no dream," she answered. "Why should it be?—No man could give me more love, the whole treasure of his heart; such a gift from any other man. You look as though you had not slept."

"I am so happy that I feel as if I could not sleep again."

It was of course the climax of his life; it did not exist, the wilderment of his bewilderment that it never occurred to him that he was bound in all honor to keep his secret; but every thought and memory was merged in one emotion. He remembered only that she loved him.

"Vane," she said, "I have a little sentiment of my own. Will you gratify it?"

"You know that I will," he answered.

"I should always like to think of yesterday as the happiest day of our lives; and I think the happiest time of all is when two people love each other and no one knows their secret. Let us keep ours two days longer; then of course you will go to Ulverscroft and see my father. The fact of our engagement should not be mentioned here until we have his sanction."

"You are right," he said.

"So we shall keep our secret for two days longer. I go home then, and you may follow me. It will be like having a little fairy land of our own. But," she added laughingly, "if it is to be a secret, you must not look so very fond of me, Vane."

"I cannot help it," he said; "my heart is in my eyes whenever I look at you."

"You must not look at me then," she replied, knowing that he could not help that either. "We shall have two perfectly happy days," she added. "We will not talk about the past or the future; we will not mention the words 'Penelope' and 'marriage;' we will be lotus-eaters for the time. Do you agree?"

"I expect that I shall always agree with

"I am so happy," he said, "that I feel as if I could never sleep again."

It was strange that at this the very climax of his life, he forgot, as though it did not exist, the secret of his birth; his bewilderment of joy was so great that it never occurred to him. He was bound in all honor to tell Lady Lilias this secret; but every thought, feeling, and memory was merged in the one grand passion. He remembered nothing except that she loved him.

"Vane," said Lady Lilias, "I have a little sentimental fancy of my own. Will you gratify it?"

"You know that I will," he answered.

"I should always like to think of yesterday as the happiest day of our lives; and I think the happiest time of all is when two people love each other and no one knows their secret. Let us keep ours two days longer; then of course you will go to Ulverscroft and see my father. The fact of our engagement should not be mentioned here until we have his sanction."

"I cannot help it," he said; "my heart is in my eyes whenever I look at you."

"You must not look at me then," she replied, knowing that he could not help that either. "We shall have two perfectly happy days," she added. "We will not talk about the past or the future; we will not mention the words 'obstacles' and 'marriage;' we will be lotus-eaters for the time. Do you agree?"

"I expect that I shall always agree with everything you say, my beautiful queen.—I foresee no trouble is to be avoided."

They had a long summer day of unalloyed happiness, a day they never forgot. They spent the greater part of it under a great old cedar, where Lady Lilias affected to be working diligently at embroidery into point-lace, and Vane held a book in his hands, of which he never read a word. The Viscount came to see the Duke, and found them there.

"If it be so," he thought, "it will be a splendid match for him, and one of the most beautiful women in the world will love him."

He came during the visit of the Duke of the Meadow Farm. It was brought to his mind by his Grace of Rayefort. While Vane was preparing for dinner, the gentleman came to him and asked him, as there was time, to play just one game of billiards with him. Vane consented.

"I cannot think," said his Grace, "what has put you in such high spirits. I wish I felt half as well."

"I wish you would if you had the same cause," laughed Vane.

The Duke played wretchedly, and at last cried out—

"I am the loser of a thousand pounds, yesterday at the old homestead. I bet you my fortune it is not."

"Then have I seen a face half so beautiful as hers. What are you looking so much that way for? Your face is as white as the chalk here. Are you not smitten with her?"

"I do not know what you are talking about," replied Vane.

"I believe it is true," said the Duke, "and I believe the time has come when you have fallen in love. Tell me, you have fallen in love with the Lady Lilias Ulverscroft."

Vane looked at him in his wretched plight since yesterday. Ah, now I remember!—You did not go into the house with us, Sunday man! A sudden fancy seized Lady Lilias to have a glass of milk, and we went in for it. I remember nothing but the girl who brought it, and she made me think of the goddess Diana. I shall go and see her again."

Had little Kate, who had prayed Vane so earnestly to leave home and be made a gentleman, grown into such a bonnie winsome girl that this young peer should rave about her?

"I shall go again," repeated the Duke. "I call it a shame for a face and figure like that to be buried in an old farm-house."

Vane constrained himself to speak calmly.

It matters not of how long standing it may be, or how often other remedies have failed to afford relief, Nerviline, the great pain cure, does its work promptly. Buy a ten cent sample bottle, and try it for internal or external pains. You will be convinced of its extraordinary power in relieving pain. Ten cent bottles and large bottles 25 cents, at all druggists. Take no substitute. d100-6t-w19

What Say You to a Piece of Roast Beef and Mustard?

Well, there is much to be said. The question being asked of the landlord of an average boarding house, calls up reminiscences of close contiguity to the horns, and beef steak three cents south thereof. He, of course, will pass, unless it occurs to him that he needs a hinge for his trunk. Should there be any suffering, the effect of an indulgence in such nauseous fare, use McGregor's Speedy Cure, a sure and effectual remedy for Dyspepsia, Constipation and all affections of the stomach and liver. NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Committee Meetings.

The Finance and Fire, Water and Light civic Committees met last night and will report at Monday's meeting of the Council.

Morrow, Tierney & Co.

Have a large and varied stock of the choicest family groceries which they are selling at the closest prices. It will be to the interest of housekeepers to give them a call.

Dr. Washington.

The eminent throat and lung surgeon, will visit Peterborough this week, and can be consulted at the Grand Central hotel, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 13th, 14th and 15th. See advertisement in another column.

Three Entries Required.

Three entries and three to start will be required in all athletic events at the P. A. A. A. celebration on the 24th. Those who intend to participate in the sports should make their entries with the secretary as early as possible.

Practice Matches.

A practice cricket match will be played at the P. A. A. A. grounds to-morrow afternoon. Old and new members of the club will be out in large numbers, but will be out in small numbers before the day is over, if last Saturday's scores are not improved on.

Young Men's Liberal Club.

A meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Club will be held in their rooms, Cox Block, (over the telegraph office) on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members and of all friends of the Liberal principles is requested.

Striking the Grade.

Mr. A. Thomas, in the employ of Mr. J. P. Belsher, town engineer, was engaged this morning in striking the grade in Dodge street, from Hunter street to Edinburgh street, and on cross streets between the points for a distance of a 100 feet on either side, and on Murray street, as ordered by the Council.

Specialist Visit.

N. Washington, M.D., etc., has arrived at the Grand Central, as per advertisement, where he will remain till Saturday night. Dr. Washington is the oldest and most experienced throat and lung surgeon in Canada, and is wholly responsible to all who may consult him. He belongs to no "begus institution," employs no second-hand agents to fill his place, but appears in person, and the public can depend on the appearance every time. Look at the testimonials on large posters which are genuine as gold, and remember the doctor devotes his whole time to throat and lung diseases. The great secret is found to apply the remedy in time. Come early. Remember the date, and don't come too late. Consultation always free.

Police Court.

Isaac Simpson, a striking tailor, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with biting drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Mr. Elias Barnham, who was present, explained to the magistrate that the prisoner had been excited over the tailors' strike and asked him to allow the magistrate to go.

The magistrate said that he would make the fine light this time, $2, or ten days in jail, as in Scott Act time drunkenness was a serious offence.

The prisoner asked for a week to pay, but his worship would not give credit, remarking that a man who could afford to lie around drunk in a Scott Act town deserved to go to jail.

Mr. Elias Barnham and C. W. Sawers, who were present to hear the magistrate's decision in the case Barnham against Reynolds, for removing goods, were informed by the magistrate that he would reserve his judgment indefinitely, to allow the plaintiff an opportunity of making a settlement.

Personal.

Mr. Thos. Mills, brother of Mr. Joseph Mills, of town, and Mr. R. M. Horsey, both of Kingston, are spending a few days in town, the guests of Mr. Joseph Mills.

Mr. William McGregor left yesterday for Havelock, where he takes possession of Prudeaux's hotel, which he has leased and will conduct in future, in the first-class manner in which he is capable of running a hotel.

Rev. Arpad Givan, who goes as a Presbyterian missionary to North Hastings, was ordained at St. Andrew's Hall, Kingston, yesterday.

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

The Tailors' Trouble.

GATHERED!

No Present Prospect of a Settlement.

The trouble between the striking tailors and tailor-made and ready-made clothiers and no agreement has been arrived at, both parties being wide apart, as the bills of prices the two parties are willing to accept vary so. On Monday last the striking tailors presented to the employers a bill of wages on the acceptance of which by the employers the tailors said they would endeavor to work. The employers unanimously refused to entertain the bill at all. However, at a meeting of the Tailors' Union held on Wednesday evening, it could be reasonably known, Mr. Geo. Walker, manager of the Hall, Tuckle & Co., came to the conclusion, evidently by the bill in hand, that in addition to half of that firm as signed the proposed bill and the employees were notified that after Monday next the union prices would be paid. The following is a copy of the prices of bill adopted by the union and presented to Messrs. Hall, Tuckle & Co.:

Police Court.

A Number of a Rogue Cases for Intoxication and Other Drunk and Noisy Charges Disposed.

THE regular police court was held shortly after nine o'clock. The docket consisted of twelve informations against almost as many persons for selling or keeping for sale intoxicating liquor, contrary to the Scott Act, now in force. The majority of the legal fair who were present were Messrs. E. B. Edwards, who appeared for the prosecution, W. H. Moore, John O'Meara, J. Burdiana, M.P.; A. P. Pousette, Q.C., for the defendants. The representatives of the liquor fair summoned before the court were Messrs. T. Cavanagh, A. P. Morgan, M. Halpin, W. Kennedy, F. and J. Daly, W. Clancy, Thos. and Elizabeth Darcy, Wm. Chamberlain, J. B. Dunn and H. Calcutt. The audience was as large as the room would admit.

The first called was Mr. T. Cavanagh, charged as follows: Information has been laid by Mr. H. Rossiter that he has good reason to suspect and believe, and does suspect and believe that Timothy Cavanagh, between the 1st and 14th of May, 1886, did unlawfully keep for sale intoxicating liquors, contrary to the Canada Temperance Act of 1878.

The defendant pleaded not guilty.

The magistrate inquired of the defendant if he was ready for trial.

Mr. Cavanagh replied, "I guess not."

The magistrate remarked, "You don't guess much around here. Are you ready?"

Mr. O'Meara asked the magistrate to enlarge the case till Wednesday, as the defendant wished to engage Toronto counsel.

Mr. Moore asked that all cases be allowed to stand over, as the defendants were not prepared to proceed with the cases as short notice, as they were only summoned last night, after an unsuccessful search had been made through all their premises.

Chief Cooper explained that the warrants were issued before the search was made, the informations having been previously made.

The magistrate said the defendants had been expecting to be summoned before the court. They would be as well prepared on Monday as a week later.

The case was enlarged till Monday.

A similar charge was preferred against Mr. A. P. Morgan, who pleaded not guilty. Case enlarged till Tuesday morning.

Mr. Kennedy charged with a similar offence, pleaded not guilty. The case was enlarged till Monday.

Mr. Michael Haplin charged with a similar offence, pleaded not guilty. The case was enlarged till Tuesday.

F. and J. Daly on a similar charge pleaded not guilty. This case was enlarged till Monday, at 9 o'clock.

Wm. Clancy pleaded not guilty to a similar charge. Mr. Moore here asked the magistrate to allow the counsel a reasonable time to consider the Act. The hearing of the case was postponed till Tuesday.

Mr. Thos. Darcy and Mrs. Elizabeth Darcy were charged with unlawfully selling liquor between the 9th and 14th inst. and with keeping liquor for sale between the first and fourteenth inst.

The defendants pleaded not guilty to both charges and applied their residence to prove their innocence.

The magistrate enlarged the case till Monday.

[redacted] unlawfully kept liquor for sale, pleaded not guilty, and insisted that the hearing of the case should be proceeded with immediately.

Monday, however, suited the magistrate, Mr. Edwards not being prepared to proceed, and the case was enlarged till that day.

Mr. J. B. Dunn, before the court on a similar charge, pleaded not guilty. His case was enlarged till Tuesday.

A charge was preferred against Mr. Henry Calcott, unlawfully selling liquor in the village of Ashburnham, between the 1st and 14th inst., in quantities less than eight gallons. Mr. Burnham appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty. He asked the court to enlarge the case till Saturday at 9 o'clock, which request was granted.

The court then adjourned.

Mr. Sprenke employs the highest skill, best materials and apparatus, and parties needing views can get better work and better satisfaction from him than from irresponsible travelling picture takers.

Sons of Toil.

Sixteen of Interest to Workingmen.

The Knights of Labor of Hilton, Indiana, have organized a baking powder manufacturing company, with a capital of $25,000.

The correspondence of the United States Labor Bureau is increasing.

David P. Rowe, Chief Organizer of the International Typographical Union, has taken Jesse of Indianapolis, whose instrument in organizing some 30 labor unions of his craft, all organized to have the pinafore up to 30 hours the first of next month.

The printers, pressmen, and pressmen of Pittsburgh, Pa., have had all demands complied by the employers. The eight-hour rule also victorious.

The Cabinetmakers' Union factory of Indianapolis, Ind., has succeeded eight hours on a day's work; and the best wages of the same only give nine hour's pay for eight hour's work.

The working time of the carpenters employed on the National Museum, at Washington, D. C., has been reduced from nine to seven and a-half hours per day.

The printers of Washington have been receiving an increase of wages of 20 per cent. since the first of the present month.

A meeting of the workmen was recently called at Wheeling, West Virginia, to protest against the introduction of imported Italian laborers on the pipe lines of the West Virginia Natural Gas Co. Over 2,000 men were in attendance. In the meantime the gas company and the contractors changed the whole business, and agreed to dispense with the Italians. The intended indignation meeting was, as a consequence, changed into one of jollification.

A year ago the manufacturers and power loom ingrain carpet weavers at Philadelphia entered into an agreement as to the rate of wages for one year. This agreement has expired, and the former now insist on a reduction in the price of weaving, which the weavers refuse to submit to.

The Gould line strike has been brought to an end through the efforts of the Cartha Committee. The order was signed by John W. Hayes, for the Executive Board of the K. of L.

The meeting of heads of international and national unions, to be held at Philadelphia on the 12th inst., is not for the purpose of waging war upon the Order of the K. of L. as has been reported, but rather for the purpose of adding more solidity to all organized labor, no matter under what name incorporated.

The five committees of the K. of L. of London, Ont., sent $700 to the support of the South-western Railway strikers, and promised as much more when called for.

Disinfectants.

To the Editor of the DAILY EXAMINER:

SIR:—A good many enquiries having been made lately as to the most suitable disinfectants for household use, it may be advisable to mention a few with their advantages and disadvantages. It should be remembered that there is a difference between disinfectants and those substances which merely disguise noxious odours. The manufacturer of vinegar volatilized, or brown paper burned, do not disinfect, but simply mask unpleasant effluvia. A true disinfectant acts chemically and destroys the foul matter.

The Provincial Board of Health recommends sulphate of copper, common blue stone, one pound dissolved in a gallon of water to be sprinkled where required. Copperas the same proportions also acts well. Those are odourless. Crude carbolic acid is a powerful disinfectant, but objectionable to many on account of its smell. The same may be said to a greater degree of chloride of lime. Among ready-made disinfectants, the cheapest and cheapest I know is the Red Cross Concentrated Fluid of Messrs., Kennedy, Campbell & Co., Montreal. Add to its effectiveness that it is odourless and not poisonous, that a pint bottle is sold for 25 cents, and we have a model household disinfectant. All the foregoing are useful for drains, cesspools, vaults, &c. The fumes of burning sulphur are very efficacious for infected rooms. In such cases the walls should be thoroughly whitewashed, and hot water used liberally before the rooms are put in use.

In a list of disinfectants the best of all should not be forgotten. Light, fresh air, and cleanliness are paramount as purifying agents, and are fortunately within the reach of everybody.

Yours, &c.,
J. CLARKE,
Medical Health Officer.

A Challenge.

The following item appears in to-day's Mail, which explains itself:—

SIR.—In response to an item in to-day's Mail I may say that I would like to accept Mr. Smith's challenge, providing the contest is for fancy club swinging only, and that I have a voice as to where the conflict shall take place. I think I am entitled to the choice, as nearly a year ago I challenged the Hamilton and nobody came to time. Would like to hear full particulars from Mr. Smith.

Hunter Street Baptist Church.

To-morrow the Rev. A. H. Munro will preach at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. His subject in the morning will be "The Last Words of the Apostle Paul;" in the evening "Christian Baptism; what it is not, and what it is." At the close of the evening service the ordinance of Christian baptism will be administered.

A Reckless Master.

The Street Inspector's attention is called to the obstructed state of the drain on the north side of Charlotte street between Bethune and Aylmer. As it is now, the water backs up into neighboring cellars. Inspector Johnston cleaned the drain every spring when spraying the streets. This has not been done this spring and should be attended to at once.

Heavy English Floods.

LONDON, May 14.—Heavy rains have left a large part of Derbyshire submerged. Many of the public highways are impassable. The railway bridge over the river Severn, near Shrewsbury, weakened on its foundations by the floods, fell last night, the weight of a passing freight train precipitating it into the river. No lives were lost. All Monmouth boats are plying for hire in the flooded streets.

Opposition to Home Rule.

LONDON, May 14.—A meeting of the followers of Lord Hartington was held to-day for the purpose of cementing the Whig and Radical opposition to the Home Rule bill. Sixty-four gentlemen attended, including Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Trevelyan and Mr. Caine. Lord Hartington made a twenty minutes' speech, in which he explained the reason why Liberals should oppose Gladstone's measure. The meeting was tumultuous throughout, and unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that those present would oppose the second reading of the Home Rule Bill.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hon. Edward Blake was entertained to a banquet at Chesley, county Grey, by the Liberals in that locality to-day. He will also be banqueted by the Liberals of Owen Sound.

The Haldimand Tories, at a convention held in Cayuga yesterday, nominated Mr. Hamilton Merritt, of Toronto, to contest the seat in the House of Commons made vacant by the death of Mr. David Thompson.

The average wages, according to the United States Bureau of Labor, paid for wage-labor in the U. S. last year was $0.98, and the average production of each laborer was $10. The "profits on each worker was at the rate of $9.85 per day. The Commissioner of the Labor Bureau recommends as a panacea to labor troubles that the workers be permitted to "share in the profits" resulting from their industry.

The Globe invites a general expression of opinion, to be published in its columns, on the labor question. The public is invited to send a postcard containing the opinion of the writer on the great question of strikes, labor and capital. The opinions are invited of all classes—clergy, manufacturers, farmers, lumbermen, artizans, seamstresses, housekeepers, clerks, bookkeepers, labourers, lawyers, etc., etc. The name, not necessary for publication, is to accompany the postcard.

The Tory journals have made great ado over the alleged fact that a member of the Ontario Government was guilty of the unpatriotic crime of owning land in Dakota. But they have nothing to say against Hon. Mr. Chapleau, Secretary of State, investing his surplus money in Florida orange groves, and distributing circulars praising the beauties of Florida among members of Parliament. Hon. Mr. Chapleau poses as a professional patriot, yet most of his material interests are in the United States.

The Week says truthfully:—In the few words reported of Mr. Blake's speech at the private banquet tendered him on Saturday week, we have an admirable sketch of the office filled by the Liberal party just now. Although out of power for the past six years, they have, as he says, no cause to be ashamed of the efforts they have made, nor to be discouraged at lack of apparent results. In endeavoring to persistently to prevent extravagance in the public expenditure, and to insist on a sound policy in the North-west, they have brought these things far nearer accomplishment than is apparent on the surface: how much nearer may be seen more clearly at the next general election. To assert the predominance of the true federal principle of local liberties is another matter in which the Liberal party has ran- not only to this Province, but elsewhere, in the solution of a problem which is pressing very hard on the resources of statesmanship.

RETURN FROM THE CHASE.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage on the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

The Hunt for Pleasure and Gold in the Morning of Life—May Evening Bring a Decision of the Spoils of Christian Conflict!

(Concluded.)

The Queen Dowager of Navarre was offered for her wedding day a costly and beautiful pair of gloves and she put them on, but they were poisoned gloves and they took her life. Better a bare hand of cold privation than a warm and poisoned glove of ruinous opulence.

"Oh," says some young man in the audience, "I believe what you are preaching. I am going to do that very thing. In the morning of my life I am going to devour the prey, and in the evening I shall divide the spoil of Christian character. I only want a little while to sow my wild oats and then I will be good." Young man, did you ever take the census of all the old people? How many old people are there in your house? One, two or more? How many in a vast assemblage like this? Only here and there a gray head, like the patches of snow here and there in the fields on a late April day. The fact is that the tides of the years are so strong that men go down under them before they get to be sixty, before they get to be fifty, before they get to be forty, before they get to be thirty; and if you, my young brother, resolve now that you will spend the morning of your days in devouring the prey, the probability is that you will never divide the spoil in the evening hour. He who postpones until old age the religion of Jesus Christ postpones it forever. Where are the men who, thirty years ago, resolved to become Christians in old age, putting it off a certain number of years? They never got to be old. The railroad collision or the steamboat explosion or the slip on the ice or the falling ladder or the sudden cold put an end to their opportunities. They have never had an opportunity since and never will have an opportunity again. They locked the door of heaven against their soul and they threw away the key; and if they could now break jail and come up shrieking to this audience I do not think they would take two minutes to persuade us all to repentance. They chased the world and they died in the chase. The wounded tigar turned on them. They failed to take the game that they pursued. Mounted on a swift courser they leaped the hedge, but the courser fell on them and crushed them. Proposing to barter their soul for the world they lost both and get neither.

While this is an encouragement to old people who are yet unpardoned, it is no encouragement to the young who are putting off the day of grace. This doctrine that the old may be repentant is to be taken cautiously. It is medicine that kills or cures. The same medicine given to different patients in one case saves life, and in the other destroys it. This possibility of repentance at the close of life may cure the old man while it kills the young. Be cautious in taking it.

Again, my subject is descriptive of those who come to a sudden and radical change. You have noticed how short a time it is from morning to night in winter—eight or ten hours. You know that a winter day has a very brief life. The heart of the longest day beats twenty-four times, and then it is dead. How quick the transition in the character of these Benjamites. "In the morning they shall devour the prey, and at night they shall divide the spoil." Is it possible that there shall be such a transformation in any of our characters? Yes, a man may be at 7 o'clock in the morning an all-devouring worldling, and at 7 o'clock at night he may be a peaceful, distributive Christian. Conversion is instantaneous. A man passes into the kingdom of God quicker than down the sky runs the zigzag lightning. A man may be anxious about his soul for a great many years; that does not make him a Christian. A man may pray a great while; that does not make him a Christian. A man may receive on the reformation of his character, and have that resolution going on a great while; that does not make him a Christian. But the very instant when he flings his soul on the mercy of Jesus Christ, that instant is instration, emancipation, resurrection. Up to that point he is going in the wrong direction, after that point he is going in the right direction. Before that moment he is a child of sin, after that moment he is a child of God. Before that moment hellward, after that moment heavenward. Before that moment devouring the prey, after that moment dividing the spoil. Five minutes is as good as five years. My hearer, you know very well that the best things you have done you have done in a flash. You made up your mind in an instant to buy or to sell or to invest or to stop or to start. If you had missed that one chance you would have missed it forever. Now fast as precipitate and quick and spontaneous will be the ransom of your soul. This morning you are making a calculation. You are on the track of some financial or social game. With your pen or pencil you are pursuing it. This very morning you are devouring the prey; but to-night you will be in a different mood. You find that all heaven is offered you. You wonder how you can get it for yourself and for your family. You wonder what reassurance will give you now and hereafter. You are dividing peace and comfort and satisfaction and Christian reward in your soul. You are dividing the spoil.

On a Sabbath night at the close of the service I said to some persons: "When did you first become serious about your soul?" and they told me: "To-night." And I said to others: "When did you give your heart to God?" and they said: "To-night." And I said to still others: "When did you receive to serve the Lord all the days of your life?" and they said: "To-night." I said that when the queen of Sheba came they were amazed at the glory; but I saw also by the tears and in the kindling raptures on their brow and in their exhilarant and transporting utterances that they were dividing the spoil. At night with one touch of electricity all these lights blaze. Oh, I would to God that the darkness of your souls might be broken up, and that by one quick overwhelming, instantaneous flash of illumination you might be brought into the light and the liberty of the sons of God!

You see this religion is a different thing from what some of you people suppose. You thought it was decadence; you thought religion was emasculation; you thought it was highway robbery; that it struck one down and left him half dead; that it plucked out the eyes; that it plucked out the pinions of the soul; that it broke the wing and crushed the beak as it came glowing with its adornations through the air. No, that is not religion. What is religion? It is dividing the spoil. It is taking a dedication soul and appropriating it for eternal conquest. It is the distribution of prizes by the king's hand, every medal stamped with a coronation. It is an exhilaration, an expansion. It is transfiguration. It is exhilaration. Religion makes a man master of earth and death and hell. It goes forth to gather the laurels of victory won by Jesus Emmanuel, and the diadems of heaven and the glories of realms terrestrial and celestial; and, then, after ranging all provinces for everything that is resplendently it divides the spoil. What was it that James Turner, the famous English evangelist, was doing when in his dying moment he said: "Christ is all! Christ is all!" What, he was entering into light; he was rounding the Cape of Good Hope; he was dividing the spoil. What was the aged Christian Quakeress doing when at eighty years of age she arose in the meeting one day and said: "The time of my departure is come. My grave clothes are falling off." She was dividing the spoil.

She longed with unutterable longing.
And spoke with unspeakable meaning.

What is Daniel now doing, the lion tamer? and Elijah, who was drawn by the flaming conqueror? and Paul, the rattling of whose chains made kings quake? and all the other victims of flood and fire and wreck and guillotine? Where are they? Dividing the spoil.

Ten thousand times ten thousand,
In sparkling raiment bright,
The armies of the ransomed saints
Throng up the steeps of light.

'Tis finished, all is finished,
Their fight with death and sin;
Lift high your golden gates
And let the victors in.

Oh, what a grand thing it is to be a Christian! We begin on earth to divide the spoil, but the distribution will not be completed to all eternity. There is a poverty-struck soul, there is a business-despoiled soul, there is a sin-struck soul, there is a bereaved soul—why do you not come and get the spoils of Christian character, the comfort, the joy, the peace, the salvation, that I am sent to offer you in my Master's name? Though your knees knock together in weakness, though your hand tremble in fear, though your eyes rain tears of uncontrollable weeping—come and get the spoils. Rest for all the weary. Pardon for all the guilty. Labor for all the bestormed. Life for all the dead. I verily believe that there are some who have come in here outcast because the world is against them, and because they feel God is against them, who will go away to-day saying:

I came to Jesus as I was,
Weary and worn and sad;
I found in Him a resting place,
And he has made me glad.

Though you came in children of the world, you may go away heirs of heaven. Though you were devouring the prey, now, all worlds witnessing, you may divide the spoil.

LOVE CONQUERS.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "[illegible]," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

"How do you know it is buried?" he asked.

"Because there is no one to appreciate it. Let the girl be dressed in silks and jewels, and there would not be a lady in England to equal her. Why is your face so full of pain to-day?"

"To hear you talk such nonsense. Leave the girl in peace. You would be both wise and merciful to attempt no further gaiety. Leave her in peace."

"I do not say," said the Duke moodily, "why I should not please myself. What is the use of being a Duke, and of having a large rent-roll, if I cannot do as I like?"

"The question is 'what' would you like," answered Vane gravely.

"I suppose you will think that I have gone mad. But what I should like at the present moment would be to go to the Meadow Farm—you see I know the name of the place—and look again at the face I am so charmed with. That is the style of face I like, one with plenty of life, a fine splendid color, and animation. I—I do not see why I should not marry such a girl if I like. What is the use of being a Duke if I may not do as I choose?"

"You must choose to do sensible and right things," replied Vane.

"I think I shall go over to-morrow," said his Grace, "and have another long look at this maiden beauty. Yes, I shall go to-morrow afternoon. I will give you the game; I cannot play." Her name is Kate, and strange to say, Kate has always been my favorite name. I shall try——"

Here his Grace stopped, for Lord Chesterwood joined them and he could say no more.

He had said enough to [illegible] Professor Vibart one of the [illegible] of men. She only he saw [illegible] Lady Lilias without telling her the truth would be to behave meanly and falsely, and to tell her the truth would at once cause their separation. To marry the adopted son and heir of Sir Hays Vibart she would not loathe; but to marry the son of a poor farmer was another thing. He could not say anything to her yet. She had asked for two days of perfect happiness, and one still remained. He must decide what was the best to be done; but in the meantime he must not forget Kate.

It was difficult to realise that his pretty little sister had grown into such a beautiful girl. Vane remembered his mother's prophecy that Kate would be a beauty. He hoped so for her. A simple country girl like Kate would believe every word the young Duke said to her—perhaps fall in love with him, and end her life miserably; for Vane did not believe one word that the Duke said about marriage. No matter what happened, they must not meet again. Vane wrote a little note and addressed it to

"Miss KATE FRASER,

"The Meadow Farm,

"Holwood."

The contents were—

"My dearest sister,—I am staying in the neighborhood at King's Clyffe. I cannot go over to the farm at present. Give my devoted love to my mother, my father, and Desford. Kate, will you walk over to King's Clyffe to-morrow afternoon? You know the old oak called King Charles's Oak at the end of Clyffe Woods; will you be there by three o'clock? I want to speak to you most particularly. Do not fail, my dearest sister,

"From your loving Brother

"VANE FRASER VIBART."

"She will come," he said to himself, "and I will keep her safe."

That evening all his troubles were driven from his thoughts, for Lady Lilias detained him by her side. She looked more queenly than ever with red roses in her hair, and wearing a dress of dead white silk. It was a night never to be forgotten for its bright happiness and keen delight.

CHAPTER XVI.

"I am no better this morning," laughed the Duke of Rayefort, when he met Vane. "I am glad that I decided to go this afternoon."

"At what time will you go?" asked Vane.

"About four, I think," was the answer.

In his heart Vane thanked Heaven that by that hour his sister would be safe with him. It had seemed such an easy thing to say that he would meet her; but how was it to be done? That morning, as soon as he came down stairs, a lovely face smiled into his and a musical voice whispered to him, "One more day together!" He began to wonder how he should get away.

Lady Lilias and Vane spent the morning on the green shaded banks of the river where the wild flowers made a carpet and the hedges were filled with bloom. He remembered it always as the happiest of his life, for that morning she had told him how she loved him, what she had thought about him, how she had lamented over having allowed pride and caste to interfere with her happiness; and he told her what those two years had been to him. She looked at him with a smile on her charming face.

"I have broken the compact;" she said. "We were not to mention the past or the future, but live in the present."

She took up a large oak-leaf, and clapping [illegible] let it float down the stream.

"The highest duty we shall commit our children to the stream of time, Vane," she said.

Looking at her, so beautiful and so good, he wondered how he had been so fortunate as to win her, and with [illegible] was two; and it often happened that during the warm days the ladies remained [illegible] while the gentlemen [illegible] Vane looked at his watch.

"Take an hour's rest; the sun is very warm. I will go to go out and see some [illegible]."

He left her gaily, and went up the broad staircase, where a white marble [illegible], with a basket of crimson flowers at her feet. Standing by the large window there, [illegible] the great sprays of [illegible] it, she saw Vane cross the lawn and take the path which led to Clyffe Woods. No suspicion occurred to her. She thought it probable that he was going to [illegible] and, leaving [illegible] she left to herself, who will be pleased.—I must make haste; he will not be long."

She made herself look unworldly attractive. She did not [illegible] for her maid, [illegible] any one should [illegible] she was gone. It was to be a surprise for him, and to please him alone. [illegible] with [illegible] the [illegible] and beautiful [illegible] magnificent [illegible] King's Clyffe was famous for them. She smiled as she thought how pleased he would be, how his face would [illegible] his eyes light up when he saw her, and what a rush of loving words would come from his lips! Oh, how well he loved her! And she? Her heart warmed to him. They had been made for each other, she believed. At last she came to the end of the woods, but there was no sign of him. It was a beautiful spot, with lovely vistas of greenwood shade and clumps of trees, grand in their magnificence. She looked round, but Vane was not to be seen. She knew that he must be there. He had not passed her to return, and she could see the paths that led to the highway, but he was on none of them. [illegible]

The Battle of Batoche Re-Fought.

The Lindsay members of "C" Company celebrated the first anniversary of the battle of Batoche by parading the streets and attending a supper given by Capt. J. C. Grace, at which an enjoyable time was spent in narrating incidents in connection with the battle.

There have been, up to noon to-day, thirty-five appeals entered against the assessment roll. The time for reception of appeals will expire to-night at 12 o'clock. The town clerk's office will be open till six o'clock. Any letter containing an appeal, posted on Saturday night, will be accepted.

Lovers of music should bear in mind that under the above auspices a grand concert will be given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Tuesday, May 18th. The programme will be one of the choicest ever presented to the Peterborough public. Boys for the Barnardo Home.

Mr. A. B. Owens is now crossing the ocean to bring from Dr. Barnardo's training homes, in England, a second party of boys, numbering probably 200, varying in age from eight to sixteen years. They are expected to arrive in town about the end of the month. Applications for these boys will be dealt with in the order in which they are received.

Battery Drill.

The Right Division of the Durham Field Battery commenced drill yesterday evening at the drill shed, commanded by Sergeant-Major Metheral and Sergeant Snyder. About a dozen turned out in uniform, just enough to man one gun, and had a profitable drill. The men complain that the light provided in the drill shed is insufficient, and the escaping gas nearly choked them. If the town wants a light brigade they will have to provide the light.

The Band at the Park.

The first of the Fire Brigade Band's series of open air concerts, given in the Court House Park last night, was well attended by the old and young of the town. The gay throng moved about the park keeping time to the delightful music, until the notes of the National Anthem sounded a retreat, when they all left for home, sweet home, many stopping at their neighbor's garden gate to rest by the way.

The Greatest Achievement.

Great men rise at one time in their career at their highest achievement. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill is the crowning act of his life. Sir Hector Langevin's postoffice site sleight-of-hand trick is the biggest political juggle ever perpetrated in Peterborough, and Gough's greatest offer is the gift of a first-class watch, Geneva movement, warranted a first-class time-keeper, to every purchaser of one of his $10 ready-made suits, which are so cheap at the money that Gough will forfeit $500 if their equal can be bought anywhere for that money, without the watch. All Gough's goods are guaranteed and the money will be refunded if he does not carry out what he advertises. Five hundred new suits arrived on Friday. Remember the day for throwing away these dusters is near at hand. Gough, the Wonderful Cheap Man, Arcade Buildings, Peterborough.

Mr. H. Martin, of Hastings, was in town to-day. Mr. Martin spent the winter in Jacksonville, Florida, and appears to have been much benefited by the climate of Canada.

Mr. H. Rochelle, collector of this Inland Revenue division, left on Thursday morning for Toronto, to attend the meeting of the Dominion Board of Inland Revenue, which was held on Friday.

Mr. Rochelle, collector of this same Act came before the Police Court this morning, was the centre of attraction after the court was over. One of the individuals wanted to treat him to beer — nothing stronger.

The Strike Over.

The employers sign the Knights Men Work Resumed next Monday.

The tailors' strike is now a matter of the past, the employers and employes having come to an amicable agreement.

A meeting of the employers and the executive committee of the Tailors' Union held in the Central [illegible] this morning, when the terms of settlement were completed. [illegible] which will come into force on Monday. The majority of the tailors resumed work this morning.

The striker claim that they have won all they started, and that although the [illegible] do not receive [illegible] they [illegible] of [illegible] selves. They, the Union men have agreed that those who have not taken position shall not be molested by the union men and shall be allowed to continue their work as non union tailors. The Union men return to work with the understanding that none of the strikers will be discharged for their action in the late trouble. The employers willingly agreed to this and all is again serene.

The employers' version of the compromise is simply that mutual concessions were made in respect of the modified bill of prices presented, but that was not the greatest objection to the demands of the Union. The employers held out for the right to employ whom they wished, and on this point was conceded by the Union. The chief difficulty in the way of settlement was removed, and [illegible] work was resumed. While [illegible] to the Union bill of prices, the employers say that the addition to the cost of a cheap suit is $1.50, and to the cost of a fine suit, from $3 to $3.25.

Government inspection of gas in Peterborough cost $163.13 last year.

George Street Methodist Church.

Rev. J. Tovell will occupy the pulpit of the George street church in the morning. In the evening Rev. F. H. Wallace, B. D., by request, will deliver a special sermon on Communism, Socialism, etc., and Brotherhood. Special collections will be taken up on behalf of the superannuation fund.

Market House.

The market this morning, notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, was well patronized by both buyers and sellers. Prices remain about the same and were quoted as follows: Butter, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 10c. for shipment, 11c. for local consumption; chickens, 55 to 80c. per pair; veal, 5 to 7c. per pound; potatoes, 50 to 60c. per bag; carrots, 40c. per bushel; rhubarb was offered in large quantities and sold at 5c. per bunch; lettuce, onions, and other garden truck sold at 5c. per bunch. Small porkers were offered at $2.50 and $3.00. Hay remains at $10 per ton.

A New Polka.

We have been favoured with a perusal of a brilliant new dance polka, published by Messrs. Smart & Sons and composed by Mr. Julius Doucet, the well known musician and orchestra leader. The [illegible] which is certainly [illegible] the talented Peterborough, is called the "Fleur de Mai" (Mayflower) polka. The music is decidedly pleasing and consists of a brilliant introduction, followed by three beautiful changes, and concludes with an equally brilliant finale. But while the harmony, expression and rythm are of the highest order, its practical adaptability to the dance is its great commendation. It is the outcome of Mr. Doucet's practical experience, and it has been performed, previous to publication, by his orchestra repeatedly with the greatest satisfaction, having been preferred to any others, for dancing purposes. Mr. Doucet, being a permanent resident, with a musical reputation to sustain, had taken great [illegible] this composition, which fully rewards him for the pains bestowed upon it. The price has been placed at the low figure of 30 cents, and 200 copies are now at Smart's music store awaiting the orders of the ladies and other musicians of Peterborough. The composition is exceedingly creditable to Mr. Doucet, and should meet with an extensive sale.

The Late Alfred T. Heathfield.

The well known musician, Mr. Alfred T. Heathfield, organist of Charlotte Church, died at his residence, London street, on Thursday evening, after a lingering illness from pulmonary disease. The deceased gentleman was born in England and has been a resident of town for nearly thirty years, during which time he has held positions as church organist of St. John's Church, the George Street Methodist Church and for the past three years of the Charlotte Street Church. By his ability, good qualities and geniality of character he made many warm friends and was universally respected. He was a musician of rare abilities but owing to constitutional weakness was prevented from using his talents to that advantage he otherwise might have done. Besides being a masterly performer and possessing in a remarkable degree the faculty of instructing others, he was also the composer of several instrumental gems. His untimely death is much regretted in musical circles, as he always willingly lent his valuable services to musical undertakings. He was 49 years of age and leaves a widow to mourn his loss. The funeral took place this afternoon and was largely attended. It proceeded from his late residence to the Charlotte Street Church, where Rev. F. H. Wallace conducted the funeral services, and from thence to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Port Hope boasts of fourteen electric carpet lamps and money at Peterborough's sidetrack—and Port Hope's taxes are two cents on the dollar. Yes, Port Hope beats this town in some respects.

Police Court.
Scott Act Violation.—The First Case [illegible] Court.
[illegible] Constable [illegible] Crevier [illegible] Canada.
The police court opened this morning at 9 o'clock. Police Magistrate Deacon on the bench.
John Keogh, charged with vagrancy pleaded guilty and was sent up to jail for one month.
Messrs. T. Cavanagh, Thos. Darcy, Wm. Kennealy, charged by H. Rossiter with violating the Scott Act, appeared in court. Messrs. A. P. Poussette, John Ransom, W. H. Moore, John O'Meara, and T. A. Stratton, counsel for the defendants, were present and Mr. E. H. Eddy for the prosecution. The court room was also crowded.
The first case called was Queen vs Cavanagh, in which Timothy Cavanagh was charged with selling liquor on the 9th and 10th of May, contrary to the Scott Act.
The first witness, Mr. J. H. Loring, was sworn and, examined by Mr. Edwards, testified.—I have been in Cavanagh's hotel since last of May, two consecutive days, about the 8th and 9th; saw Cavanagh in the bar; had nothing to drink; on the second day saw Cavanagh; got shave; I had a drink; I had a drink and paid for it. I swallowed both. He gave me a drink to get rid of me; the liquor was poured out of one of Calcutt's bottles; it made me sick; I should not think there was any intoxicating liquor in it; I have not got any intoxicating drink from Cavanagh's or any other place; in fact I see a [illegible] than; what I drank was not like Calcutt's make; it was horrid stuff.
Timothy Cavanagh, sworn,—I keep an hotel in Peterborough; there is a bar in the hotel now, but changed since the Scott Act came in force; I have no intoxicating liquor in the hotel; there was none at the time of information; Joseph Crevier was the bartender, but left on Saturday morning for the Rocky Mountains, I think.
Mr. Edwards asked the witness what he had done with the liquor after 11 o'clock on the 30th of April, which he declined to answer, Mr. Poussette, Q.C., and Mr. Moore, counsel for the defendant, having taken objection to the question.
The magistrate informed the defendant that he was going to commit any person who refused to answer a proper question.
Mr. Cavanagh continued.—Nearly all my liquor was put away on Friday; there may have been a little left till Saturday; I know where the liquor is, but decline to tell where; I had control over the liquor between the 1st and 14th of May, I am not aware that any of it was sold; Crevier disposed of it under instructions from me; I have not visited the place where liquor was kept; I do not know whether Crevier visited the place or not. Irvine got some pepper sauce and Calcutt's stuff made up; I don't know what Calcutt's stuff is made of; there was no spirituous liquor sold at my place since May 1st.
To Mr. Poussette—The beer pumps and usual appliances for selling spirituous liquors were taken out of the bar.
Joseph Hewson, sworn—I think I have been in Cavanagh's hotel since 1st of May, I don't recollect getting anything to drink; I was not there on Sunday; I will swear that to the best of my knowledge, I did not get a drink of any kind at Cavanagh's since 1st of May.

T. Tremeer, sworn,—I have been in Cavanagh's about twice a day since the 1st of May; I drank soda water and ginger beer, but no intoxicating liquor.
Edward Devine testified,—I have visited Cavanagh's hotel since 1st of May; on one occasion I went in to see a man who owed me money; I went in again to get a drink, but was refused; I had been drinking water all day and wanted a drink of liquor; Mr. Cavanagh gave me a temperance drink which left a very bad taste in my mouth.

Police Court.
Scott Act Violation.—The First Case [illegible] Court.
[illegible] Constable [illegible] Crevier [illegible] Canada.
The police court opened this morning at 9 o'clock. Police Magistrate Deacon on the bench.
John Keogh, charged with vagrancy pleaded guilty and was sent up to jail for one month.
Messrs. T. Cavanagh, Thos. Darcy, Wm. Kennealy, charged by H. Rossiter with violating the Scott Act, appeared in court. Messrs. A. P. Poussette, John Ransom, W. H. Moore, John O'Meara, and T. A. Stratton, counsel for the defendants, were present and Mr. E. H. Eddy for the prosecution. The court room was also crowded.
The first case called was Queen vs Cavanagh, in which Timothy Cavanagh was charged with selling liquor on the 9th and 10th of May, contrary to the Scott Act.
The first witness, Mr. J. H. Loring, was sworn and, examined by Mr. Edwards, testified.—I have been in Cavanagh's hotel since last of May, two consecutive days, about the 8th and 9th; saw Cavanagh in the bar; had nothing to drink; on the second day saw Cavanagh; got shave; I had a drink; I had a drink and paid for it. I swallowed both. He gave me a drink to get rid of me; the liquor was poured out of one of Calcutt's bottles; it made me sick; I should not think there was any intoxicating liquor in it; I have not got any intoxicating drink from Cavanagh's or any other place; in fact I see a [illegible] than; what I drank was not like Calcutt's make; it was horrid stuff.
Timothy Cavanagh, sworn,—I keep an hotel in Peterborough; there is a bar in the hotel now, but changed since the Scott Act came in force; I have no intoxicating liquor in the hotel; there was none at the time of information; Joseph Crevier was the bartender, but left on Saturday morning for the Rocky Mountains, I think.
Mr. Edwards asked the witness what he had done with the liquor after 11 o'clock on the 30th of April, which he declined to answer, Mr. Poussette, Q.C., and Mr. Moore, counsel for the defendant, having taken objection to the question.
The magistrate informed the defendant that he was going to commit any person who refused to answer a proper question.
Mr. Cavanagh continued.—Nearly all my liquor was put away on Friday; there may have been a little left till Saturday; I know where the liquor is, but decline to tell where; I had control over the liquor between the 1st and 14th of May, I am not aware that any of it was sold; Crevier disposed of it under instructions from me; I have not visited the place where liquor was kept; I do not know whether Crevier visited the place or not. Irvine got some pepper sauce and Calcutt's stuff made up; I don't know what Calcutt's stuff is made of; there was no spirituous liquor sold at my place since May 1st.
To Mr. Poussette—The beer pumps and usual appliances for selling spirituous liquors were taken out of the bar.
Joseph Hewson, sworn—I think I have been in Cavanagh's hotel since 1st of May, I don't recollect getting anything to drink; I was not there on Sunday; I will swear that to the best of my knowledge, I did not get a drink of any kind at Cavanagh's since 1st of May.

[illegible] Proposed Taxation of Immigrants.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 15.—The Knights of Labor, of Cleveland, and other labor organizations are working up the scheme for taxing all foreign immigration, and will soon forward a petition to Congress asking that such law be passed. The movers in the matter request every person interested to write to his Congressman, asking that such bill be presented and passed before the adjournment of the present session.

The Home Rule Problem.

The Premier Congratulated—What the Hartington Meeting Shows.

LONDON, May 15.—Mr. Gladstone has received from the Mayors of several American cities cable despatches containing resolutions of approval of his Irish policy, adopted at meetings in their respective cities.

The Daily News says:—The importance of Lord Hartington's meeting yesterday lies in the evidence that all Mr. Gladstone's Liberal opponents are united. It is hopeless to try to conciliate Mr. Chamberlain. He simply remains to persevere with the second reading of the Home Rule Bill. With the almost certain prospect of defeat the withdrawal of the bill would be practically worse than defeat. This country will either sanction Home Rule or we shall endure a period of Tory government during which the Liberal members will become reconciled to Home Rule, which will be sanctioned on the next appeal to the country. The connection of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Hartington denotes the chance of a Whig-Conservative coalition. Everything points to a dissolution of Parliament early in the coming summer.

Cruel Cases of Eviction.

What the Opponents of Gladstone's Home Rule Bill Seek to Perpetuate.

Heartrending details have reached Dublin of the evictions on the estate of Lord Kenmare, at Headford, near Killarney. While he, as Lord Chamberlain, was attending the Queen at the Liverpool festivities and enjoying the good things of life, a sheriff and bailiffs, backed by ninety-seven policemen, turned out a large number of his tenants of the poorest kind, with the usual concomitants of sympathizing neighbors and an objectionable people fighting the police. The most aggravating case is that of Jeremiah Callaghan, who has eight children, all under 12 years of age, who, turned out on the roadside, acted and sorrowed as piteously as to move even the police. The house was a poor old place, but they knew it as their home. At another house, that of a woman named O'Connor, the occupant, was very ill, and a consultation was held, but as it was considered she would not die she was put on the roadside, being removed in her bed.

Numerous complaints were made at the police court this morning that the room was too small.

A witness at the police court complained that he had been ill drinking water. Suggestive.

The Peterborough Postoffice Site.

A Mean Transaction.

(From the Montreal Herald.)

Meanness in an individual is unbearable in a government it is detestable; and the government have just been guilty of a trick that is almost indefensible. They decided to build a postoffice, custom house and inland revenue office at Peterborough, and for that purpose they purchased some land from a man named Phelan who, in consideration of his being intended as the site for the postoffice, sold it to them for about $30 per foot. I have seen the document in which the price and object of the purchase is stated. It was an object to him and his neighbors to have the postoffice at that particular point, and he sold his lot accordingly. But as soon as the Public Works Department had secured Phelan's land, they opened negotiations with a man named Sawers for the purchase of his land, and they paid him $100, or over three times as much as they paid Phelan, and they left the postoffice, and it to them for about $30 per foot. They intend, I believe, to build the customs building on Phelan's land, but that is not what the government agreed to do when they got it for $30 a foot instead of $100. In other words, they obtained this man's land at a reduced price on false pretences. I'm sorry to use that phrase, but as the facts are explained to me there is no other that meets the case. Mr. Hilliard attempts to throw the blame on the government, and the government reply that it is all Mr. Hilliard's fault. These facts were brought to light by Dr. Landerkin by means of some questions that seemed harmless looking enquiries when put on the paper. "What is the true interpretation of this?" I asked. "Oh," said my informant, "Phelan is an Irish Catholic, and Sawers is the master of an Orange lodge."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Instead of wrangling and fighting, the Government supporters at Ottawa ought to get on very smoothly—nearly every member is "greased."

An English judge has been brought before a jury on a charge of libelling a lawyer, by insinuating that the latter's relations to a female client were suspicious. The judge having pleaded guilty by apologising, the case was saved from going to the jury, and the unprecedented spectacle of a judge being at the mercy of a jury, was not presented.

One important thing in favor of Gladstone's Home Rule Bill for Ireland is that O'Donovan Rossa and other professional Irish agitators of the dynamite type, are opposed to it. They know, if the bill is passed, that, with a pacified and prosperous Ireland, their occupation will be gone, that it will be of no use to preach dynamite and agrarian outrage and that it will be impossible to bleed the pockets of misguided Irish on the plea of getting funds to liberate Ireland.

The following resolutions were passed by the Toronto Branch of the Irish National League, with reference to the Dominion Commons Home Rule resolutions:—

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Toronto Branch of the Irish National League, view with satisfaction the conduct and course of action pursued by the Hon. Edward Blake in introducing a resolution favouring Home Rule for Ireland, into the Commons of Canada, and that we heartily thank the hon. gentleman and those who so nobly supported and aided him on that memorable occasion."

"Resolved, That we view with suspicion and distrust the conduct of the Hon. John Costigan, Mr. Curran, and Mr. Coughlin in introducing and supporting an amendment to Mr. Blake's Home Rule Resolution. The amendment received the hearty support of avowed enemies to the Irish cause as being calculated to defeat the object aimed at by its introduction namely: to strengthen the hands of Mr. Gladstone."

Havelock.

(From a Correspondent.)

CHURCH OPENING.

The new Methodist Church at Havelock was opened for divine service on May the 2nd. The Rev. Dr. Brodie, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference, preached in the morning at 10.30, and performed the dedicatory services. The Rev. Mr. Marsh, of Campbellford, and the pastor, the Rev. I. W. Puffer, present and took part in the service. Rev. A. Browning, of Campbellford, preached at 2.30 p.m., and the Rev. Dr. Brodie again in the evening at 6.30. Both these reverend gentlemen sustained their reputation as able preachers, giving us stirring and eloquent sermons. The subject of the morning's discourse was "Zion;" in the afternoon, "Heaven," and in the evening, "The Life of Jacob," thus giving us a variety of thought. After each service a collection was taken up and subscription cards quietly passed among the congregation. On Monday evening we had a grand tea meeting, when the Rev. Dr. Brodie, the Rev. D. F. Gee, of Norwood, the Rev. A. Browning, and the Rev. R. Marsh, of Campbellford, were present and delivered addresses. The subject of finances was taken up by the Rev. Mr. Browning, and so well did he handle it that the entire indebtedness was provided for. On Sabbath it was announced that the amount required was $300 to clear the church of debt, and this sum was all provided for with a small surplus. The church is 42 x 28 in the inside, balcon frame to be veneered with brick, a good stone basement for Sabbath school and a tower. The furnishing is fit for a brick church in any town or village. The ladies of the church furnished matting, lamps, carpet for the altar, pulpit and sofa, to the value of about $75 or $80. The pulpit and sofa were made by Mr. D. Bellegham, of Peterborough, also the communion table. They really do him credit. The latter was donated by him, for which he received a hearty vote of thanks the night of the tea meeting, to be conveyed to him by the pastor. Two very pretty perforated chairs were also donated by Mr. A. Clegg, of Peterborough. On May the 9th the Rev. D. Cattanach, of Peterborough, preached morning and evening in the new church two excellent sermons to appreciative congregations. After the evening service we had a fellowship meeting and sacramental service, which were both interesting and beneficial.

The Late Mr. Heathfield.

During the services in Charlotte street Methodist Church last evening, Rev. Mr. Tovell made affecting allusions to the late Mr. Heathfield, the recent organist of the church. Reference was made to the irreparable loss the town sustained by the death of a great musician. His gentleness of manner and availability of disposition were also the subjects of commendation. The speaker concluded in touching tribute to his musical and professional worth by indulging the hope that the great change was a change from a life of turmoil and pain to one of endless rest.

FATHER RYAN, THE POET-PRIEST.

Death of a Distinguished Southern Priest and ex-Confederate Chaplain.

Abram J. Ryan was born in Bilox[illegible] years ago. His parents came to America, near Norfolk, Va., when he was a baby. He was a gifted, fiery boy from infancy, and was educated for the Roman Catholic priesthood. He received his training at Niagara Falls. He had barely left college and been ordained as priest when the war broke out. He entered the Confederate service as a chaplain. Many times each day up the southern cause and drove himself into the very whirlwind fire and energy of a passionate and powerful nature. His devotion did not stop at his duties as chaplain. The young Father Ryan was a fighter as well as priest and poet. When the wounded dropped a musket, he picked it up and shouldered it and used it. Once he was wounded while fighting in the ranks. It was at Nashville, Tenn. He also was of great service in the hospitals.

FATHER RYAN.

His face is a peculiar one. Sweetly and full of expression, there is that in it which suggests the oriental type. The Irish have a tradition that the true original settlers of their island were the ancient Phœnicians. Inscriptions found among ruins here and there in Ireland bear out this belief. Father Ryan's face is a strong presumption in favor of it.

After the war it seemed that his occupation was gone. He was as fiery and untamed a southerner as Robert Toombs, and he never was reconstructed. He was settled in various parishes throughout the south after the fighting was over. For a time he was at Biloxi, Miss., and later at Mobile. He was a man of eloquence and fire in his sermons. He preached during a season at the cathedral, New Orleans, and drew vast audiences, sometimes over 5,000.

He consoled his grief for the lost cause by writing poetry, and it is as a poet that he is best known. It is rather a strange circumstance that at his death he should have been more honored by the general public than by his own church, gifted preacher and lecturer though he was. He died at Louisville, Ky., at the Franciscan monastery, of heart disease. The passionate heart had worn itself out when he was only 48.

His remains were taken to Mobile for burial. At the railway station in Louisville, where his body was brought to be shipped, 100 ex-Confederate soldiers were drawn up in open line and the coffin carried between them.

In 1879 he published a volume of poems. Some of them are strikingly strong and musical. The best known is "The Conquered Banner," beginning:

Furl that banner, for 'tis weary;
Round its staff 'tis drooping dreary;
Furl it, fold it, it is best.

Do Men Wear Corsets?

Men do wear corsets. The reasons for their so doing are, however, various. Some have had spinal troubles in their earlier years, have worn some sort of an appliance for the support of the back, and on growing up require a canvas and whalebone corset in place of the brace. They are used also to advantage by men afflicted with obesity. Persons following out-of-door occupations wear them as a protector against sudden changes of weather. Corsets of this class, however, are made of sheepskin. To believe that the article is ever worn by mankind as a means of perfecting their forms is a mistake. The contour of a man's physique cannot be beautified by lacing. Besides this, the discomfort of breathing to a man who wears a corset for such a purpose would be such that he would gladly sacrifice his personal appearance to ease.—New York Mail and Express.

Bachelor, Widower and Marrying Presidents.

James Buchanan and Grover Cleveland were the only two bachelor presidents, and if the latter marries Miss Folsom this year it will leave the Pennsylvania president alone in the celibate list of chief magistrates. Four presidents were widowers at their inauguration—Jefferson, Jackson, Van Buren and Arthur. Sixteen were married when they went into the White House. One alone, President John Tyler, married while holding the executive title.

President Tyler's first wife was Letitia Christain, daughter of Robert Christain, of New Kent county, Virginia. Miss Christain was a noted eastern Virginia belle, and when her husband became president assumed the White House duties. Her health was feeble at the time, and she died there in September, 1842.

President Tyler remained a widower but a short time, paying the Johnsonian compliment to his first spouse by soon selecting another, Miss Juliet Gardiner of New York. She was the daughter of the wealthy gentleman who owned Gardiner's island, familiar to many naval people as near the roadstead in east Long Island where the naval practice squadron, with the Annapolis cadets, spends much of its summer cruising and exercising. Although Mr. Tyler was the first president—and so far the only one—to marry in the high office, the ceremony was not performed in the White House, but at the Church of the Ascension in New York, June, 1844. After the wedding a grand reception was given in the Executive Mansion.

There is now being manufactured here an article for instantly removing pain of any acute external nature, and it is certainly the most perfect cure for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache and the like that has ever been tried. It is called Fluid Lightning from the rapid manner in which it acts, and is manufactured by McGregor and Parke. Sold in bottles by John McKee, druggist.

Fluid Lightning is simply a marvellous Rheumatic remedy. I was for two months a cripple, unable to get out of the house from Sciatica. One bottle gave the instant relief, and placed me on my feet again. I have driven fourteen miles to-day (something I could not possibly have done were it not for Fluid Lightning) for the express purpose of procuring another bottle. So says Wm. Dixon, Gananoque. RUPTURE CURED
EGAN'S IMPERIAL TRUSS

Read the following extract from a letter of a well-known citizen of St. Catharines,—hundreds like it:

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 29th, 1885.

GENTLEMEN,—Being over 70 years of age, and over 30 years ruptured, I seemed upon my case as hopeless, especially as I tried various appliances without success, among others, perhaps the most expensive truss made in New York State, costing me $30. Reading about your truss, I sent for one, and have worn your truss ever since, and am happy to say it has done its work well, and I am entirely cured. I have recommended your truss to many, and will be glad to do so to all who call on me. Should this meet the eye of any one who is ruptured, and who reads this letter, I would say, write to Egan's Imperial Truss Co., and get their circulars, and you will be convinced as I was. I am willing you may publish it for the benefit of other sufferers. Yours truly, CAPT. H. KING.

This new Spiral Spring Pad Truss has taken the world by storm. It retains, is guaranteed to hold the very worst case during the hardest work. It never chafes, blisters or makes sore; and 95 out of every 100 of actual wearers have thrown away all other appliances, and need stamp for our pamphlet; also for testimonials from well-known citizens, price list and questions for you to answer. Write for circulars, mention this paper. Address,

LOVE CONQUERS

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA THORNE," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

King Charles's Oak, among the boughs of which the king was supposed to have been concealed while the search raged hotly beneath him. It was an enormous tree, and from one side of it surely there came the sound of voices!

She crossed the path, and then for one moment stood as though turned to stone. The lovely rose-bloom left her face, the glad light died out in her eyes, and a quiver of pain compressed her white lips.—"The proudest girl in England," the queen of beauty and fashion, stood there wounded to the heart by what she saw. A low moan of pain came from her lips, a low moan that died away on the sweet summer air.

Under the spreading boughs of the tree stood her lover, Vane Fraser Vibart, the man she had chosen from the whole world to love and marry, his handsome refined face was bent over a girl who was talking most earnestly to him, bent too with an expression of fondest affection upon it—she saw him kiss the girl's face, hold her hands in his, talk to her most lovingly, and her heart almost stood still. Then the girl moved, and Lady Lilias saw the same dark sweet face that had charmed her at the Meadow Farm.

"It is the girl from the farm-house," she murmured!

Then it seemed to Lady Lilias Audley that she had discovered the whole plot.—She remembered how Vane had refused to enter the farm-house, now strangely he behaved, and how ill he had looked. She saw it all now. He had loved this beautiful dark-eyed girl!

"And he would marry me for my wealth!" she added to herself. "I have been duped, betrayed, and deceived. I have been insulted—and no Audley is insulted twice. I will wait for him here and part from him here. Let him keep the village beauty he has won!"

She stood erect in her indignant scorn, too angry just then to feel any pain, too indignant to feel any pity. With pitiless eyes and a white set face she saw him—the girl again.

"Those are the same lips that kissed me yesterday," she said to herself. "Men are traitors!"

She saw them walk hand in hand to the white gate which gave access to the high-road. There he kissed her again, and he stood until she had vanished from sight, hidden by a turn of the road.

Then there was a smile on his face as he returned, and Lady Lilias heard a snatch of some gay love-song. Both song and smile died away as he saw her standing there, white, silent, and motionless, her face full of indignant scorn, and the passion-flowers in her hand.

"Lilias," he cried.

There was great fear came over him, and the two stood looking in silence at each other. She was the first to break it. He came nearer to her, but she held up her hand to stop him.

"Not one word," she said in a low stifled voice—"not a single word!"

"Lilias!" he cried.

"Hush—silence—not one word! I know all. You will never dupe nor deceive me again. I know now that girl is, and why you hoped both. How have you dared so to mislead me?"

And Vane when he heard those words, "I know all," believed at once that she knew that Kate was his sister, that she knew the story of his humble birth and accused him of deceiving her because he had never told it. That Lady Lilias had no suspicion of the truth, and believed that he was in love with Kate.

"Lilias, will you listen?" he began.

All the pride and anger of her nature were aroused, and shone in her face as she answered—

"No, I will not listen! I have no wish to hear why you have deceived me; and we part this hour, never in life to meet again. Have you deceived me or not—Speak truthfully."

"I have," he said, his head drooping on his breast. "I have deceived you; but listen, Lilias."

"I will not," she answered, her pale face flashing scorn and defiance. "I forget much when I promised to marry you, and you have repaid me by deceit. You see these passion-flowers? Coming along, I gathered them for you. See how I destroy them!—She tore them into shreds and threw them upon the ground. "So the same way I tear from my heart all traces of love for you. I take back my promises. You have deceived me—go!"

"For Heaven's sake, Lilias, listen! I meant to tell you. I would not have married you without——"

"I refuse to listen to another word," she said. "You add insult to injury. Do you suppose I should have listened to such a story?"

They still misunderstood each other.—She was speaking of his supposed love for the girl, and he believed that she was speaking of his having concealed from her the story of his birth.

"I could have forgiven you anything but this," she went on bitterly—"anything rather than deceit. We part now, and I bid you farewell."

"I feared it would be so. Oh, Lilias, can you not see why I dared not tell you? I feared you would send me away."

"I can only think you mad," she said scornfully. "One hour ago I thought you a gentleman, a man of honor—trusted—loved. Now I know you to be a traitor—go!"

"If you will not hear me, Lilias?"

"I will not. A few false specious words from you cannot make me forget what I have seen—what I know. Henceforward we are as strangers."

"If condemned man is allowed to speak," he pleaded.

"A condemned man is not divine—cannot forgive. If you had told me, I should have forgiven it. Cold-blooded wilful deceit I can never pardon."

He raised his miserable face to hers—"I call me." Of course I can never forgive me. I was mad. I have been in Paradise; now I go to utter darkness and despair. You are right It was presumptuous—audacious."

She seemed surprised at his words, not quite understanding them.

"Do not hate me if you ever think of me," he entreated in a low broken voice. "Remember only that I shall love you with my dying breath."

"Good-bye," she said proudly, as she turned away leaving him there alone.

"She did not see that he went to the spot where she had stood—and kissing, kissed the long tress that her hand had touched—it was all over, he thought. The bursting and chill of death was upon him and filled over him, and the light of heaven shone over him no more.

CHAPTER XVII.

It was all over, Vane thought, all ended, and life with it. He could not return. He had been so unutterably happy, so blessed, his life satisfied with the love called it all bitter and hopeless.

"I cannot live it again," he cried. "I wish to Heaven that I had never come home!"

His aching heart turned to home. The love there never faltered, never failed. He might be ill or well, rich or poor, contented or miserable; it did not matter at home.

At home his old father, his kind, comely, loving mother, and his beautiful sister were always the same. There was the centre of love, there was true comfort, true consolation. Ah, if he could but reach home and die there.

He never could return to the life he had led. Everything had ceased for him. He could work no more; he could never again take any interest in his profession; he did not care if he never rose from the ground again—and yet he longed for comfort at home.

Don't be Duped.

Smokers will further their own interest by insisting upon having the "Cable" or "El Padre" brands of cigars, which have stood the test for a quarter of a century, and not allow greedy and unscrupulous dealers to persuade them to take other brands which pay them a larger profit, the consumer being the loser thereby.

MONDAY, MAY 17, 1886.

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

District Meeting.

The District Meeting for the Methodist Church for the Peterborough District, will be held in the Charlotte Street Church, on Wednesday and Thursday next, beginning on the afternoon of Wednesday.

Robbed in the City.

Mr. J. C. Hill, of Toronto, formerly a resident of town, one evening last week was robbed by an unknown who relieved him of a gold box containing $25 and two gold rings. The thief was disturbed or he might have helped himself more liberally.

On the Fly.

The look worth boasts of a strong baseball team, captained by J. C. Corporan, and the Wm. Hamilton works of a crack nine, captained by J. Callaghan. The former club have challenged the latter to play a match on the 24th inst. for a valuable silver cup, which in all probability will be accepted. Both teams are practicing with a will.

Taller Wheat.

Mr. Robt. Leary, of North Monaghan, left at the EXAMINER office on Saturday morning a stock of winter wheat 36 inches in length a fair sample of the field from which it was plucked. The wheat is so tall that the wind and rain of Friday night laid it, as well as other fields, flat, but it is expected that it will rise again. This growth for the middle of May is marvellous.

P. A. A. Concert.

Lovers of music should bear in mind that under the above auspices a grand concert will be given in Bradburn's Opera House, on Tuesday, May 18th. The programme will be one of the choicest ever presented to the Peterborough public. Miss Clara Stevenson of Guelph, a charming vocalist, a chorus of forty voices and the best local talent are the attractions.

A Successful Builder.

Mr. Jas. Bogue continues to widen his sphere of work, and probably will not be satisfied until he has erected the new Government buildings at Toronto. He has been awarded the contract for the stonework of the new St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay, and will visit that town in a few days to begin operations. A month will probably complete the work.

A Fine Horse.

"Young Contender," the Shire stallion recently purchased by Mr. Geo. Chalmers, of Young's Point, is allowed to be one of the finest general purpose horses in Canada. Mr. D. Ferguson, of Port Hope, a noted horse buyer, says "Young Contender" is one of the best stock getters in Canada. Farmers will do well to remember this. He visits Kennedy's hotel weekly on Saturday. For further particulars see posters.

To Be Repeated.

The cantata "Ruth" will be repeated at St. John's Church to-night. Mrs. Chambers, the other soloists, and the same chorus will take part. In addition to the first evening's programme, Mrs. Chambers will give the solo, "I Will Sing of Thy Great Mercy," (Mendelssohn), and Mr. T. Dunn will give the solo, "Pro Peccatis" from Rossini's Stabat Mater, and Mr Hampshire will give an organ solo, a gavotte from Mignon (Thomas), and offertoire by Hewlet. Admission free. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the organist.

A Great Practical Compliment.

It has before been noted that one of the pupils of Mr. John Fraser, of this town, who taught the classes in Mechanical Drawing at the Mechanics' Institute last winter, passed first at the examinations of the Ontario School of Art. This is a high compliment to Mr. Fraser's abilities as an instructor, but a still higher encomium is the fact that Mr. May, Superintendent of the Ontario Art School, has selected the mechanical drawings executed by Mr. Fraser's pupils as samples to be sent to the Indian and Colonial Exhibition in London, England. Both Mr. Fraser and his pupils are to be heartily congratulated on the proficiency shown, and on the test that that proficiency will receive the wide recognition implied in the selection mentioned.

Church Notes.

Rev. E. F. Torrance yesterday evening at St. Paul's Church preached the first sermon of a series on "The Second Coming of Christ."

At the conclusion of an able sermon on "Christian Baptism, What it is not and What it is" in the Murray Street Baptist Church on Sunday evening Rev. A. H. Munro administered the ordinance of Christian baptism to four adults.

The Easter legal term begins to-day.

A Newfoundland pup was run over by a team of horses and heavy waggon on Saturday evening at the crossing of Brock and George streets. He survived the squeeze, but bawled most piteously.

Boots and shoe dealers have agreed to close their shops at 9.30 on Saturday nights and nights preceding holidays, at 8 p. m., or pay days, and at at 7. p. m. on all other evenings during the summer.

It is a great comfort to know that the recent storm was caused, as Wiggins says, merely by the moon passing the planets, Jupiter and Mars, and not on account of the tailors' strike or the Scott Act.

A good deal of damage was done in Belleville and vicinity by Friday night's thunder storm. A part of the city was flooded and it here in the county was struck by lightning and, with its contents, burned to the ground.

Lacrosse.

Mr. Geo. Giroux, Secretary of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, received this morning a communication from the secretary of the Orillia club, [illegible] for a challenge. However, it [illegible] that it will be redesigned, as a meeting of the local club, to consider the matter, is to be called for Wednesday night. It is to be hoped the boys will turn out en masse and not only consider the matter of the implied challenge, but make arrangements for immediately beginning practice. If the local club means to retain the championship, they will have to set to work at once. Lack of practice resulted disastrously last year on more than one occasion, and it is to be hoped a similar spectacle will not be presented this year. It would be better for the club to let the championship go by default than to defend it in a half-hearted way that would not only result in the loss of it, but also in losing it without making a creditable fight for it. The local club has the material and the ability, but only practice, practice, practice will bring it out.

Personal.

Mr. John O'Reilly, who recently graduated at Trinity College, Toronto, has left Port Hope and Cobourg Falls, Ontario, to practice his profession. The best wishes of his many friends follow Dr. Moffat.

Mr. Samuel Jamieson, lately foreman of the Examiner Book room, and for many years connected with the office, left town on Saturday for Boston, where he has received a decorative position in one of the leading exhibits. Mr. Jamieson thoroughly understands the art pictorative, is a steady and faithful workman, and will no doubt succeed well in the city.

Mr. T. E. Horning, Mathematical and Science Master in the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has tendered his resignation to the School Board, having accepted the position of Assistant Professor of Classics and Modern Languages in Victoria College, in the stead of Prof. Bell, who goes to Europe to prosecute his studies. Mr. Horning, during his connection with the Institute, has rendered efficient service in his department and acquired a reputation for himself that justifies the choice of the present appointment.

Town Council.

The Usual Meeting Tuesday of to the Usual Manner—The Policemen Don't Get Raised—Council Adjourns—May Will Get New Universities as the Towns Requests.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber yesterday evening. All the members present and the Mayor in the chair.

After routine Messrs. Dumble and Roper, a deputation appointed by the Horticultural Society to wait upon the Council with a view of securing the Council's co-operation in supporting the Court House Park, were heard, before proceeding with the other business.

THE PEOPLE'S PARK.

Mr. Dumble, after explaining the reason of the deputation's visit, in a short address pointed out the many advantages the public derived from the park. It was the pride and pleasure of the town and he thought it would be advisable to hire a competent man to take care of it. He knew of no expenditure that gave better returns or more profitable pleasure. He thought the town could afford to keep up the garden for themselves and asked the Council to give a liberal grant to assist the society in maintaining the park. $300 was what they wanted.

Mr. Roper described the park as a thing of beauty and a joy forever. He knew the park was much appreciated and trusted the Council would see their way clear to grant $300. The society also proposed applying to the County Council for a grant. He explained the society was about $300 in debt, and would have had to make an assignment had it not been for the liberality of the Mayor, Mr. Dunlop and Mr. Dumble and others, who were very liberal in their contributions.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were then read by the clerk:

From Wm. White and five others, Wm. Bate and Edward Crowe, Thos. Gillespie and Clement Gordon, J. MacNamara, John Hackett and six others, and Thos. McKee, asking for street improvements.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From J. D. Bapple and a number of others asking the Council to place an electric light at the corner of Dublin and Harvey streets, and from A. L. Davis and 15 others asking the Council to place a gas lamp at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From John Burnham and 211 others asking that the Public Parks Act be adopted in the municipality.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, stating that they understood that any manufacturing company should not have their town taxes raised for ten years and that theirs had been raised $2000; also that they contemplated enlarging their works and wished to know if they would have the same privileges as others who had enlarged their premises.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented for payment:—

R. S. DAVIDSON,
Chairman.

Peterborough, May 13th, 1886.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

This committee would recommend that the council communicate to the council of South Monaghan their favorable consideration of the township's proposition for the substitution of a bridge at Rose's, on the Otonabee river, and that this council would recommend the granting of a fair proportion of the cost, provided the township makes for municipal and other purposes with the county of Peterborough.

R. S. DAVIDSON
Chairman.

Mr. McNaughton took objection to the item, $172.21, to Hall, Sumner & Co., and asked an explanation with regard to the expenditure. He held that Mr. Rutherford, chairman of the Property Committee, and the Mayor had ordered the carpet for the Child of Nature's room without authority of the Committee or corporation.

Mr. Dumble and Mr. Yelland also spoke on the subject, censuring the chairman for not consulting the committee.

Mr. Moore called the attention of the council to rule 39 of the new by-laws which provides that no member of the council shall incur any debts or order into any contract without the sanction and authority of the council.

The Mayor explained that all he did in the transaction was to take the carpet and pronounce it suitable for the purpose.

Mr. Rutherford spoke in explanation, showing that the committee had reported in favor of the carpet, but had not ordered it, as they thought it a matter of judgment only. The committee would have been displeased if he had called a meeting for.

On motion of Mr. Davidson, the report was adopted.

Mr. McNeil read the following

REPORT OF THE LICENSE COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your License Committee, to whom was referred the matter of preventing dog tags, beg leave to report:

That we have ordered 500 dog tags, at 7c. each, from W. H. Banfield, Toronto.

That the tags to be the shape of a maple leaf, initialed, P. D. T., 1886, above, and the numbers running from one to five hundred, below.

Your committee would recommend that the chief procure a registration book, in to enter all dog tags and collect fees for the same.

Respectfully submitted,
ANDREW [illegible],
Chairman.

Peterborough, May 17, 1886.

On motion, the report was adopted.
Mr. Rutherford read the following

REPORT OF THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT COMMITTEE.

To the Mayor and Councillors of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg to report, and recommend that the petition of Wm. Clarkes and others asking for the watering of Stewart street, be granted, and in order to make better provision for the watering of that part of the town, we recommend that a stand pipe be erected at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
A. RUTHERFORD,
Chairman.

Peterborough, May 17th, 1886.

On motion, the report was adopted.
Mr. Moore read the following

SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORT.

[illegible] to arrange with Mr. Biggar in reference to a proposed publication of the Colonial Exhibition in London, England, with reference to the condition, manufactures, and other industries about the town, etc., and to expend a sum of not exceeding $100 upon the same, beg to report,

That the committee have arranged with Mr. Biggar, in consideration of $60, to be paid when he shall perform his part of the bargain, that there shall be 10,000 copies of the said publication issued, containing one full page of the journal, of a description of the town and its industries, etc., among the principal centres of manufacture and agriculture of England, Ireland and Scotland, such publication to contain a cut from a photograph of the business part of George street. The town to be furnished free with a copy of the memorial volume of the exhibition. A written contract has been made and will be filed by the clerk.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
W. H. MOORE,
Chairman.

The report, on motion, was adopted.

CHARITY REPORT.

Mr. McClelland, chairman of the Charity Committee, submitted a report showing an expenditure of $54.20, which was adopted after a short discussion.

SCRUTINY.

Moved by Mr. Kelly, seconded by Mr. McNeil, that the Property Committee be requested to have the committee room furnished [illegible]

Moved by Mr. McNeil, [illegible] seconded by Mr. [illegible], that the Property Committee be requested to strike the grade on Simcoe street, between Downie [illegible] and Park street [illegible]

Moved by Mr. [illegible], seconded by Mr. [illegible], that the Property Committee be instructed to have put in for use at Queen's a proper water closet; also that the said committee have power to have a room prepared for the fire engineer, as per notice of motion given by Mr. Ward.

Mr. Rutherford held that the foregoing called for in the motion were very necessary.

Mayor McClelland, Mr. McNeil and Mr. Calvert expressed themselves as opposed to the first expenditure called for, as it was unnecessary and held that the drain leading to the river was defective.

The Mayor called the attention of the Council to the fact that Mr. Lewis, of the Merchants' Bank, had complained of the serious defect in the drain spoken of, and if not remedied, he threatened to enter a suit for damages against the town.

Ostheoffer Rutherford said if the Council did not comply with the first request in the motion the firemen would resign.

By rule 29 the motion was divided, and on the vote being taken the first clause was lost on the following division:

Yeas—Messrs. Rutherford, Kendry, Menzies, and Hartley.

Nays—Remainder of the Council.

The second clause, to furnish a room for the fire engineer, was carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That the License Inspector require the production of each and every dog and bitch before furnishing any tag for such animals under by-law 511 of the town.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hartley, seconded by Mr. Kendry.—That the Street Inspector be instructed to have the sidewalk on the north side of Antrim street raised and repaired for a distance of about 40 yards.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McNaughton, seconded by Mr. Kendry.—That $45 be granted the police to purchase bread and cheese while on night duty.—Lost.

Moved by Mr. McNeil, seconded by Mr. Kelly.—That the Chief of Police be instructed to attend the Horticultural Gardens on the evenings the band perform there.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. Davidson.—That the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to pay such price as they may decide upon for material delivered for filling in Sherbrooke's Bay, cost not to exceed $150, and also have power to deal with any matter respecting same with the corporation.

Mr. Cahill called the attention of the council to the fact that the bridge over the Wm. Hamilton works required repairing, and that he proposed calling a meeting of the Property and Bridge Committee at [illegible] to-morrow evening to look after the matter.

After considerable discussion during which Mr. Cahill explained that the Committee were now in a position to get 1000 yards of earth at 15c. a yard, which the thought advisable to purchase, [illegible] the Committee [illegible] Mr. Cahill's motion, seconded by Mr. Yelland that the offer to give the corporation earth at 15 c. per yard be accepted, to place on such places as the Street and Bridge Committee shall say the earth is required, was carried.

On a vote being taken the first clause was lost and original motion were lost.

Moved by Mr. McNaughton, seconded by Mr. McClelland, that the Property Committee be instructed to [illegible] to procure the necessary clothing for the police.—Carried.

Moved by Yelland, seconded by [illegible] That the Treasurer be instructed to pay the [illegible] of $1.00 per week to the widow of the late [illegible] deceased, for the present, and that he be instructed to call a meeting of the Council for charity [illegible] sum of two hundred dollars.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Cahill the Council was closed to receive offer to purchase.

Mr. Kendry gave the following

[illegible]

Moved by Mr Kendry, seconded by Mr. Hartley,—That the Council agree that a horticultural Society the sum of [illegible] towards keeping up the Court House Park.

The Council then adjourned.

Police Court.

The Liquor Cases Continued—The Scott Act Claimed to Have Been Carried in Force.

The police court opened at 9.15 this morning, Police Magistrate Dumble presiding.

The first case called was Queen vs. Clancy, charging the defendant, Wm. Clancy, with a violation of the Scott Act, to which he pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Moore, counsel for the defendant, objected that the defendant should not be put on his defence until an information had been proven.

The Magistrate noted the objection.

Wm Clancy, the defendant, sworn, testified that he kept an eating house in town, formerly an hotel. The bar remained but the liquors had been removed on Thursday, April 29th, out of town. The appliances used in selling drinks still remained. He had given intoxicating liquors to himself and others since 1st of May. He refused to state whom given or whether it was paid for or not.

Mr. Moore objected that the witness was not compelled to give evidence that would criminate himself and asked permission to argue the objection, which was granted.

Mr. Moore quoted the decision of the Chief Justice of Prince Edward Island on the question.

The magistrate overruled the objection.

The witness refused to answer further questions on the ground that he would criminate himself in doing so.

John Hurley, testified that he got liquor at Clancy's hotel between the 1st and 16th of May. Mr. Clancy supplied the liquor and he paid for it. He thought the liquor was intoxicating—whiskey.

To Mr. Moore—If I am a judge it was whiskey. I am sure it was whiskey.

Mr. O'Meara, sworn, testified that he remembered the date of the polling of the Scott Act, but did not remember the date of the returns.

Mr. Edwards objected to Mr. O'Meara giving evidence as to the returns without producing the document.

The Magistrate noted the objection.

Mr. O'Meara continued—The scrutiny was not concluded until Sept. 2nd. He attended the Judge in the scrutiny.

Mr. Moore then objected that the Scott Act was not in force in the County of Peterborough, submitting that 60 days did not elapse between the day the returns were made and the 1st of May.

Mr. Edwards objected that the prosecution had not proved the date of the returns, also submitting that the order-in-Council contained in the Canada Gazette was conditional and denies that all necessary proceedings had been taken and the Act was in force.

Mr. Moore asked for an adjournment for one week to produce documents with regard to the returns.

It was agreed that should the question raised as to the Act being in force, go to a higher court, that all papers filed at Ottawa in connection with the Scott Act returns in the county should be produced.

The Magistrate overruled the objections of the defendant, and found him guilty, and imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

The case of F. & J. Daly, on a similar charge, was next called.

Mr. F. Daly was sworn, but did not know anything about the bar.

Mr. J. Daly was sworn, and testified that he had charge of the bar.

Mr. Moore raised the objection that the defendant was not bound to give evidence which might criminate himself.

The Magistrate overruled the objection, and threatened the witness with imprisonment if he refused to answer.

Mr. Daly then admitted having sold intoxicating liquor since the first of May.

The Magistrate found him guilty, and imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

The court then adjourned for an hour.

Mechanics' Institute.

Eighteenth Annual Meeting—The Financial Statement—Report of Directors—Election of Officers.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute was held in the reading room, Water street, last evening.

There were present, Mr. Wm. English, President, in the chair, and Messrs. F. J. Lewis, 1st Vice-President; T. A. Hay, 2nd Vice-President; John Corkery, Secretary; Messrs. J. E. Belcher, Dr. Clarke, E. J. Toker, Robert Robertson, Jas. English, and E. Courtney and others.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The report of the directors and the financial statement were read and adopted as follows:—

To the Members of the Mechanics' Institute

In compliance with the by-laws to that effect, your Directors beg to submit the following report. We are glad to be able to report that the progress of the Institute for the past year has been satisfactory, as there has been an increase in the number of members—281—and also in the number of books issued. The reading room continues to be well frequented, and many of those making use of it express themselves as well pleased with the mode of management. During the winter a drawing class, conducted in connection with the Institute, was a success, and it is believed that it will prove a lasting benefit to the young men who attended it. The drawings made by members of the class have been taken by Dr. May to London, to be shown at the Colonial Exhibition. One of the members of the class, Mr. Bruce Hanley, obtained a first-class certificate from the Board of Education for his drawings. This will entitle him to teach mechanical drawing in any art school or Mechanics' Institute in the province.

Efforts were made to establish a class in English Literature, and a first-class teacher was engaged, but, unfortunately, the number of pupils required by the regulations could not be obtained. As the class fees to members of the Institute are merely nominal—only 50 cents for the term—we regret that the privileges offered to young men and also lady members, were not taken advantage of by a larger number. On account of the change made by which all membership tickets expire on the 1st of May, the amount received from this source is not as large as was expected, as many of the members in renewing their subscriptions, had to pay for but a few months instead of for the full year.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

CURES ALL HUMORS,
from a Common Blotch or Eruption to the worst Scrofula. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, Eczema, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Fever-sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine, except Pulmonary Consumption. Through its wonderful power over the blood, it cures Blood Poisons, Boils, Carbuncles, Sores, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, Tumors, Tetter, Ery-sipelas, Malignant Ulcers, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Diseases of the Bones, Neuralgia, Scrofulous Affections of the Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, and all diseases arising from Vitiated Blood, Derangement of the Digestive Organs, or Broken Down Constitution, it is unequaled.

CONSUMPTION,
which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly relieved and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stage of the disease has been reached. From its wonderful power over this terrible fatal disease, when first offered to the public, Dr. Pierce has thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for consumption of the lungs, but for all of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "DORA RUSSELL," "A ROSE IN THORNS," ETC.

He raised his face, all wet with tears, to the bright blue sky. It was the second time that for her sake he had gone through such an agony; but from her—the second one—he should never think. He had been mad to think that one so beautiful, so proud, so peerless, would be willing to overlook his inferiority of birth.

"My life has been all a mistake," he said to himself. "I ought never to have given up home. If I had to begin life again, and was offered a kingdom, I would not leave home!"

Long hours passed before he left the spot where heart and love had been crushed within him. He had made up his mind to give all up and return home. He cared no longer about being Sir Raye's heir; he hated the great world; he was weary of its honors, weary of life, weary of everything; he would go home—at least they loved him there. He had fought so long that strength and ambition seemed dead within him; he could fight no more.

When he had been at home for some days, he would write and tell Sir Raye; and the future could drift as it would—Of what use was it to wear his soul away, to fret and fume, to do battle and fight?—All that life could hold for him was dead.

He stretched out his arms with a woeful cry. Ah, beautiful proud face—ah, scorn-ful sweet lips! The memory of them would never die—it would be like the sting of a snake to him for all time.

She would go home; there would be comfort for him in the chimney-corner.

He must go back to King's Clyffe, he must say goodbye to Lord and Lady Charnwood—there was no need to tell them that he had been beaten in the race of life. Then he would go straight home. When he tried to walk, his mind failed him—they had no strength; he was like a man who had drunk too much wine. He had to nerve himself and make a desperate effort.

He reached King's Clyffe at last, praying Heaven that he might not see the woman who had rejected him with such cruel scorn. She need not have been so cruel to him, he thought, although she was an Earl's daughter and he a poor farmer's son.

There was no sign of Lady Lilias. Vane went to his room, packed his portmanteau, and then asked to see Lord Charnwood. He told him that particular business compelled him to leave King's Clyffe that day. He thanked him warmly for his kindness, he said everything that was courteous and kind to Lady Charnwood, bade good-bye to Lady Fayne, and left messages for the rest of the guests.

Before going away he wrote a letter to Lady Lilias. He might never see her again—but she should read the truth if she would not listen to it.

"You would not listen to me, Lady Lilias," his letter began—"you would not hear one word; but you have sent me from you. You have killed all that is bright and hopeful in me; you have made my life hard and desolate. Read what I have to say. I never intended to deceive you. I had but just realized the fact that I must tell you all; and I had a faint hope that, even when you knew it, you would love me still. Ah me, how futile and vain that hope was!

"Perhaps you have done wisely. From your high estate it is far to stoop to one so lowly as myself. You shall know all the truth; you cannot despise me more.

"You told me you knew all; then you know that the Meadow Farm is my home, the spot where I was born, the name I grieve now ever to have left. The farmer whom you saw at work there is my father; the kindly comely woman who welcomed you to my mother; the bonnie winsome girl who was with me under the oak is my sister. All false pride, all false shame dies from me as I write the words. I am proud of them, proud of their simple ways and loyal hearts. They would not have spurned me with proud biting words.

"When I was a child I had a talent for drawing and inventing. Sir Raye Vibart, when ill and broken in health, was told to try the benefit of country air. He came to stay for a few weeks at our house; he was kind enough to think me a genius, and offered to adopt me, to bring me up as his son and heir. But he made this one condition. I was to give up home, take his name and those at home were to give up all claim to me. They did not like it, the simple loyal hearts who thought so much of home-love. But for my sake they did it—because Sir Raye told them I was a genius, and he would make me famous. Ah, Heaven, what has fame brought to me except a broken heart?

"I left home; but through all those years the home-love never died. I sent them all that I could give—money, presents, letters, every token of love. Yet as the years rolled on, to my sorrow and my shame I thought less of them. Their ways were not my ways. I hate myself for saying it; but their manners and fashions jarred on me; and gradually I grew inclined to keep the secret of my lowly birth hidden from every one—above all from you.

"I hate myself for it now. I see all the meanness, all the baseness of it. I throw aside all false colors; I cast off my borrowed name. I take my stand on the threshold of my home, and those who would do homage to me must bow to me there. I will glory in the simple loyal love of home; and those who scorn it because I am the son of a farmer will honor me in passing me by.

"My lost dear love, I can say no more. I have seen great oaks, struck by lightning, lying like dead giants on the ground. The lightning has struck at the very root of my life, and I lie dead. All that education, cultivation, and refinement, become a gentleman. I have faith in Heaven, though you have seen only [illegible] for being

"'MY FATHER'S SON.'

"Now there will be never a word between us again," said Vane, as he folded and sealed the letter. He gave it to Lord Charnwood's valet, and requested him to give it to Lady Lilias Audley at once.

When she went to dress for dinner she found it on her toilet-table. She read it carefully, and then the mistake she had made flashed across her. It had been a case of fraud, deception, and treachery. The girl was his match, and she had mistaken all.

Lord Charnwood was the only one who suspected that anything was amiss.

"I am sure they are lovers," he said; "and they have had a lover's quarrel."

His suspicions were verified when he heard that Lady Lilias would leave King's Clyffe on the morrow for Ulvercroft. He was a wise man and knowing the value of [illegible] pending.

Vane was waiting to be [illegible] when he reached it he found [illegible] visitor with him—the [illegible] luggage in the hall—the [illegible] he could scarcely [illegible].

Then he began the long walk home.—What his parents would say to him he did not stop to think. They would welcome him, he knew; his heart ached sorely, and they would comfort him; he was world-worn and weary, and they would give him rest.

His proud beautiful love should torture him no more. She had taken his heart in her hands, and had crushed it as she had crushed the wild flowers.

The sun was setting, and it seemed to him that the cloud were of the color of blood. Suddenly the old familiar music of the mill-stream came to him. He saw the lime-trees, the river, the pretty farm-house, and the honeysuckle round the windows. His thoughts began to grow

NEWS OF THE TOWN.

Mr. Wm. Wand Elected Councillor.

The vote taken in Ashburnham yesterday to elect a councillor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Wm. Mills, Esq., resulted in electing Mr. Wm. Wand by a majority of 16 votes.

Temperance Drinks.

The following are the favorite temperance drinks, as given by a dealer on oath at the Police Court:—Montreal ginger ale, ordinary ginger ale, soda water, lemonade, made on the premises; beef tea, in cold weather; lime-juice and cherry bitters, home manufacture.

Triple "A" Tuples.

The secretary of the P. A. A. A. wishes it to be understood that entries for all events to take place on the 24th inst., must be made with him at or before noon on that day, and that three entries are required in each event. The secretary may be found at his office from 11 to 12 o'clock every day.

Election of Delegates.

At the regular meeting of McWilliams Lodge of True Blues held in their hall on Simcoe street, yesterday evening, the following members were elected delegates to the Grand Lodge, to be held at Lindsay on May 31st and 1st and 2nd June: Messrs. F. W. Wilson, J. J. Smith, H. Sherwood, M. Barrie and S. H. Weir.

Young Men's Liberal Club.

A meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Club was held last evening. The resignation of Mr. R. E. Wood as secretary of the association, was accepted, and Mr. James Henry was elected in his stead. Mr. Andrew Macfarlane was elected First Vice-President in place of Mr. Henry, and Mr. T. G. Gillespie was elected to succeed him as Second Vice-President. Other matters of interest to the association were dealt with.

A Great Musical Treat.

The beautiful cantata, "Flower Queen," on Queen's Birthday night. Sixty pretty maidens personifying Nature's loveliest flowers. Music fascinating; words instructive and enchanting; impersonations truly bewitching.

"Give place oh! Winter hoar, give place.
To Spring, the maiden fair;
The maid with smiles so sunny bright,
The maid with bounding step and light.
The maid with radiant hair."

Don't fail to hear this beautiful and instructive entertainment.

Excursion Postponed.

The committee representing the Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows have been instructed to cease all negotiations with the Grand Trunk Railway in reference to the proposed Oddfellow's excursion to Niagara Falls on the 8th June, prox., on account of the very one-sided proposals of the railway officials, who ask for a guarantee of $600 for the special train, the committee to foot all expenses in addition, the G. T. R. to assume no responsibility—declining to extend tickets beyond three days' limit, although offered extra payment, and reserving to themselves the right to furnish any kind of coaches for excursionists that may suit their convenience, and submitting a time table of 7½ hours' run from Peterborough to Niagara Falls at the quickest, in fact, reaching there when it would suit the company—who want everything their own way and neither offer nor consent to anything the committee ask of importance. The lodge will not consent to any such one-sided contract.

Police Court.

The case of the Queen vs. Bennett, charged by Mr. Dancy with [illegible] was called at 10 o'clock. Mr. Tilton, Q.C., appeared for the defendant, and Mr. Dancy for the prosecution.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, who appeared for the defendants, asked for an adjournment, an important witness being absent from town.

The magistrate said he would consider the application.

Mr. Thos. Davey was sworn and identified that he had disposed of his liquors before the 1st of May, storing every a quantity. The plates of stamps he refused to remove. He had not sold any intoxicating liquor since May 1st, and did not think it possible for the bar tender to sell, as there was none on the premises. The keys prosecutor had been delivered.

Mr. Davey was chilled, but did not know anything about the bar. The liquors had been stored away.

Wm. Hunter testified that he, in company with Byron Decker, had visited Davey's. He treated, asking what he thought, the older, while Decker took what he called beer.

Byron Decker testified that on Saturday last, in company with Hunter, he had visited Davey's saloon. Hunter asked him to have a drink. He consented, and asked for beer. He did not know whether it was beer or not, but he had no doubt it was beer.

On the application of Mr. Stratton, the case was adjourned till Thursday.

The next case called was a charge against the same parties, Mr. and Mrs. Davey, for keeping intoxicating liquors for sale.

Wm. Johnston was called and identified that a week ago Sunday he, in company with B. Jinks and A. Armour, visited Davey's. Armour treated. He asked for beer, but did not get it. He took a cigar.

Andrew Armour admitted that he had been in Davey's Sunday with Johnston, Jinks and Kerr. Kerr treated. He asked the bartender for his usual beverage, whiskey, but did not get it. The bartender gave him a drink of something he kept under the counter, which was unlike any intoxicating liquor he ever drank. It tasted of cherries.

B. Jinks confirmed the evidence of Armour.

J. H. Irving had several drinks at Davey's of the Montreal ginger ale.

This case was enlarged to Thursday on the application of Mr. Edwards for the prosecution.

Queen vs. Kennealy, a similar charge of violation of the Scott Act against Wm. Kennealy was called.

The defendant on oath admitted the charge and was fined $50 and costs.

Queen vs. Chamberlain, a charge against William Chamberlain for a similar offence was next called.

The defendant admitted on oath that he had intoxicating liquor in hand and on his premises, and in the most emphatic manner swore that he nor his servants had not sold any intoxicating liquor since the 1st of May.

Messrs. H. Deane, W. H. Rackham, Wm. Wilson, and J. E. Hammond on oath stated that they had visited Chamberlain's saloon but had not drunk anything stronger than Montreal ginger ale, which was not an intoxicating liquor.

The case was enlarged till Thursday.

The Cantata "Ruth."

The beautiful cantata, "Ruth," was repeated at St. John's church with great success last evening. An overflowing audience completely filled the sacred edifice. In addition to the cantata, which was presented by the same soloists and chorus, even with better effect than on the first occasion, Mrs. Chambers sang, with great feeling and expression, Handel's "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," many of the auditors moved to tears by the pathetic grandeur of the music and its expressive rendition. Mr. T. Dunn sang "Fro Peccato," from Rossini's Stabat Mater, in fine voice and with excellent taste and effect. Mr. Hampshire, organist, gave, in his usual masterly style, Costa's "Triumphal March," (Naaman), Howlett's Introduction and Offertoire, the Gavotte from Thomas' "Mignon." At the close the Doxology, sung by the full chorus and the audience, formed a fitting close to the splendid musical treat that had been presented.

Personal.

Mr. James Delap, of Madoc, is in town for a brief visit. Judging from appearances rural life agrees well with the genial James.

Charles Lane, Esq., father-in-law, and John E. Scott, Esq., brother-in-law of Mr. E. B. Stone, barrister, arrived in town this morning, from Napanee, to attend the funeral of the son of the latter, which took place this afternoon.

Mr. R. W. Gibson, of Fort Hope, who was telegraph operator in the Midland offices during the incumbency of Mr. O'Dell as station agent, has returned, after about six years absence on the Pacific slope, some 300 miles from San Francisco. He is in town visiting old friends.

Police Court.

The Liquor License Commissioners.

The Police Court resumed yesterday afternoon at two o'clock before Police Magistrate Hamilton.

Mr. J. P. Dunn, charged with violating the Scott Act, was called.

Mr. O'Meara, who appeared for the defendant, objected that Mr. Dunn should not be called upon to give evidence in rebuttal until the magistrate was satisfied that there was sufficient evidence to put him on his defence.

The magistrate over-ruled the objection.

Mr. Dunn was sworn and testified that he was the proprietor of the Transporter Hotel on Simcoe street. He admitted selling liquor—whiskey, since the 1st of May.

Mr. O'Meara remarked, "That knocks the bottom out of me."

The magistrate found the defendant guilty and imposed the usual fine of $50 and costs.

Mr. Michael Halpin, on a similar charge, appeared before the court.

Mr. O'Meara, who appeared for the defendant, objected, to his being called, as in his previous case. He also objected that the Scott Act was not in force in Peterborough, the proper time not having elapsed after the officer made his returns until the Order-in-Council, proclaiming the Act in force, was issued.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, License Inspector for West Peterborough, testified that he, in company with Chief Cooper, visited and searched Halpin's premises on Friday last. They found six barrels of beer, unopened, and several bottles of beer and porter in the cellar. No spirituous liquors were found in the bar.

Michael Halpin was sworn and stated that he had disposed of all his liquors on Friday, April 23th, except three bottles of whiskey and some beer. He kept the whiskey for his own consumption. He had sold no liquor since the 1st of May. He refused to answer whether he had received any consideration for liquor given by him since May 1st, on the ground that it might tend to criminate him. Mr. O'Meara objecting to the question.

The magistrate overruled the objection, and, after the witness refused to answer, explained that he would have to commit him to prison for contempt of court.

Mr. Halpin then answered that he had not received any consideration for liquor given by him since the 1st of May. He gave beer to his boarders free. A number of striking tailors boarded with him for several days, and on one occasion he gave them beer for dinner. He left it on the table for them to help themselves. He could not give the names of those he had supplied. He did not sell cigars and throw in a drink—he gave his cook a glass of beer, but received no consideration in return.

Several witnesses failing to appear when called, the magistrate enlarged the case till Thursday afternoon.

The court then adjourned.

"An Original Poem."

Lines written by Mr. A. D. Galletly, brother of R. D. Galletly, on the occasion of a Public School entertainment in Galashiels, Scotland, being presented by the scholars with a handsome time-piece:—

When Gilbert this dear world of ours
Did walk with angels, holy, mild,
The bright Jerusalem above
He likened to a lily mild,
Saying, let the children come to me,
For of such is their kingdom eternity.

With gentle hand the gardener, Lord,
Hath led the little fairies band
"Mid pleasure-crowned autumn still"
To Canaan's beautious, cloudless land,
That land of rest, where never hoped was sigh,
Where tears no more shall dim the weary eye.

When thou in glory bright dost come,
O Christ, in regal robes of might,
When skies, like flaming curtains, have fled,
And vanished earth's dark, dismal night,
May gleaming, crown, with jewels fixed to give
To him who climbs the youthful steps to heaven.

Grant, Lord, that blessing from on High
May in refreshing showers fall
Who in the [illegible]
Let showers of blessing from thy throne's throne above
Hump, Up girls, and do with love;
Give to thy servant wealth of days,
In which thy truths of [illegible]
May be received [illegible]

Galashiels, Scotland.

The P. A. A. A. Concert.

The grand concert given in the Opera House yesterday evening under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, was a most excellent entertainment—a worthy performance for a worthy institution—and will long be remembered by those who availed themselves of the opportunity of attending. Artistes and appreciative audience alike the received ample and the excellent bills of the day-fervid option. Shortly after 8 o'clock the curtain raised and the orchestra gave forth a selection of Miss Logan, Miss Stevens, Miss Dixon, Miss Bertram, Miss Hogan, Miss Hamilton, Miss Desjardins, Miss Scott, Miss Hollis, Miss Strickland, Miss Mitchell, Miss Peterson, Miss Hunting, Miss Burnham, Miss Taylor, Miss M. Taylor, Miss Brown and Miss McNab, and Messrs. Bolton, Dunn, Hammond Gould, Hogan, Hinch, Cook, Westfall, Bradley, Hollis, Downey, Manning and Dan. Dawson, stepped before the footlights and opened the concert with Mendelssohn's beautiful chorus, "Farewell to the Forest," heralding the party well throughout. Mr. T. Dunn followed, singing in excellent voice and expression the thrilling song, "Alone in the Desert," which received a merited applause. Miss Hall and Mr. Parker contributed "The Firefly," a brilliant piano duet, with much taste. Miss Clara Stevenson, of Guelph, made her debut before a Peterborough audience in the charming song, "The Maiden's Prayer," which she sang with taste and expression, displaying to advantage the compass of her rich and well-trained voice. An encore was insisted on. Will. Thompson's beautiful quartette, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom," was delightfully rendered by Miss Logan, Miss Strickland, Mr. Manning and Mr. Dunn. Miss Hamilton sang very sweetly, "A Song of Winter," and was made the recipient of a beautiful bouquet (floral) tossed at her feet by a gallant admirer from the audience. Mr. Manning sang with particular acceptance "The Maid of the Mill," and Miss Stevens brought the first part of the programme to a close by singing in her sweetest voice "The Haunted Stream." After a short intermission, the glee party sang with good effect the chorus "Allegiance We Swear." The next number was taken by Miss Clara Stevenson, who delighted the audience with "La Zingara." She was loudly encored, and responded by singing "In the North Countree." Mr. Smith [illegible] himself in singing "The Little Hero" and was heartily applauded. "I Love My Love" was beautifully given by Miss Beatie, who received an encore. Miss Hall and Mr. Parker contributed a well-rendered and pretty piano duet. Mr. T. Dunn again stepped before the footlights amid applause, and sang in his usual vigorous style, the stirring solo, "True to the Last," and was encored to the echo, which he responded to. "The Vale of Rest" by the glee party, and the National Anthem by the company and audience, Miss Clara Stevenson taking the solo, brought the concert to a conclusion.

Miss Stevenson made a very favorable impression in her several selections. Her singing places her in the highest ranks as a vocalist, and should her name ever again appear on the programme of a local entertainment, it will be sure to attract a large audience.

Prof. Parker played the accompaniments throughout the evening in his usual masterly style, materially assisting in the performances. As the director of the glee party, he is also entitled to a share of the glories won by them.

Queen's Birthday Races.

When laying out a programme of enjoyment for the 24th of May, don't forget to include the races at the Driving Park on the afternoon of the 24th. A splendid afternoon's sport will be presented. There are a large number of exciting events in trotting, running and hurdle races. Several flyers are in training, and the public may look for a lively list of well contested events. Remember the day—afternoon of 24th, and place—the Driving Park.

First Foreign Match.

Mr. J. E. Hammond, Secretary of the P. A. A. A. Cricket Club, on behalf of the club has arranged to play a match with the Toronto University team on the 31st inst. The University team is composed of good material, and some excellent play is expected.

Noisy Youngsters.

There is no objection on general principles to youngsters enjoying themselves,—but [illegible] and the pavilion in the park [illegible] shouting, screaming and [illegible] no end of noise—to such an extent that the bandmaster cannot make the members hear his instructions—it is time they were removed. The entire force of hundreds [illegible] with [illegible] the presence of the police did not seem to exercise any appreciable deterrent effect.

Battery Drill.

The Eight Divisions of the Durham Field Battery held drill in the drill shed yesterday evening. It was decided to turn out on the morning of the 24th and fire a royal salute—21 guns.

According to Bradstreet's, the short hour strike had resulted as follows:

Total reported striking for shorter hours	220,000
Total gaining shorter hours by striking	65,000
Total [illegible]	[illegible]
Total number reported [illegible] in the short hour [illegible]	155,000
	220,000

Lakefield.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Messrs. R. & G. Strickland are placing a large Leffel wheel in their mill race to drive a new pump they have attached to afford fire protection to their mills, &c. They intend to [illegible] which will reduce the risk to the minimum, even if they do not carry their own insurance. Some parties are also trying to secure, by canvassing, a sufficient sum to carry a supply into [illegible] drinking trough.

TOWNFUL WORKING.

The village bees [illegible] assembled together in the council chamber, now opened up for a limited [illegible] turned out in force last Friday, cleaning [illegible] and rubbish, and every stone, chip, &c., was collected and carted away, and now the lane has a place to enjoy themselves without being an annoyance to the travelling public. The council might go a little further and send their road-master and cart for a day and level up some of the rough spots still there. It will look better, and help the boys.

THE RACES.

I understand that arrangements have been made with Mr. Miller, your well-known handicapper, to give our newly organized Foresters' Band the necessary instruments. With such a leader, our band should soon give a good account of themselves, as we believe the material is there.

In a future letter I will give the returns for wards.

SALVATION ARMY.

Constable Cushman has summoned four of the Army before Jas. Gelfoarm, J.P., next Friday, for violation of the village by-law passed by the Council at their last meeting.

SCHOOL BOARD.

There was no meeting of the School Board last week,—no quorum.

LATE TRAINS.

The attention of the postoffice and railroad officials is directed to the manner in which our mail service is conducted. Our mail is received, as a general rule, three an hour to two hours late every day, giving our business men and others no time to answer correspondence by return mail, and Saturday we had no western mail whatever. A change is demanded, or the public will know the reason why.

TRACTION ENGINE.

A traction engine for service at Bethesda on the Trent Valley canals, made its way up from Peterborough to Lakefield one day last week. The unusual spectacle of a steam power working its own passage along our main street was sufficient to attract all the small boys of the village, as well as many of the larger ones. It was taken to the wharf and run on board a scow to be towed up to its destination, where it is now at work, pumping water from the upper chamber of the lock pit.

CANADA'S FATAL COMPETITION.

The United States cheese trade is in a very drooping condition, as much so that the well informed and judicial Bradstreet's sums up its review of the year with the the doleful admission that the year ending April was one of "the most disastrous years from a producer's stand point, that has been experienced in the history of the industry in the United States." The cause is the fall in prices, [illegible] by a general development of the cheese trade in other parts of the world. But Canada is the greatest factor in bringing about such a state of affairs. Bradstreet's reasons on the cause in this wise:—"There is no doubt, about the excitement of Canadian competition, which has grown steadily until now to threatens vote ex-port trade with extinction. In comparison with this shrinkage it is worthy of note that in 1875-76 the receipts of cheese at Montreal were only 545,679 boxes, while this year they amount to 1,220,257 boxes. While the receipts of cheese have doubled in ten years at Montreal, those at New York have decreased nearly 600,000 boxes in five years. The experts of Canadian cheese have increased rapidly, until last season they amounted to 1,248,488 packages, or within about 400,000 of the entire export from this country." Now there is a reason for this lesson which the commercial authority, above quoted, failed to supply. The bottom reason is that Canada cheese is supplanting American cheese in foreign markets on account of the superior quality of the Canadian article. If our Yankee cousins could make as good cheese as Canadians produce, the United States would be a formidable competitor in the market. No higher compliment could be paid the superiority of our cheese than the fact that American shippers occasionally find it necessary to employ a Canadian brand to secure attention to their dairy produce. So long as we continue to pay attention to every detail required in the production of a first-class article, so long will we maintain the great [illegible] we have achieved.

Notwithstanding what is said about the importance of a blood-purifying medicine, probably the matter (business) most [illegible] attention [illegible] K. D. C. by [illegible] a year's [illegible] you would [illegible] will transmute health to your offspring, thank us for the suggestion.

An Inventor.

The inventor of the induction telegraph—the system of telegraphing from moving railway trains—and the man who is believed to be the most promising young inventor before the public, is William L. Silvey, of Cincinnati. He is but 25 years of age, and already has entered several patents of great value to electrical progress. He was born at Castleton, Ind., in 1860. His father, Zachary Silvey, has been dead thirteen years. His mother, Mrs. Catharine Silvey, resides on the homestead farm, near Castleton. Young Silvey only had the advantages of a common school education. Electrical science, for which he neglected everything else, has been his constant study since he was 16 years old. He has pursued this study under great disadvantages, his workshops being such odd corners as he could appropriate to his use in the outbuildings on his mother's farm. His experiments in inductive telegraphy were made on wires stretched in the orchard, and on these he perfected his invention, first telegraphing from one wire to another forty feet distant. His first successful experiment in this was made in 1879, when he was but 19 years of age. His patent for the inductive telegraph was issued July 12, 1881, the application having been made in 1880. This invention promises to revolutionize the system of handling railroad trains, and is regarded as the most important step yet taken relating to the application of electricity. He also has valuable improvements on his inductive telegraph apparatus, issued a year later than the original patent. Few inventors of any country have accomplished so much at so early an age, and Mr. Silvey's wonderful achievements have naturally attracted a great deal of attention to himself. He is a practical, industrious, young mechanic, modest even to diffidence, and apparently unconscious of the high rank he has taken in the world of progress.

Honors to a Distinguished Georgian.

It goes without saying that if Gen. Grant had been a southerner, or was he even buried in southern soil, it is more than likely that a memorial to him would not have to go begging for subscriptions, and that notwithstanding the great difference in the wealth of the two sections. The southern people have always been an impulsive race, but they are also warm hearted and grateful to their friends. Witness the magnificent memorial that they are about to erect in Richmond to their dead chieftain, Robert E. Lee. And here is another monument, but this time to a statesman that is to be honored.

THE "BEN" HILL STATUE.

On Peachtree street, Atlanta, Ga., not far from the governor's mansion, there is now in course of erection a magnificent pedestal for a statute of heroic proportions to the late Senator Benjamin H. Hill, of that state. The figure is of marble, executed by Sculptor John Doyle, of New York city, and stands ten feet in height. It presents the sturdy senator in a calm and thoughtful attitude. The clothes of our modern immortals are the most difficult portion of the work for an artist to handle without presenting a stiff and ungraceful appearance. The sculptor seems to have managed the contemporary veil in this case, but the unfortunate thought in the matter is that when the Prince Albert coat is superseded by the coming changes of fickle fashion, then the statue will become unsightly. Senator Hill has only been dead three years, and then surely do the citizens of his state honor him

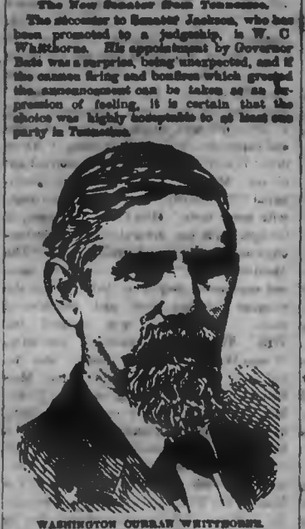
GOVERNOR OF NEW MEXICO.

R. G. Ross.

Among the nominations by the president which were recently confirmed by the senate, was that of R. G. Ross, as governor of New Mexico. The position is not an enviable one, as the territory contains within its borders some of the most lawless elements to be found in this country, not to mention the Mexican "greasers" that are a constant source of annoyance to the territory's executive. Governor Ross possesses those qualifications that augurs well for his success in this office. The salary accompanying this position is but $3,000 per year, and the term of office lasts for four years.

The New Senator from Tennessee.

The successor to Senator Jackson, who has been promoted to a judgeship, is W. C. Whitthorne. His appointment by Governor Bate was a surprise, being unexpected, and if the cannon firing and bonfires which greeted the announcement can be taken as an expression of feeling, it is certain that the choice was highly acceptable to at least one party in Tennessee.



WASHINGTON CURRAN WHITTHORNE.

Gen. Whitthorne is a genuine old war horse of the "Pig Iron" Kelley and William S. Holman order. He is 61 years old, and has practiced law for nearly forty-three years. From 1855 to 1858 he served in the senate of his state, and in 1859 was elected to the assembly, and became the presiding officer thereof. He was adjutant general of his state during the civil war. His political disabilities were removed in 1870. March 4, 1871, he took a seat in the house of representatives, where he was a very prominent figure for many terms. He was a leader in the attack on Secretary Robeson's management of the navy department, as he was the most strenuous claimant of Mr. Tilden's election. His term of service will expire March 3, 1887.
